Miss Kate Corron, 17, of Wilmington, Delaware, is a member of the class of 1969, collapsed and died Saturday night, November 6, in the recreation rooms of Hamilton Hall.

Dr. Mary Hall, College physician, Dr. Carl Wills, and the Fire Department attempted to revive her.

Medical Examiner Harold H. Sears pronounced her death and ordered an autopsy at Lawrence Memorial Hospital. Her death was attributed to natural causes.

Born March 3, 1948, in Wilmington, she was the daughter of Richard and Nancy Elms Corron. She leaves two sisters, Miss Ellen Corron, a 1969 graduate, and Miss Polly Corron, Wilmington.

The funeral was conducted last Wednesday, with burial in St. Joseph's Cemetery on the Brandywine. Wilmington.

Miss Alice Johnson, Dean of Freshmen, and Miss Marcia Harrer, Housekeeper in Hamilton, represented Connecticut College at the funeral.

A Memorial Service was held in the Chapel last Sunday afternoon, and a large number of students and faculty attended.

The Conn Censuses staff joins the faculty and students at Connecticut in expressing their deep sympathy to the Corron family.

Edward Weger to Speak About Trip to Amazon

Dr. Edward Weger, Jr., past editor of the M.T.S. Magazine, and a distinguished anthropologist, will give a talk on "A Migration Amazon," Monday, Nov. 16 in Hale lecture hall at 7 p.m.

He will show color films of his trip to the Mato Grosso territory of Brazil for the American History Museum of Natural History. His purpose is to give information about the Indians of this region.

In this unexplored area he came into contact with a large Indian who had never seen white men. He traveled with only a hammock, a jungle knife, a canoe paddle, dehydrated food and trade goods.

Dr. Weger received his Ph.D. from Yale University and worked for the Museum of Natural History in New York City for many years. He has accompanied expeditions to northern Greenland, the Aleutian islands, the Bering Strait, Egypt and several Indian reservations in the United States.

He is the author of The Edikins, the only book in the English language dealing with all the Edikins tribes.

Dr. Weger recently wrote a book, Jungle Quest, about his South American expeditions.

Noted Author to Talk to American Studies Group

Mr. Edell Shepard of Waterford, speaking for the Hartford Courant, will speak on "The Kentucky Diary and New London History" Tuesday, November 15, at 7:00 p.m. in Palmer room of the Library.

Mr. Shepard's talk will highlight the first volume of a series of monthly American Studies Seminars. Each seminar will consist of a half-hour talk followed by a half-hour discussion conducted by the librarian.

Any students interested in American Literature, history, art, or philosophy are invited to attend the seminars.

Mr. Shepard, Professor Emeriti, Trinity College, is the author of a Pulitzer Prize biography of Bronson A lost.

Students Plan Fall Musical Recital Here

A Fall Musical Recital will be presented by Connecticut College students in Holme House Tuesday, November 23, at 8:00 p.m.

The program will include two vocal arrangements, by Bach from his Cantata No. 78 entitled "We hasten with feeble but diligent footsteps" will be sung by Stema Wurley, apron, and Eleanor Elms. Jody Colb will perform a Terrell violin duet, "Concerto in G Minor for Two Violins," with piano accompaniment by Cynthia Miller. Schumann's "Sonata in C Minor" will be played by Susan Kohn.

The recital repertoire will also contain a selection by Kod. Niedereperformance, Rachmaninoff's Symphony No. 2, and a vocal piece by Ernster, "Sonata for Strings," with a large chorale accompaniment by Pamela Mitchell, Grace Yun and Cynthia Miller.

Improvisations...Refreshments will be served following the recital.

Cheerleaders Win with Servicemen

Connecticut College cheerleaders, though not appreciated by Old Ivy standards, have become an American institution in Viet Nam.

Their picture appeared recently in The Stars and Stripes, a publication which reaches all branches of the armed forces all over the world, and they have received letters from Viet Nam as a result.

Most of those who wrote were of college age, and these spoke of returning to school if they ever got back to the United States. One described his current interests as "sports and getting back to the United States alive and in one piece." Another sadly spoke of being in a war where there were "no autumn soccer and football games, and no beer.

Compliments on the girls' picture album. As one Marine wrote, "I choose the girls over a funshine, table, and text here in Viet Nam."

Linda Demmert '68 commented, "The girls look much more real to most of us." She reported that all of the letters have been answered. "We are sure that they have also included names and phone numbers of their friends who would be willing to write to help boost the morale there."

Wendy Cohen '68 was asked by a captain, who is specifically concerned with the morale of the soldiers, to organize a project of this sort.

Penn State Dean of Chapel To Speak at Vespers Here

Dr. Ernest Gordon, Dean of the Chapel, Penn State University, will speak at Vespers Sunday, November 15. Dr. Gordon is a native of Gross- scold and holds T.D., B.D., S.T.M., and L.L.D. degrees. He studied at St. Andrews University, Edinburgh University, Hartford Theological Seminary and Princeton University and was ordained Minister of the Church of Scotland at Paisley Abbey in 1950 where he received the S.T.M., and LL.D. degrees. He holds T.D., B.D., M.A. and S.T.M. degrees. He is the author of a number of books, including many pamphlets and booklets on the Fine Arts Building, all of which are available to all interested students in the office at any time.

All seniors are urged to complete their registration with the bureau before Christmas.

Junior Class Banquet: Past, Present, and Future

Others may "pass and be forgotten," but this is one evening that will long be remembered.

Tuesday night, November 16, the Class of 1967 will hold its annual class banquet. "The Junior Class: past, present, and future" is the theme of the occasion.

The banquet will open with a prayer, after which the Junior Class will present the Class of 1967 with a special gift.

There is yet another feature of the banquet which will be of interest to all seniors. Mrs. Julie King will discuss techniques of job hunting and the possibilities of combining marriage and a career.

The recital repertoire will also contain a selection by Kod. Niedereperformance, Rachmaninoff's Symphony No. 2, and a vocal piece by Ernster, "Sonata for Strings," with a large chorale accompaniment by Pamela Mitchell, Grace Yun and Cynthia Miller.

Professor To Give Peace Club Lecture

Dr. Willard Upham will speak on the topic, "The Future of World War II," at 8:30 o'clock in Hale Laboratory.

Four years ago Upham refused to give the attorney general of New Hampshire the names of the guests at the World Fellowship's summer camp, a place where people of all religions and races gather for discussion.

As a result of this refusal, Upham was imprisoned on a contempt charge. Failing to compromise in his belief that the government should not interfere in citizens' right of free speech and assembly, Upham ultimately lost his appeal to the Supreme Court.

A former professor of religious education, Upham has recently written a book about his personal involvement entitled, Movement.

The book deals with the social aspects of Christianity. It discusses the difficulties of keeping the channels open to people of different faiths and peoples in a political atmosphere so threatening to American democracy today.

Upham believes, as he stated in the introduction to his book, that God has given a message, a message that must be set out of the goodness of his heart for every other man, whatever his race, faith, nationality, or political conviction."

To the Editor:

Your article of November 8 concerning plans for a Film Society at Connecticut College caused me to review with Diana Rubenstein. Actually, it is the only written report in the assembly of our community that at the request of one of your staff. Therefore, it appeared just as a relatively harmless pretense (although, of course, professional practice) we were not for the much greater prestige im-solved. I looked with Displeasure this report, and I feel that I cannot be overlooked that your article as it stands, is a fine example of plagiarity.

Altogether, the article is direct quotation, although not acknowledged as such by the reporter. Perhaps she thought that her quartet was literal, at the most. Alas, the inconsistency of copying marks the only few fragment sions of the original? It might be in order to make clear to the reporter: responsible for the article the distinction between reporting and direct transcription.

Yours sincerely,

Open-Door Policy?

Unwelcomed guests appearing at the Friday night dances in Crosser may prevent the continuation of these open houses. Unless the girls stamping hands at the door realize they can and must require identification from these "guests," the Friday night fest may come to a disappointment.

The Friday night parties have been overwhelmingly successful so far, but a few incidents have occurred... Several weeks ago, a painting was taken from the Main Lounge, and the culprits escaped almost unnoticed. Furthermore, several unwanted guests were understandably rebuffed when they asked girls to dance, thus causing embarrassment to both parties.

We suggest that the girls checking at the door keep a list of the invited colleges and fraternities at their table for reference if needed.

Grades and the Office Girl

To hold office in an extra-curricular, student-run organization, a student must have at least a point average. This is the policy of the college as reviewed and reiterated by the Cabinet last week. We contend that a student’s academic record should not be made a condition for her involvement in extra-curricular activities by anyone except herself. The only exception should be the office of house junior, which carries with it the responsibility of some academic counselling.

The rationale behind our stand is this: when the college exhibits its faith in a girl by admitting her to the community or by allowing her to remain here when she is below point; no one has the right to legislate how she will spend her out-of-class hours. "Funnishing" a college girl by restricting her activities is not only absurd, but also ineffective. It is an affront to her maturity, and it would be false for anyone to say that grades are the only measure of maturity.

Eastcoast Blackout Greeted
By Cheers, Sighs, Men

"Needless to say we were overwhelmed at the number of men diligently working at the Conn Census shop at Crozier Wednesday night due to the blackout at Westover, a story that appeared in the morning paper.

Functioning on its own auxiliary power, the Conn Census office was well lighted as usual, and life went on more or less normally. For one brief moment, we noticed that a library completely disappeared as light suddenly went out over campus at 5:27 p.m.

Then came the moment of the second power failure, another girl joked, "to look across the field and  ... library lights all went out."

For the first hour after the blackout, girls were scattered around on the lawns in the darkness, lighting candles and cigarrette lighters. The first thought was, "What time is it?"

Radio stations soon reported that New London was also out of power.

Dorms looked gaunt and stark as they limped up under the full moon. The eerie atmosphere had stopped streetcars on nearly every route.

When word reached us that the entire Northeast Coast was without power, a collective sense of excitement hit the air. Speculations were abundant:

"It's going to be such a blackout."
... when we were again without lights, a game of bridge became a success under the flicker of candle light."

Many dorms were left in the dark, and some students were reported to have continued as usual in their studies.

In addition, the group hopes to present more traditional versions of madrigals, "at an attempt to acquaint people with the beauty of madrigals."

Last year Cornell did it; Princeton this year Dartmouth printed a similar edition of the Harvard Chimes and distributed it to the various houses. Prepared by the Dartmouth paper staff, the edition duplicated the Harvard Chimes format exactly. At the hearing the day after Dartmouth lost to Harvard by a score of 14 to 13, students from both institutions were so excited that the anxious undergraduates in the Harvard campus dormitories went wild.

President Richard Gettell of Mt. Holyoke recently stated that "the publication of this present editorial board," he does not regard the Mt. Holyoke News as a result of efforts to communicate with Mt. Holyoke students. They are, he is called an "inclusi ...

President Gettell's objections stem from the fact that the family-run News is published by a printing company, whereas the campus paper is printed by the campus paper staff.

But the lights came on around 10 p.m. and remained on, except for one hour when the lights were changed to a more regular power."

Meanwhile at the Conn Census office, we still had a paper to put out. The presses for the New London Daily Times continued to work on a lower speed, and we hoped that people could actually read it then.

Seldom have so many Conn students had the chance to see the Harvard Chimes duplicated to her daughter in a telephone conversation. We did not see the Chimes very clearly, she said, because it was, "It's only the college."

Three Juniors Plan Honors Project
In Government, None in Philosophy

By Nancy Finn
Three juniors and two seniors are currently participating in the Connecticut College Department of History Honors program.

To take part in Junior Honors, the junior must have taken at least four semesters of government. In addition, a student may be allowed to enter the program in the senior year, with three semesters of courses still remaining in the program. A 3.0 average is required in the program.

"This year the first semester program, supervised by Professor George Romonoff, will meet four or five times to discuss their readings. The Department has chosen "administrative behavior" for the program's theme."

Koren explained that through reading and discussion, the students will study the relation of administrators to interest groups and governmental organizations. He added that the reading assignments center around case studies of administrative decision making.

Department Chairman Miss Marjorie Dilley said the reading material for this topic relates to the junior Honors program. The Department of History will judge the student's success and failure to be able to make a decision.

"Don't usually intelligently choose a topic by the end of the year" in discussions which would lead to honors work.

"The new policy on honors work is in effect from the second semester on," said Professor George Romonoff, the Department Chairman. "No juniors are undertaking honors work until the second semester, junior year or even until senior year."

Church in Brooklyn on that morning and will appear at St. Thomas Church on May 30. The program for those performances will feature "Music of the Four Seasons" by Vivaldi, "A Clarinet Concerto," a new composition by Capo, "El�an" by J.S. Bach, "My Shepherd Will Supply My Need" by Virgil Thomson, and "Give Ear, O Lord," by Mr. Shankland.

The Connecticut College Chorus, under the direction of Mr. Charles Shatsky, will present a concert Friday, November 19, at 8:30 in Palmer Auditorium.

The concert, a presentation of various types of vocal music, will feature "Folks Songs of the Four Seasons" by Ralph Vaughan Wil- liams, as the chorus' composition. The medley of folk songs is basically English in origin. American Summer Jobs Attract Some From Europe’s Lure Although a job in a foreign country seems more attractive to some, many intriguing summer jobs are to be found in the United States. One senior participated in a program instituted for the first time on the Connecticut campus.

Miss Jackie Hall was employed by the Women’s Africa Committee of the African-American Institute. The program aimed at improving the quality of female leadership in the participating countries.

On the campus this summer were 15 women from the countries of China and Sierra Leone. Miss Hall was employed in the capacity of secretary and guide to these women. She had the opportunity to learn with them and to share in the organization and improvement of community and service organizations.

When the six-week program on campus was completed, Miss Hall traveled with the women to Washington and was entertained at the home of various African ambassadors.

Miss Hall plans to follow up her summer activities by visiting Africa and hopes eventually to utilize the knowledge of African cultural patterns she acquired this summer.

The summer employment afforded Miss Hall a chance to increase her understanding of not only the people from Africa, but also the image of the United States abroad.

"The women were a joy to work with...I loved it," she said. Also engaged in cultural activities in the United States this summer was Betty Rosenberg. She was employed as a member of the Gilbert and Sullivan Players from Oberlin College.

Miss Rosenberg, who is a music major, acquired valuable experience in the practical aspects of theatrical performance.

"I had the chance to work with very musical people, and the whole summer was very rewarding," she commented.

As well as increasing her musical repertory, Miss Rosenberg picked up some knowledge of British history. Since the Gilbert and Sullivan operettas are satires on contemporary English events, Miss Rosenberg found that her ability to perform professionally was greatly increased by the explanations which the director gave to the cast on the history of the period.

There were nine weeks in which to do eight shows and each day was a full one for the cast. With two rehearsals each day and a performance nightly, "the music almost became a part of me," she remarked.

"Each song carries with it floods of associations."

She also added that if anyone on campus knew the Gilbert and Sullivan music she would "love to get together with her and just sing."

In the political sphere was Miss Peggy Rosenberg. She worked in the campaign office of John Lindsay, with the opportunity to see first-hand the inside workings of New York politics—an invaluable experience to a government major.

White Supremacy in Africa

By Martina Geyer

In the press these days we read that Senator Robert Kennedy has accepted an invitation to address the National Union of South African Students in May. The student group represents about 20,000 students and is the largest racially classified student union in the world. The immediate tension has gone so far towards suppression, that Senator Kennedy’s visit is to keep up the international dialogue and to encourage liberals prepared for that?
