Botony Department Opens Flower Show at 11 a.m. Saturday

Greenhouse to Reveal Natural Life Display of Woodland Spring by Jean Rodie

To the woods, to the woods! No, no, not the woods— the greenhouse, where the Botony Department is bringing to you a bit of nature's beauty. You will see a feature of the twenty-first Annual Flower Display, exotic Woodland Spring, will be set up in the west wing of the greenhouse and will include all the species of plant life which one would think of as native to this area of the state.

Freshman Exhibits

In the Botany Display will be displayed all the exhibits which will be prepared by the professors and students of the Botany Department. They will be distributed in the Botany exhibit, where will be displayed a number of plants, and a number of seedlings, including additional species of the Botany Department.

Special Exhibits

Doris Deming '35 has arranged an exhibit of flowers, and Miss Wheeler has been working on an exhibit of butterflies. The exhibit will include a number of species of flowers, and a number of seedlings, including additional species of the Botany Department.

The laboratories in New London will also have a number of exhibits. The exhibits will include a number of species of flowers, and a number of seedlings, including additional species of the Botany Department.

Wig and Candle Group Gives Shaw's Too True to Be Good

Wig and Candle's spring play, George Bernard Shaw's Too True to Be Good, which will be given at 8:00 p.m. on Friday, April 23 and again at 3:30 p.m. on Saturday, April 24, is one of the best of both old and new members of the Wig and Candle Production Board.

Probation: Such students may participate in one sport per season. They may participate in one club which does not carry extra-curricular points, or they may participate in the Choir.

Below Point cumulative and for the previous semester: Such upperclassmen may participate in one sport per season. They may participate in all club activities which do not carry extra-curricular points, or they may participate in the Choir.

New York's Rabbi Mark Schwartz to Speak to Sunday Vespers Service

The speaker at the vespers service Sunday will be Rabbi Julius Mark of Congregation Emanu-El in New York City. He is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati and the University of Chicago, and he received his rabbinical degree from Hebrew Union College. He is chairman of the board of trustees of the Hebrew Union College, and he is the director of the Student-Alumni Building Fund. He is to be received at the Hebrew Union College, which also conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity. Dr. Mark is visiting professor of homiletics and practical theology in New York City. He is the author of several books, and he is a member of the Student-Alumni Building Fund.

3 Critics to Judge Concert Sport Fest

For the first time, the judges for the Concert Sport Fest will not be from College faculty. This group drawn from the faculty of the College, was to ensure that all three would be professional musicians. Mark A. A. McKeron, Associate Professor of Music at Connecticut College, will represent the Music Department. Professor Piep of the Department of Music of Wesleyan College will also serve. He is to be remembered as the Director of the College of the Performing Arts in its rendition of selected works of music. The three judges are: William J. McCready, director of Choral Activities in New York School High School, will represent the Music Department. He is also the organist and Choral Director of St. Mary's Church in New York City.

A change has been made in the schedule of the event. The judges were announced a week ago. Only the first two winners were to be announced, but as a concession to some of the students all four places will be announced.
CC Graduate of '42 Shows Humor of After-College Life
by Elaine Manasevit

What happens to that field, culturally minded, Ivy League girl who was a Dorm Mom before she is no longer a part of the CC community? And why not? The morose interpretation of the answer may be found in the small book entitled Connie After College. Connie is the brain child of Barbara Brengle Wisch '42, who during her student days at CC chewed the cud of the real college girl, and named her Connie. There was a weekly feature in CC News, and those members of the student body came to accept Connie as part of the atmosphere at school. Connie Geta Married In the present edition of the book, however, Connie is no longer the scatter-brained heir, but has matured, married, and become the devoted and adored "mama" of three little ones. In the words of the writer: "Connie, the college girl of the '40's, is now a wife and mother." Barbara combined humorous cartoon style with sentimental captions and verse up to an amusing resume of the qualities and philosophies of the lovable Connie.

The purpose of Connie After College is related to the campaign of the Alumnae Association to raise money for the Student Alumnae Building Center. Beginning in 1952-53 and continuing through 1955-56, the Alumnae Association will contribute its annual gift to the College to be used in the construction of the Student Alumnae Center. As a part of the third-year campaign for the new building, the Alumnae Association featured the "Earn Your Gift" Project. The purpose of this activity is to encourage members to contribute more generously to the Alumnae's effort to blanket their gifts.

Barbara suddenly found herself in need of an "Earn Your Gift" project, removed Connie from mothballs and worked to develop the book of 33 cartoons. Barbara, along with two other alumnae, set out to have Connie earn some money for their project. Roger L. Bapst, who was in charge of publication, wrote the captions. Helen Henderson, who was in charge of merchandising, supervised sales during the two-weeks Connie's efforts to earn. During her 30-day stay on campus, Connie became the brilliant, courageous, and dedicated star of the show. In the role of Medea, Connie was especially effective, and in reinforcing the drama.

The entire cast of Medea were particularly successful this complicated play. For the part of Jason, Connie was especially effective in the role of Medea. The lighting was very effective, especially at the end in carrying the forceful tone of the piece.

Presentation of Organ Music Praised for Interpretation

by Louise Dickmann

Last Thursday evening at Harkness Chapel, Mr. Quimby presented a program of baroque and modern organ music. Mr. Quimby opened the program with four selections from Giovanni P. Fux's Messa della Madon. The most effective selection was the Ricercare in which the composer has directed that the fifth part be sung by Mr. Quimby. The fifth part and playing at the same time produced the effect of an almost simplicity which is one of the characteristics of early baroque music.

Another group of selections were three Holy Week chorale preludes by J. S. Bach. The chorale, O Mensch, kehren dein Fun- degnoss, (O Man, bewail thy grievous sin) was one of the highlights of this organ recital. Mr. Quimby's fine registration and interpretation of this chorale created the sad and sorrowful mood which Bach so artfully evoked into the setting of this Holy Week chorale prelude.

In contrast to the music of Frescobaldi and Bach, the next piece was a Prelude and Fugue on a Theme of Vittoria by Benjamin Britten (1946). The registration and interpretation of this chorale was very well brought by Mr. Quimby. The programme had such a fine job in creating the mood of the words of The Garden Hymn by his good technique and registration.

The program was closed by Quinsey Porter's Toccata, Andante, and Finale. The contrast between the soft flowing melodies of the Andante and the striking syncopation in the Finale was very well brought by Mr. Quimby.

The Music Club presented this fine program of organ music which was certainly played and interpreted with great musical feeling by Mr. Quimby.

The next modern organ piece was Fantasia on Organ on The Garden Hymn by Arthur Shep- herd, Mr. Shepherd, who was a colleague of Mr. Quimby in Cleveland, dedicated this composition to him. The Palestinian Socie- ty and some members of the Choir joined Mr. Quimby in present- ing the Fantasia. Near the end of the composition the sing- ers entered and binned the organ to bring the Fantasia to a majes- tic and powerful ending. This Fantasia is certainly a moving piece and Mr. Quimby did an excellent job in creating the mood of the words of The Garden Hymn by his good technique and registration.

Psych Majors to Give Papers
Senior psychology majors and faculty members will attend an undergraduate psychology conference at Mt. Holyoke on Saturday, April 24.

Among the papers to be presented at the conference will be two written by majors from CC and Dot Libner, and the second, a much shorter time. "For the most part," says one student, "they think we should know as much as they do in a much shorter time."

"Teachers fail to realize that they have been teaching the same subject for a number of years," says one student. "Students are not interested in learning just for the sake of knowing something. Everything must have a practical application."

Among the girls who will appear in the Chain are Archie, Claire Levine, Bye Bush, Gette Johnson, Claire Levine, Hazel Whitman, Martha Marley, Barbara Minger, Cathy Meyers, and Do Palmer are also included in this Laurel Chain. Others who were named to appear in the Chain are Jeannine Rice, Josephine Bigsby, Dottie Rugg, Connie Schive, Shirley Smith, Frances Spero, and June Talbot, Bev Tasko, Joan Walsh, Connie Weyant, and Jan Goss, Jane Gross, Henrietta Child, Carolyn Diefendorf, Frances Steane, and Tricia. They are Alicia Allen, Tabby Ann, Connie Schive, Shirley Smith, Celie Gray, Debbie Gutman, and Closie Root, Bottie Rug, members of the sophomore class:
