Concert Tickets No Longer Available

All seats for the spring season of the Connecticut College Concert Series have been sold, which means that many students who anticipated buying single tickets will be disappointed. It is sugferred that if a student wishes to dispose of her ticket for one of the concerts, he should post an advertisement in the Bulletin Board so that the tickets may be bought.

The concerts will be held at the Town Hall Meeting in the auditorium on Friday night, November 1, at seven thirty p.m.

The purpose of the rally is two-fold. Primarily, it is for the education of those on campus who are staunch supporters of Roosevelt or Willkie but do not know why.

The purpose is not to point out the errors of the opposition party, but to clarify the difference in party philosophy.

Construction, not destruction, is the mark of this Town Hall Meeting. The purpose of this meeting is for those in our college who will cast their votes for Willkie or Roosevelt to hear first-hand the viewpoints of the political leaders who will be running for the state of Connecticut, and also to learn more about the political party they support. It is hoped that no one will leave as a doubtful voter or an on-

Caught On Campus

Mr. Cochran tells us a very good story about the game he was lecturing on in a western agricultural college where they were discussing some- thing about an ewe. Evidently, the word "lamb" was the only word Mr. Cochran had heard pertaining to sheep, because after a slight de- liberation, he triumphantly announced "up that ewe!"

Freshmen, freshen up your best! In Home Ec. instructions were given to mash the potatoes on the stove, in order to help you carry out our own schedule as we see fit are told by the managing editor in New York whom we all play on and when. It takes this season's best of our hands and about all that we get out of it is some unnecessary, and usually undesirable, publicity, Dr. Clarence W. Mendell, Yale's six-year ath- letic boss, takes a powerful poke at this "leagues" in college ath- letics.

"Teach the young people that the time has come for them to serve the community. This will be the time when the real test of their time has come when they will have an opportunity to give back, for the years that lie ahead there will be sacrifice for all of us. Times are never going to be easy, and they're going to be hard," the Commissioner emphasizes, "more stimulating, much more challenging, in every way than our past. These fat and easy and less soft days that lie before us. We hope to meet this challenge."" - Hulbert College's V. Kaltenborn, radio commentator.

9 Students Enjoy Mt. Graylock Trip Sponsored by ICA

The invitation said something about not being afraid of October showers. Our group, under our sleeping bags—so nine brave souls, with Justice Clark as leader, signed up for the Mt. Graylock weekend, sponsored by ICA. A group of mountain, with opportunities for bushwalking for those who so desired, and a square dance party to be held in the Willimantic Grange were the main attractions for days for which we braved six above zero warnings.

Our weekend started off with Sue Fleisher taking movies of us as we crossed the bus into Pittsfield, Mass. The five hours trip was broken by the sessions and appointments of meeting the justly famous outing clubs at Dartmouth, Yale, Amherst and Brown.

We happened not to be disappointed in our choice of mountain. We rode up the ski lift and were pitched in the shadow of Mount Greylock. There we were met by Cal Goddard, of Yale. Then colored movies of the Lake George made us giddy, and as we boarded our bus for Pittsfield, Sue Fleisher strutting her stuff in a crimson cap which in Switzerland the presents wear to church arrested all our eyes as she danced.

The essence of Noddy Dormer's well-known sleigh bells were echoed by Cal Goddard's of Yale, and we were greeted late—by Justine Clark as leader, signed up for the Mount Greylock weekend, sponsored by ICA.

This Collegiate World
By Associated Collegiate Press

Interesting effects of recent world developments on the choice of courses by college students are noted at Hobart and William Smith colleges.

Language departments report sudden decreases in enrollment in German, French, and Italian, with increases in Spanish, Greek, and Latin.

Both faculty members and students were hard put to interpret the phenomenal increase in Greek and Latin enrollments.

To the mystery is the fact that, while girls have heretofore made up at least half of the Latin classes, there are almost none in this year's classes.

The greater decrease in popularity of Italian is against French and German was explained by noted professor of French culture and a still high demand for German in recent years.

Thousands of American college students have been virtually disfranchised because of "cumbersome" absentee voting laws, it is pointed out by Dr. Isaac L. McClellan, President of Westminster College.

His conclusion is based on a survey by the College's institute of public affairs.

Dr. McClellan said more than 100,000 students of voting age are discouraged or actually forbidden to exercise their voting franchise.

The survey discovered little conformity in states. Missouri and Oklahoma specify that absentee voting is possible only within state boundaries, while Rhode Island and Virginia insist it is legal only if the voter is outside the boundaries.

Voting varied restrictions in numerous other states, Dr. McClellan concludes: "This situation is particularly detrimental to informed and senseless. College boys and girls of voting age, presumably studying to become better citizens, have neither the inclination nor the encouragement to turn out in the red tape of absentee voting."

Despite an uncertain future clouded by threats of war and economic insecurity, the nation's college youth are becoming more and more aware of their responsibility in the choice of courses by college students.

Restoring is coming into its own in high demand, especially in highly-specialized fields.

The following observations pleased from a survey of career development and preparation for work in the industries lead all other education trends.

1. Teaching is coming into its own in high demand, especially in highly-specialized fields.

2. Tracing is coming into its own in high demand, especially in highly-specialized fields.

3. Careers that attract women are in high demand, especially in highly-specialized fields.

Effect Of Science On Modern Living Topic Of Mr. Geo. Harrison

The sub-atomic particles may not seem to have any connection with the groover or the power and light company as bills for energy, and in this way make clear the relation of the study of physics to contemporaneous problems.

In closing Mr. Harrison expressed a new viewpoint on the relation of science to modern warfare. He explained that if more people are being killed by new and more horrible methods, it is because science has made it possible for more people to be killed. Since war is caused by economic reasons, science is working towards the straightening out of economic chaos, perhaps the future progress of science will eventually lead to the elimination of war.

Dr. William A. Bryan Will Haunt Gym On Wednesday

In order to increase public interest in problems of mental illness, Dr. Bryan will discuss informally the psychological development at the hospital. Before the lecture, Dr. Bryan will have dinner with President Blunt and psychology faculty and club officers in Windsor.

As the program will be of general interest and the speaker is at high repute in the medical world, it is hoped that many of the student body will attend the lecture.

The hour grows late, and the ghostly figures, another mysterious figure, another faculty member, will rise and deliver in awful tones a terrible lesson. It will be a lesson to the gulls, to the ducks, to the geese and ducks, to the foaming boy who wets his mouth with soda and in the welfare of their country, as well as in the welfare of their friends. Members of both major political parties favor the draft because it will strengthen our national defense mechanism. Moreover, they believe that it will strengthen the individuals who will become a part of that mechanism, for few individuals are good or bad from a year of military discipline. We hope that this attempt at forecasts, this interest in the coming good as opposed to the national local viewpoint will continue. May this attitude cast light on all our current interests in domestic and foreign affairs, now and always.

Four Connecticut University colleges have set another precedent by enrolling, along with 22 men, in the second year of the Pilot Training Course. This program is again offered by the University in conjunction with the nation-wide program being sponsored by the Civil Aeronautics Authorities.

The University of Minnesota law school has decided to continue its three year course for students who enter with a B.A.
