Truelove to Tax
On Religious Views For College Years

The first convocation of the year will occur on October 11 at 5:00 p.m. in the Palmer Auditorium. The address will be made by Dr. Herbert Pressman, President of the Connecticut College and his theme will be "The College and Education," an address that is of great interest to everyone who is concerned with the future of higher education. The President will begin his talk with an analysis of the current situation in higher education and will then go on to discuss the future of higher education in light of the national economic and social trends. He will conclude his talk with a call for all members of the College community to join together in the effort to improve the quality of higher education.

NSA Plans Include Study, Tours, Trips To Unite Colleges

NSA is one of the organizations to which we belong. The club is organized and its activities are directed by undergraduate students in the United States as its main aim. The National Student Association is a national organization of college students and its purpose is to unite college students throughout the United States. The club is interested in Home Economics or Child Development will attend this meeting and find out more about the club.

Special attention is given to students who are interested in the Home Economics Club at Connecticut College. This club is open to anyone who thinks she may be interested in Home Economics or Child Development. It is also interested in the Home Economics Club at other colleges and universities.

Wig and Candle Invites All 54 Dramatists to Join Club

Uncle Sam may not need YOU to win the war, but Wig and Candle need YOU to win the war against the enemy of ignorance. The club which needs the help will hold an open meeting for all those who are interested in any aspect of the war effort. The meeting will be held at the Wig and Candle bulletin board in the basement of the School of Agriculture at 8:00 p.m.

There is a place on campus for every kind of creative ability, whether it is making a speech on a philosophical problem, or singing a song. And that, of course, is true of every campus. Everyone loves, or longs to, create something in his or her lifetime. As college students are kept busy for a better time to pour forth, as it were, at college, for there is where we soon learn that the healthiest and happiest atmosphere is one alive with creative energy. Every year, QUARTERLY offers a place for everyone who is interested to find a place for their talents. This year QUARTERLY is not only encouraging work from as many as possible, but is also looking for new members to add to the college's publication. QUARTERLY is always interested in new ideas and fresh energies. This is a sign of the times, a time when the whole world and the fun of publishing a literary magazine is needed. Authors Wanted

A magazine cannot be a success unless it has someone who believes in it and wants to make it a success. QUARTERLY is open to everyone who wants to contribute. There is no requisite for membership except that you must be an undergraduate student at Connecticut College.

Campus Activities Under Supervision Of Service League

Service League is on the market with two distinct parts of college life: social service and campus entertainment. Many of its duties are not defined and are handed when the occasion arises. Those duties which do occur yearly are grouped under the aforementioned divisions.

The first of these can be subdivided into a number of services. Local Social Services take care of all Connecticut College students within the New London and local Girl Scouts and Y.W.C.A. projects. Church Drives include the Cancer Drive and T.B. seals at Christmas. Post-War Work Drive is a local project. The largest single service project of the year is Connecticut College's Drive which occurs in the fall.

More Entertainment

On this front the Service League has certain yearly functions: the Coast Guard Reception, Informal dances and Mid-Winter Formal. Last year we added a freshman reception with Yale and this year in addition we hope to have to have a freshman reception together with Wesleyan. All social activities are under the chairman- ship of the Law Sec, who has a year in addition to the officers of the Service League. There is no requisite for membership in Service League excepting membership in Connecticut College. The rest of the active participants are all those who are interested in any phase of Service League's work.

Help is always needed. There is plenty of work for everyone. So watch the Service League bulletin board in the basement of the School of Agriculture and come out to help us.

Outing Club Is Planning Weekend Gathering For Women, Indians, Yankees

Freshmen! Outing Club extend their invitation to you for a trip to the mountains. At the picnic at Buck Lodge last Saturday, O. C. held its annual glee-ctober for the freshman class. We are going to be on a trip to the mountains this year and hope to have a fun time. The outing will include a picnic, swimming, and other activities.

On the agenda for the year are the following events: (1) the annual outing with Yale at their engineering camp, (2) a fishing trip to New London, (3) the annual outing with Yale at the Indian reservation in northern New York, (4) the annual outing with Yale at the Yale at their engineering camp, (5) the annual outing with Yale at their engineering camp, (6) the annual outing with Yale at their engineering camp, (7) the annual outing with Yale at their engineering camp, (8) the annual outing with Yale at their engineering camp.

The only thing you have to do is get on the fun in the fun and come and join us. It is an unexpected fact that we of C.C.C.C. will give you plenty of good times.
Familiar Words, A New World

After the introductory freshman week program, you, the class of 1954, are more than familiar with the word "welcoming." This year, however, we are pleased to report that this greeting which the Connecticut College News has for you is in the form of this piece of paper you are holding—the very special Freshman News. This year, we tried to include stories on many of the large organizations and clubs functioning on campus. Each of these organizations has a student head, who has explained the activities of her particular group. Undoubtedly you will be meeting many of these people in the very near future when they hold their try-outs, initial meetings, etc.

At this time it might do well to give a bit of "advice" (an- other word for "information")...for some reason we have done with these very organizations. You are here at college primarily to study and to learn; that is our function. However, and this is a big "however," the value of extra-curricular activities should not be underestimated. We are sure that many of our readers who have attended college have found this. These activities provide an excellent complement to your academic life. They are something which should be experienced by everyone. We hope you enjoy this first look at Connecticut College's extra-curricular activities, with every hope that you will find and enjoy them. Lots of luck!

Dance Group Helps Creative Students To Improve Talent

Dance Group provides an opportunity for students interested and able to more completely develop their creative aspects. Under the guidance of a faculty advisor, the Dance Group has been a part of the Connecticut College News. A technique demonstration, a weekly meeting of the group, and some fun given for a nearby P.T.A. Dance Group has had several exchange programs and given a symposium in the Connecticut College News, as well as dance concerts and Dance Company concerts.

Plans for this year include exchange programs with other colleges, a visiting artist concert to be held in the auditorium, and a benefit for the United Fund; continued cooperation with the other departments in the College, such as the offices of publicity and entertainments; the annual Arts Program, and a possible radio program concerning the modern dancer.

Dance Group consists of members of all four classes, chosen through an audition process and orientation exercises this year will be early in November. Try-outs will be held on the sixth floor of the auditorium. Any student interested, able, and anticipating fun and activity will be glad to be a member of this stimulating group. The curriculum will be glad to be a member of this stimulating group.

Radio Club Offers Varied Experience

Radio Club is an organization of girls who are interested in the world of radio—announcing, script writing, technical work, and directing. The members plan to produce three weekly programs over the station WCB, with remote control from the Palmer House water tower, and a second floor of the auditorium.

The club is open to all students, even girls who are not interested in radio or achievement in the field. It is also open to anyone who is interested in radio. Special instructions in radio techniques, announcing, script writing, and directing will be given by the upper class members during the year so that all members of the group can be of value to each other.

The first open meeting of the year will be held on November 29. Those students who are interested in learning more about the club before this open meeting should see Miss Rets, Mary Adams, or Sue Pfs in Katherine Blunt.

IRC Will Talk Over Korean Aggression

Under discussion at the initial meeting of International Relations Club, to be held tomorrow night, Oct. 9, will be United Nations action in curbing aggression in Korea. As in past years IRC will conduct this program as a forum for consideration of international affairs by presenting prominent guest speakers, who in the past have participated in international conferences, and offering programs re- lated to the interests of the student-experienced or not, who are interested in really working actively in the various phases of radio work, and directing. The Radio Club offers a chance for students interested and experienced, able, and anticipating fun and work. Any further information can be obtained from Miss Adams, or by seeing Miss Rets in the Radio Club office, Fanning 111, or the College Publicity Bureau, will be a meeting for all four classes—and each class will elect its own speaker, and will be open to everyone. Remember, you and your school are doing, and a highly successful mock ar-

Press Board Sends Press Board Offers Ground for Debate

One of our most present possessions is freedom of discussion and debate. It is this freedom which is our strongest case against Communist and Fascist totalitarianism and suppression of divergent ideas, and it is the duty of us all to preserve this privilege but to make use of it.

Political Forum, an organization which coordinates Student Debate, and Student Conservation, affords a meeting ground for divergent ideas through the medium of debate and speakers. We are living in an age in which complex problems of ideology are shaking the very security of our lives, and these masters must urgent and deep consideration of the issues, as the Press Board offers a three-fold opportunity for students interested and experienced, able, and anticipating fun and work. Any further information can be obtained from Miss Adams, or by seeing Miss Rets in the Radio Club office, Fanning 111, or the College Publicity Bureau, will be United Nations action in curbing aggression in Korea. As in past years IRC will conduct this program as a forum for consideration of international affairs by presenting prominent guest speakers, who in the past have participated in international conferences, and offering programs related to the interests of the student.

News To Your Door

A new project for this year, not to be undervalued, is "News To Your Door," a regular column sent through the mail to the parents of all Connecticut College students.

On Oct. 29 the first issue of "News To Your Door" will be mailed to the parents of all Connecticut College students. Each issue will have a brief letter from each student which will include information about the student's life, college, and current events. The purpose of this column is to keep the parents informed about the activities of their children and to strengthen the ties between the college and the homes.

Freedom's Crusade Is Coming to C.C.

Connecticut College students will have a chance to sign the Freedom Scroll sometime in the next week. The names from this scroll will be used in the presentation of a United Nations petition to the League of Nations. If you are interested in signing the petition, you will have a chance to do so in the group meeting of the College Publicity Bureau, which will be held tomorrow night, Oct. 9. We hope that the Freshman Class will be one of the best represented by students.

Student Librarians Will Meet Oct. 9

Student Librarians is a campus organization, unaffiliated with any local or national group, whose purpose is to promote student opinion on critical issues of our time, and to transform this opinion into effective action along democratic, progressive lines. In the past this action has taken the form of field trips, in cooperation with the local Democratic Party and others, or of any discussion of the issues.

When you enroll, you will sign this card to indicate that you believe in the sacredness and inalienability of human freedom. We believe that all men derive the right to freedom equally from God. We pledge to resist aggression and tyranny wherever they appear on earth.
