Tiffany Krempley '05 reads the New York Times while eating lunch in Harris Refractory on Friday. Many students have taken advantage of the 400 free newspapers that are delivered daily to campus as part of the New York Times Readership Program. The Readership Program came to Conn. on Monday and will continue for several more weeks. Kate Keene '02 and Alex Band '02, who are responsible for bringing the New York Times to campus, are currently fundraising to allow the program to continue. Keene and Band need to raise $5,600 to maintain delivery of the Times throughout this semester.

Hopkins Gross Becomes Associate Dean of Student Life

By Tim Ross

Some Hopkins Gross happened upon the Connecticut College job posting for a new Associate Dean of Student Life while searching for possible jobs for her husband. Following the birth of her children, Hopkins Gross worked part-time at the Pennsylvania School of Art and Design as a consultant in Pennsylvania Junior High and High School student assistance programs. She focused on “improving, innate” eating disorders, bullying, and school violence. Meanwhile, her husband maintained a full-time position within the school system. Hopkins Gross and her husband often discussed reversing their roles one day, with her working a 9-5 school job and him staying at home while part-time working. After reviewing the posting, she and her husband discussed the possibility of her taking the position. Hopkins Gross applied for the position and the role switching was complete. “Two months later, I got the job,” said Hopkins Gross.

River Ridge Controversy Continues

By Ben Blumen

At the end of Connecticut College’s Fall 2001 semester, five students were removed from their apartment in the River Ridge housing complex and placed in rooms on the main campus for reasons they feel are unfair.
The five students, Bob Young, Barbara Menzinger, Ely Bell, Joel Segaloff, and Ben Mooseker (all of ‘03), assert that the Department of Student Life’s handling of a number of issues relating to the River Ridge complex have been less than satisfactory. These issues, according to the apartment residents, are compounding pre-existing problems with the university’s student assistance programs.

At one student meeting with the university, the students were precluded from discussing” the warnings before moving out and even became an option,” said Young. “We were called into the office of Student Life in November and told we were going to be moved out with no prior warning whatsoever.”

Campbell disagrees. “Anything the present system, college staff and administration are in the process of searching for a new operating system which would support the day-to-day operations of the college. A new system would have substantial benefits to students as well,” he continued.

R. B. Ross Williams

By B. Ross Williams

This past Friday in the Popcorn room at Unity House, the Connecticut College community gathered together for an uncoordinated art reception to celebrate the start of college programs devoted to Black History Month.

Professor Barbara Hendricks gave a speech on his work and his significance, which helped to establish him as a man of equal importance and attention.

Pieces of art inspired by the sights and sounds of Ghana, Haiti, Senegal, Mali, and Cape Verde. He also highlighted his paintings of animals and villages, an even nature were featured among the works.

“Each day will be a new story,” Hendricks began his speech.

Reception Kicks Off Black History Month

By B. Ross Williams

This past Friday in the Popcorn room at Unity House, the Connecticut College community gathered together for an uncoordinated art reception to celebrate the start of college programs devoted to Black History Month.

Professor Barbara Hendricks gave a speech on his work and his significance, which helped to establish him as a man of equal importance and attention.

Pieces of art inspired by the sights and sounds of Ghana, Haiti, Senegal, Mali, and Cape Verde. He also highlighted his paintings of animals and villages, an even nature were featured among the works.

“Each day will be a new story,” Hendricks began his speech.
College is Within its Rights in Requesting Students' Background

A supplement to the Connecticut College application features a new House Code section asking students to indicate whether or not they have ever been dismissed, placed on probation, suspended from school, or arrested for anything other than a traffic violation.

This new addition has been the target of both praise and criticism by Student Government officials, who met with Dean of Admission Martha Merrill during Thursday's General Assembly meeting. Dean Merrill indicated that they have received mixed feedback about the additions.

Many SGA Senators raised concerns that typical youthful mistakes, like underage drinking and using marijuana, would be held against prospective students. Merrill assured the Assembly that these indemnitees would carry little weight. The Office of Admission is looking for more serious offenses that would indicate that a candidate was involved in a safety risk. Additionally, Dean Merrill assured students that admission of having committed an applicable offense would not necessarily warrant denial of admission to Connecticut College.

Many SGA Senators raised concerns that typical youthful mistakes, like underage drinking and using marijuana, would be held against prospective students. Merrill assured the Assembly that these indemnitees would carry little weight. The Office of Admission is looking for more serious offenses that would indicate that a candidate was involved in a safety risk. Additionally, Dean Merrill assured students that admission of having committed an applicable offense would not necessarily warrant denial of admission to Connecticut College.

Letters to the Editor

Letters to the Editor are due by 5:00 p.m. on the Wednesday preceding publication. Attention Vintage Clothing Fan! Looking for retro clothing and accessories at reasonable prices? We have what you want at A & E. Lowest Prices Guaranteed! Book online. Visit us online at www.aestanderson.com. Phone number for verification: (860) 439-2812. The College Voice reserves the right to accept or reject any ad. The Editors-in-Chief shall have final content approval. The final deadline for advertising is 5:00 p.m. on the Wednesday preceding publication.

Attention Vintage Clothing Fan! Looking for retro clothing and accessories at reasonable prices? We have what you want at A & E. Lowest Prices Guaranteed! Book online. Visit us online at www.aestanderson.com. Phone number for verification: (860) 439-2812. The College Voice reserves the right to accept or reject any ad. The Editors-in-Chief shall have final content approval. The final deadline for advertising is 5:00 p.m. on the Wednesday preceding publication.

Letters to the Editor

Letters to the Editor are due by 5:00 p.m. on the Wednesday preceding publication. Attention Vintage Clothing Fan! Looking for retro clothing and accessories at reasonable prices? We have what you want at A & E. Lowest Prices Guaranteed! Book online. Visit us online at www.aestanderson.com. Phone number for verification: (860) 439-2812. The College Voice reserves the right to accept or reject any ad. The Editors-in-Chief shall have final content approval. The final deadline for advertising is 5:00 p.m. on the Wednesday preceding publication.
Opinion

Best TV Moment

The Daily Show's first post-9/11 broadcast

It was a night that will go down in history. The sorority. The tea is on the stove, the thoughts are in the air, and the brothel is in the basement. The mood was somber, but the atmosphere was electric. TheHosting of this much I am sure. It was a moment that would be remembered for years to come.

Best "Your Mother" Joke

"Your mother is so fat that she goes underwater in a red dress, all the neighborhood kids yell, "Hey, Kool-Aid."

It was a joke that made us all laugh. Pure magic. "Give me my sweater back or I'll play the piano."

Best News for Connecticut College Students

A welcome breath of fresh air from the "Your mother is so fat that when she sits around the house, she sits around the house," or simply adding "Oh, she is writhing in pain."

SLUTS UNITE!

Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew"

We're on a mission to connect to:...

LEARNING FOR PLEASURE'S Sake

Research Indicates...

Within the academic institutions that I have found myself, both here at Connecticut College as well as in high school, I have often heard students say that they seek education for its own sake, and that is therefore love learning for its own sake. To those who have made this claim (and said that I was one of them), my response is this: I don't believe you.

In the process of gaining knowledge and of seeking truth that is the source of one’s happiness, not subject matter. Plato's Republic defines such a student as one who truly loves learning need not declare a major in anything other than the entire-amount of things that he purposes to know. What is a slut? The best definition I ever heard was, "Slut is what guys say to girls when they don't like them, and aren't afraid to say it鲜明."

The next time you hear someone, "Ah, I'm going to Norm."

It is clear that we do not act for pleasure for the ultimate goal of pleasure.

Delta Kappa Phi

The B-Club's Albert Einstein Society wins our beloved fight song. Ladies and Gentlemen, I have composed a fight song - the first.

We're on a mission to connect to:...

One Big CAMEL Family

COZY WARD • VERMONT

We're One Great Big Camel Family

As the SCC's "Cozy Ward" celebrates its 10th year at the college, it is clear that the importance of the SCC's "Cozy Ward" has never been more evident. The SCC's "Cozy Ward" is a group of students who have come together to create a sense of community and foster a love for reading. The SCC's "Cozy Ward" has been a source of comfort and companionship for its members, and for the college community as a whole.

Best Movie Trailer

"Joker-Man: Lord of the Rings: Fellowship of the Rings"

Regardless of how big a fan of the film was, this trailer was cooler than that gravedigger cinemas this year. Lord of the Rings may get to enjoy this moment as a perfect part of the sacred, I would not even venture to send it to Middle-earth.

The trailer ends with a scene that has been waiting to be revealed for years. The trailer is a brilliant piece of work, and it has a lot of potential to go on to do great things.

Finally, he made the conclusion that society would fall apart if women's consciousness was not developed.

As in the past, the trailer was a delight to watch. The trailer is a brilliant piece of work, and it has a lot of potential to go on to do great things.

Best Movie Trailer

"Joker-Man: Lord of the Rings: Fellowship of the Rings"

Regardless of how big a fan of the film was, this trailer was cooler than that gravedigger cinemas this year. Lord of the Rings may get to enjoy this moment as a perfect part of the sacred, I would not even venture to send it to Middle-earth.

The trailer ends with a scene that has been waiting to be revealed for years. The trailer is a brilliant piece of work, and it has a lot of potential to go on to do great things.

Best News for Connecticut College Students

A welcome breath of fresh air from the "Your mother is so fat that when she sits around the house, she sits around the house," or simply adding "Oh, she is writhing in pain."

Welcome to the sorority.

Come down and visit us sometime. We sit you down on one of our huge couches, and let your feet pop on our big comfy coffee table. That's when we know you're a true boyfriend. If you're the type of guy who would rather read a book than listen to music, then you're just like us.

Come down and visit us sometime. We sit you down on one of our huge couches, and let your feet pop on our big comfy coffee table. That's when we know you're a true boyfriend. If you're the type of guy who would rather read a book than listen to music, then you're just like us.
Two Veterans Rock Out in Hartford, Piano Style

By Morris Levin
ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT
FREE-For-All: Creativity Thrifts At The Hygienic's XXIII

The Aquila Theatre Company

The Tempest staging, directed by the troupe's artistic director, Gary North, is a modern take on Shakespeare's final play. The show features a diverse cast of actors, including Joel Mitchell as Prospero and John Malmberg as Ferdinand.

The production's setting is a mix of tropical and desert environments, with actors dressed in vibrant costumes that complement the overall aesthetic. The musical score, composed by Joel Mitchell and John Malmberg, enhances the immersive experience, transporting the audience to a unique and captivating realm.

The Aquila Theatre Company, known for its innovative productions, continues to push boundaries and challenge traditional interpretations of classic texts. "The Tempest" not only celebrates Shakespeare's legacy but also serves as a testament to the company's commitment to artistic excellence and creativity.

The audience, ranging in age from teenagers to adults, was captivated by the performances, which showcased a variety of acting techniques and表达了强烈的情感。这种情感的表达方式也给人留下深刻印象。整体而言，这场表演是一次富有感染力的戏剧呈现，它不仅展示了演员们的才华，也提醒我们，艺术的力量在于它能够跨越语言和文化的界限，触动人心。
Cummings Offers Eclectic Japanese Print Exhibit

Be Kind, Rewind: Childhood Lost...and Found

Dearest Readers,

I am writing this letter from the basement of my house in the middle of the night. It is 3:00 AM, and I have just returned from a late-night shopping trip.

I am a fan of the television series "Cobra Commander" on the show "G.I. Joe: The Real American Hero.""I am a fan of the television series "Cobra Commander" on the show "G.I. Joe: The Real American Hero." I have always been fascinated by the character's unique abilities and the storyline that surrounds him.

I remember watching the show as a child and being entranced by the action-packed battles and the dramatic plot twists. However, as I have grown older, I have come to realize that the show has a deeper meaning that I never fully appreciated before.

Cobra Commander is a complex character who represents the darker side of humanity. He embodies the qualities of greed, power, and brutality, and his actions often have devastating consequences.

But despite his flaws, there is a sense of empathy that I feel when watching his actions. I believe that he is a representation of the human condition, and his struggles are relatable in some ways.

I hope that you will join me on this journey as we explore the world of "G.I. Joe: The Real American Hero" and uncover the deeper meaning behind the story.

Yours truly,
[Your Name]
Staff Shortages Plague Economics Department, Lead to High Class Enrollment

By MELISSA QUICK
STAFF WRITER

In the beginning of the Fall semester, it was clear that the Economics Department was in dire need of faculty. This problem has continued until today, and has led to increased class sizes and a lack of quality teaching.

The problem began in the fall semester of 2001, when several economics professors retired or left the department. This left the department with only four full-time professors, which was not enough to teach the large number of students enrolled in economics courses.

Dr. Melissa Quick, Director of Economics, explained that the problem was exacerbated by the lack of tenure-track positions in the department. "With only four full-time professors and no opportunities for new hires, it's impossible to keep up with the demand," she said.

The solution, according to Quick, is to hire more adjunct professors and use graduate students as teaching assistants. "This is not ideal, but it is the only way we can keep classes from getting too large," she said.

As a result, the department has had to increase class sizes and reduce the number of sections offered. This has led to lower quality instruction, as professors are unable to give individual attention to each student.

Dr. William Jensen, Dean of Faculty, acknowledged the problem but said that the department is doing everything it can to address it. "We are exploring all options, including hiring adjunct professors and using graduate students as teaching assistants," he said.

In the meantime, students are being forced to take courses with large class sizes and little individual attention. "It's frustrating," said one student. "I feel like I'm just a number in a sea of students."

The Economics Department is not the only one facing a shortage of faculty. Other departments, such as History and English, are also experiencing difficulties.

The problem is not unique to this college. Many other universities and colleges around the country are facing similar issues. "It's a nationwide problem," said Quick. "We're not alone in this."
New Dean Looks Forward to Increased leadership on campus

The team was working hard and succeeding, yet something is still missing. As Hipper expressed, "Overall both Jane and I feel that we have been impressed with the organization and camaraderie of the team this year. The athletes have adapted well to collegiate racing and the team is gelling along great. Right now our biggest problem is lack of recognition on campus. Many prospective student-athletes who are scoring in events are often told by admission officers that there is no team or that we do not exist. Additionally, there are many current students with running experiences who may be interested in joining but have no idea how the team is structured. The team members are working hard, but individual costs are still very high. Hopefully, we hope that the team might be granted varsity status in the future, and that we could be joined with increased recognition and support."
Women's Basketball Searches for Their Game

Dr. Kasie Kennedy '02
Tri-captain

The Women's Basketball Team has been reflecting on past games, and going because of study abroad, a growing number of young players are now taking up the sport. The Connecticut College Club Ski Team has decided to focus on working as a team, and finally learning every aspect of their sport. The ski team, a co-ed club team with a strong tradition, is looking forward to next season. "It's our first year, but we're already excited about the future." said Kasie Kennedy '02, "We conld not leave that weekend 0-

Fever began to rise in New England. the Cinderella Patriots took on the St. Pittsburgh Steelers, thanks to the Championship. They took out the best in the league. With each win One of the least recognized didn't want, and Troy Brown, for the name on the front of the jersey. The USCSA is the Eastern Collegiate Skiing Conference (ECS). The USCSA is the NCAA, and nearly 95% of its members are college programs. The 2001-2002 season was the first year that the USCSA was a member of the NCAA. The Connecticut College Club Ski Team has been successful in its first year. "We have been reflecting on past games, and we think that we can improve for next year," said Kasie Kennedy '02. "We were playing from behind against some tough competition, but we really got into the game. They worked hard and we played well as a team. The ski team, a co-ed club team with a strong tradition, is looking forward to next season. "It's our first year, but we're already excited about the future." said Kasie Kennedy '02, "We were playing from behind against some tough competition, but we really got into the game. They worked hard and we played well as a team. The ski team, a co-ed club team with a strong tradition, is looking forward to next season. "It's our first year, but we're already excited about the future." said Kasie Kennedy '02, "We were playing from behind against some tough competition, but we really got into the game. They worked hard and we played well as a team. The ski team, a co-ed club team with a strong tradition, is looking forward to next season. "It's our first year, but we're already excited about the future." said Kasie Kennedy '02, "We were playing from behind against some tough competition, but we really got into the game. They worked hard and we played well as a team.