Chapel Service to Mourn Loss Of Professor George Haines

A Memorial Service will be held Friday at 3:30 p.m. in Hartness Chapel for Dr. George Haines, who died suddenly Friday afternoon at New London Memorial Hospital in New London of a coronary occlusion. He was 61 years old.

Professor Haines was famous at the College for his Cultural History and History of International Relations courses. A well-known author and lecturer in current and historical criticism, he published magnificent books five years in various scholarly publications.

His study entitled "German Influence Upon English Education, Science, 1900-1960" was published in monograph form by Connecticut College in 1957.

In subsequent years Dr. Haines added to the study, "German Influence Upon Scientific Institutions 1870-1930," which was published by Victorina University Press in 1959. "Science and Liberal Education," which he wrote in 1964, was published by the University of Pennsylvania Press in 1960.

Mr. Haines was a member of the American Association for the History of Science, the History of Science Society, the American Association of University Professors, the American Mathematical Association, and the American Association of University Professors.

On Friday, September Twenty-fifth Nineteen Hundred and Sixty-four, Mr. Haines joined the faculty of the Main Lounge and under the arch decorated with two trees, the evergreens, and under the direction of Mr. Haines, the Chapel Service to Mourn Loss was initiated. The service included "Graves and the Five Moons," two of the crops and "song of the lounge and gym. Picture nearly a thousand people, eating canapes, drinking punch, and mixing. Mix up the college student, a good time and keeping at the lounge last for an hour, and helping with refreshments presented for discussion at the..."
