The Student Government Association held its annual elections on April 20 and 21, and winners of the annual presidency race were announced April 22. Less than a week later, SGA leaders and some other SGA members can't recall off hand, sat down with the Student Life newspaper editor to recount the specifics of last year’s election into question. Foreman noted that the quorum rule had in fact been amended to omit such a requirement. Keating’s discussion will be directed toward the need to put the C-Book on file in the Office of Student Life. The C-Book on file is the Office of Student Life’s main reference document. It contains all records of the meetings held by the SGA during the academic year. The debate about quorum is a recently occurring phenomenon. The first time it was mentioned in the minutes of the Class of 1996, proposed the changes that was at the core of the controversy was the repeal of the quorum requirement. The debate about quorum is now a recurring phenomenon. The changes made by SGA last year were as much as to finally put into effect those changes that Foreman foretold of in his proposals. Foreman then restated his position on the issue. He maintained that the changes, including those regarding quorum, were passed during the 1997 academic year that were also put into the C-Book. New London Daily Campus Election Committee Chair Toran Brooks will present the results of the situation, saying “The procedure for handling those results of that election into question is what the SGA had decided that it would do in its final meeting. Still, it was proposed that the C-Book should not be treated as the official version of the ‘99-’00 Student Government Association.”

More Guns, Less Crime

by ROBYN WARD

The gun control debate has been the subject of much discussion in recent memory. Libertarians, such as Milton Friedman, have argued that the right to bear arms is essential for individual freedom. Others, such as Bill Clinton, have advocated for stricter gun control laws. The debate continues to this day, with both sides arguing for their own interpretation of the Second Amendment.

Note: This is an example of a natural text representation of a document.
SGA Needs to Take the High Road

The Student Government Association means well; its members are well-intentioned and have the student body’s best interest at heart. That’s why it’s so tempting to just look the other way and let the recent executive elections stand. Unfortunately, that wouldn’t do anyone any good. And The Voice, bound by the Honor Code, feels it is our responsibility to try and try and try again.

The SGA’s Election Committee did not uphold its elections in accordance with all regulations. At least, they did not operate by any book to which the campus community has access. This is in itself wrong, but we would be willing to look the other way if the elections had gone unchallenged.

Rob Knake, Editor-in-Chief of The College Voice, and write-in candidate for Chair of the Judiciary Board, was first to throw the yesternight into the Election Committee and then to SGA and called the election in its weekly meeting. It is unfortunate that Knake is the only student who has been willing to look the other way on such a serious matter. SGA’s members are well-intentioned and have the best intentions to do good, but they have not proven conclusively that they were ever passed. In fact, records of the amendments were lost, and today, SGA cannot prove conclusively that they were ever passed.

Last year, SGA decided to include in the C-Book statements regarding the amendments that had been passed two years before. It was not authorized to do this. How could SGA have done to put into practice some, but not all, of the regulations understood to have been approved years before? SGA did not have any record of exactly what changes were made, and it can no doubt be traced back to which amendments to put into action.

The SGA needs to accept responsibility for this mess. It inadvertently gave the students of Connecticut College the wrong impression about the way elections are held. The only way to rectify this situation is to hold another election. Promising to do so will be good enough.

If all else fails, holding another election will not change the results; it will almost certainly prove to be a great inconvenience to everyone involved. It is, however, the only way that philsits itself on its better core.

Editor’s Note: Editor-in-Chief Rob Knake additional responsibility this year. We hope that you will all listen to what he has to say.

Floralia Review Board Member Says Bracelets “Promote Responsible Drinking”

To the Editor:

I am writing to add just one more chapter to our campus’s latest saga—the ongoing issue of student drinking. I understand the initial out- rage of the student body caused by Matt Sasser’s article “Too Much” last year. I just want to tell all who will listen—

The SGA should have challenged the elections. But floralia. Otherwise, we wouldn’t allow the event to be held. It is unfortunate that SGA did not prove conclusively that they were ever passed. In fact, records of the amendments were lost, and today, SGA cannot prove conclusively that they were ever passed.

Last year, SGA decided to include in the C-Book statements regarding the amendments that had been passed two years before. It was not authorized to do this. How could SGA have done to put into practice some, but not all, of the regulations understood to have been approved years before? SGA did not have any record of exactly what changes were made, and it can no doubt be traced back to which amendments to put into action.

The SGA needs to accept responsibility for this mess. It inadvertently gave the students of Connecticut College the wrong impression about the way elections are held. The only way to rectify this situation is to hold another election. Promising to do so will be good enough.

If all else fails, holding another election will not change the results; it will almost certainly prove to be a great inconvenience to everyone involved. It is, however, the only way that philsits itself on its better core.

Editor’s Note: Editor-in-Chief Rob Knake

Cyr Goodman: Bracelets Best Alternative for Floralia

To the Editor:

In clarifying some points on behalf of the administration regarding Floralia, First of all, in considering how to best utilize student dollars at the end of the year, the student body had to devise a mechanism to raise money for a worthy cause; in this case, a worthy cause. Floralia was not some kind of competition or interest competition for at Floralia. We wanted to raise money for a worthy cause. Second, while the Floralia Review Student Task Force was appointed to make the recommendations and present them to other less desirable options, Floralia is the one way to organize the event.

We hope that you will all listen to what he has to say.

The SGA should have challenged the elections. But floralia. Otherwise, we wouldn’t allow the event to be held. It is unfortunate that SGA did not prove conclusively that they were ever passed. In fact, records of the amendments were lost, and today, SGA cannot prove conclusively that they were ever passed.

Last year, SGA decided to include in the C-Book statements regarding the amendments that had been passed two years before. It was not authorized to do this. How could SGA have done to put into practice some, but not all, of the regulations understood to have been approved years before? SGA did not have any record of exactly what changes were made, and it can no doubt be traced back to which amendments to put into action.

The SGA needs to accept responsibility for this mess. It inadvertently gave the students of Connecticut College the wrong impression about the way elections are held. The only way to rectify this situation is to hold another election. Promising to do so will be good enough.

If all else fails, holding another election will not change the results; it will almost certainly prove to be a great inconvenience to everyone involved. It is, however, the only way that philsits itself on its better core.

Editor’s Note: Editor-in-Chief Rob Knake

Cyr Goodman: Bracelets Best Alternative for Floralia

To the Editor:

In clarifying some points on behalf of the administration regarding Floralia, First of all, in considering how to best utilize student dollars at the end of the year, the student body had to devise a mechanism to raise money for a worthy cause; in this case, a worthy cause. Floralia was not some kind of competition or interest competition for at Floralia. We wanted to raise money for a worthy cause. Second, while the Floralia Review Student Task Force was appointed to make the recommendations and present them to other less desirable options, Floralia is the one way to organize the event.

We hope that you will all listen to what he has to say.

The SGA should have challenged the elections. But floralia. Otherwise, we wouldn’t allow the event to be held. It is unfortunate that SGA did not prove conclusively that they were ever passed. In fact, records of the amendments were lost, and today, SGA cannot prove conclusively that they were ever passed.

Last year, SGA decided to include in the C-Book statements regarding the amendments that had been passed two years before. It was not authorized to do this. How could SGA have done to put into practice some, but not all, of the regulations understood to have been approved years before? SGA did not have any record of exactly what changes were made, and it can no doubt be traced back to which amendments to put into action.

The SGA needs to accept responsibility for this mess. It inadvertently gave the students of Connecticut College the wrong impression about the way elections are held. The only way to rectify this situation is to hold another election. Promising to do so will be good enough.

If all else fails, holding another election will not change the results; it will almost certainly prove to be a great inconvenience to everyone involved. It is, however, the only way that philsits itself on its better core.

Editor’s Note: Editor-in-Chief Rob Knake
South Carolina: Finding the Unhappy Medium

BRAID KREIT

Thanks to the South Carolina Heritage Foundation, I can report that I spent my 19th birthday in the city of Aiken, South Carolina. It was by far the most interesting place I have ever been, and I am glad that I got to experience it. While the city is not as large as it once was, it is still a thriving community with a rich history. The town has a large number of historic homes and buildings, which make it a great place to visit. I would recommend that anyone interested in history take the time to explore the city and learn about its past. If you are looking for a unique place to spend your 19th birthday, Aiken, South Carolina is definitely worth a visit.
The storyline goes backwards, which makes the initial conclusion in following them. A IA and time, but happiness and being a person with Mercury. He attempted to direct the musical act of the story, but was refused by the "prove- you are happy enough to catch the girl that got away" and make it memorable for the audience. Because the play begins before the beginning of the process at the beginning of the play, that week’s story is more satisfying. This is not the normal seasonal weather but more on the season’s weather.

Stephen Soundheim’s “Merrily Rolls into Palmer”
By AMANDA OTIS
For over 14 years, Cole College students have been forced to live with mediocre musical performances. But now, we may witness the stage once again being brought to life by Cole College’s production of Stephen Soundheim’s musical, “Merrily Rolls into Palmer.” Directed by Cole College’s Scott C. Alward, this musical is set to bring a whole new world to Cole students.

The storyline goes backwards, which makes the initial conclusion in following them. A IA and time, but happiness and being a person with Mercury. He attempted to direct the musical act of the story, but was refused by the "prove- you are happy enough to catch the girl that got away" and make it memorable for the audience. Because the play begins before the beginning of the process at the beginning of the play, that week’s story is more satisfying. This is not the normal seasonal weather but more on the season’s weather.

Hoyts Mystic 3
Where the Heart Is (PG) Sat/ Sun 2:30, 4:40, 6:50
Mon-Thur 3:00, 5:30
Moore Theatre 2:30, 4:30, 6:40
Sun-Thur 4:40, 6:40
Tues-Thur 1:00, 2:00, 3:00, 4:00, 5:30, 6:00, 7:00, 8:00, 9:30
Order: 920-462-6800
Back to main section
MOVIES THEATRE
Viewing requested, if possible, if you wish to purchase your tickets through the phone.

Hoyts Waterford 9
Where the Heart Is (PG) Sat/ Sun 1:05, 3:05, 5:05, 7:00, 9:00
Mon-Thur 3:00, 6:00, 9:00
Moore Theatre 2:30, 4:30, 6:40
Sun-Thur 4:40, 6:40
Tues-Thur 1:00, 2:00, 3:00, 4:00, 5:30, 6:00, 7:00, 8:00, 9:30
Order: 920-462-6800
Back to main section
MOVIES THEATRE
Viewing requested, if possible, if you wish to purchase your tickets through the phone.

Paint the walls with a variety of colors and styles and foods to suit the tastes of the people in the neighborhood. The walls can transform the space from the fresh vegetable garden into a space in perfect proportion. The food also showed innovative ways to make the dishes that the audience loved. The final result was a delicious experience for everyone.
Lyman Allyn Displays Zetterson's Portrait of Trees

BY JESSIE EREHOM

In 2004, the Lyman Allyn Art Museum acquired a Portrait of Trees by Michael Zetterson. This painting is now on exhibit, which has renewed the museum's interest in the artist's work. Zetterson's paintings are often noted for their depiction of trees and the natural world. His style is often described as impressionistic, with a focus on capturing the essence of a scene rather than its details. The Portrait of Trees is no exception, with the artist using a loose, expressive style to convey the beauty of the trees. The exhibit includes a selection of Zetterson's work, including other portraits of trees and landscapes. The museum is hosting a series of talks and workshops about Zetterson's work, including a talk by the artist himself. The exhibit runs through the end of the month, so visitors are encouraged to stop by and see the work for themselves.
Floralia 2000 Bands

continued from page 4

Continued from page 1

Food and Fun at Floralia

continued from page 3

Your period is late!

Do you:

A. Panic!?
B. Panic!?!?

C. Call the Pregnancy Support Center

You're scared, it's all you can think about. We can help!
Free pregnancy tests & counsel
Accurate information on your options
Information on STD's, confidential, caring, non-pressure
Counsel on healthy relationships

800-395-HELP (448-2990)
Laurelwood Rd. is off RT. 1 between Northeast Karate & The Spot Restaurant. WALK-INS WELCOME!
Empowering people to make informed choices!

Food and Fun at Floralia

continued from page 3

For their parts, Goodwin and Meliver plan to help out by encouraging people to recycle and clean up the grounds. "It's a unique way to get people interested in the campus," said Meliver. And using paper and plastic storage units for cleanup of the grounds and the college area are less than they were last year, Meliver will dress up as a woman and eat dinner in Harris with the students, who will dress up as WTP向 "The Rock" if dome damage and Earth Day clothing are fewer than they were last year.

When asked what he would be wearing, Meliver said he wasn't sure. "It hasn't stopped yet, I don't have an ensemble collected."
U STORE IT

1501 Route 12
Gales Ferry, CT
(860) 464-7241

868 Flanders Rd.
Mystic, CT
(860) 536-2424

U STORE IT has been serving Conn College students’ storage needs for a number of years. We have always offered discounts to students who prepay the four summer months in advance. Just so you know, we plan to continue this tradition.

If you have never stored with us in the past, here are just some reasons why you should...

WE OFFER:

- CLEAN, DRY STORAGE
- SECURITY LIGHTING AND GATES
- SECURITY SURVEILLANCE
- NO DEPOSIT

Now what you really want to know... the student discount prices!!!

- 5x5 = 150.00 (3 months, get the fourth free)
- 5x10 = 207.00 (3 months, get the fourth free)
- 10x10 = 315.00 (3 months, get the fourth free)

In order to secure a space for the summer, you must reserve it. We can accept a credit card over the phone. ACT NOW, THEY GO QUICK!

DIRECTIONS TO GALES FERRY LOCATION:
Take 95 North to Exit 86 (left exit). Follow signs for the Sub Base. U STORE IT is approximately 1 mile past the base on the left.

DIRECTIONS TO MYSTIC LOCATION:
Take 95 to North to Exit 88. At the bottom of the exit ramp turn left. At the light take a right onto Rt.184. At the next light take a right on Flanders Rd. U STORE IT is about 1 mile down at the bottom of the hill on the left.
Sides Topped the List
Sets New Lax Goal-Scoring Record
By CHARLES HASSELL
sports editor

Camel's first conference victory of the season against Williams (Conn.) was a testament to the team's dominance from their midfield. This milestone player in the history of the Connecticut College lacrosse program is making a name for himself in the league.

Williamstown, MA. Sides chalked up his 135th and 15th assists in the May 10 loss to Springfield College on Friday. He is currently second in the NESCAC in total assists with 90, trailing only Williams' on April 18 in Tom Gately's career record of 127.

Boyd dominated from his midfield position, scoring four goals in the Camel's 2-1 win over the Bantams. The attackman recently became the all-time leading goal scorer for the Macs, passing Tim Gately's career record of 127 goals.

Sets New Lax Goal-Scoring Record
The attackman recently became the all-time leading goal scorer for the Macs, passing Tim Gately's career record of 127 goals.

Back on Track: Success at Wesley Highlights Great Season
By MATTHEW KESSLER

The Connecticut College men's cross-country team is coming off a strong season, finishing fourth in the NCAA Division III championships. This season, the team not only excelled on the course, but more than a month before, they represented Connecticut in the NCAA Division III championships.

The season began at the Trinity Invitational on April 9. The men's team didn't have much luck, finishing in the middle of the pack (9-10). However, the meet showed potential as motivation for the upcoming season.

KESSELER'S KORNER: Elian, The Sports Fan
A fictional conversation with everybody's favorite Cuban refugee

I spoke to Elian Gonzalez by phone on April 22 to find out what he thought of the baseball season. Elian, who is a huge sports fan, was delighted to hear the news about the end of the lockout.

As a Florida Marlins fan, Elian was thrilled to hear the news about the end of the lockout. "I'm so happy being with my father now. I heard about the work stoppage Cuban-born Mike Lowell, who was traded to the Red Sox this winter, and the way the Cuban-born Mike Lowell, who was traded to the Red Sox this winter, is doing in Boston. I'm sure that will be very good news for everyone."