

Connecticut College

Digital Commons @ Connecticut College

1974-1975

Student Newspapers

4-1-1975

Courier Vol. 61 No. 7

Connecticut College

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.conncoll.edu/ccnews_1974_1975

Recommended Citation

Connecticut College, "Courier Vol. 61 No. 7" (1975). 1974-1975. 7.
https://digitalcommons.conncoll.edu/ccnews_1974_1975/7

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Newspapers at Digital Commons @ Connecticut College. It has been accepted for inclusion in 1974-1975 by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Connecticut College. For more information, please contact bpancier@conncoll.edu.
The views expressed in this paper are solely those of the author.

RAPE TO INSPIRE
COAST GUARD
MERGER ? PAGE 3

SWANSON admits:

YES

.....

KNIGHT
says:

NO

.....

AMES
hedges:

MAY-BE

Editorial Bored: too friendly?

page 2

*Dr. Hall throws
BYOB Bash*

page 5

Roller rink linked to Arab tragedy

page 2

Fiscal Frugality: No Faculty

page 4

Funding scandal Exposed

page 4&5

photo by N.A. Cabal

ARE THEY 'COURIER' MEN? see page three

"Roller Rink Linked to King Faisal's Murder"

It has come to the attention of the Editorial Board that there has been a great demand, as of late, from students and especially the wives of Physical Plant employes to revise the blue prints of the new library to include a Roller Derby Rink in the new library. Funding for said rink could be provided through profits accrued from the latest documentary on the sport, "Kansas City Bomber."

If such a rink were to be included in the new library, it would surely help to expand our limited athletic offerings, attract more diversified students, bring in considerable revenue from on and off campus roller derby fanatics, and provide good study break activities for those studying in the new library.

As this is a valid and concrete suggestion, Breathless Courier urges members of the administration to seriously ponder this option.

The intent of the Editorial Bored is not to offend any person(s) satirized in this issue. It is to be taken purely in jest and at face value.

Editorial Bored Profile

photo by N.A. Cabal

Guest speaker addresses board members at recent meeting.

By Tom Wolfe

8:30 a.m. — A grim sunlight filters in through the drawn blinds of room 212 in Crozier Williams. Crumpled over a typewriter, verbose editor Li'l Lone Boy snores soundly. However, this peaceful reverie is cut short by a ringing phone. With the attraction of a poodle for a fire hydrant, he leaps to answer the call.

"Pundit, ah, Courier, I mean, Pundit....."

"Listen up, I got a hot tip." The raspy voice at the other end of the receiver was immediately recognized by the enterprising editor as L. Patrick O'Grady III. "I know who robbed your office. I'll call you back on the new rape pay phone in Cummings at 11:38 sharp. Be there, sweetheart."

"W-what? What robbery? Do you want an ad?"

Just then libidinal editor Mere Tall Wrap stumbled into the office. "Jesus Christ, did we get smashed last.... Holy shit! What hit this place!"

"Hi Mere. Holy mackerel, this place is a mess!" For the first time, he noticed that the office was in shambles. The blackboard was smashed, the file cabinet had been rifled, tables and chairs had been smashed, and the clock was an hour slow.

"Well, it's a fine mess you've gotten us into this time Ollie."

"This is no time for jokes, Mere. Somebody must have broken in last night while I was typing my article entitled, 'Cooking Club Funding to be Greasy Issue.'"

"You're right, Li'l. Let's call a meeting of the entire board tonight at 8."

"But Mere, don't we need a quorum present to decide whether or not we should decide to have a meeting?"

"Good point, Li'l. I'll check with former editor and constitutional expert Lou Piorie for a clarification."

11:22 p.m. The Editorial Board is gathered at a table in the back of the Corral.

Hysteria editor A Jail, A

Menopausal Polie speaks first.

"As long as we're all here, we might as well discuss this unfortunate incident last night."

The Kodak editor: "It wasn't me, A Jail. Hebrew and I were making a documentary film of a moth emerging from a cocoon. We're gonna call it Deep Molt."

"Not me," says Hostility editor Rick Laffs Shorter. "I was too

minging rape phone. We haven't got a second to lose.

11:37 p.m. The Bored arrives at the phone. It is being molested by a Coastie at the time, but he runs away before the editors had a chance to get a statement.

Finally, the sound of Ma Bell pierces the air. Instinctively, Li'l

Intense and dedicated, but always ready for quick fun in their never-ending search for credibility busy counting the money to notice anything."

Jock editor Dinner or a Ball said: "Count me out. Me and Real Old Beings were home watching Kojack."

Mere Tall Wrap said. "Couldn't be me, I was..."

"Yeah, we all know what you were doing you derillect." commented the Phlegmatic Did I Cry No Sin. "But if it's none of us, then who did it?"

"Wait," cried Li'l Lone Boy. "He told me he'd call at Cum-

Lone Boy grabs the receiver.

"Pundit, ah Courier, a....."

But all he heard was a tape recording of heavy breathing.

Epilogue:

The next day the Bored discovered the office had again been robbed the previous night. The plan is now to wait until it is robbed a third time, in order to have a firm basis for an upcoming editorial.

Tossed Tacos.....

My heart burns

My Dearest Lauren,
My once smoldering love for you has exploded now with an intensity known only in the "Towering Inferno." My soul is in perpetual discontent save for those few fleeting moments each week spent on the john, just me and your article. The week between PUNDIT issues is unbearable, each minute tearing at my heart like the talons of a falcon. My soul yearns for but a glance at those words that sustain me like manna from heaven. My life is complete with but a moment wallowing in that ink from which all wisdom flows. Sleep well in the knowledge that you're giving at least one person's life meaning.

Love,

a secret admirer

P.S. Anyone interested in forming a Lauren Kinglsey fan club can write box 842.

"The Breathless Courier"

The Breathless Courier
Connecticut College

Editorial Bored

- Co-Chiefs:
- Hysteria
- Phlegmatic
- Editors:
- Verbose
- Crunchy Granola
- Jock
- Libidinal
- Kodak
- Doodling
- C.I.A.
- Hostility

A Jail, A Menopausal Polie
Did I Cry No Sin?

Li'l Lone Boy
Re: Glad Hen Nest
Dinner or a Ball
Mere Tall Warp
A Nails Cabal
Real Old Beings
Laughs If Entyced
Rick Laffs Shorter

Published ineptly by the students of Connecticut College who are masochistic enough to want to flunk out while the rest of the students become Phi Beta Kappa. Any verbal diarrhea to be printed in an issue does not have to be reviewed by any member of the Editorial Board. The Breathless COURIER does not have a P.O. Box, phone, office or address of any sort. Drop your entry into any garbage can and the derelict (see page three) will deliver it to us.

WHAT KIND OF MAN READS COURIER?

photo by N.A. Cabal

The Courier man is sure of his destiny, yet unafraid to deviate from the norm; quiet and resourceful, he knows where he's been, yet not quite sure if he'll get there on time. He's dynamic, slightly neurotic, and quite often prone. In short, totally committed to the Courier mystique.

Merger rumored

Crazed Coastie causes controversy

By August Presence

On Thursday, March 27, five cadets from the Coast Guard Academy were raped by a female Conn. College student at 9:30 p.m. while they were walking along the perimeter road. The student in question, whose name was withheld from the B.C. is charged with assault.

(When a man does the raping, it is rape; when a woman does it, it is assault).

This incident, and others like it, have triggered a series of increasingly firm rumors that the Coast Guard Academy and Connecticut College are to merge in the near future. Though no one the B.C. talked to would say definitely whether the schools would merge or not, they did agree to speculate on the possible consequences.

Dean of Student Affairs, Margaret Watson, felt the merger "would do a world of good for both schools. This rape thing could be handled quietly by the Judiciary Board instead of having to call the police and Shore Patrol everytime. Furthermore, the students would probably become close enough that they could get together casually, and not cry rape."

Treasurer Leroy Knight and Director of Development John Detmold were very excited. "The opportunities for consolidation and economy are tremendous," stated Treasurer Knight. "To get the sudden use of facilities we have no hope of paying for would make the campus very attractive to students. We will easily be able to convert Cro-into a blimp hanger, and we will have access to all sorts of inexpensive government goods and heating oil." We will have no trouble finishing the library now," beamed Mr. Detmold while a uniform tailor measured him,

"and I believe we could start a modern, attractive central dining area just south of Cro immediately. Men always bequeath more than women to their schools, and now we suddenly have many more male graduates."

Charles Luce, D.A., was thrilled at being able "to pit our boys up against the best around." He continued, "We will be able, without spending an extra dime, to give the women the time, space, and equipment they need here on the hill, while the men go at it on the shore."

President Ames commented, "I am not able to comment at this time."

Dear Uncle Walt,

Oh gosh, I can hardly believe I'm writing to you. I mean, like everytime I read your column I become more and more interested in the veritable perils of wisdom that flow from your typewriter. Walter, my palpitating heart can barely survive the plethora of golden wages of knowledge that you fabricate. I long to distill them with my feeble brain. Oh WALTER I love you! I'm nearer and nearer; I'm coming for you!

Love,
Prudenda

Dear Ma,

Why didn't you tell me you were in town?

Heard in the Confessional . . .

All students who have applied for the position of housefellow have been rejected. Treasurer Leroy Night has subleased the entire campus to Rio Rancho Estates. It is reported that all students will live in the Mohician Hotel next semester.

It has been reported that an anonymous poll taken indicates that the most popular activity on campus is getting totally smashed and driving through the car wash.

Tell it to Uncle
Walt

Dear Uncle Walt,

My husband, an unemployed lawn cutter at Rio Rancho Estates, and I have been separated for 173 weeks, 4 days, 6 hours, and 24 minutes. I've completely forgotten the bum. Just recently, my 17 year-old daughter dropped her 16 year-old pen pal and is now engaged to a 52 year-old derelict on welfare. Being a liberated mother, I told Susie to invite him over for milk and cookies. Well, it turned out that he is her father. I don't want to do anything to spoil my daughter's wedding, but what I want to know is that if she marries Henry, will I still be able to get alimony?

Signed,
Not Regretful, just Wondering

Dear Not Just,

Are you sick? Are you deranged? Are you related to Oedipus? Are you free this weekend?

U.W.

'frilly accessories'

FACULTY BOOTED TO RAISE BUCKS

by Carin Gordon

In a move to save Connecticut College's rapidly depleting resources every member of the faculty has not been rehired, W.E.S. Griswold, chairperson of the Board of Trustees of the College, announced today.

J. B. crackdown

by Carin Gordon

Records of all Judiciary Board cases are kept in an open file in Dean Margaret Watson's office, forever. This is done to avoid leaks and false rumors and to ensure confidentiality. Variations in Board recommendations are due to changes in Board members' moods and pressure from Administration and Faculty.

The following is a list of all cases handled by the Judiciary Board last month:

Case I: Breach of Social Honor Code — fraud. A very recent, former Student Government president donated his presidential papers to Palmer Library in return for a refund of his four years' tuition at Conn. The documents were to be housed in a special drawer in the new library. The refund was being processed, when it was discovered that the papers were really the records of a previous administration. It was, however, impossible for the Board to determine which administration. The Board has recommended that, as punishment, the student must copy in longhand the minutes of all his meetings as head of College Council and Student Assembly.

Case II: Breach of Social Honor Code — cheating (on a lover). A female Conn student had an affair with a Conn student, while engaged to be married to another Conn student. The Board has recommended that the cuckold and the third party meet on Harkness Green at dawn for a duel. Preferably with pistols.

Case III: Breach of Social Honor Code — sneaking. Two students snuck into Palmer Library without paying the $1.50 admission fee, recently instituted to help defray the costs of newspaper subscriptions. The Board has recommended that the students be expelled for lack of school spirit.

Case IV: Breach of Social Honor Code — disorderly conduct. All members of the Pundit Editorial Board were allegedly fist-fighting with one another in Lamperelli's Seven Brothers Bar and Restaurant on Bank Street in New London. The Board refused to hear the case for lack of evidence and wishes a speedy recovery to all members of the Editorial Board who are resting comfortably in Lawrence and Memorial Hospital.

Case V: Breach of Social Honor Code — stealing. The Housefellow, Secretary-Treasurer and House Residence continued on page six

The terminations, affecting 200 full- and part-time faculty, become effective June 30 of this year. It is not known how long the College will be without a faculty, although estimates range from three months to six years. All members of the administration, their staffs, and the staffs of Physical Plant and Residence will remain in their positions. There are no signs that there will be cutbacks in these areas.

The move came after a thorough investigation of the College's endowment and its future earning potential. The investigation, undertaken by the independent firm of Kidder and Peabody, Co., showed that Conn. would fall financially in two years unless it soon made serious cutbacks in what the report called "frilly accessories."

"We felt the area in which we had the greatest wastes and excesses was in the faculty," stated Mr. Griswold. When asked why employees other than teachers were not terminated, he answered, "The faculty were the easiest to let go. They are for the most part transient, while deans, secretaries, kitchen help, gardeners and the like stay on and keep this college going." According to Mr. Griswold, the move was not spontaneous, but had been under consideration for quite some time.

Leroy E. Knight, Conn.'s Treasurer and Business Manager, expects the College to save $3 million in the first year as a result of the cutback in faculty. "The College will bring in a great deal of money by renting facilities normally occupied by the faculty, as much as $350,000 in the first months." Faculty

By Seymour Hersh
Reprinted from a small-time paper in New York

It has been reliably reported on the campus of Connecticut College that someone, as yet unnamed, has made off with the second semester fund appropriation and advertising revenues for the school paper, Pundit.

When asked whether there was the possibility of the theft being an inside job, Chief of Security O'Grady stated he had no clues, stating, "Their office is such a mess we couldn't tell whether the thief disturbed anything or not."

Nevertheless, Hostility Editor Rick Laffs Shorter is sure it was an inside job. "Nothing else in the office was disturbed, only the housing will be put on the open market, while most of the classroom buildings will be leased to institutions in the area. The Submarine Base in Groton has already requested the use of Cummings Art Center. "Of course we won't make as much money as we would like to with our athletic facilities," explained Mr. Knight, "they're rather obsolete."

The reaction of faculty on campus was mixed. One professor stated, "It is typical of this school to put academics last, but I suppose it's for the good of the College." Many expressed surprise that the "firings," as several faculty have termed the cutback, had not come sooner.

Alexander Manlatta, spokesperson for the faculty stated, "There had been warning signs which most of us on the faculty chose to ignore. First, more than the usual number of files where our business documents were kept. We do not know whether the thief was a board member, a staffer, or an outsider who knows our operations."

Phlegmatic Editor Did I Cry No Sin was found in the office reviewing the damage and considering how the paper would professors did not receive tenure, then there was the earlier trend in many departments of not rehiring professors, and, of course, construction of the new library is going very slowly. We should have realized what was happening when the Bookshop refused to take our book orders for next semester."

The faculty consists of 109 men and 91 women who are responsible for three hundred dependents.

Students at the college were shocked and bewildered by the decision. President of Student Government Richard A. Lichtenstein said he was not now sure whether he would return to Conn. next year. Hundreds of students have besieged the Registrar's office with requests for transcripts to be sent to other schools for transfer purposes. Former Pundit editor Carin M. Gordon suggested that some of

FUNDING SCANDAL: AN

Was theft an inside job or work townie??? Oakes indicted in c survive, "I don't know," she said, "this could be the last blow." Hysteria Editor A Jail, A Menopausal Polio was under sedation in the Infirmary, and unavailable for comment.

S.G.A. President Rick Allen said, "I'm shocked. I never thought Conn College students were capable of this." He also the faculty who had been terminated could be hired by the Registrar's Office to help process transcripts. 1,600 students presently attend the College.

President of the College Oakes M. Ames, who has been at Conn. for less than a year, stated, "These terminations are not to be misconstrued as firings; no one was fired." He said that he did not have all the facts, but he "guessed it'll be a lot different around here without the faculty." He refused to make any further comment.

Wayne R. Swanson, Dean of the Faculty and a professor of Government found himself in a peculiar situation. As a dean and therefore a member of the administration he may remain at Conn; however, his duties would be somewhat lighter than usual. He said, "I think I'll stay in my job and hope that someday the faculty will return."

MOTHER WATERGATE?

...k of a crazed
cover-up

...promised an immediate audit of all Student Organization monies.

Judiciary Board Chairman Leslie Margolin, promised an immediate ad hoc "Grand Jury" to get to the bottom of the matter. "We will begin as soon as we get finished with our in depth investigation of graft in the cooking club.

Former S.G.A. President Richie Lichtenstein was pleased to say, "This is Allen's baby. I'm just going to watch."

This reporter did some digging on his own, however, and came up with some interesting information. For this theft to occur, at least three people had to be involved. One person had to fake the bills, one had to submit the fake bills, and the third would supply an off-campus address and dummy corporation to which all the monies would be sent.

This reporter was only told the Hysteria Editor was under sedation, I did not actually see her. An examination of the food entering the Infirmary showed there was only food for ten people, and eleven were registered in the Infirmary.

The Hostility Editor has recently purchased a new $50,000 Ferrari Boxer, paying in cash, and the Kodak Editor has recently purchased an entire

photo by N.A.A. Cabal

Checking the books or leaving for Jamaica?

Hasselblad system, also with cash.

It is obvious to this reporter that the guilty parties are the three mentioned above, and that the theft was obviously an inside job. The S.G.A. is taking its own sweet time about investigating the theft, which leads one to wonder where the rest of the money is being spent. A further question regarding the possibility of a whitewash and cover-up, is the comment made by President Ames, in which he stated (in too), "I don't feel that I can comment at this time."

B.Y.O.B. BLAST ANTISOCIAL BEHAVIOR? OR DRUG ADDICTION?

Last night at 11:30 p.m. Dr. Mary Hall MD, Director of Student Health Services at Conn College was arrested by the New London police for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants. As she was leaving the college grounds on Monday night her car careened across Williams Street and struck a telephone pole. When the police discovered her she was standing next to her car giggling and mumbling something about Cuervo making the sun rise. When asked to submit to a breathalyzer, Dr. Hall complied and registered a 2.7. In the state of Connecticut, .5 is considered drunk. She was booked at the police station and would have spent the night had Dean Swanson not posted the $5.00 bail. Her trial has been set for April 1, 1976.

Dr. Hall had been attending a party in Park House where she had been drinking since 7:30 p.m. Scott Vokey, president of Park, commented "We told her to slow down. We said it wouldn't look good. She drank like a fish," he continued. "Finally, I guess she got sick and wandered off to the infirmary."

Carol Johnson, night nurse at the infirmary, corroborated Mr. Vokey's statement.

"Yes, Dr. Hall turned up at about 11:00 stinking drunk. She pounded on the door and I went to answer it," Ms. Johnson continued. "When I saw who it was, well I must say, I just couldn't believe it. Dr. Hall pleaded for me to let her in but I couldn't."

When pressed by a tenacious Courier reporter as to what she had really told Dr. Hall that night Ms. Johnson confided, "Well, I just said the infirmary was not equipped to handle drunkenness which, like vandalism and thievery, is merely anti-social behavior and not physical illness. In fact, I found the thought of her throwing up in the infirmary more than anti-social. I looked her in the eye and told her, 'Doc, admissions cannot be accepted in the infirmary except on doctor's orders, for medical problems and for cases which our limited medical facilities are equipped to handle. The myth that any and all anti-social behavior can be excused under the euphemism of 'sickness' must, in the name of common sense, stop. After all, Doc, the infirmary is no flophouse. You said so yourself."

"At this point, Ms. Johnson could barely suppress a giggle. When asked to comment President Ames stated, "The whole affair is not without a certain degree of humor."

When reached by phone Scott Vokey commented, "I had no idea she'd conduct herself like a student. We've already invited her to our next party."

Dr. Hall is now resting at the Seaside Home and is unavailable for comment.

Harris Near death on goodies

"I saw myself eating another piece of Sarah Lee cake and I knew I was dead," Director of Residence Halls Eleanor Vorhees confided to a Pundit reporter last week from her bed in Lawrence Memorial Hospital, where she is recovering from a three month spate of compulsive overeating. Reportedly, before departing for the hospital last week, Ms. Vorhees tipped the scales at "well over 250 pounds."

"This indulgence nearly killed me," Vorhees continued, "and it was affecting my work seriously. I just couldn't stop tasting and nibbling on the goodies in Harris. It became a compulsion and I must say I completely lost touch with reality—I usually never touch the food." Ms. Vorhees claimed that the past months have been "one long migraine for me, and my guinea pig friends in Harris didn't help much." However, with careful adjustment of her eating habits, Ms. Vorhees has "learned to live again." When told that President Ames had sent his best wishes for a speedy recovery, Ms. Vorhees expressed surprise. "Why don't I get a card? Everyone else sent me a card."

NA & THE BREWBOYS

BOYS AND GIRLS, LET US LOOK IN ON A TYPICAL NIGHT AT A TYPICAL COLLEGE

Fine Arts

The Upcoming Conn-dition

Tuesday, April 1st

Harkness Chapel Film Festival: Deep Throat + Behind the Green Door. Admission 50¢ 7:30pm. Chaplain Robb will lead a discussion of the religious overtones of the films following the screening. Coffee + donuts will be served.
 Anthropology Dept. lecture: Visiting Professor Carlos Castenada will lecture on the Yaqui way of knowledge. Bill 10¢. 8pm. Peyote will be served. There will be a small charge at the door to defer the cost of the hallucinogens.

Wednesday

Men's Basketball: Conn College vs. UCLA. 8:30pm. Home. Free beer will be served in the bar following the game which will be broadcast on national T.V.
 Theatre One Presents: Fiddler on the Roof starring Zero Mostel + Sarah Zonino. Directed by Kevin Murray. Palmer Auditorium. 8 pm. Bagels will be served.

Thursday

Concert: The New London Philharmonic Orchestra in conjunction with the Coast Guard Marching Band + the Voices of Freedom Choir will perform Leonard Bernstein's "Mass" 3pm. Cro Main Lounge. Father Paul Ioverde will serve communion following Mr. Bernstein's "Mass."
 Lecture Series: Dean Cobb will lecture on the effects of blotter acid on mice in New Guinea. Bill 10¢. 8pm.

Friday

Coffeehouse: featuring Gregg Allman + Dave Biro. Cro Main Lounge. 9pm. 75¢ Irish coffee will be served.
 Friday Feature Flicks: "Steve Brunetti: His Life + Times" starring Al Pacino. 8pm $1.00 Palmer Auditorium.
 Gymnastics: Conn College gymnasts vs. Chinese National Team. 8pm. Cro Gym.
 All-Campus Party: Harkness. 15 kegs of refreshment + live band. $1.00. 9pm. Siberian Peach Pie might be served!

Saturday

Lecture Series: "Alcohol + Its Abuse" George Willaver, Ass't Prof. English 2pm. College House. This lecture will preempt a meeting of the Faculty Libation Committee. Coffee + Rufus will be served.
 Concert: The Rolling Stones + Roomful of Blues. Admission $8.00, 9.00, 10.00. 9pm. Palmer Auditorium.
 Dance Concert: The U.S. Coast Guard Academy Ballet Society presents "Swan Lake" lambdin Living Rm. 2:00A.M. Admission Free.

Sunday

Slides on Recent Travels: Buzz Aldrin will be at Conn to show slides of his trip to the moon + to discuss job opportunities in other parts of the solar system. Seniors should attend. 1:00pm. Hale 123
 Coffeehouse: Attilio Regolo will regale students with Italian folk music in the bar. Bring your mandolin. Grappa will be served. 9pm.
 Conn College Film Society Presents: The Godfather, Parts I + II. 8pm Dana Hall $1.00

Monday

Ground-breaking for Shain Memorial Stadium. 3:30pm.

J. B. from p.4

Chairman of one of the dormitories on campus had stolen their dorm's dues and had gone to Bermuda for three weeks. The Board has recommended that other dorms' officers try this.

KIDS from p. 4

In an attempt to get little Johnny to bed on time, I told him that Superman and Batman always do what they're told. To which he responded: "So would you if you ran around all day in some faggy leotards drinking milk and avoiding green rocks."

© Edward Julius, 1973 Targum CW73-35

ACROSS

- 1 Lip protrusions
- 6 Summer house
- 12 Trusts
- 14 Requiring immediate action
- 16 Type of voyage
- 17 Quick retort
- 18 Close to
- 19 Stage play
- 21 Ollie's partner
- 22 "Night-gale..."(song)
- 23 Egg-shaped
- 24 Mr. Gershwin
- 25 Movie: Sp.
- 27 Word that describes itself
- 28 Against the
- 30 Entrust with
- 32 Fanatic
- 33 Choice
- 35 Ill
- 38 Bladder stone
- 41 Zodiac sign
- 42 Scheme
- 43 Ooze
- 45 Downing Street
- 46 Siamese
- 47 Baseball term
- 48 Treasury Department agent
- 50 bird
- 52 Reddish-brown bird
- 53 Figure of speech
- 55 Legal term
- 57 Loosely-woven fabric
- 58 Turns from sin
- 59 Literary compositions
- 60 Appraises
- 12 section
- 13 Dickens character
- 15 Lessee
- 20 Pertaining to an uncle
- 26 Follow
- 27 Shade of green
- 28 College subject (abbr.)
- 29 Rajah's wives
- 31 Tennis term (pl.)
- 32 The Jewish Homeland
- 34 camp
- 35 Baby's toy
- 36 Hermit
- 37 Traditional part of Mexican Christmas
- 39 Of the earth
- 40 "me every time"
- 42 Aspects
- 44 Liquid measure(pl.)
- 46 Very small
- 49 Names: Fr.
- 51 French river
- 52 Hone
- 54 Spanish aunt
- 56 Accounting expert

DOWN

- 1 Tranquil
- 2 Seasoning
- 3 The Beehive State
- 4 Number
- 5 Dove into third
- 6 measles
- 7 Like the earth's imaginary line
- 8 Postal code
- 9 Selves
- 10 Brutish
- 11 Canadian Province

(Solution in April 3rd Edition)

True Confessions

Bill the Chef has been appointed head chef at the "21" Club in New York.

Attilio Regolo has been offered the job of head bartender at Trader Vic's.

Mrs. Jo will resign her position as keeper of Cro desk to become Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Michigan.

Ara Parsigian announced that he resigned as head coach of the Notre Dame Football Team to be the coach of the Connecticut College Varsity Football Team. Construction of Shain Stadium will begin upon completion of the new library.

Mrs. Burlingame is not pregnant, Dr. Murphy reported today. She is suffering from nine months obesity.

The Ghost of Windham has been identified as Rosemary Park.

Chief O'Grady has been nominated by President Ford to be the new director of the FBI.

Karl K. Christoffers, ex-editor-in-chief of Pundit, has been named to succeed Arthur Ochs Sulzberger as Editor of the New York Times.

Latest faculty novels tell all ...

"Here's Hoping for Salvation; A Guide to God's Plan for You," by the Rev. David Robb.

"Strange Distemper: A comparative study of the Phlegmatic and Listless in contemporary society," by Dr. Bernard Murstein.

"I Found Life on a Perpendicular Moraine: the Yale University Alpine Expedition, 1972," by Dr. William Niering.

"Over the Hill, or What Happens Once You Get Tenure," by Hamilton J. Smyser.

"Why I Gave Up Government For Golf: A Self-help Lesson in Planned Obsolescence," by Dr. Robert Lorish.

"I Ordered Hamburger at Maxim's, or The Economic Gaucherie of the Very Rich," by Dr. Gerald Visgilio.

"Dinner in Dnepropetrovsk: A Guide to Communist Cuisine," by Dr. Marijan Despalatovic.

"Only Your Primate Knows for Sure: Mental Telepathy in the African Chimpanzee," by Dr. Robert Rhyne.

"Marriage As An Investment: An Intimate Biography of the Bouviers," by Dr. Jewell Plummer Cobb.

"Big Daddy Amin Wished Me a Speedy Recovery: Personal Reminiscences of Three Months in the Kampala Hilton," by Dr. Marion Doro.

Quiz Time

Find Out The Truth About Yourself

by Pam Aliapoulos

Ed. Note: If you find the color of your nose to already be a glorious shade of burnt sienna, you need not answer these questions.

MULTIPLE CHOICE:

1. You have invited your professor to dinner, lunch and/or dorm cocktail parties on the average of: A) 1-3 per semester B) 3-6 C) 6-10 D) Over 25
2. You send your professor Birthday, Christmas, Hanukkah, and or Valentine's Day Cards: A) Every holiday B) Occasionally C) Seldom D) Never
3. You call your professor by his-her first name: A) Always B) Only out of class C) Only in class D) You don't know his-her name
4. You bullshit in class, monopolize class discussions, and quote the New York Times: A) Every Class B) Every other class C) Once in a while D) You never go to class
5. You have resorted to prostitution to get an "A": A) Never B) Twice C) Once D) Frequently
6. You have offered to spy on other members of the class for violations of the Honor Code for your professor: A) During Mid-Terms B) During Papers C) During Finals D) All of the above
7. You have brought Milkbones for your professor's dog: A) Every Class B) Occasionally C) You hate dogs D) Never
8. You memorize the quote of the day: A) Every Day B)

Sometimes C) Never D) You read the National Star

9. You have gone to the Dutch, the Bar, Lamperelli's, and-or the Corral with your professor: A) 1-3 times B) 3-6 C) 6-10 D) Every Night

10. You have groaned when the professor has let class out early: A) Never B) Always C) Occasionally D) You don't go to class

TRUE AND FALSE:

- 1) Does your hand throb from keeping it in the air for so long?
- 2) Do you bring a quadrophonic tape recorder to class to capture each and every meaningful word?
- 3) Do you look up obscure words and use them in class?
- 4) Do you not skip class even for religious reasons?
- 5) Do you guffaw, slap your knee, and do tears come rolling down your face at every sick joke your professor cracks?

6) Do you get crank phone calls late at night and find it necessary to hire body guards to protect yourself from irate classmates?

7) Do you do all the reserve, suggested, recommended, and strongly advised reading?

8) Every time you ask a question, does everyone in the class clear their throat, drop's their pencil, turn's off their hearing aid, and roll their eyes?

9) Do you disagree with other kids in your class to bolster the professor's opinions?

10) Do you sit in the front row and nod your approval at whatever the professor says?

SCORE:

To determine your score, assign the proper amount of points given to each answer in both sections, add them up, and find the proper category in which you fit as a brown noser.

Multiple Choice:

1. A) 0 B) 3 C) 8 D) 10
2. A) 10 B) 8 C) 3 D) 0
3. A) 10 B) 8 C) 8 D) 0
4. A) 10 B) 8 C) 3 D) 0
5. A) 0 B) 10 C) 10 D) 10
7. A) 10 B) 8 C) 0 D) 0
8. A) 10 B) 8 C) 0 D) 10
9. A) 0 B) 3 C) 8 D) 3
10. A) 0 B) 10 C) 8 D) 3

True and False:

Assign yourself 10 points for every true response and 0 points for every false response.

If you have scored between 100-2000 points:

There is no hope. We bet you started out your illustrious brown nosing career by bringing apples to your elementary school teachers, rising to lieutenant hall monitor in jr. high, and culminating your career in high school by turning in fellow compatriots for smoking in the lavatories. We strongly recommend you clean up your act and your nose.

If you have scored between 50-100 points:

You are offensive, abrasive, patronizing, and generally disagreeable, but fear not, you can be cured. We advise you to seek professional help and read the latest book on the disease "Confessions of a Sepia Snoot."

If you have scored between 5-50 points:

Watch It! You could be a latent brown-noser. The disease could be festering somewhere in your subconscious just waiting to manifest itself at any point. Make a conscious effort to curb yourself immediately.

If you have scored between 0-5 points:

There is no reason to give it a second thought. We offer you one thing to consider however, are you for real?

Revealed to be Marlboro Warehouse

Law School is Phony

In this age of investigative reporting, I felt it quite amiss that Conn College's Courier had not published any article which uncovered a major scandal. However, I devoted my Christmas and March vacations uncovering a plot so demoralizing that it makes Watergate appear a third-rate burglary.

I have found that Harvard Law School is simply a front for one of the most incredible swindles in United States history. As a matter of fact, the school doesn't even exist. Oh, sure, it used to but the Board of Harvard decided that it was too expensive to operate and quietly graduated the last class sometime in the late Sixties. Since that time, Harvard Law School has merely been a source of fund raising for the University. Thousands of applications are accepted each year, but now think, how many people do you know who are actually accepted? I'll wager no one!

There are a few interesting twists to the story. A group of the less promising applicants are accepted each year and paid off to live in Cambridge (they hold outside jobs) and say that they attend HLS. However, one of these people, whom I will call Deep Adenoids, informed me of the diabolical plot against thousands of college seniors.

I have supplied a transcript of my interview with Deep Adenoids below.

KR. How does this racket work?

DA. Each year, college seniors are asked to mail twenty dollars to an address in Cambridge. They also fill out an application which has been laying around for twenty years. These are recycled and the HLS gets the profit. The expenses that are incurred are few. The major one is the maintaining a large empty building in Boston which is called the library. However, no one is allowed inside without the proper credentials.

KR. The Harvard Law Library is empty?

DA. No, actually it is a warehouse for cartons of stolen cigarettes.

KR. But what about the Harvard Law Review?

DA. People submit articles. Some of them are alumni and doubt any of them know what is going on.

KR. How doe one know what is going on?

DA. I can't tell but let's say it goes way up.

KR. Past the Dean of the school?

DA. At least to the janitor in the Psychology lab.

So, Courier readers, there it is. A real explanation to why on one gets into Harvard Law School. The suggestion was made that the whole thing is a project of a Harvard Psychology PhD candidate who wants to study the rejection syndrome in college seniors. This may be so, but in any event, one now knows why Harvard has lots of money even in this time of financial difficulty. One can only hope that Yale doesn't decide to get competitive.

Richie Still Riegn!

In 1972, he was elected President of his Sophomore class. In 1973, he was elected Vice President and Treasurer of Student Government. Finally, in 1974 he attained the premier position as President of his student body. Last week, at a ceremony unprecedented in the annals of Connecticut College history, former SGA chief Richard Lichtenstein was stuffed, plucked, pickled and brown-bagged and his effigy placed in the Student Government room for what his successor Richard Allen terms "safekeeping." "Mr. Lichtenstein is in great demand elsewhere, but we want to keep him for ourselves."

Mr. Allen revealed that only a small crowd of the most interesting and articulate people were invited to attend the embalming. "The former chief chose the guests himself. Needless to say it was the smallest turnout in SGA history." Allen described the procedures used in dispatching his predecessor. "Richie was injected with phlegmatic fluid and his mouth did the rest. Only a thin band of gauze now separates our chief from the bagaries of the outside world."

When asked whether Mr.

Lichtenstein had any final remarks before embarking on the journey which would make him completely useful, Allen said he was "remarkably quiescent." "He did make a pitch for the college's energy campaign, and told us to make sure the Student Government was kept very cool and dry." Chortled Allen, "he's always been afraid of a premature fragmentation." Allen also said that Lichtenstein alluded to his campaign promise of '74 to "get the cafeteria lines in Harris moving again." According to Allen, Lichtenstein stressed the "real progress" made in the last year reducing the Harris wait on weekends from twenty years to something less than a decade.

"We plan to keep in touch," said Allen. "Richie will ascend straight to heaven and he promises to communicate with us in not one but two languages—and we'll all get so much more of that fantastic doubletalk we all feed on." Says Leslie Margolin, "Richie will help us keep the committee system going strong. We'll set up a committee for most everything. Richie will be right here, and now that we know what conclusions he wants our committees to come to, we can come to them and that will be that."

THINGS KIDS SAY

Recently, my six year old liberated daughter approached my neighbor's little boy and asked if she could play with his trucks. He replied: "How'd you like me to rearrange your face with my steam shovel."

Mildred Bestertester, Beef Sagonoff, Mich.

Recently, little Anne announced that they were having sex educational classes in her fourth grade. Naturally, I was shocked, but I tried to remain calm, "What ..., well, do you LIKE the class, Anne?" She replied: "Naw, I think the whole thing is a commie plot to corrupt our morals so they can take over." Krus Jeff U.N. Noshue, Plot 74, Dirtsville

continued on page six

Would you care if . . .

1. They turned Lambdin into the Majority Cultural Center?
2. Dino Michaels left New London?
3. Rufus had puppies? And we thought ...
4. The Film Society were honest?
5. The infirmary offered vasectomies?
6. Andy Hemingway were really related?
7. Dean Cobb resigned her post to sing with Martha Reeves and the Vandellas?
8. Dana Sohacki really went on the wagon?
9. Ms. Voorhees were admitted to Lawrence and Memorial Hospital from acute malnutrition?
10. Connecticut College had been originally called Connecticut College for Men, would people keep asking "You mean U-Conn?"

Your prayers are asked

For my Husband, ... that he will stop watching Mannix and return the children.

I.M. Oddly
Lansing, Nebraska

For my cat, ... to stop being finicky and start eating the lifetime supply of Tender Vittles I won on the Diamond Head game.

Eye Ball Earnestly
Battle Creek, Brazil

For my boyfriend Eddie, ... that he will stop drinking long enough to cash in the empties so I can get a life-time subscription to The National Star.

Billy Jean Queen,
Provincetown, Mass.

For my husband, ... that he will stop drinking Ovaltine long enough for me to wash his Captain Kangaroo roly-poly mug.

The Gestapo,
San Clemency, Calif.

CAMELS
SOLD
TO ARABS

Sports

SPORTS COMPLEX TO REPLACE
FANNING

Rejected by NCAA

CAMELS STUNNED Brunetti may not renew contract

It was revealed by a spokesman of the men's basketball team that they are extremely disappointed because the NCAA Tourney officials overlooked them for post-season tournament action. It seems that the Camels, sporting a 11-6 record, had been entertaining hopes towards the season's close of catching an independent NCAA New England Regional berth.

The coach, in a telephone interview, was philosophical about the letdown, stating that he didn't really expect such an honor in his first year at Conn and was glad that the team was young and would have another chance at it next year. When pressed about why they didn't concentrate their hopes on the NIT, which might have been more feasible, he stated that the team wanted to go for all the apples by reaching the NCAA tournament action. The team voted to turn down an NIT invitation feeling they could not accept the loser status that the NIT has come to represent.

Some basketball pundits feel that the school was and will continue to be hurt by the "jock" school attitude that prejudices officials against a former women's school because they fear they will not be a box office draw. An incident that occurred shortly after the tourney selections were announced lends some credence to this viewpoint. A tournament official, questioned on Conn's conspicuous absence, refused to consider the question seriously. When pressed further in the matter he condescendingly asked if the reporter was referring to "that girl's school."

The players also expressed their disappointment in not being cited for a tourney spot. In their first reaction of bitterness they had contemplated protesting the regional competition but decided against it feeling it would only serve to alienate people and further hurt their cause.

Their disappointment and bitterness is giving way to excitement at the prospect of a tournament to be held here at Conn beginning next year. They hope the tournament will serve as a stepping stone to national tournament play. They also hope it will develop into a rival of the NIT while gaining a prestigious, national reputation.

The slap in the face administered to Conn by the existing hierarchy of tourney officials just may be a "blessing in disguise" to borrow the old cliché. Perhaps that was what is needed to bring big time college athletics to our serene little campus, causing the institution of the Whaling Invitational Tournament to be known popularly as "WIT."

Captain of the Larrabee Arson squad in first quarter

photo by N.A. Cabal

Sportlight Spotlight

BY Biff Barf

The Larrabee Flames are Blazing Along

The Larrabee arson team is riding high on their continuing hot streak this semester. Their record now stands at 3-0. The only problem arising to cloud their bright success this year is the concern some third floor residents have for their safety should a match get out of hand. The team, however, is elated by their success and are fired up at the prospect of their next match.

Be Sure You Play Frisbee with a Friend!

An unidentified coed was rushed to the emergency room of Lawrence Memorial Hospital yesterday after suffering a severe fracture of her right hand in a pickup game of frisbee. Witnesses to the accident say she was asked to play frisbee by an unknown person (presumably a townie). When she agreed, this person threw her the frisbee and her hand was injured when she attempted to catch it. An examination of the offending frisbee explained the mystery. The underside of the frisbee was completely filled in with lead!

New Soccer Coach?

Rumors that Pelle has been hired to coach the Conn College soccer team next fall have still not been confirmed or denied. The only comment the administration would make on the matter was "no comment."

Muhammed Ali

vs.

Dave Merves

Lyman Allen

parking lot

April 31

Ahab Robillard still searching for Moby Dick

Whale of a team blows hard

"Thar she blows!" With that cry, the Conn College whaling team, the Spouter, launch their first varsity season this spring. Though many of the team members are newly acquainted with the sport, a fairly good showing is expected, since they are competing in the sub-Arctic (neophyte) League. Captain of the coed team, Anne "Arab" Robillard, commented, "I think we've had successful workouts, considering none of the crew has had previous experience, either in high school or elsewhere."

A major setback for the team is the fact that the Thames River is an unsuitable practice area. Also, they must sail out to the ocean for several days at a time during a meet. Despite these obstacles, the team is gung-ho. States chief harpoonist Herman Melville, "We have a lot of enthusiasm and enough skill to give the other teams a run for their money."

The team, which consists of six rower-harpoonists, has its first meet April 11 against the Bowheads of Boston College. Their next meet is April 24 when the URI Blue Whales come to port.

Conn students are urged to support the team and help bring back the sport that put New London on the map.

Tiddley Tourny

Linked To Harris

TEA-cup Scandal

Conn's sports program reached a high point in competition over spring break which should help offset any disappointment over the basketball incident (see other article on this page). The intercollegiate, coed tiddleywinks team, led by player coach Sheryl Yeary, fought its way to the finals of the regional competition where they bowed to Manhattan College (always a powerhouse in the circuit). It was a tight, fiercely contested game. This tense atmosphere of the finals was in marked contrast to the other contests in which Conn was engaged, which, while having a high level of concentration, sported a much more relaxed and congenial atmosphere.

Coach Yeary expressed both surprise and delight at the team's success. She feels that while knowing the team was a winner, attaining such heights in only their third season of intercollegiate competition was certainly beyond all expectations.

The team is led by two experienced captains — gauchy "Flipper" Feldstein and Donald Directional. They believe that their success is due not only to a combination of dedication to the game and their talent but also because they emphasize the game as a pure art form rather than developing a killer instinct or an all out desire to win. The lack of a killer instinct is what some commentators think hurt

Conn in the finals.

Coach Yeary believes that she speaks for the entire team when she says that they appreciate administrative support, experiencing no difficulty in obtaining an equipment and travel allowance. The only disappointing side to an otherwise successful tiddleywinks season is a lack of interest and support by the student body. Hopefully this season's success will increase both the number of students desiring to compete in this great American game and the number of student fans.