Staff Designates Free Speech Column for Student Opinions

The fact that this was a year in which a "Free" came out top of the class because there were no "A's." "Free" is quite a good grade for Freshmen, and should encourage them to work hard for an "A" next time. Your typical description of a performance whose brilliance left the audience awestruck, in the skills of its performers: "almost as uniform as to the highest award." That the judgment had no difficulty in judging which was the best of the two is a very unimpressive display. The whole thing was better done but was not the best of the year.

Students Dislike Negro Segregation In College Policy

College students overwhelmingly disapprove of policies which discriminate against Negroes, according to the Associated Collegiate Press National Opinion Poll. Dear Editor:

I was astonished to read your report of the views "dis- closed" and "agreed by the judgments of the Compt. Play. In- cluding the Negroes over- look the "best play in the last few years." Since both of the Negro players were newcomers, it is at once obvi- ous that you were not reporting an agreed view and may have few principles, but avoid- ance of self-exposure is surely one of them.

Even assuming that "plays" is the above quotation means "pro- ductions," the statement is not borne out by comments I have observed. I am not aware of persons who saw the productions of recent years. The general opinion seems to be that this year's crop was below average. Indeed, more than one person has told me that in 1953 this was the best year, and that the present one was not. The best of the year.

4 UN Weekend Panels End in Deadlocks, Some Solutions

On the weekend of March 14, during the United Nations Conference held here, the United Nations in Action panel, the general heading of discussions, was not successful.

A summary of round table one, the United Nations Appraisal, brought out the fact that the UN as an international organization has historical background. An approach to peace can be international or national. In order for the UN to be an instrument of international policy and in order for it to establish the trust among nations without which it cannot function, the UN must enlighten the peoples of the world and show them the gains which it makes possible.

The UN in alleviating war can take three alternative courses—negotiation, discussion, or arms. In Greece, some progress has been made, but the situation there is unsure. The panel reached no decision regarding Korea.

Positive accomplishments, however, have been made in the fields of world health, education, and social progress.

Panel two discussed domestic jurisdiction versus international action and pointed out the fact that the UN, in working the problem of Morocco and Tunisia, is not authorized to take action directly, since these are domestic problems. The UN, in the field of colonial independence, tries to use such independence negotiated.

Technical assistance was discussed.

Berklie Speech Opens Weekend Conference on UN in Action

United Nations Weekend opened Saturday night with a speech delivered by Adolph Berle in the Auditorium. Mr. Berle spoke on the United States in the UN, a topic which was the theme of the week-berriors. Prior to his talk, Dean Bardick welcomed delegates to the college.

The event was opened by Patricia Tussell '56, Mr. Berle began his lecture by reviewing the principal objectives to UN policies. He said that most opposition comes from those who consider the non-statutory action of the UN impracticable and largely a matter of "moon-shot idealism," and maintaining United States interests and the cause of peace through the UN is not facthe problem realistically. Mr. Berle then went to prove the UN is the only possible instrument of peace in the world today.

Alternative methods of obtaining peace outside the UN or a similar organization are, according to Mr. Berle, neither workable nor adequate. If the choice to in-

Choir Says Thanks To Mr. Bartholomew
Members of the Connecticut College Choir would like to extend their thanks to the members of the Yale Glee Club, for their wonderful hospitality during the weekend of March 14. They would also like Mr. Bartholomew to know that they enjoyed working with him. They are proud, as Mr. Quimby told him, to share with “Barty” his last performance before his retirement from his position of director of the Yale Glee Club.

A sophomore at Gustavus Adolphus College, Minn., comments, “The sooner we realize Negroes are human and will act human if treated in such a way, the better it will be for all.”

A male education student at Southeastern Missouri State Teachers College thinks, “mixing” would be “uncomfortable for both white and colored races.” But he adds, “I don’t mean Mexican and other dark races.”

The two per cent who duck the question by choosing “other,” usually say the decision is up to the board of trustees.
