SUNDAY, JANUARY 17, 1931

Amherst Glee Club & Lord Jeff's
Serenaders Entertain

Serenaders

Amber't Glee Club will be held in Knowlton from four until six. The music will be furnished by the Lord Jeff Serenaders from Amherst. There will be served in Knowlton for the Amherst Glee Club concert will be given in the gymnasium. The club consists of thirty-five members, and directed by Profs. W. Cohn, the president, and J. A. Byars, the assistant manager, A. C. Routh, Jr. The club often holds joint concerts with the various girls' colleges, and also gives many such concerts as we hear. The club comes C. C. from a recent trip to Wellesley. After the concert there will be a formal dance in Knowlton, with the music again furnished by the Lord Jeff Serenaders.

When the students of the College's Glee Club, listening to the singing dunce must not be of small effect. A most entertaining and enjoyable occasion is the Student-Alumni Fund, which is being held this weekend. The formal dance of the club. The chairmen in charge of the Student-Alumni Fund, Ruth Judell '32; Junior representative, Effie Sherman; Publicity manager, Natalie Clunet; Chairman of the ticket committee, Jean Will.

The program begins with a tea dance to be held in Knowlton from four until six. The music will be furnished by the Lord Jeff Serenaders from Amherst. There will be served in Knowlton for the Amherst Glee Club concert. From eight until nine the Amherst Glee Club concert will be given in the gymnasium. The club consists of thirty-five members, and directed by Profs. W. Cohn, the president, and J. A. Byars, the assistant manager, A. C. Routh, Jr. The club often holds joint concerts with the various girls' colleges, and also gives many such concerts as we hear. The club comes C. C. from a recent trip to Wellesley. After the concert there will be a formal dance in Knowlton, with the music again furnished by the Lord Jeff Serenaders.

AND—when the running stones of the Glee Club's songs, listening to the singing dunce must not be of small effect. A most entertaining and enjoyable occasion is the Student-Alumni Fund, which is being held this weekend. The formal dance of the club. The chairmen in charge of the Student-Alumni Fund, Ruth Judell '32; Junior representative, Effie Sherman; Publicity manager, Natalie Clunet; Chairman of the ticket committee, Jean Will.

The program begins with a tea dance to be held in Knowlton from four until six. The music will be furnished by the Lord Jeff Serenaders from Amherst. There will be served in Knowlton for the Amherst Glee Club concert. From eight until nine the Amherst Glee Club concert will be given in the gymnasium. The club consists of thirty-five members, and directed by Profs. W. Cohn, the president, and J. A. Byars, the assistant manager, A. C. Routh, Jr. The club often holds joint concerts with the various girls' colleges, and also gives many such concerts as we hear. The club comes C. C. from a recent trip to Wellesley. After the concert there will be a formal dance in Knowlton, with the music again furnished by the Lord Jeff Serenaders.

AND—when the running stones of the Glee Club's songs, listening to the singing dunce must not be of small effect. A most entertaining and enjoyable occasion is the Student-Alumni Fund, which is being held this weekend. The formal dance of the club. The chairmen in charge of the Student-Alumni Fund, Ruth Judell '32; Junior representative, Effie Sherman; Publicity manager, Natalie Clunet; Chairman of the ticket committee, Jean Will.

The program begins with a tea dance to be held in Knowlton from four until six. The music will be furnished by the Lord Jeff Serenaders from Amherst. There will be served in Knowlton for the Amherst Glee Club concert. From eight until nine the Amherst Glee Club concert will be given in the gymnasium. The club consists of thirty-five members, and directed by Profs. W. Cohn, the president, and J. A. Byars, the assistant manager, A. C. Routh, Jr. The club often holds joint concerts with the various girls' colleges, and also gives many such concerts as we hear. The club comes C. C. from a recent trip to Wellesley. After the concert there will be a formal dance in Knowlton, with the music again furnished by the Lord Jeff Serenaders.

AND—when the running stones of the Glee Club's songs, listening to the singing dunce must not be of small effect. A most entertaining and enjoyable occasion is the Student-Alumni Fund, which is being held this weekend. The formal dance of the club. The chairmen in charge of the Student-Alumni Fund, Ruth Judell '32; Junior representative, Effie Sherman; Publicity manager, Natalie Clunet; Chairman of the ticket committee, Jean Will.

The program begins with a tea dance to be held in Knowlton from four until six. The music will be furnished by the Lord Jeff Serenaders from Amherst. There will be served in Knowlton for the Amherst Glee Club concert. From eight until nine the Amherst Glee Club concert will be given in the gymnasium. The club consists of thirty-five members, and directed by Profs. W. Cohn, the president, and J. A. Byars, the assistant manager, A. C. Routh, Jr. The club often holds joint concerts with the various girls' colleges, and also gives many such concerts as we hear. The club comes C. C. from a recent trip to Wellesley. After the concert there will be a formal dance in Knowlton, with the music again furnished by the Lord Jeff Serenaders.

AND—when the running stones of the Glee Club's songs, listening to the singing dunce must not be of small effect. A most entertaining and enjoyable occasion is the Student-Alumni Fund, which is being held this weekend. The formal dance of the club. The chairmen in charge of the Student-Alumni Fund, Ruth Judell '32; Junior representative, Effie Sherman; Publicity manager, Natalie Clunet; Chairman of the ticket committee, Jean Will.

The program begins with a tea dance to be held in Knowlton from four until six. The music will be furnished by the Lord Jeff Serenaders from Amherst. There will be served in Knowlton for the Amherst Glee Club concert. From eight until nine the Amherst Glee Club concert will be given in the gymnasium. The club consists of thirty-five members, and directed by Profs. W. Cohn, the president, and J. A. Byars, the assistant manager, A. C. Routh, Jr. The club often holds joint concerts with the various girls' colleges, and also gives many such concerts as we hear. The club comes C. C. from a recent trip to Wellesley. After the concert there will be a formal dance in Knowlton, with the music again furnished by the Lord Jeff Serenaders.

AND—when the running stones of the Glee Club's songs, listening to the singing dunce must not be of small effect. A most entertaining and enjoyable occasion is the Student-Alumni Fund, which is being held this weekend. The formal dance of the club. The chairmen in charge of the Student-Alumni Fund, Ruth Judell '32; Junior representative, Effie Sherman; Publicity manager, Natalie Clunet; Chairman of the ticket committee, Jean Will.

The program begins with a tea dance to be held in Knowlton from four until six. The music will be furnished by the Lord Jeff Serenaders from Amherst. There will be served in Knowlton for the Amherst Glee Club concert. From eight until nine the Amherst Glee Club concert will be given in the gymnasium. The club consists of thirty-five members, and directed by Profs. W. Cohn, the president, and J. A. Byars, the assistant manager, A. C. Routh, Jr. The club often holds joint concerts with the various girls' colleges, and also gives many such concerts as we hear. The club comes C. C. from a recent trip to Wellesley. After the concert there will be a formal dance in Knowlton, with the music again furnished by the Lord Jeff Serenaders.
LET'S BE SIMPLE!

Apropos of Robert Frost and the problem of the man on the street, let us ex...
Why Read the Classics?

William Lyon Phelps recently had a chance to write an article published in Life dealing with the value of classics in practical life. It does not seem possible to give here anything even faintly resembling its beauty of construction, or of phrasing what he had to say. However, a summary of the article that is no proper way in which to make friends. One should give oneself wholeheartedly to some cause, even if it does not have too much freedom, to which one can give oneself with her whole heat and soul. Freedom is of no value unless it is lived freely, undergirded by an inner source on which to draw when outer forces are absent. To do this requires an inner loyalty, a loyalty that is not extraordinary nor is it a loyalty to a deity. Liberty is a familiar one. Personality is a prodigious asset for success in any line of work. But a personality is a virtue. It is a virtue, but it is only one of the attributes of human nature, and the other attributes, to which we give our true worth, may be obtained through a knowledge of the world's best literature. "For literature, the immortal part of history, is the document of human life." However, if people would only give as much attention to study as they give to vocational and professional studies, they would greatly benefit. The connection between literature and history, and between study and the world outside, is rather changed toward the end and Mr. Maugham seems to be at his best when he writes in English, as he is, and not in French, his native tongue. In the first part of the book, that deals with the last part of Roscoe's life, that does not constitute the promise of the beginning of the story. He relieves the first part not very evident and the Roscoe growing old in mind and heart makes to him in a strange mixture of interest. Roscoe does not seem as well done as those of Keats and the other pseudo-intellectuals with whom Maugham lovers.

"Cakes and Ale, or the Skeleton in the Closet"

By W. Somerset Maugham

The story is mostly about Roscoe whose unhappily had no effect on her character, she remained unshrinking, unspotted, and altruistic. It traces her life from her childhood, when she was a pretty little girl, and her early married life with Driffield, her place as his reputation grows, and at last a bridge-playing old lady in New York. It is the last part of the book deals with the last part of Roscoe's life that does not constitute the promise of the beginning of the story. He relieves the first part not very evident and the Roscoe growing old in mind and heart makes to him in a strange mixture of interest. Roscoe does not seem as well done as those of Keats and the other pseudo-intellectuals with whom Maugham lovers.

1. Let's Celebrate After Xmas Mid-Winter Formal FEBRUARY 14th

2. 327 State St. 2 doors from Garve Theatre New London Conn.

The Mariners Savings Bank NEW LONDON, CONN. STATE STREET Next to Post Office

"The Bank of Cheerful Service"

The Mariners Savings Bank NEW LONDON, CONN. STATE STREET Next to Post Office

Telephone 2-3542 Underwood Made to Order

WINNIE LINGIERE SHOPPE

Speciacling in ladies' ski undergarments, pajamas, negligees, nightgowns, handkerchiefs, art, and laces, and ready at reasonable prices.

0. 327 State St. 2 doors from Garve Theatre New London Conn.

CONNECTICUT COLLEGE NEWS

Why Read the Classics?

William Lyon Phelps recently had a chance to write an article published in Life dealing with the value of classics in practical life. It does not seem possible to give here anything even faintly resembling its beauty of construction, or of phrasing what he had to say. However, a summary of the article that is no proper way in which to make friends. One should give oneself wholeheartedly to some cause, even if it does not have too much freedom, to which one can give oneself with her whole heat and soul. Freedom is of no value unless it is lived freely, undergirded by an inner source on which to draw when outer forces are absent. To do this requires an inner loyalty, a loyalty that is not extraordinary nor is it a loyalty to a deity. Liberty is a familiar one. Personality is a prodigious asset for success in any line of work. But a personality is a virtue. It is a virtue, but it is only one of the attributes of human nature, and the other attributes, to which we give our true worth, may be obtained through a knowledge of the world's best literature. "For literature, the immortal part of history, is the document of human life." However, if people would only give as much attention to study as they give to vocational and professional studies, they would greatly benefit. The connection between literature and history, and between study and the world outside, is rather changed toward the end and Mr. Maugham seems to be at his best when he writes in English, as he is, and not in French, his native tongue. In the first part of the book, that deals with the last part of Roscoe's life, that does not constitute the promise of the beginning of the story. He relieves the first part not very evident and the Roscoe growing old in mind and heart makes to him in a strange mixture of interest. Roscoe does not seem as well done as those of Keats and the other pseudo-intellectuals with whom Maugham lovers.

"Cakes and Ale, or the Skeleton in the Closet"

By W. Somerset Maugham

The story is mostly about Roscoe whose unhappily had no effect on her character, she remained unshrinking, unspotted, and altruistic. It traces her life from her childhood, when she was a pretty little girl, and her early married life with Driffield, her place as his reputation grows, and at last a bridge-playing old lady in New York. It is the last part of the book deals with the last part of Roscoe's life that does not constitute the promise of the beginning of the story. He relieves the first part not very evident and the Roscoe growing old in mind and heart makes to him in a strange mixture of interest. Roscoe does not seem as well done as those of Keats and the other pseudo-intellectuals with whom Maugham lovers.
This publication of the exam schedule produced quite a furor, not to mention a traffic jam. The question: whether we can make Prom, House Party, Junior Week, etc., and still get by?

We hear that the ice skating is grand. But then the movies are so much better here.

The Home So. guinea pig that hasn't got any vitamin C for I don't know how long has at last done right by the department and caught the expected disease. And do you now what that is?

Personal: If May Fisher will communicate with box 9999, she will learn something greatly to her interest.

We have Amherst with us this week-end. Will we hear "Where's His Fiddle"?

The Lab is always supplying us with surprises. Now we have a new catalogue and tables that fit right up under our chins.

Are we behind the times? No, we thank heaven! There is a backgammon board on the campus.

The expectation of attending the Zander-dump wedding in Uncasville fills us with excitement. Personally we had lost track of those worthy characters and failed to realize the marriage was so near.

Opening like a rose petal has something besides an aesthetic appeal. It seems your muscles feel anything but rosey the next morning.

"Three Little Words!" Will I Plunk?

The snow likes us not. It falls and ere we can vision a snowman, puff— it is gone.

Have you noticed the narrassed movement of the Freshmen and Juniors? It is from attempting to figure out the cards with the record of time spent in study.

Students of Colorado University are insured against being called upon to recite. This certainly puts a premium on either mediocrity or laziness.

The Machine is joining the leisure class. Students at U. C. L. A. now play chess with a machine for a partner. The only draw-back is that the intelligent thing won't play if three false moves are made—simply folds its hands and goes away mad.

The statistician of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has discovered that college-bound men live longer than any others. Some cigarette company will probably offer an explanation.

This space Reserved for Yale School of Nursing

THE NICHOLS & HARRIS COMPANY
D. JUGGINS
113 State St.

The publication of the exam schedule produced quite a furor, not to mention a traffic jam. The question: whether we can make Prom, House Party, Junior Week, etc., and still get by?

We hear that the ice skating is grand. But then the movies are so much better here.

The Home So. guinea pig that hasn't got any vitamin C for I don't know how long has at last done right by the department and caught the expected disease. And do you now what that is?

Personal: If May Fisher will communicate with box 9999, she will learn something greatly to her interest.

We have Amherst with us this week-end. Will we hear "Where's His Fiddle"?

The Lab is always supplying us with surprises. Now we have a new catalogue and tables that fit right up under our chins.

Are we behind the times? No, we thank heaven! There is a backgammon board on the campus.

The expectation of attending the Zander-dump wedding in Uncasville fills us with excitement. Personally we had lost track of those worthy characters and failed to realize the marriage was so near.

Opening like a rose petal has something besides an aesthetic appeal. It seems your muscles feel anything but rosey the next morning.

"Three Little Words!" Will I Plunk?

The snow likes us not. It falls and ere we can vision a snowman, puff— it is gone.

Have you noticed the narrassed movement of the Freshmen and Juniors? It is from attempting to figure out the cards with the record of time spent in study.

Students of Colorado University are insured against being called upon to recite. This certainly puts a premium on either mediocrity or laziness.

The Machine is joining the leisure class. Students at U. C. L. A. now play chess with a machine for a partner. The only draw-back is that the intelligent thing won't play if three false moves are made—simply folds its hands and goes away mad.

The statistician of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has discovered that college-bound men live longer than any others. Some cigarette company will probably offer an explanation.

This space Reserved for Yale School of Nursing

THE NICHOLS & HARRIS COMPANY
D. JUGGINS
113 State St.

The publication of the exam schedule produced quite a furor, not to mention a traffic jam. The question: whether we can make Prom, House Party, Junior Week, etc., and still get by?

We hear that the ice skating is grand. But then the movies are so much better here.

The Home So. guinea pig that hasn't got any vitamin C for I don't know how long has at last done right by the department and caught the expected disease. And do you now what that is?

Personal: If May Fisher will communicate with box 9999, she will learn something greatly to her interest.

We have Amherst with us this week-end. Will we hear "Where's His Fiddle"?

The Lab is always supplying us with surprises. Now we have a new catalogue and tables that fit right up under our chins.

Are we behind the times? No, we thank heaven! There is a backgammon board on the campus.

The expectation of attending the Zander-dump wedding in Uncasville fills us with excitement. Personally we had lost track of those worthy characters and failed to realize the marriage was so near.

Opening like a rose petal has something besides an aesthetic appeal. It seems your muscles feel anything but rosey the next morning.

"Three Little Words!" Will I Plunk?

The snow likes us not. It falls and ere we can vision a snowman, puff— it is gone.

Have you noticed the narrassed movement of the Freshmen and Juniors? It is from attempting to figure out the cards with the record of time spent in study.

Students of Colorado University are insured against being called upon to recite. This certainly puts a premium on either mediocrity or laziness.

The Machine is joining the leisure class. Students at U. C. L. A. now play chess with a machine for a partner. The only draw-back is that the intelligent thing won't play if three false moves are made—simply folds its hands and goes away mad.

The statistician of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has discovered that college-bound men live longer than any others. Some cigarette company will probably offer an explanation.