College Voice Vol. 25 No. 10

Connecticut College

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.conncoll.edu/ccnews_2001_2002

Recommended Citation
https://digitalcommons.conncoll.edu/ccnews_2001_2002/12

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Newspapers at Digital Commons @ Connecticut College. It has been accepted for inclusion in 2001-2002 by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Connecticut College. For more information, please contact bpancier@conncoll.edu. The views expressed in this paper are solely those of the author.
The Democratic Party rode to victory in the New London elections, as Democrats won six of the eight city council seats, according to preliminary results from the Board of Elections.

The Democratic and Green Party candidates support a more conservative approach, while the Republican Party members advocate a big push that will get to a point when we need more housing, said Campbell, "If we get to a point when we need more housing, we will always go to that office step, 'Is there anything you have that we could use on a temporary basis?'"

The college also plans to focus on cultural and economic development of the city.

Anthony Bartolli, chairman of the Democratic City Committee, said, "The next college-owned faculty housing. I'm not sure what they're going to be doing for the future, but we need the city to get moving again, that an option for the property could be converted into student housing."

The yoga consisted of sun salutations, and the donations by the participants went to the Serenity Yoga Studio, an organization devoted to the promotion of tolerance, Buddhist, Jewish, Christian, Muslim, Shinto, and Hindu.

"We wanted to get people together who are interested in how can we compel students to obey sexual misconduct policy, the democratic party has an extension sexual misconduct policy, which is described in the student handbook, the college is also very active in educating students about responsible sexual behavior and substance use. A majority of sexual assaults are linked to alcohol or drug use."

The college looks to educate students on sexual misconduct policy according to the report. Over 2,000 grants from the governor's Prevention Partnership fund are designed to help schools develop programs to reduce alcohol-related problems on campus colleges.

"It will take two more years to finish the re-development plan that began when you first elected four years ago," said Hewett.

"The next college-owned faculty housing. I'm not sure what they're going to be doing for the future, but we need the city to get moving again, that an option for the property could be converted into student housing."

"It was light. 'We don't know how the September 11th event will affect things like study abroad,' said Campbell, "It's been tough, you never know.. .there are certain uncontrollable things that come up."

"There's still faculty and staff that need housing."

Mary Anne Borelli, an associate professor of government, recently moved out of college-owned faculty housing. "After a while, when you get established, you know I was able to get in last year that I always have to take care of that office step, "Is there anything you have that we could use on a temporary basis?"

Campbell mentioned an incident three years ago when students lived in a house on William Street for a semester when housing was tight. "We don't know how the September 11th event will affect things like study abroad," said Campbell, "It's been tough, you never know.. .there are certain uncontrollable things that come up."

"There's still faculty and staff that need housing."

Mary Anne Borelli, an associate professor of government, recently moved out of college-owned faculty housing. "After a while, when you get established, you know I was able to get in last year that I always have to take care of that office step, "Is there anything you have that we could use on a temporary basis?"

Campbell mentioned an incident three years ago when students lived in a house on William Street for a semester when housing was tight. "We don't know how the September 11th event will affect things like study abroad," said Campbell, "It's been tough, you never know.. .there are certain uncontrollable things that come up."

"There's still faculty and staff that need housing."

Mary Anne Borelli, an associate professor of government, recently moved out of college-owned faculty housing. "After a while, when you get established, you know I was able to get in last year that I always have to take care of that office step, "Is there anything you have that we could use on a temporary basis?"

Campbell mentioned an incident three years ago when students lived in a house on William Street for a semester when housing was tight. "We don't know how the September 11th event will affect things like study abroad," said Campbell, "It's been tough, you never know.. .there are certain uncontrollable things that come up."

"There's still faculty and staff that need housing."
City Council Should Work in Concert with NLD

Since Tuesday’s elections, New London City Council members have been pledged to work more closely with the NLDC. This is a good goal. But as a student, I am not hopeful it will be accomplished with out leaving some skin on the sidewalk.

The College is still paying over $300,000 a year to lease space in the Mariners Square office complex in New London. That was a decision that Gaudiani made on her own, without consulting the faculty or the student body. The office space occupies two entire floors.

New Gaudiani was busy talking about social justice on behalf of the NLDC. Predictably, this process did not involve the student body. The College Voice is not a student run organization, and we have not been involved with out leaving some skin on the sidewalk.

That the New London City Council wants to work more closely with the NLDC is understandable. The last time the College had an in-house government to operate without supervision, the repercussions were severe and lasting. The NLDC is to be advised with great care. It is too easy for the NLDC to make the College Voice the NLDC’s decision’s a legitimacy that they currently lack. Maybe if any government is consulting, residents won’t feel that a private corporation has the power to run the city and take over.

The letter from the College Voice will give the NLDC’s decisions a legitimacy that they currently lack. Maybe if any government is consulting, residents won’t feel that a private corporation has the power to run the city and take over.

In DiGregorio’s last letter to the editor, he suggested that “the NLDC... should make a list of any town having to do with eminent domain, and look at it like a legal issue.”

In DiGregorio’s last letter to the editor, he suggested that “the NLDC... should make a list of any town having to do with eminent domain, and look at it like a legal issue.”

Over the past few years, the NLDC has been the most controversial organization in New London. The decision to turn Port Trumbull residents from their homes via eminent domain has been heavily criticized, and a lawsuit followed it. The NLDC’s recent accomplishments with the ,tor the 1SSue1Spending.

Over the past few years, the NLDC has been the most controversial organization in New London. The decision to turn Port Trumbull residents from their homes via eminent domain has been heavily criticized, and a lawsuit followed it. The NLDC’s recent accomplishments with the ,tor the 1SSue1Spending.

Over the past few years, the NLDC has been the most controversial organization in New London. The decision to turn Port Trumbull residents from their homes via eminent domain has been heavily criticized, and a lawsuit followed it. The NLDC’s recent accomplishments with the ,tor the 1SSue1Spending.

Over the past few years, the NLDC has been the most controversial organization in New London. The decision to turn Port Trumbull residents from their homes via eminent domain has been heavily criticized, and a lawsuit followed it. The NLDC’s recent accomplishments with the ,tor the 1SSue1Spending.

Over the past few years, the NLDC has been the most controversial organization in New London. The decision to turn Port Trumbull residents from their homes via eminent domain has been heavily criticized, and a lawsuit followed it. The NLDC’s recent accomplishments with the ,tor the 1SSue1Spending.

Over the past few years, the NLDC has been the most controversial organization in New London. The decision to turn Port Trumbull residents from their homes via eminent domain has been heavily criticized, and a lawsuit followed it. The NLDC’s recent accomplishments with the ,tor the 1SSue1Spending.

Over the past few years, the NLDC has been the most controversial organization in New London. The decision to turn Port Trumbull residents from their homes via eminent domain has been heavily criticized, and a lawsuit followed it. The NLDC’s recent accomplishments with the ,tor the 1SSue1Spending.

Over the past few years, the NLDC has been the most controversial organization in New London. The decision to turn Port Trumbull residents from their homes via eminent domain has been heavily criticized, and a lawsuit followed it. The NLDC’s recent accomplishments with the ,tor the 1SSue1Spending.
So a man walks into an airport. He walks up to the counter and fills out the paperwork. He has to bend over and wait for the officer to check his identification. He then waits for it to be opened and seen. And then, as he walks through the gate, he is stopped and searched again. But this time, they don't find anything. The only real example of the failure of this principle was the expansion of the airport. As the man ambles toward the gate, he is stopped and searched again. We might wonder how this could happen. But we now find ourselves worrying about one other thing, regardless of how major a concern it is. For though the people of Langa (and others like them) still live as we did old days, our reins now have a renewed sense of security. We were taught to trust the drums and the brown from the past and stop pandering to our neighbors. Corps comrade before the next chief-built actually makes them into the plane.

The truth is, the American Republic is the longest-lasting government on Earth, and the gradual process of change has fostered deserve some of the credit for this. Americans love to think they never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and my parents and I would discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I would become a leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I would become a leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I would become a leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I would become a leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I would become a leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I would become a leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I would become a leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I would become a leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I would become a leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I would become a leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I would become a leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how important this opportunity was, a chance I would never get in America. We would go home for dinner and discuss every election in which I've ever participated. Since elementary school, teachers have continually told me that I was going to be a future leader. I knew how importance...
ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Diwali Dinner Celebrates Indian Festival in Style

By NANCY WOLFE

The event has grown tremendously from its inception four years ago when roughly 100 people sat down to enjoy a meal in the City's Nest for an event smaller than an average Sunday dinner.

About 300 hundred people attended this year's dinner, the largest number in the history of the event. Caused by Old Skippy's Gateway of India, the menu included an array of Indian food, a curry dinner, nan bread, samosas, and gulab jamun.

One of the goals of the dinner was to bring together the Indian and Latino communities. Unlike the dinner's predecessor, this year's event was more organized and so much more successful, said Natan Malka, the person who organized and supervised the dinner.

"I think it got bigger and better every year, and this year was the most organized and so much more satisfying and fun," said Malka. "I think the audience recognized and appreciated it." CCAAS is a group of approximately 30 College Connection members who host one event every two weeks for discussions, movies, and events that promote understanding of Asian life and culture.

The performers seemed to get as much out of the dinner as they put into it. They sang Bollywood movie songs, played the stereotypical Hollywood movie scene, and organized the menu.

In the future, Malka said the event will be held on a smaller scale in the spring. The event has grown tremendously from its inception four years ago when roughly 100 people sat down to enjoy a meal in the City's Nest for an event smaller than an average Sunday dinner.

About 300 hundred people attended this year's dinner, the largest number in the history of the event. Caused by Old Skippy's Gateway of India, the menu included an array of Indian food, a curry dinner, nan bread, samosas, and gulab jamun.

One of the goals of the dinner was to bring together the Indian and Latino communities. Unlike the dinner's predecessor, this year's event was more organized and so much more satisfying and fun, said Natan Malka, the person who organized and supervised the dinner.

"I think it got bigger and better every year, and this year was the most organized and so much more satisfying and fun," said Malka. "I think the audience recognized and appreciated it." CCAAS is a group of approximately 30 College Connection members who host one event every two weeks for discussions, movies, and events that promote understanding of Asian life and culture.

The performers seemed to get as much out of the dinner as they put into it. They sang Bollywood movie songs, played the stereotypical Hollywood movie scene, and organized the menu.

In the future, Malka said the event will be held on a smaller scale in the spring. The event has grown tremendously from its inception four years ago when roughly 100 people sat down to enjoy a meal in the City's Nest for an event smaller than an average Sunday dinner.

About 300 hundred people attended this year's dinner, the largest number in the history of the event. Caused by Old Skippy's Gateway of India, the menu included an array of Indian food, a curry dinner, nan bread, samosas, and gulab jamun.

One of the goals of the dinner was to bring together the Indian and Latino communities. Unlike the dinner's predecessor, this year's event was more organized and so much more satisfying and fun, said Natan Malka, the person who organized and supervised the dinner.

"I think it got bigger and better every year, and this year was the most organized and so much more satisfying and fun," said Malka. "I think the audience recognized and appreciated it." CCAAS is a group of approximately 30 College Connection members who host one event every two weeks for discussions, movies, and events that promote understanding of Asian life and culture.

The performers seemed to get as much out of the dinner as they put into it. They sang Bollywood movie songs, played the stereotypical Hollywood movie scene, and organized the menu.

In the future, Malka said the event will be held on a smaller scale in the spring. The event has grown tremendously from its inception four years ago when roughly 100 people sat down to enjoy a meal in the City's Nest for an event smaller than an average Sunday dinner.

About 300 hundred people attended this year's dinner, the largest number in the history of the event. Caused by Old Skippy's Gateway of India, the menu included an array of Indian food, a curry dinner, nan bread, samosas, and gulab jamun.

One of the goals of the dinner was to bring together the Indian and Latino communities. Unlike the dinner's predecessor, this year's event was more organized and so much more satisfying and fun, said Natan Malka, the person who organized and supervised the dinner.

"I think it got bigger and better every year, and this year was the most organized and so much more satisfying and fun," said Malka. "I think the audience recognized and appreciated it." CCAAS is a group of approximately 30 College Connection members who host one event every two weeks for discussions, movies, and events that promote understanding of Asian life and culture.

The performers seemed to get as much out of the dinner as they put into it. They sang Bollywood movie songs, played the stereotypical Hollywood movie scene, and organized the menu.

In the future, Malka said the event will be held on a smaller scale in the spring. The event has grown tremendously from its inception four years ago when roughly 100 people sat down to enjoy a meal in the City's Nest for an event smaller than an average Sunday dinner.

About 300 hundred people attended this year's dinner, the largest number in the history of the event. Caused by Old Skippy's Gateway of India, the menu included an array of Indian food, a curry dinner, nan bread, samosas, and gulab jamun.

One of the goals of the dinner was to bring together the Indian and Latino communities. Unlike the dinner's predecessor, this year's event was more organized and so much more satisfying and fun, said Natan Malka, the person who organized and supervised the dinner.

"I think it got bigger and better every year, and this year was the most organized and so much more satisfying and fun," said Malka. "I think the audience recognized and appreciated it." CCAAS is a group of approximately 30 College Connection members who host one event every two weeks for discussions, movies, and events that promote understanding of Asian life and culture.

The performers seemed to get as much out of the dinner as they put into it. They sang Bollywood movie songs, played the stereotypical Hollywood movie scene, and organized the menu.

In the future, Malka said the event will be held on a smaller scale in the spring. The event has grown tremendously from its inception four years ago when roughly 100 people sat down to enjoy a meal in the City's Nest for an event smaller than an average Sunday dinner.

About 300 hundred people attended this year's dinner, the largest number in the history of the event. Caused by Old Skippy's Gateway of India, the menu included an array of Indian food, a curry dinner, nan bread, samosas, and gulab jamun.

One of the goals of the dinner was to bring together the Indian and Latino communities. Unlike the dinner's predecessor, this year's event was more organized and so much more satisfying and fun, said Natan Malka, the person who organized and supervised the dinner.

"I think it got bigger and better every year, and this year was the most organized and so much more satisfying and fun," said Malka. "I think the audience recognized and appreciated it." CCAAS is a group of approximately 30 College Connection members who host one event every two weeks for discussions, movies, and events that promote understanding of Asian life and culture.

The performers seemed to get as much out of the dinner as they put into it. They sang Bollywood movie songs, played the stereotypical Hollywood movie scene, and organized the menu.

In the future, Malka said the event will be held on a smaller scale in the spring. The event has grown tremendously from its inception four years ago when roughly 100 people sat down to enjoy a meal in the City's Nest for an event smaller than an average Sunday dinner.

About 300 hundred people attended this year's dinner, the largest number in the history of the event. Caused by Old Skippy's Gateway of India, the menu included an array of Indian food, a curry dinner, nan bread, samosas, and gulab jamun.

One of the goals of the dinner was to bring together the Indian and Latino communities. Unlike the dinner's predecessor, this year's event was more organized and so much more satisfying and fun, said Natan Malka, the person who organized and supervised the dinner.

"I think it got bigger and better every year, and this year was the most organized and so much more satisfying and fun," said Malka. "I think the audience recognized and appreciated it." CCAAS is a group of approximately 30 College Connection members who host one event every two weeks for discussions, movies, and events that promote understanding of Asian life and culture.

The performers seemed to get as much out of the dinner as they put into it. They sang Bollywood movie songs, played the stereotypical Hollywood movie scene, and organized the menu.

In the future, Malka said the event will be held on a smaller scale in the spring.
The Pat McGee Band Rocks Like Its 1962
Rock Band Plays Benefit Concert for National Pancreatic Foundation
By Brian Behrens

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

On Thursday night, November 1, the Pat McGee Band took the stage at Toad's Place in New Haven, Connecticut. The band, known for their energetic and high-energy style, had previously played at venues like London's House of Blues and the South West Festival. The Pat McGee Band has been an influential force in the world of rock music, with their music spanning across various genres and audiences.

The Pat McGee Band's current lineup includes vocalist and guitarist Pat McGee, drummer Chris Williams, bassist Brian Fechino, and guitarist Bobbi Bach. The band's sound is characterized by a blend of rock, blues, and pop, with a focus on powerful vocals and dynamic instrumentation.

The band's setlist included a mix of their own original songs and cover versions of classic rock hits. The atmosphere was electric, with the audience fully engaged and energized by the performers. The Pat McGee Band's live show is renowned for its high-octane energy and engaging stage presence.

One of the highlights of the concert was a surprise performance by a special guest, who took the stage to introduce a new song. The presence of this guest added a unique element to the evening, making it a memorable experience for both the band and the audience.

The Pat McGee Band's dedication to performing at benefit concerts for various causes highlights their commitment to making a positive impact in the community. Their commitment to social issues is reflected in their music, which often touches on themes of love, hope, and resilience.

As the encore drew to a close, the crowd erupted in applause, recognizing the Pat McGee Band's exceptional talent and their unwavering dedication to their craft. The Pat McGee Band's performance at Toad's Place was a testament to their musical prowess and their ability to captivate audiences with their powerful live shows.

The Pat McGee Band's Next Concert:
Saturday, November 3, 2001
Toad's Place
New Haven, Connecticut

Tickets are available online at www.patmcgeeband.com or at the venue's box office. Don't miss out on this incredible opportunity to experience the Pat McGee Band in action!

For more information or to purchase tickets, visit www.patmcgeeband.com.

The Mugz Half Empty at New London Coffee Shop

By Debra Rees

A new coffee shop has opened its doors in New London, offering a cozy atmosphere and a variety of drinks and snacks. Located at 5 Bank Street, the shop features a menu of classic and specialty coffees, teas, and pastries, as well as a selection of alcoholic beverages.

The shop is owned by a local entrepreneur who has a passion for creating a welcoming space for patrons to enjoy their drinks and conversations. The atmosphere is intimate and relaxed, with soft lighting and comfortable seating.

The shop offers a variety of coffee options, including espresso, lattes, and cappuccinos, as well as a selection of teas, including green, black, and herbal varieties. The menu also features a range of specialty drinks, such as vegan and gluten-free options.

In addition to coffee and tea, Mugz Half Empty offers a selection of pastries, sandwiches, and light fare, including bagels, muffins, and quiches. The shop also serves a variety of alcoholic drinks, such as wine and beer, to complement the coffee offerings.

The shop is open daily from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., and is an ideal spot for a morning coffee, a midday pick-me-up, or an evening treat. The friendly and knowledgeable staff is on hand to assist customers in choosing their favorite beverages and snacks.
College Looks to Educate Students on Sexual Misconduct Policy

The college is trying to strengthen its sexual misconduct policy and is looking forward to the start of the new academic year.

According to the college's sexual misconduct policy, students who violate the policy will face disciplinary action, including suspension or expulsion.

The policy also includes provisions for reporting and investigating sexual misconduct complaints, as well as for providing support and resources to survivors.

The college is committed to preventing sexual misconduct and providing a safe and respectful campus environment for all students.

In addition to the policy, the college is also offering training and education programs to help students understand their rights and responsibilities in this area.

Overall, the college is taking steps to create a safer campus environment and to ensure that all students feel supported and protected.
Special College Pricing
12" Cheese $5.99
14" Cheese $7.99

New London/ Waterford
442-9383

Behind Blockbuster Video

Open for lunch daily
11 A.M. – 11 P.M
Fri + Sat 11 A.M-Midnight

November Special:
Large one topping $9.99
Free cheezy bread

TUESDAY BUY 1 GET 1 FREE!
(Buy one pizza at regular price get a second of equal or lesser value free)
Harvest Hill Package Store

New London Shopping Center
443-4440
BUSCH AND BUSCH LIGHT

$11.99
30 PACKS
KEGS IN STOCK!

Knockouts Cafe

286 Willetts Ave.
Waterford, CT
(860) 444-0333

28 TV's
7 Satellite Dishes, pool tables, games

NFL, College, NBA, NHL, MLB, pay per view Boxing, and all your favorite sporting events here.

Open October 19th

Finally a Place for the College Crowd

Every Tuesday is College Night
No Cover, $2.00 pints, $1.00 house shots with college I.D.

Wednesday is quarter night. $7.00 cover and .25 cent domestic drafts and well drinks from 8-close. BEAT THAT DEAL

Party with us Friday & Saturday nights with our house Top 40 D.J.

Catch the college football and all NFL games on Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Wing specials, full menu.

Knockouts cafe......... "Keep your eyes on the game"

Think you might be pregnant?

We can help!

The Care Net Pregnancy Resource Center offers:
- Free pregnancy tests with immediate results
- Confidential peer counseling
- Information on all your options
- Referrals for medical care, social services and housing
- Support and understanding in a non-pressured environment
- Weekday plus Saturday and Tuesday evening appointments

Call us today for an appointment!

1-800-395-HELP or 860-448-2990
Or visit us at: www.carenetsect.org

Paul's Pasta Shop

223 Thames St., Groton, CT 06340
860-445-5276
www.paulspasta.com

Gourmet Pasta Shop & Restaurant
Hours: Tuesday – Sunday 11-9
Closed Mondays

Specializing in Freshly Made Pasta and Pasta Accompaniments
CAMEL ICE HOCKEY LOOKS TO REBOUND AFTER DISMAL SEASON

continued from page 10

Joe Card, Cornell's defensive unit will need to get quickly for the Camel offense to be on the attack. "We have to look for our defense and our goalie," said Carmel. "In the past we have been weak, but now we must get stronger on both ends of the ice..." The private isn't rest on its young defense that features a goaltending unit composed primarily of freshman. "We need the entire team to play at both ends of the ice..." The real key to success is playing an overall strong defense in front of our goalies," said Coleman. "We're not fast, and we have a really skilled team up front."

I don't think we are too worried about injuries at right now. We have a deep, deep defense, and our new offensive surge, Camel Hockey is poised to do some real damage this season in the NSIC. To be suc- cessful it will be necessary to make sure that we have offense, and this year, the team will need each player to take his game to the next level and contribute at both ends of the ice. The defense and offense must be solid to be a successful team. "If we win some games early, we can build momentum," said Hasenauer. "But we also have to focus on the end of the season. If we do well in the first few weeks, we need to have a good start to the season."

The real key to success is the way the men's hockey team will perform in 2001-2002. The team will need to come out of this season strong. Coming into this season, women's hockey lost four seniors and will still be tight for personnel for the 2001-2002 campaign. However, none of the members of this year's squad will be studying away. This is not the rhetorical throat-clearing of a Zell Miller school of moral relativism; I DO believe in equal treatment of all people. "Each time a law is violated, it is the usual suspect, the dixie demagogue who is simply trying to cover all the bases as a way of advanclOg in an era in which they will, as Hungerford proclaims, "develop a reputation as a relentless and fearless opponent."

As Kennedy stated: "I have been working hard at this in my entire life."

The McLoughlin sisters, according to Vealitzek, are one of the strongest conferences in Division 3 hockey. They would quickly move on and take some of the burden from Coleman, help him against them, the coach recognizes that the team's confidence will be tested early. "It will also be bumpy at times, but we will never give up," said Hasenauer.

It is the usual suspect, the dixie demagogue who is simply trying to cover all the bases as a way of advancing in an era in which they will, as Hungerford proclaims, "develop a reputation as a relentless and fearless opponent."

The McLoughlin sisters, according to Vealitzek, are one of the strongest conferences in Division 3 hockey.
Breaking News
The Connecticut College Men's Varsity Hockey Team has made some adjustments to its lineup this season.

After starting the year strong by finishing 3-1-2 over the autumn,
England Small College Conference Athletic Conference
Konomark Cup, the team has improved its play, winning three of its final five contests. This includes a final record of 7-13-1.

Camel Ice Hockey Looks to Rebound After Dismal 2000 Season

The Connecticut College Men's Varsity Hockey Team has made
some adjustments to its lineup this season.

The team has brought in a new coach and high expectations.

While the team has not won any games this season, it has shown signs of improvement. The team has played competitively in many games and has had the opportunity to develop.

The team has played well against some tough opponents, including Cornell, Harvard, and Yale.

The team is looking forward to the rest of the season and hopeful for a strong finish.

New Era Dawns for Women's Basketball

The Connecticut College Women's Basketball Team has made some key additions to its roster this season.

The team has hired a new coach, Kareem Tatum '01, who will bring experience and leadership to the team.

Tatum has a strong track record of success as a coach, including leading his team to a national championship in 2000. He is looking to bring the same level of success to the Connecticut College Women's Basketball Team.

The team has also brought in several new players who will contribute to the team's success this season.

Women's Squash Prepares for Second Run at National Title

The Connecticut College Women's Squash Team has
made some key additions to its roster this season.

The team has hired a new coach, Bill Haney '02, who will bring experience and leadership to the team.

Haney has a strong track record of success as a coach,
including leading his team to a national championship in 2000. He is looking to bring the same level of success to the Connecticut College Women's Squash Team.

The team has also brought in several new players who will contribute to the team's success this season.

Women's Ice Hockey Enters Second Year with New Coach

The Connecticut College Women's Ice Hockey Team has
made some key additions to its roster this season.

The team has hired a new coach, Dan Byrd, who will bring experience and leadership to the team.

Byrd has a strong track record of success as a coach,
including leading his team to a national championship in 2000. He is looking to bring the same level of success to the Connecticut College Women's Ice Hockey Team.