Jordan named President of Kenyon

Dr. Philip H. Jordan, Jr., 43, professor of history at Connecticut College and dean of its faculty from 1969 to 1974, has been named the 16th president of Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio. Announcement of Prof. Jordan’s appointment was made Tuesday in Ohio by the midwestern liberal arts college which was established in 1824 and subsequently earning a reputation as one of the finest men’s colleges west of the Hudson. It became fully coeducational in 1972 and this continued on page nine.

Asimov, Coffin chosen as commencement, baccalaureate speakers

by Bill Loohey

Isaac Asimov, author, scientist and a leading exponent of the contemporary literary genre known as science fiction, has been selected by the senior class as the featured speaker at its commencement exercises scheduled for May 25. Yale Chaplain William Sloane Coffin has also been tapped by the class to speak at baccalaureate ceremonies preceding graduation.

According to class President, Ricky Cohn, Mr. Asimov was chosen because "his excellence as a writer and his 'distinguished reputation' as a commentator in fields of study ranging from biochemistry to religion. We felt our position as an institution of liberal arts and sciences required a commencement speaker whose

Burnout in Larrabee

by Walter (Scoop) Palmer

Larrabee was the scene of another fire late last Friday night. A local alarm was pulled when smoke emitting from a room on the first floor filled the hallway. New London firemen arrived shortly afterwards. Immediately on the scene, Courier questioned the fire lieutenant concerning the incident. According to him, the fire was caused "probably by a cigarette left in the room." No one was in the room at the time of the fire. A blanket and a rug were burned, and were smelled when the firemen arrived. No one was injured, as the building was evacuated soon after the alarm went off. This is the third fire to occur in Larrabee this year. The owner of the room was unavailable for comment at press time.

Dr. Philip H. Jordan, New President of Kenyon.

"Scoop" Palmer, on the scene with Chief McCarthy.
Our View of the Press...

Any mass medium has a dual responsibility to the public, in presenting the news, and to the source, in presenting the truth. The role of the press in Watergate is an example of the power of accurate and responsible reporting.

A recent article that appeared in the Hartford Courant and printed opposite is an example of irresponsible journalism and the damage that results. This article, concerning Dean Cobb, is based on erroneous information and unsubstantiated facts. The Courant received all of its information from heavily biased articles which appeared in the Michigan Daily paper.

The Courant's reporter made no attempts to contact the News Office at Conn., and certainly insufficient effort to speak with Dean Cobb, apparently only attempting to contract her on the previous night, when she "could not be reached for comment."

The Courant goes on to make the statement that Dean Cobb had been offered the position at Michigan, and had the option of accepting. According to our sources, this is untrue. As explained in the Day article (written by Peggy Ford, '73), Dean Cobb stated that she was only "under consideration" for the position. The Michigan paper did contact the News Office, concerning Dean Cobb, but Mrs. Thompson reported "It was the first she had heard about it." The Courant certainly should have spoken to either the News Office or Dean Cobb before printing their article. The evident errors in spelling Dean Jewell Cobb's name indicate the misinformation that characterized the article.

The potential damage of the Courant article is obvious. The Dean's position here could be seriously jeopardized by this irresponsible publicity. The Courant hopes that this explanation clears up some of the questions raised by the inaccurate Courant article, in addition to presenting insight concerning the use and abuse of the press.

There will be a meeting of College Council today at 4:30 in the Student Government Room to discuss possible suspension of funding for Conn PIRG. If you have any thoughts on the matter for or against, you are urged to attend.

The Hartford Courant, Tuesday, January 21, 1975

State Dean Offered A Top School Post

By TONI MARTIN

Dr. Jewell Plummer Copp, dean of Connecticut College in New London has been offered a position in Michigan which could make her possibly the highest-placed black female educator in the country.

Dr. Copp, 51, has been offered the post by University of Michigan regents. The school has 15,074 students. Dr. Copp could not be reached for comment Monday night. But Connecticut College president Oakes Ames said he "had heard nothing about it." Dr. Copp is a biologist specializing in research on melanoma, a cancer which produces abnormal skin pigmentation.

She has been dean at Connecticut College since 1969. In that year she was also elected to the University of Hartford Board of Regents. She is a fellow of the National Cancer Research Institute.

The formal announcement on the appointment in Michigan reportedly has been scheduled for Sunday. The decision was made from among applicants around the country at a Board of Regents' meeting last week. If Dr. Copp accepts the position, she will immediately be caught up in administrative turmoil caused by 4 per cent across-the-board budget cuts ordered at the university.

She would be the first black dean at the university.

Dean Cobb finalist for Michigan job

NEW LONDON — Dr. Jewell Plummer Copp, dean of Connecticut College, acknowledged today she is among finalists under consideration for the post of dean of the School of Literature, Science and the Arts at the University of Michigan.

Dr. Cobb became the first black dean of Connecticut College in 1969. She is also professor of zoology and a prominent cancer researcher.

(from the Day Jan 22, 1975)

Student Government Election Information

O.K. folks we'll try and get it right this time: Self-nominations for the offices of President, vice-President, and Judiciary Board Chairman will take place tomorrow, February 7 through Monday, February 10, with fillings closing at 5:00 p.m. Fillings are recorded in the Student Government Room Cro 210. A 2.00 cumulative G.P.A. is the minimum required to run for office.

There will be a candidates' meeting Monday, February 10, at 5:00 p.m. in the Student Government Room. At that time pictures for publication in the Courier will be taken, as will statements (1½ to 2 typed pages) also to be published in the Courier.

The speech AMALGO will be Tuesday, February 18 at 7:00 p.m. in Hale 122.

The election will be held Wednesday, February 19.

Oh really?

Dear Sirs,

I have resided on the Connecticut College campus for over two semesters, involving myself in the many facets of the college's life. The majority of my time has been devoted to academic pursuits. This has required my spending many hours in the structure formally referred to as Palmer Library. I write this letter with the express purpose of settling down in print what I feel is worthy and legitimate suggestion for the improvement of the college's scholastic environment.

It is my sincere belief that this college needs a new library. This may seem a rash suggestion to many. Not so. Everyone I have had occasion to discuss this idea with has impressed upon me the fact that they dislike working in the library. It is a new structure is built perhaps attendance would increase at prolific rates due to curiosity alone. Least anyone think this college has no available space for such a structure, I propose this simple solution: destroy the water basins behind the present library and construct the new structure there. If started immediately, I am certain it could be completed by the end of 1976 if not sooner. The cost would be roughly six million dollars.

I believe my idea a very reasonable one, worthy of serious consideration by everyone on campus. I can only hope that if the decision is made to build, it is effected with all due speed.

Respectfully,

R.L. FYFE
T.H. W. Pinter
WASHINGTON - President Ford's new economic package could well be stamped "Made in Detroit."

The auto industry was excempted from meeting the new clean-air standards and it will profit the most from the President's recent plans. The car makers' good fortune is no surprise to those who know Gerald Ford's sense of the automotive nation. A native of Michigan, the home of the auto industry, he was weaned in the cradle of America's car culture.

The auto executives number among his best friends.

Rodney M. Markley, for example, is the chief Washington lobbyist for the Ford Motor Co. and is a frequent golfing companion of the Vice President. Markley was on his way to the French Riviera when he learned that his friend would be speaking to the Senate. He rushed back in time for a gathering that evening in the Ford home.

As a House minority leader, Gerald Ford religiously supported the policies of President Richard Nixon. But there was one exception. Ford made a rare break with Nixon to manesh the votes against opening the highway trust fund, for mass transit aid - a move also opposed by the auto industry.

There is nothing sinister in all this. But it is clear that President Ford is sympathetic to the views of the auto makers.

His loyalty will soon be tested again. The Big Three, it seems, want the government to reduce bumper standards. The car kings say that bumpers which will absorb a five-mile-an-hour impact are too heavy. They want bumpers that will take no more than a three-mile-an-hour crash.

The motor moguls say they want to save gas. But many critics believe the automakers want to get what they can while they have a friend in the White House.

Heir to Power: Secretary of State Henry Kissinger will have Congress watching over his shoulder for the next two years.

Michigan, the home of the auto industry, is now the chief Washington mansion. Other congressional leaders are also preparing to keep a sharper eye on foreign policy.

Under Church's prodding, for example, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has decided to attempt to find out why they weren't told about U.S. reconnaissance flights over Vietnam. They also intend to review whether this was a violation of the restrictions which Congress placed last year on U.S. military activity in Vietnam.

On the House side, Foreign Affairs chairman Thomas Morgan is planning a comprehensive review of military aid. Both the Senate and House committees will closely examine the Vladivostok agreement between President Ford and Soviet party leader Leonid Brezhnev. And a full review of U.S. policy in the Middle East is almost certain.

In the months to come, it looks as if Kissinger's most excurciating diplomacy will take place on Capitol Hill.

"Closest Haws: In private conversations, President Ford often talks like a hawk. He doesn't think the United States should think twice about the oil potentail. It wasn't Secretary of State Kissinger, it was the President himself, who raised the possibility of military intervention to prevent the economic strangulation of the West by oil powers.

The President is also determined to support South Vietnam and South Korea against the Communist threat. He has complained about a congressional limit on military aid to Saigon. This, he protested, would deprive Kissinger of his bargaining power to get the Russians and Chinese to hold down their arms shipments to North Vietnam.

But Ford has made clear in his private conversations that he will never send American troops back to Vietnam. The whispers of U.S. military action against North Vietnam are completely false, the President has told friends. He may favor increased military aid for Saigon, he said, but on the condition of a U.S. military involvement there, he is a dove.

Prep School: Association with the Rockefeller family, it appears, is good training for secretaries of state. Everyone knows, of course, that Henry Kissinger was once an adviser to now Vice President Nelson Rockefeller. Less well remembered is the fact that John Foster Dulles was once chairman of the board of Redner Rockefeller's Rockefeller Foundation. And Dean Rusk was actually the foundation's president.

Devious Spokes: A reporter who was invited to lunch at the CIA a couple of years ago agreed to having his picture taken with the agency's press officer. Now, it turns out, the reporter was under CIA surveillance at the time and he suspects the photographs were taken to help the agency's gamous identify him.

Losers' Haven: Five years, American Samoa has been governed by a man of dubious talent named John Haydon. He is now leaving, but the Interior Department has named another loser, defeated Republican Rep. Earl Ruth, to replace him. Ruth has never been to American Samoa and has never, to our knowledge, shown any interest in the colony. His only qualification seems to be a page three friendship with President Ford.

Washington Whirl: South Korea, say our sources, will be the next nation to extend full diplomatic recognition to the Palestinian Liberation Organization. Book publishers are speculating that twin "bombs" of the coming months will be former Vice President Spiro Agnew's novel and former President Nixon's memoirs. The cynics are saying the two manuscripts ought to be published under one cover and called "Together Again." An Internal Revenue Service employee in the Detroit field office, John Moffat, tried to stop the agency from offering rebates on new furniture. His effort to help the taxpayers cost him his job.

Style

Engine Charlie was right

By James McNell Whittier Engine Charlie Wilson. Remember him, he was Secretary of Defense under Mr. Dynamism, Dwight Eisenhower. Chairman of General Motors, Engine Charlie gained a footnote in history. He is often hailed as one who did good for General Motors and good for America." A good corollary of Engine Charlie at the time was that he was dragged over the coals by the press and intelligentsia. After all, Detroit.

Ford's new economic package seems a small part of our lives). The car makers' good fortune is posed to say the psychiatric mental health complex which is vowed to keep...
Reflections on the cosmos
by Lauren Kingsley
I was traipsing along the campus road early last week when I stopped by a friend who wanted to know if I was still going to be around for the next class. When I replied in the affirmative, he then inquired of me, “What sucks this week?” I quickly replied “The games,” and gave him the answer, “God.”
That was before last week’s incident, which was an accumulation of the old and new, orderly lives, which included the remarks by Chaplain Robb, confirming my suspicions. I had decided to do a piece about God at Connecticut College long before. Now it seemed the time was ripe. I was advised by a friend to approach the topic rather anthropomorphically, categorizing the cosmic realm. And this appealed to me, my mind being sadly unsystematic; but then again, he was an anthropology major, and that figures. Considering it again, I decided to assume a more systematic approach, characteristic of not only my natural intellectual disposition, but also the three characteristics of the “theological” makeup of the school. Note, I didn’t say structure, for the point is presently very much a matter of faith between the religious groups in which certain types may set or find themselves or be set or found for the most part. Indeed, one might be more tempted to divide them into what could be called Worship groups.

The Biggies
There’s a large group which worships numbers, the type of which can run as high as 4.0, this figure designating the supreme embodiment. Then, a second large group which, via certain individuals, has been known to overlap into the first, might be called the Self-Worship group. The members in this group are more apparent in their affilication.

Another biggie which may or may not coincide with either or both of the above is the Play-worship sect.

I would suspect that these divisions include in one way or another most of the creatures who abide here, though there are those few Into-Life types whose worship inversely includes all those mentioned and more — the Worship-worshippers. One of the main characteristics in spotting such a cult is its simultaneous adoration of society. It is doubtful here, however, whether this might be categorized under Self-worship (in a sense), Play-worship, or in a category of its own, Fellow-Man-Worship. This may be confused, often rightly, with a sub-group under the Play heading, that sector which pursues, loves and ingests the drink of beer, the act of which is often supplemented with complex ritual. Unlike the vestments used in this ceremony, which are so varying as the varying beings themselves, another Play-worship group can be found garb more or less similar within its ranks, the La Cosse shirt being an example. But the foot is perhaps, the principle body part among the symbols of worship and is expensively shielded within Nikes, Pumas, Adidas, Converse, or Pro Keds, all of which are this group’s adaptation of the ordinary shoe, designed for enhancement, adoration, and general prestige, making sure to outfunk the everyday pedestrian. The wearers of these and such like garments perform very flamboyant rites, and ones of a very active nature, as you might guess. So spectacular are these occasions of worship and adoration in their peculiar ceremony that often great throngs of non-participaters, be they believers or not, are on hand to spectate, aid in the chanting and general prayer and evocation of the said spirits. The local temple is built in the convenient and ingenious location of Cro, second floor. This class may also sometimes coincide with either or both of the Fellow-Man-Worship or Self-Worship groups.

Morrison interns chosen

The Connecticut League of Women Voters (LWV) has awarded competitive Mary Poulios Morrison Internships to two college juniors who will work summer internships at the LWV headquarters, Washington, D.C.

Pamela Jean Allapoulous of Wellesley, Mass., and Bernard McMullan of Norwich, Conn., will serve six-weeks as interns of the national volunteer organization which is dedicated to informed citizen participation at the national, state, and local government.

The Morrison Internship Program at Connecticut College was established in 1966 by the Connecticut League as a continuing tribute to the late Mrs. Morrison of New London, a tireless worker for a Connecticut College trustee for 34 years.

Morrison Interns receive no salary, but the League provides each with a $1,200 stipend to cover living and incidental expenses during their eight weeks stay in the nation’s capital.

Miss Allapoulous, a government major, assisted in the 1974 campaign of George Kanahele for State Senator and worked for two summers as a cancer statistics researcher at the Cambridge Hospital, Mass.

The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. Allapoulous is the Features Editor for the Connecticut College newspaper, the Courier, a student member of the Government Department Advisory Board, a student advisor for Marshall House, and an assistant and travel representative for the Admissions Office at Connecticut College.

Mr. McMullan, a 1974 youth delegate to the N.E. Bishop’s Conferences on a sociology and a European history double major who worked two summers for the City of Norwich in the Voter Registrar’s Office. He is currently employed as an administrative aide to the religion department at Connecticut College.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. McMullan is a student member of the Sociology Department Advisory Board, a member of the Chapel Board and Harkness Chapel Choir, House President and social chairman for his residence, Harkness, the secretary and treasurer of Student Government and an announcer for the student radio station, WCN1, at Connecticut College.

Yale Law School Professor Joseph Goldstein, author of the 1973 publication “Around the Best Interests of the Child,” which he wrote with Anne Fried and Dr. Albert Solnit, director of Yale University’s Child Study Center, will give a public talk about parents, children, and the law on Tuesday, March 5 at 7:30 p.m. in Olive Hall of Cummings Arts Center at Connecticut College.

A member of the Virginia bar, long-time student and observer of law, family, criminal justice, private law practitioner Dr. Goldstein is eminently qualified to speak on the topic “Law Has No Magic for Families in Trouble.” He is a board member for Vera Institute of Justice and for the Best Interests of the Child. He has served on the Commission to revise the criminal statutes of the United States and on the Commission for the mentally disabled. A Fairleigh Visiting Professor for two years ago, he spent two months at Hitotsubashi University, Japan, where he was involved in the research and training for family court probation officers.

The public is invited to attend the lecture which is free of charge.

Former faculty member dies

Marc Chadourne, who died Thursday, March 2, 1975, at Hôtel-Dieu, Cagnes, France, near Nice where he had retired several years ago, was professor emeritus of French and Italian department at Connecticut College, where he taught for 30 years.

A well-known writer in France before and after the Second World War, Prof. Chadourne was the recipient of the prestigious Great Prize of Literature of the French Academy (1960) for his book “Anabasie, a Tale of a Mexican Journey.” That same year he was awarded the rank of officer in the French Legion of Honor, one of the highest awards France has for foreign citizens.

He was born in Brive, in the center of France, and received degrees from the Sorbonne and University of Bordeaux.

Leadership!

by Craig Chapman

I have been waiting a year to say this. I hope you will read this: and, please keep what I say in mind when you elect your next “student leaders.”

I am not sitting in Student Assembly. All year I have witnessed boring speeches by its members and a less exciting agenda. Minutes pass like hours. Babbie, babbie...

How nice to sit in a place where you can help students and put your own head on the line in the name of student issues. This was my initial excitement when I first entered the (so-called) esteemed assembly of student representatives. That was two years ago. I failed to see, especially in the past student year, anything comparable to my hopes of action and student representation.

The people who head up the Student Government Association are pegged as fellow-man-worshippers, not like representatives of students and student feelings. What are they doing? These leading ‘students’ are chatting with adverbial ‘students’ in a category they might be categorized under Self-worship. Much of the leaders’ affinity with the students is therefore lost in the ways of woeing administrators in a search for personal recognition. Our current assembly heads are no different.

In student meetings such as the one I am presently in, the President criticizes that the administration cuts us here and burns us there. Yet, he is reluctant to lead us against the administration. Why does he feel so insecure about student support and student power? The answer is two-fold. First, these student leaders are so close — and getting ever closer to the administration. It seems to me that the P.‘s affability with the students is therefore lost in the ways of woeing administrators in a search for personal recognition. Our current assembly heads are no different.

There is more a fundamental reason for the inability to organize and utilize student support. It goes like this.

“In the current head of Student Assembly say, ‘no one does anything in this assembly, it’s just one person alone — do?’ His statement is correct, I agree. He can do nothing without the present assembly, is at best, a mushy and ineffective body where there is no chance for student desires to be more adequately served.

My answer to our current President’s question, and any such question, raised by any fellow Presidential candidate for this year, is this: You are supposed to lead, not wallow into the assembly. Dry monologues to an uninformed Student Assembly keep representatives from being more active. And even more so, it only takes a leader who understands his power to distribute his power in (deed, if not in word) and fails to demonstrate an effective leadership to provide the atmosphere of apathy and nonchalance that now exists.

In student assembly tonight, the current Vice-President is sitting where the President normally sits. Elections are coming up. It seems our Vice-President is trying to get a head start on the election for President. In any event, all students decide to elect this Vice-President or any other representative of the administration, the students will remain an uncoagulated and ineffective body at Connecticut College. What the students now need is a student leader.

A student leader must activate the students by involving them and not just speaking to them with an apathetic heritage to instill activity amongst themselves.
Larry Fine of Three Stooges

Fuzzy-haired comic is dead

Larry Fine, member of the original Three Stooges comedy team, died January 24 at the Motion Picture Country House and Hospital after suffering a stroke. He was 72.

Fine, Moe Howard, and his late brother Curly Howard, formed the original slapstick trio which made 212 reels in the 1930's and 40's. These shorts, which had a comeback on television in the early '60's, are still popular today and are still seen on broadcasts throughout the country.

For all of the College's Moe, Larry and Curly fans, there will be the second annual Three Stooges Cultural Film Festival. Watch for notices.

Paul Newman turns fifty

Yes folks, it's the end of an era. Last week Paul Newman turned fifty. Mr. Newman, sometime actor and poor read-course sports-car driver lives in western Connecticut, and drives his Lemans Ford GT 40. Cry your heart out, America.

Adult education center

A new Regional Counseling Center for continuing adult education will be held its first office hours on Monday, February 3, at 105 Huntington Street, New London, to provide without charge the information, counseling, and referral services needed by area adults who want to resume study beyond the high school level.

The innovative service, first of its kind in New England, in the region, is the pioneering programs geared specifically to helping adults of all ages who want to get the classroom in growing numbers for personal enrichment or job-related reasons.

Office space for the new educational service facility is being provided without rental charge by the Chamber of Commerce of Southeastern Connecticut and the Nursing Home Street headquarters. Expense of operating the Counseling Center during its first year is covered by a $18,000 grant awarded under Public Act 160 by the Connecticut Commission for Higher Education.

Announcement of the Center's Monday opening was made Thursday by Dr. N. Rus, president of Mohican Community College and chairman of Region 8 of the Connecticut State Colleges.

For the sponsoring colleges and for the Center's staff, the opening is almost like a big birthday party for the Center.

The sponsoring colleges are also contributing staff time and services, valued in excess of $6,500.

“I am sure I speak for all of the colleges in expressing our excitement for and support of this undertaking,” Dr. Rus said Thursday in his announcement.

“We are optimistic that this new venture will make it possible for more people of the area to be aware of the various colleges offerings and services. Hopefully, this is only the first of a series of cooperative activities co-sponsored by the colleges of southeastern Connecticut,” the Mohican Community College president predicted.

Dr. Rus also announced Thursday that Mrs. Margaret Snow Atherton of New London has been appointed director of the Regional Counseling Center. Mrs. Atherton helped to organize and for two years directed the Connecticut Community College Office of Community Affairs.

At its new Huntington Street headquarters, the Center is equipped to render all of the services necessary to help area residents match their interests, abilities, and earlier academic experience with the extensive post-secondary educational resources that exist within southeastern Connecticut.

Although all of the seven sponsoring colleges mark increases in part-time student enrollments since 1971, none of them has the resources personnel to understand and handle the thorough and sustained counseling program the center will offer without any cost to the student client.

Mrs. Atherton encourages any interested adult in the Center to learn more about the varied vocational and educational programs that are locally available and to begin now the process that will result in the development of a beneficial study program.

The Regional Counseling Center will be open Mondays through Fridays from 9:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m., or at other hours by special appointment which may be arranged by telephoning 442-4556.

Report on Oxfam-America's Fast for a World Harvest

Contributions to the nationwide Fast for a World Harvest on November 21, sponsored by Oxfam-America and Project Relief total $16,522.10 with money and responses continuing to come in to Oxfam's Boston headquarters. An estimated 200,000 Americans were involved in the day's events in fasting, skipping meals, studying the world food problem and/or sending money for support of food-der work and agricultural programs in the famine areas of the poor world. The day served not only to reduce U.S. food consumption, but heightened public awareness of the excessive use of meat in the American diet.

On the heels of the World Food Conference in Rome, Fast for a World Harvest received wide publicity and editorial support for providing a means for Americans to demonstrate their personal convictions and dissatisfaction with U.S. government actions. Both the overwhelming public response and continuing requests from individuals and groups eager to do something have been recognized as indications of substantial grass-root support for the idea of long term efforts to relieve human suffering.

The typical faster estimated the 24-hour fast to be about 40% of normal calorie intake at about $3.00. Many people gave more. A few gave less. One person sent in a $25.00 government banquet. Throughout the world, millions of people responded, ranging from a continuing hunger anger by Duke University, Durham, N.C., to a heartfelt pledge by Dr. Atherton of the Right to Eat" at Cornell, Ithaca, N.Y. The steps of Harvard's Memorial Church were the scene of a fast for food to be arranged by telephoning 442-4556.

Adult education center

A Call for Action

A Call For Action

By Keith Ritter

Every weekend hundreds of Conn College students are left with the same old routine. Many people will go to Yellow Front, go to the movies, go to a small party, and go to bed. Forgive the pun, but this routine has got to change.

It is time for Connecticut College to establish a concert committee. This committee should not be a sub-body of the Social Board, but a separate entity which devotes itself entirely to the task of providing decent entertainment in the way of concerts for the student body and community. Many students as large as Conn, Hobart and Union have established them. A few have, have this type of committee and these committees are doing very well financially. They also are providing the schools with a good relationship with their surrounding communities, a task which has proven to be too great for Conn thus far.

Last year's Poco concert was a fiasco run by inexperienced tyros who went in way over their heads. There is no need for a concert to lose money, as a glance into Hill Graham's wallet will reveal. The problems encountered with Poco could have been avoided by anyone with a bit of experience and foresight.

The financial aspects of the C.C.C.C. would require the one-time assistance of the Board of Trustees. The Board would have to assure backing for the committee. This is not to say that any money would have to be laid out; simply that a firm credit source is necessary for the committee in order to provide the necessary resources or to the task of providing decent entertainment.

I believe that I am the time for the apathetic attitudes of the Conn student body to change. The student government must be made aware of the students' desires for such a committee and then the board of trustees can hold a vote for the students. The average student has the resources or to stop concerning itself with distant issues and devote its time and efforts to a cause which is vital to the campus life, and perhaps even the sanity, of all Conn students.

A Call for Action

A Call For Action

By Keith Ritter

Every weekend hundreds of Conn College students are left with the same old routine. Many people will go to Yellow Front, go to the movies, go to a small party, and go to bed. Forgive the pun, but this routine has got to change.

It is time for Connecticut College to establish a concert committee. This committee should not be a sub-body of the Social Board, but a separate entity which devotes itself entirely to the task of providing decent entertainment in the way of concerts for the student body and community. Many students as large as Conn, Hobart and Union have established them. A few have, have this type of committee and these committees are doing very well financially. They also are providing the schools with a good relationship with their surrounding communities, a task which has proven to be too great for Conn thus far.

Last year's Poco concert was a fiasco run by inexperienced tyros who went in way over their heads. There is no need for a concert to lose money, as a glance into Hill Graham's wallet will reveal. The problems encountered with Poco could have been avoided by anyone with a bit of experience and foresight.

The financial aspects of the C.C.C.C. would require the one-time assistance of the Board of Trustees. The Board would have to assure backing for the committee. This is not to say that any money would have to be laid out; simply that a firm credit source is necessary for the committee in order to provide the necessary resources or to the task of providing decent entertainment.

I believe that I am the time for the apathetic attitudes of the Conn student body to change. The student government must be made aware of the students' desires for such a committee and then the board of trustees can hold a vote for the students. The average student has the resources or to stop concerning itself with distant issues and devote its time and efforts to a cause which is vital to the campus life, and perhaps even the sanity, of all Conn students.

A Call for Action

A Call For Action

By Keith Ritter

Every weekend hundreds of Conn College students are left with the same old routine. Many people will go to Yellow Front, go to the movies, go to a small party, and go to bed. Forgive the pun, but this routine has got to change.

It is time for Connecticut College to establish a concert committee. This committee should not be a sub-body of the Social Board, but a separate entity which devotes itself entirely to the task of providing decent entertainment in the way of concerts for the student body and community. Many students as large as Conn, Hobart and Union have established them. A few have, have this type of committee and these committees are doing very well financially. They also are providing the schools with a good relationship with their surrounding communities, a task which has proven to be too great for Conn thus far.

Last year's Poco concert was a fiasco run by inexperienced tyros who went in way over their heads. There is no need for a concert to lose money, as a glance into Hill Graham's wallet will reveal. The problems encountered with Poco could have been avoided by anyone with a bit of experience and foresight.

The financial aspects of the C.C.C.C. would require the one-time assistance of the Board of Trustees. The Board would have to assure backing for the committee. This is not to say that any money would have to be laid out; simply that a firm credit source is necessary for the committee in order to provide the necessary resources or to the task of providing decent entertainment.

I believe that I am the time for the apathetic attitudes of the Conn student body to change. The student government must be made aware of the students' desires for such a committee and then the board of trustees can hold a vote for the students. The average student has the resources or to stop concerning itself with distant issues and devote its time and efforts to a cause which is vital to the campus life, and perhaps even the sanity, of all Conn students.

A Call for Action

A Call For Action

By Keith Ritter

Every weekend hundreds of Conn College students are left with the same old routine. Many people will go to Yellow Front, go to the movies, go to a small party, and go to bed. Forgive the pun, but this routine has got to change.

It is time for Connecticut College to establish a concert committee. This committee should not be a sub-body of the Social Board, but a separate entity which devotes itself entirely to the task of providing decent entertainment in the way of concerts for the student body and community. Many students as large as Conn, Hobart and Union have established them. A few have, have this type of committee and these committees are doing very well financially. They also are providing the schools with a good relationship with their surrounding communities, a task which has proven to be too great for Conn thus far.

Last year's Poco concert was a fiasco run by inexperienced tyros who went in way over their heads. There is no need for a concert to lose money, as a glance into Hill Graham's wallet will reveal. The problems encountered with Poco could have been avoided by anyone with a bit of experience and foresight.

The financial aspects of the C.C.C.C. would require the one-time assistance of the Board of Trustees. The Board would have to assure backing for the committee. This is not to say that any money would have to be laid out; simply that a firm credit source is necessary for the committee in order to provide the necessary resources or to the task of providing decent entertainment.

I believe that I am the time for the apathetic attitudes of the Conn student body to change. The student government must be made aware of the students' desires for such a committee and then the board of trustees can hold a vote for the students. The average student has the resources or to stop concerning itself with distant issues and devote its time and efforts to a cause which is vital to the campus life, and perhaps even the sanity, of all Conn students.
New London's Met by Pam Allapoulou

One of the most frequently overlooked but most appealing cultural centers in New London is situated right on our campus. The Lyman Allen Museum, which is run, not owned, by the college, specializes in drawings, decorative arts, American furniture, and nineteenth century American painting.

It currently operates as a result of Harriet Ahly, who in 1936, left $1.5 million in memory of her father. Unfortunately, the remaining funds only cover half of the museum's operating costs, so the initial building costs came from the original bequest.

Since that time, the Palmer sister, in 1938, left a large amount, namely $500,000, which was used to add on to the back wing. In 1969, revenue from an endowed gift left by Alice Bishop was responsible for the addition of studios on the second floor.

Presently, the other half of the museum's operating funds are a result of memberships, grants, lecture profits, flea markets, and the gift shop. The current budget allows for a number of gallery shows specializing in Classical, Renaissance, Oriental, and Primitive Art. A large collection of dolls houses, donated to Mrs. Baratz, is an important and unique addition to the museum as a whole.

The museum also has a large art history library that is correlated with Palmer and catalogued into it by author and title. The library includes known, for its Drawings, Decorative Art, and Standard Reference books, as well as the bound periodicals in the basement.

There are two exhibits that will be opening on Sunday, February 11, 1973 for a two week long time. The first is the Grete Holst Evans Collection of 34 Pennsylvania Quilts. They were first shown under the direction of Mrs. Pamela Bardo at the University of Pennsylvania Quilts. They were first shown under the direction of Mrs. Pamela Bardo at the University of Pennsylvania. The first is the Grete Holst Evans Collection of 34 Pennsylvania Quilts. They were first shown under the direction of Mrs. Pamela Bardo at the University of Pennsylvania. The second is the collection of the East Coast and its Band 0x have released a fine album called Mad Dog. It contains the best of the finest rock I've heard in awhile. Every song has that particular Whosian touch of humor to it and most are very funny. Even some that look like some words that fans will definitely want and one every rock fan should have.

Poet at Vinal

The minority Cultural Center of Conn. College will feature Jake Shelton, Poet, February 10th at 6:00 p.m. in the MCC (Vinal Cottage). Mrs. Shelton is presently writing through the auspices of the Connecticut Commission on the Arts as Poet-in-Residence at St. Augustine Street Elementary School in Hartford.

Her work appears in "Out of Sight," and the upcoming edition of the "Hyperion Poetry Jurnal."

Jake Shelton's reading will be open to the college and surrounding community.

Keith's column Some early releases

by Keith Ritter

I suppose that you're wondering whether there is anything that has been for the past two issues. Well, there is a very good explanation which has to do with the later release of several products of which you might be interested. Once I made a long story short, I went underground.

Now that I've quelled your fears and put myself back into the good graces of my editors, I'd like to present only some of the best albums of '74. This list is in no particular order and probably could be expanded by five or so albums. Anyway, Court and Spark, J. Mitchell; Tales, Yes; The Wild, The Innocent and the E Street Band. If you prefer, you can just say Springsteen, Maria Muldaur, AWB, The Average White Band, Fulfillingness' First Finalé, S. W. and Tom, Company, Caribou, E. John, Ringo, and Brain Salad Surgery, E.L.

I'll send my piece about last year, let me move on to this year's early releases. Perhaps the most awaited album of the year is Physical Graffiti, the new Led Zeppelin album. It is a record set with covers every man's name and that the band has ventured into over its musical career. A sure favorite of radio stations and listeners will be the long track, "In The Light," which will undoubtedly be compared to the classic "Stairway to Heaven." Jimmy Page's guitar work on the blues classic "In My Time Of Dying" is a standard. "Caravan" is the rock band "The Electric Piatto." There is also a song left over from the Led Zep III entitled "Bron-Y-Aur." Each of the songs in the first complete and his band Ox have released a fine album called Mad Dog. It continues the best of the finest rock I've heard in awhile. Every song has that particular Who'san touch of humor to it and most are very funny. Even some that look like some words that fans will definitely want and one every rock fan should have.

Film Society 1975 series

On February 9, the Connecticut College Film Society will present the first film of films, each series consisting of six shows, which are available for purchase through subscription. Each series is $4.50 individually, and $9.00 buys both series. Color coded posters will alert the reader to the film(s) being shown belong.

Subscriptions may be obtained by calling the box office that was passed around with the Campus Communicator, they can be gotten from the information office, or you can send a check, payable to the Connecticut College Film Society, designating the series you prefer (or both), and mailing it to box 698. The season's ticket can then be picked up at the box office.

The Connecticut College Film Society is a recently organized group of students interested in bringing quality foreign films to the community. Those interested in joining the society are invited to attend any of these meetings, which will be announced in the Communicator.

Series A

Feb. 9 Adam's Rib
Feb. 23 Spellbound
Feb. 27 Googie, Here and There
Mar. 30 The Hunchback of Notre Dame
Apr. 6 Smiles of a Summer Night
Apr. 20 Portrait of Jenny
May 4 Meet Me in St. Louis

Series B

Feb. 16 Showboat
Mar. 2 Jules and Jim
Mar. 30 It Happened One Night
Apr. 13 She Done Him Wrong
May 11 Zare De Conduite
Rhode Island dancers give amateur concert

by Emily Odza

The Rhode Island Dance Repertory Company gave the first concert in a series of dance performances being offered to Commonwealth students this winter and spring. It was not an auspicious beginning; the company, under the direction of Julie A. Bell of Providence, only recently contained no outstanding dancers and showed not much artistic judgment in the selection of material and choreography. Although tecnically most of the dancers were quite good, the choreography was personaliy shown through their styles of movement. The moments when the dancers were truly moving and the most engrossing or truthful were the times when the dancers had all of a sudden come together to work in its own right.

In general, the dances do not deserve the energy of a scathing comment because they did not show enough spirit to make a reaction or response worthwhile. "Sweat of the dancers opening dance (choreographed by Caredy Adams in 1973), a somewhat pedestrian piece, to the music of the same qualities-electrified popular Bach that became tangled and was icing over with vigour or feeling from the original. It was a play-acting of a bar room with some précédent genre revival, the humour (why were they grinning?) did not exist. The cowboy hats were not even used satisfactorily and the way they were attempting at gymnastics did not elevate the work. This piece of American dance folklore, "Trinity Square" was indelible and indecipherable. Norma Davis' opening dance was a credit for composing and directing it (1974), allowed the company much freedom. The piece makes a good sound and movement of their own. The dancers had an unfortunate propperty for organizing nicely (the better more so in the other pieces); that's how you could tell what had been composed. The serious quality at the beginning quickly gave way to a more playful mood. "Chasing the Car's Tail" was a little better than that.

"We will make Sound, Fire and Silence"—gave way to more abstract sound effects. Cymbals, drums and bells stood near the wings inviting experimentation, and a wooden platform arrangement had been erected in the upstage; plastic lit by blue lights had been hung from the rafters. The costumes were a mixture of spotty yellow leotards—as the costumes were to get.

The main coup here was in invasion of the audience by the dancers, who strategically placed themselves at strategic spots in the orchestra and played "catch" with their energy and visual presence. The audience loved it, but whether it was interesting, all-in-all made it at least experimental—but, it was still an invasion. They continued back on stage for an encore to the audience again. This time it was more acceptable. There was less creativeness and they weren't so obviously playing catch. The interest (or rather creation) of the audience was the randomness of sound and movement, not unimproved by laughs and whispers of a polite audience and the accidental cracking effects of cooling light against the dancers' bodies. So the accompaniment of harmonics was a good idea, but somehow too self-consciously non-spontaneous. The frenzy of the dancers harmonics erupted too predictably after the melancholy thin sounds and cold center of the piece. Movement. The informality of this group interaction was difficult to be caught up in on stage. The dubious idea of dancers accompanying themselves in the audience—sound and movement qualities following naturally from each other—made in a couple of the scenes the piece did over reach a pick of excitement or at least a climax in their own enjoyment of the game. The idea was to keep up a continuous rhythmic beat which involved the whole group, using the m Singleton wooden platforms as percussion instruments and props for movement. Some of the dancers used the beat as accompaniment while others integrated their movements and actually producing the sounds. Even beginning composition students would be encouraged to vary the rhythmical patterns a bit more, with syncopation and the juxtaposition of different movements. Perhaps the visual chorus was reached when the dancers approached unexpectingly on all of their arms, still holding onto the beat. The movement did depart rhythmically from the sound and accompanied to some extent, which broke the general monotony of the piece. If this sounds was to be combined just long enough to make a point, I am sure it must be emphasized, this game-thinking doesn't necessarily belong on stage and seemed, in every point he digresses to begin. The audience was amused. "The duet using two benefits in relation to the original "Walking and Running," the second to be performed, section the first being "Walking lecture."

In a word, Isaac Asimov "The articles are divided into six sections: Inorganic, Nuclear, Organic, Bio- and Geo- Chemistry, and General (in which the Nobel winners article is placed) along with his essays for the ten best scientists in history, for whom Isaac creates the Isaac award, for Newton, who else?"

Dr. Asimov's style in his scientific articles is captivating and enticing. He makes everything crystal clear, by telling you more than you ever wanted to know. At every point he digresses to begin at the beginning, laying a perfect foundation for his argument. By progressing methodically, he leaves the reader unable to forget the point of the piece, and in the end the reader is ready to accept the theories. Asimov spoils the readers with exciting literature. Isidore. F. K. E. "A Change of Level". The second "Search for a Level Voice" and the third entitled, "Building Inorganic America", a line from fragments of poetry by James Schivel.

The last section drew on funny props reminiscent of American trash-culture, going as far as having a Conn College female smoker on stage and off in a Miss America costume, except the dress axes her national suit read "Miss Used." The duet using two car head lamps was humorous —there were other car elements, implying body, and sex symbols associated with cars. The insignificance of our automobile culture did not matter, but unfortunately through the use of many cliches and the playing on our sense of glamour, the rest of the piece continued on page eight.

Dance Festival Weekend in March

The Department of Dance has invited the Modern Dance Theatre of the Prospect School, New York City, to a Dance Festival Weekend at Connecticut College on March 1 and 2. The overnight is made possible through the generosity of Connecticut College students giving their rooms to the girls for the night. Any female student who would give her room to the dancers Saturday, March 1, can list her name and room number with the Department of Dance. Priscilla Colville (M.P.A. '75) will contact you for details.

ASIMOV ON CHEMISTRY by Isaac Asimov

Doubling & Co. 287 pp.

Mr. Asimov is prolific. He has over 150 books in print in hard and paperback editions. In addition to this, there are many science fact articles for the Magazine of Fantasy and Science Fiction. Dr. Asimov writes of science, science-hitory, science-fiction, literature, theater and the stage. This book, "Serious Dirty-Old-Man by 'Dr. A'" is.

In this book, his latest book, published 22 November, the good doctor really did not have to do a lot of writing. All the chapters (I I chapters appeared from 1969 to 1966 in F&SF. In his introduction, Dr. A. explains these articles which were written in 1965, the other articles are written, with the choice of either Dr. Asimov is bright and percipient, or nothing has happened in the world of chemistry in the last fifteen years.

Chemistry x six

The articles are divided into six sections: Inorganic, Nuclear, Organic, Bio- and Geo- Chemistry, and General (in which the Nobel winners article is placed) along with his essays for the ten best scientists in history, for whom Isaac creates the Isaac award, for Newton, who else?

Dr. Asimov's style in his scientific articles is captivating and enticing. He makes everything crystal clear, by telling you more than you ever wanted to know. At every point he digresses to begin at the beginning, laying a perfect foundation for his argument. By progressing methodically, he leaves the reader unable to forget the point of the piece, and in the end the reader is ready to accept the theories. Asimov spoils the readers with exciting literature. Isidore. F. K. E.

The articles are divided into six sections: Inorganic, Nuclear, Organic, Bio- and Geo- Chemistry, and General (in which the Nobel winners article is placed) along with his essays for the ten best scientists in history, for whom Isaac creates the Isaac award, for Newton, who else?

Dr. Asimov's style in his scientific articles is captivating and enticing. He makes everything crystal clear, by telling you more than you ever wanted to know. At every point he digresses to begin at the beginning, laying a perfect foundation for his argument. By progressing methodically, he leaves the reader unable to forget the point of the piece, and in the end the reader is ready to accept the theories. Asimov spoils the readers with exciting literature. Isidore. F. K. E.

The articles are divided into six sections: Inorganic, Nuclear, Organic, Bio- and Geo- Chemistry, and General (in which the Nobel winners article is placed) along with his essays for the ten best scientists in history, for whom Isaac creates the Isaac award, for Newton, who else?

Dr. Asimov's style in his scientific articles is captivating and enticing. He makes everything crystal clear, by telling you more than you ever wanted to know. At every point he digresses to begin at the beginning, laying a perfect foundation for his argument. By progressing methodically, he leaves the reader unable to forget the point of the piece, and in the end the reader is ready to accept the theories. Asimov spoils the readers with exciting literature. Isidore. F. K. E.
Spring Release

By Pam Alapouzos

Right around the middle of March when good old midterm depression has set in, it's easy to envision yourself on some balmy Caribbean beach. All these fantasies can become a reality if you make your reservations now for eight luxurious days on Paradise Island in the Bahamas.

Just think of it, for $275 you can relax in a hotel that offers everything from a bar in the fresh-scented pines to tennis courts. Other options are like tennis courts, a nearby golf course, a private beach, and complete entertainment, including water skiing, sailing, and snorkeling.

The flight is also included in this low price which will have

The Library as of 00January. Floor joists are being Installed. pIIoto by BancaJa

Super-cold weather prevents concrete from setting properly, so any long cold snap will slow progress. Stay tuned.

from page three

Style

Rationing is not the answer. Rationing is inherently unequal. Besides we will either pay the increased price of butter or make our own or in direct taxes to support the rationing apparatus. When the cost of living is increased to a point, then other forms of energy production, tar sands, coalification and other projects become feasible. Rationing will not increase the supply of the rationed article, rather it is a total move by or good friends on Capitol Hill to not increase the size of the pie, but rather to make a regular pie into our smaller pieces.

Our good friends on Capitol Hill are also legislating their way into the board rooms of the car makers specifying precise and rigid requirements. If rationing did not go into effect that would not be necessary. It rationalization would go into effect Congress might as well pass an act specifying that any M.D. who cannot cure cancer within a five year period will lose his license.

President Ford's action is the first leadership the country has since the Cuban Missile Crisis. Johnson and Nixon followed wherever Messrs. Harris and Gallup are leading, the leaders did not teach, they did not inform, they did not make (too many) tough decisions, they drifted with the times.

Prices Rising. Temperature Fallin.

Energy is expensive, and the sooner Americans realize the fact, the better it will be. Cheap energy is the key to building a strong solar energy is efficiently harnessed or the power of a fusion reaction is controlled.

New England will be hurt by the oil tax. That is the idea. If oil prices are increased by the oil tax on every gallon of oil, it will add a burden on New England, but should there be another embargo may well say tough it out and still remain popular, more power to him. These are tough times, we are a people willing to lay it on the line.

These are the items in between economic equilibria which tend to be glossed over in economics courses, but a lot of play in the press. Thank you.

from page four

R.I. Dance

recognized symbols and stereotyped

The favorite dance "Fantasies Lying in a Hammock" was the greatest dance though not exactly cr vivacious was accompanied a sin by J.B. Beck this is not adulterated, choreographed by Ray Eberstadt who danced throughout the program and in her own piece too much assurance. The sections were lasciviously entitled "The Invitational" " partying with Laura" and "The Hunt." There was nice use of phrasing and breath, though predictable, and an attempt to harness momentum and centrifugal force to increase the excitement of the dance.

Rationing will not increase the size of the pie, but rather to make a regular piece into our smaller pieces.

Rationing is inherently unequal. Rationing will not increase the supply of the rationed article, rather it is a total move by or good friends on Capitol Hill to not increase the size of the pie, but rather to make a regular piece into our smaller pieces.

Our good friends on Capitol Hill are also legislating their way into the board rooms of the car

makers specifying precise and rigid requirements. If rationing did not go into effect that would not be necessary. It rationalization would go into effect Congress might as well pass an act specifying that any M.D. who cannot cure cancer within a five year period will lose his license.

President Ford's action is the first leadership the country has since the Cuban Missile Crisis. Johnson and Nixon followed wherever Messrs. Harris and Gallup are leading, the leaders did not teach, they did not inform, they did not make (too many) tough decisions, they drifted with the times.

Prices Rising. Temperature Fallin.

Energy is expensive, and the sooner Americans realize the fact, the better it will be. Cheap energy is the key to building a strong solar energy is efficiently harnessed or the power of a fusion reaction is controlled.

New England will be hurt by the oil tax. That is the idea. If oil prices are increased by the oil tax on every gallon of oil, it will add a burden on New England, but should there be another embargo may well say tough it out and still remain popular, more power to him. These are tough times, we are a people willing to lay it on the line.

These are the items in between economic equilibria which tend to be glossed over in economics courses, but a lot of play in the press. Thank you.

R.I. Dance

recognized symbols and stereotyped

The favorite dance "Fantasies Lying in a Hammock" was the greatest dance though not exactly cr vivacious was accompanied a sin by J.B. Beck this is not adulterated, choreographed by Ray Eberstadt who danced throughout the program and in her own piece too much assurance. The sections were lasciviously entitled "The Invitational" " partying with Laura" and "The Hunt." There was nice use of phrasing and breath, though predictable, and an attempt to harness momentum and centrifugal force to increase the excitement of the dance.

Rationing will not increase the size of the pie, but rather to make a regular piece into our smaller pieces.

Our good friends on Capitol Hill are also legislating their way into the board rooms of the car

makers specifying precise and rigid requirements. If rationing did not go into effect that would not be necessary. It rationalization would go into effect Congress might as well pass an act specifying that any M.D. who cannot cure cancer within a five year period will lose his license.

President Ford's action is the first leadership the country has since the Cuban Missile Crisis. Johnson and Nixon followed wherever Messrs. Harris and Gallup are leading, the leaders did not teach, they did not inform, they did not make (too many) tough decisions, they drifted with the times.

Prices Rising. Temperature Fallin.

Energy is expensive, and the sooner Americans realize the fact, the better it will be. Cheap energy is the key to building a strong solar energy is efficiently harnessed or the power of a fusion reaction is controlled.

New England will be hurt by the oil tax. That is the idea. If oil prices are increased by the oil tax on every gallon of oil, it will add a burden on New England, but should there be another embargo may well say tough it out and still remain popular, more power to him. These are tough times, we are a people willing to lay it on the line.

These are the items in between economic equilibria which tend to be glossed over in economics courses, but a lot of play in the press. Thank you.

R.I. Dance

recognized symbols and stereotyped

The favorite dance "Fantasies Lying in a Hammock" was the greatest dance though not exactly cr vivacious was accompanied a sin by J.B. Beck this is not adulterated, choreographed by Ray Eberstadt who danced throughout the program and in her own piece too much assurance. The sections were lasciviously entitled "The Invitational" " partying with Laura" and "The Hunt." There was nice use of phrasing and breath, though predictable, and an attempt to harness momentum and centrifugal force to increase the excitement of the dance.

Rationing will not increase the size of the pie, but rather to make a regular piece into our smaller pieces.

Our good friends on Capitol Hill are also legislating their way into the board rooms of the car

makers specifying precise and rigid requirements. If rationing did not go into effect that would not be necessary. It rationalization would go into effect Congress might as well pass an act specifying that any M.D. who cannot cure cancer within a five year period will lose his license.

President Ford's action is the first leadership the country has since the Cuban Missile Crisis. Johnson and Nixon followed wherever Messrs. Harris and Gallup are leading, the leaders did not teach, they did not inform, they did not make (too many) tough decisions, they drifted with the times.

Prices Rising. Temperature Fallin.

Energy is expensive, and the sooner Americans realize the fact, the better it will be. Cheap energy is the key to building a strong solar energy is efficiently harnessed or the power of a fusion reaction is controlled.

New England will be hurt by the oil tax. That is the idea. If oil prices are increased by the oil tax on every gallon of oil, it will add a burden on New England, but should there be another embargo may well say tough it out and still remain popular, more power to him. These are tough times, we are a people willing to lay it on the line.

These are the items in between economic equilibria which tend to be glossed over in economics courses, but a lot of play in the press. Thank you.

R.I. Dance

recognized symbols and stereotyped

The favorite dance "Fantasies Lying in a Hammock" was the greatest dance though not exactly cr vivacious was accompanied a sin by J.B. Beck this is not adulterated, choreographed by Ray Eberstadt who danced throughout the program and in her own piece too much assurance. The sections were lasciviously entitled "The Invitational" " partying with Laura" and "The Hunt." There was nice use of phrasing and breath, though predictable, and an attempt to harness momentum and centrifugal force to increase the excitement of the dance.

Rationing will not increase the size of the pie, but rather to make a regular piece into our smaller pieces.
Chadourne con't from page 4
in the School of Political Science.
He was a pilot in the French Air Force during World War I and achieved great success with the first of a long series of novels: "Vasco" (1927) which won the Prize of the Novel and "Cecile de la Folie" winner of the Femina Prize in 1930.
In 1934 as a reporter for Paris
News, he went around the world through the U.S. Japan and China, and two books "Extreme Occident" and "Extreme Orient" appeared in 1930 and 1936.
The French government in 1938 sent him to Indochina where he stayed until the Japanese invasion, and unwilling to return occupied France after the Vichy government, he arrived in California in 1946.
In the U.S. he started a new career as a professor of French and critical, first at Scripps College, and then at the University of Utah, where he wrote his book about Mommata
"Quand Dieu se fit American" before joining the faculty in 1950 at Connecticut College.
In addition to books of literary criticism and books on travel,
other titles include "Restif de la Bretonne," an 18th century French author; "Isabelle," a 17th century novel; and "Eblis" about
William Beckford, 18th century
English writer. He also translated books into French, one by Joseph Conrad, and another by Henry James. He delivered lectures all over Europe, Canada and the U.S.
He is survived by his widow
Jacqueline Chadourne, associate professor of French at Connecticut College, and by a dughter and son, both married with children, living in France.

Asimov and Coffin con't from page 1 background was as diverse as the interests of students on our campus," Cohn said.
When asked by what procedure
Asimov had been selected, Coffin stated that an original list of 52 candidates culled from results of a senior class poll was reduced to fifteen by class officers and a small commencement committee. "These fifteen were ranked according to votes received and Asimov came out on top," he continued.
Asimov has been referred to by various critics and commentators as the "sex kitten of science-fiction," "a natural wonder and a national resource," and "a human writing machine." There are 100 books which carry the Asimov byline and at his current rate he will have written 350 books by 2000. Typing 90 words a minute he produces as many as 35 pages of manuscript a day and has been known to complete a children's book in a weekend and an adult book in less than two weeks.
While Asimov is best known for his science fiction books, "Fantastic Voyage" is perhaps his best known, he is equally adept at non-fiction, and has several books on travel, criticism and books on travel,
other titles include "Restif de la Bretonne," an 18th century French
author; "Isabelle," a 17th
century novel; and "Eblis" about
William Beckford, 18th century
English writer. He also translated books into French, one by
Joseph Conrad, and another by Henry James. He delivered lectures all over Europe, Canada and the U.S.
He is survived by his widow
Jacqueline Chadourne, associate
professor of French at Connecticut College, and by a daughter and son, both married with children, living in France.

Conn PIRG funding in trouble
By Walter Palmer
Conn. PIRG is in danger of losing its funds for next year.
According to polls conducted by the freshman and sophomore class, almost everyone supported the continuing funding of the Connecticut Public Interest Research Group.
According to budget subcommittee chairman Rick Allen 10 per cent ($3,200) of the entire student vote, budget was given to Conn PIRG. The agreement made with Conn PIRG was that "we would pay one dollar per student per semester." This is different than the contract other schools, such as UConn, have with PIRG. There, the agency is funded by the students. However,

Jordan con't from page 1 year has an undergraduate enrollment of 868 men and 552 women.
Prof. Jordan expects to continue his teaching assignments at Connecticut College through the present academic year and to carry on all other responsibilities after assuming his new administrative post at Kenyon this summer.
During his years at the Connecticut College faculty, Jordan has won the respect and affection of his students and colleagues alike. As Dean of the Faculty he was directly responsible for the major academic programs, college activity and coordinate all academic ventures which the college undertook in cooperation with other educational institutions, both in the U.S. and abroad.
For three years he was a director of the Connecticut College Summer Program in the Humanities-Upward Bound
Project, an intensive off-campus program for high school students from minority areas.

Asimov review
con't from page 7
"It's a great idea. Let's do it again." The November 21 fast was the second nationwide fast conducted by Oxfam-America, 302
Columbus Ave., Boston,
Mass. 02116, and Project Relief,
Providence, R.I.

Lyman Allen con't from page 6
Beyond the campus Mr. Jordan has been equally active in educational affairs. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Schools in Latin America
New York School at Stonington and serves on the Board of Directors of the college at Norwich. Last year he was elected to the Board of Directors of the Connecticut College faculty,
Jordan has won the respect and
affection of his students and

It's not drugs.
It's not suicide.
And it's not cancer.
It's automobile crashes.
More American people between the ages of 15 and 25 die in automobile crashes than in any other way.
At least half of those deaths are alcohol related. And the drunk drivers who cause most of them are under 25. Sometimes, many times, they kill themselves.

You can change it.
You have to.
You fight for clean air and clean water. You eat natural foods. You practice yoga. You are so much for life. And you are so much against killing.
It would be unthinkable for you to wiltingly kill another human being.

So then, why is this happening?

You can change it.
You have to.
You march against the war.

DRUNK DRIVER, DEPT. Y*
BOX 1569
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20013
I don't want to get killed and I don't want to kill anyone. Tell me how I can help. *Youth Highway Safety Advisory Committee.
My name is__________ City__________
Address__________
State__________Zip__________

STOP DRIVING DRUNK.
STOP KILLING EACH OTHER.
There's a special rate most airlines don't advertise.

It's the I'm-sorry-sir-but-all-the-seats-are-taken-rate.

If you're denied a seat on a flight for which you hold a confirmed reservation, and the airline can't get you on another flight scheduled to arrive within two hours of your originally scheduled arrival, you're entitled to immediate compensation. The airline must give you your money back and an amount equal to the value of the first flight coupon on your ticket, providing the coupon cost a minimum of $25 and a maximum of $200. In many cases that means double your money back.

Deliberate overbooking is a deceptive practice used to insure a completely booked flight. If an airline does it to you ask for immediate compensation. If they refuse ask for a written explanation. And send it to the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington, D.C.

Remember that next time you have a hard time getting off the ground.

Sponsored by Aviation Consumer Action Project
P.O. Box 19039
Washington, D.C. 20036

Prepared by The Stern Concern
Lecture on Dating Fossils

LECTURE on “Methods and Techniques of Physical Science Applied to the Search for Man’s Origins” by Professor Paul Abell, professor of Chemistry, University of Rhode Island. The talk will include the use of radioactive dating, paleomagnetism, geochemistry, biochemistry, and chemical analyses in elucidating the evolution of early man and his environment, as applied to current investigation at Lake Rudolf in Kenya. Time: 4:30 p.m., Wed., February 12, 1975 in Hale 122. Open to all interested persons.

Survival now collecting glass

SURVIVAL IS NOW COLLECTING GLASS! There are barrels located outside of the recycle center which is the red garage between College House and Smith-Burridge. Whole bottles of any size, shape, and form will be accepted BUT THEY MUST NOT BE BROKEN. Please separate them into colors — clear, brown, and green when you put them in the barrels; if possible please remove any metal rings. Dorm representatives will soon be putting suitable containers in the halls for the bottles. A successful glass recycling program will need the cooperation of all the members of the College Community. Let us all strive to make Connecticut College a more ecologically sound community.

Housefellow Applications

HOUSEFELLOWS 1975-1976

Applications for students in the Class of 1976 who wish to apply for a Housefellow position are available in Dean Watson’s office beginning Monday, February 10th through noon, Wednesday, February 19th.

All students interested in applying for this program are invited to an open meeting on Wednesday, February 12th, at 4:30 p.m. in Oliva Hall. Margaret Watson, Dean of Student Activities every tuesday from 12 noon to 2 p.m.

Mostly Soul

with.

Henry Gitenstein 91.5 FM

Friday Feature Flick

The Way We Were

7 February 8:00 p.m.

Admission: $1.00

Palmer Auditorium
Sports

Dickson performs well

Swimmers lose to Ridgewater

The swim team traveled to Bridgewater State College on February 3. They brought only six swimmers to participate in the meet, but they still emerged triumphant.

Conn's lead slipped to two and a half points in the balance beam competition which was Conn's shakiest event and the only event that Conn lost. Westfield won with a 57.6, Keene placed second with 56.65 and Conn totalled 55.95. Denise McClan tied for Conn with a 6.5. The women's gymnastic team combined in a strong team effort to defeat both Keene State and Westfield State Colleges on February 1. The entire team performed well, displaying a depth that enabled them to lead throughout the entire meet. Vaulting was the first event and Conn's Anne Droshlet won the event for the second time in three competitions with a score of 9.5. Denise McClan tied for second place with 9.4 to become the first Conn gymnast to qualify for the regionals in two events, having already qualified in the floor exercise. Gail Whorisky took fourth place for Conn with a score of 9.3. Conn led after the vaulting with a 17.3, Keene placed second with 17.15 and Westfield had 16.95. A slimmer margin there gave them the scoring advantage.

!Intercollegiate Swimming Meet

B-Ball drops 2 of 3

by Anne Rohillard

The men's basketball team, starting the season with a record of 3-2, lost two out of their first three games to even their record at 3-3. The former emerging triumphant.

Gymnasts defeat Keene and Westfield

by Anne Rohillard

Conn expanded their lead to 3.35 points in the next event, the uneven bars, bringing their total score of 53.65. Westfield stood at 50.10 and Keene at 47.9. Kathy Bradley, competing for the first time this season after a pre-season injury, won the event with a score of 9.5. Anne Droshlet placed third overall at 9.45 and Ellen Barbas took sixth with a 3.75.

Conn lost its next game by a much more respectable margin of 7, losing to Cathedral College 89-83. Conn combined in a balanced scoring attack with four players in double figures. Don Mills was high scorer with 22 followed by Jeff Simpson with 18, Peter Belotti with 12, and Mike Franklin had 10. The Cathedral team also had a balanced scoring attack with five players in double figures to give them the scoring edge and the victory. Bill Maloney was high for them with 26.

In a game played February 3, Conn got back on the winning track by squeaking an 83-87 victory past Old Westbury State College. It was a come from behind victory as they were losing by a margin of 13 at halftime, 44-22. Jeff Simpson was Conn's high scorer with 19, Don Mills scored 16, Jon Perry hit 14, and Peter Belotti scored 11. High scorers for Old Westbury were Clarence Lorigk and Harry Mathis getting 17 apiece.

Don Mills continues as the team's high scorer with his average slipping slightly to 17.25. Kevin Copeland lost two points of his average but remains in double figures with an average of 10.75. Jeff Simpson brought his average up by two points per game and is now scoring at 16.88. Mike Franklin is also in double figures scoring 11.93 after appearing in three games. Peter Belotti is the fifth place scorer for Conn with his average slipping a bit to 17.05. The team's high scorer with his average slipping slightly to 17.25.

Jeff Simpson brought his average up by two points per game and is now scoring at 16.88. Mike Franklin is also in double figures scoring 11.93 after appearing in three games. Peter Belotti is the fifth place scorer for Conn with his average slipping a bit to 17.05. The team's high scorer with his average slipping slightly to 17.25.

Conn lost in a rematch with the Coast Guard JV after winning their first contest 80-70. Conn fell behind by 19 at the halfway point when the score stood at 34-24. Coast Guard proceeded to widen that gap by an additional twenty points in the second half winning by a total of 30 points, 81-51. Bart Keib, of Coast Guard, was the game's high scorer with 22 points. He had a balanced scoring night with five field goals in each half and an additional two free throws in the second half. Peter Dinicola was the only other Cadet to reach double figures netting twelve points. Mike Franklin, appearing in his first game, was the only Conn player in double figures with 10.

Westfield placed second with 18.50 points and Westfield had 18.95. A slimmer margin there gave them the scoring advantage.

Becky Freilley was Conn's high scorer with 12. Georgette Dionne is currently the team's high scorer with an average of 10.1 points per game. Becky Freilley is averaging 9.3 per game. Coach Conklin feels that a lack of height is the major disadvantage but that the team should still be playing at a much better pace. She hopes that the return of a player who dropped for academic reasons will give the needed impetus to the team.

Kathy Dickson also got a third place finish in the two hundred yard freestyle coming in at 2:40.3 minutes. Mandy Weber added another third place finish in the one hundred yard butterfly with a time of 34.3 seconds. Kathy Dickson scored two first place finishes: in the 50 yard breaststroke at 37.2 seconds and in the 100 yard backstroke in 1:21.5.

Conn's record now stands at 3-1. Their next home game for Conn is a match against the University of Connecticut tonight at 7 p.m.