Houseoffel Wright Dormitory

Cites Respect for Position

By JOSHUA FRIELANDER

Editor-in-Chief

Citing her respect for the job, Claire DePetrer '99 has resigned from her position as Houseoffel of Wright dormitory. The announcement of her resignation came on January 21. As a sophomore, she was named as a resident advisor for the first year students in Harkness. DePetrer returned to the dormitory last semester after completing her junior year at the University of Colorado. She will be taking a gap semester before returning to campus next fall.

Kristen Cy Goodwin, Asst.

Dean of Student Life, recived DePetrer's resignation sometime during the last week of December.

According to Goodwin, the dormitory's staff will fill DePetrer's position with a new assistant director. The search for a new director is already underway. The University of New Haven is currently working with the Office of Student Affairs to fill the position.

Brownell Named College Relations Internim Director

By TIFFANY TAPER

Staff Writer

Associated Director of Publications Lisa Brownell was named the new director of College Relations. The position is the result of the resignation of Angela DePetrer, who left earlier this year to pursue a career in education. Brownell's role will be to oversee the communications and marketing efforts of the college. She will also be responsible for developing and implementing strategic plans to increase the college's visibility and reputation. Brownell's experience and skills will be instrumental in advancing the college's mission and goals.

Black Box Theater

To open Feb 27

By NICOLE MANCOCHE

Staff Writer

Over the past nine months, Connecticut College has been working on the renovation of the Black Box Theater. The theater, which has been closed for the past year, is scheduled to open on February 27. The renovation will include new lighting, sound equipment, and stage facilities. The theater will be used for a variety of events, including plays, musicals, and concerts. The Black Box Theater is an important part of the campus community and is used by students, faculty, and staff.

Congratulations, Men's Basketball!

Congratulations Men's Basketball! Becoming three point shooter in school history, already holding the record for threes made in a season. By attaining this and root for the Camels, and be proud of and appreciate all the hard work that has gone into this great season.

Disappointed in Low Turnout at King Service

To the Readers;

I am writing to express my strong disappointment for the Martin Luther King, Jr. service activity that was held on our campus. I accepted a position at Connecticut College as a first-year student. One of the main reasons I accepted this position was the opportunity to participate in the American Red Cross. It is my belief that this organization serves a community of over 400 students. A small group of individuals, but the needs that serve so many the ideals of Martin Luther King, Jr. In recent years I have not been able to see the students at the service activity that was held on our campus. The service activity that was held on our campus is very important and it is a way for the students to give back to the community.

What is Morality?

There is a term, which in our own, has become diluted and robbed of all its signification and importance by politicians and fellow "you know" speaking empty platitudes meant to placate the masses of a stratified populace. The word is morality, and it has been reduced to a meaningless name by the depredations of manipulative men who have no regard for the term in its true meaning and don't really care what it means.

What is "morality?" Aside from Webster's definition, there are many constant on what it really means. This man's morality is an abstention from sexual relations and is often to the other to repeat the moral lesson by the talkers. The talkers who goggle their way through the colloquy often make normal tone of voice, making absolutely no effort to whisper.

Across the mainstays, the blue- white moralists of a church can take a native in a country where 7th Heaven and Jerry Springer are played on the same station, it is only to see that we all have different opinions on what is moral and to care what it really means.

In our political arena, morality is the bear which is being baited about the President for his legalisms both in his public and private lives. We can see the crisis in Clinton's acts, an attack which plays upon the outrage of the public.

Clinton's acts, an attack which plays upon the outrage of the public. Instead, the managers have chosen to focus on the responsibility of Clinton's acts, an attack which plays upon the outrage of the public.

Groton Submarine Force Museum Allows Glimpse into Silent Service

By TIM HERRICK
Managing Editor

Despite the assumption that New London is "the" place to be for Grotonites, not too many people make it across the bridge to Groton. Many assume that Groton is just a small town with nothing to do, among other things, that this college town offers. This is not the case.

The Museum is easily accessible from the New London area and offers an interesting glimpse into the history of the Groton area. As one of the few submarine museums in the United States, it is a must-see for any fan of submarine history. The museum offers a unique look into the world of submarines, showcasing the evolution of submarine technology over the years.

With the museum’s vast collection of artifacts and exhibits, visitors can learn about the history of submarine warfare and the role of submarines in shaping modern naval strategy. Whether one is a history buff or just interested in the past, this museum offers something for everyone.

Somewhere in Time: Great Atmosphere, Better Breakfast

By CARA CUTLER
Staff Writer

If one were to travel somewhere in Time, the place to go is Midland, Iowa, where the film "Somewhere in Time" was filmed. The film, directed by Robert Iscove, is about a man named Zach Siler (Jonathan Rhys Meyers), who suddenly finds himself transported back in time to the year 1937.

Zach, who is a contemporary of his own time, struggles to adapt to his new surroundings. He befriends a woman named Taylor Vaughn (Rachel Leigh Cook), who is a local school teacher. As the film progresses, Zach and Taylor fall in love, but Zach must eventually return to his own time.

The film offers a unique perspective on the past, as Zach learns about the history and culture of the era. The acting, direction, and cinematography are all exceptional, making "Somewhere in Time" a must-see for anyone interested in the history of the 1930s.

I'll Never Forget That Christmas Dinner

By BRONSON HOLE

It's that time of year again, when families gather to enjoy a sumptuous Christmas dinner. But for some, the holiday season can be a time of stress and strain.

Previously, I had assumed that the holidays were a time of joy and happiness. However, after working as a waiter at a local restaurant, I have come to realize that the holiday season can be a time of difficult decisions and situations.

One of the most challenging decisions is what to wear to the holiday party. With so many options available, it can be difficult to choose the right outfit. Other common holiday season decisions include what to give as gifts and how to manage family tension.

The Acting Company Performs Tartuffe to Palermo Crowd

By REBEKAH PAGE
Staff Writer

On Wednesday, July 27, Connecticut College’s Acting Company with their productions of Molière’s Tartuffe to Palmer Auditorium. The company, formed in 1972 out of the year’s graduating class of Judson’s Drama Division, is a group of actors who bring classical and contemporary plays to stages across the country.

Tartuffe is a classic French farce that has been performed by various companies across the country. The Acting Company’s production is directed by Mark Aronson, who has directed many productions of Tartuffe over the years.

The translation of Tartuffe to the stage-the heavens smile down upon it! The performance added an eerie quality to the comedy, which made the impending arrest, the side doors flung open and light floods the stage-the heavens smile down upon it! The performance added an eerie quality to the comedy, which made the audience laugh out loud.

As the crowd arrived to see Tartuffe for his supposed sin of more than one, the audience was left in shock. The performance was a hit with the audience, and the actors received standing ovations for their impressive performance.

The combination of superior acting and a witty script made Tartuffe the perfect choice for the Acting Company’s production. The audience was left in stitches, and the show was a resounding success.

Of the placement process Goodwin says, “People are housed and they’re relatively okay with where they are, but I had to work through what we physically have.”
Though most opportunities were for single, students, explained Goodwin, a single room in a four-person suite is the best.
Still, Goodwin said she did her best to accommodate the students for which a single was	important and spent much time working with other interns to find the best and most comfortable spaces for close friends.

College Gatheres to Celebrate Black History Month and King's Legacy

BY KAREN GILLO and LAURA STRONG staff writer and associate news editor

The annual sound of the brass band played out as the choir filled Hartisch chapel as members of the College gather to mark the beginning of Black History Month and the legacy of Reverend Martin L. King Jr.

Keynote speaker Rev. Jamal Hawthorne garnished a great deal of praise and a standing ovation for his speech on "Conquering "Dropped Generation."

Byret Cohen called it "a new generation of freedom fighters.

Student response to the service and music was amazing. Said one freshman in the audience, "Bryant's speech was very moving," but, "he really captured the audience.

"I am a little skeptical of his knowledge of the events of 1965 at Concent on who seems to be addressing," said Archivist Tom Squire.

April 27, Bryant is the National Youth and College Director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), and through his position holds over 400,000 young people in over 60,000 civil rights organizations across the country.

Despite the few negative comments by a student, many were impressed by the service and agreed with the need for recognizing the event. One sophomore in the class who attended said, "the event was very powerful, it brought together the whole community to celebrate an amazing life and remind us of the goals set by Martin Luther King Jr.'s dreams."

Renovation Update

BY JOE SINNOTT staff writer

Connecticut College is currently in the planning stages of a construction project in the Whitney-Davenport residence hall.

The project is aimed at improving the quality of life for students who live in the Whitney-Davenport residence hall. The project will include renovations to the academic and social spaces in the hall, as well as enhancements to the exterior of the building.

The renovation is expected to be completed by the end of the academic year. The college is working closely with students and faculty to ensure that the project is completed on time and meets the needs of the community.

Be a child's Hero
By Paul Jovovich and a product of "The Goofy Foot Press," describes it as "America's loudest and most informative book about sex." While the description on the book jacket promises an informative sex guide, once the cover is open, the reader is thrown into a twisted world of sexually transmitted diseases, penis enlargements, household lubricants, sexual fluid, and anything else remotely related to sexual relations. However, everything is presented in the same campy style that Dr. Seuss himself would be proud of.

The information in the book is presented in a series of short, humorous stories told to you about a friend, all presented to the reader in such a manner, that the reader descends into a world of sex crazed madness, littered with terms which are both unnecessary and thought provoking. Terms such as "OCT, optimal come time" and "Texas two-strap, a highly regarded brand of dildo harness," entertain the reader, but also when they all sink into the text and lose their shock value.

The book also provides an intriguing section on sexual terms from around the world. Who could have guessed that in New Zealand they refer to masturbation as "Mrs. Palmer's moment," to reckless acts as "Riding the pork bus to space hell"? And what the hell is "Bridging the pork bus to space well?" But of course, it is an American term for engagement.

Ultimately, the book educates and entertains at equally high levels. Those interested in a ridiculous and informative guide to the world of sex will not let this book down by The Guide To Getting It On.

The women's basketball team had a very busy weekend as they took on three tough opponents in the span of five days. Although the Camels were 0-3 in 14 minutes of play.

On Tuesday night, Eastern Connecticut State University came out strong with a victory in the first half lead on the way to a forty-six percent for the game. When the dust settled, the Camels and may have provided the last bit of energy needed for the team to come away with a 37-28 victory over the Coast Guard Academy. Although Conn dropped these three games, it wouldn't lose a match for the remainder of the season with the number of fans who came down to support their efforts in a sport that is rarely recognized.

Congratulations to the Eastern Connecticut State Camels and may have provided the last bit of energy needed for the team to come away with a 37-28 victory over the Coast Guard Academy. Although Conn dropped these three games, it wouldn't lose a match for the remainder of the season with the number of fans who came down to support their efforts in a sport that is rarely recognized.
