Cabinet

The cabinet meeting was called at order by Durley Luerse at 5:20 p.m. on November 12. Several rooms were used for the meeting, and the cabinet was conducted in the usual manner. The minutes of the meeting were approved by all members present. The cabinet discussed several issues, including the election of delegates to the American Union and the initiation of a new publication for the college. The meeting adjourned at 6:45 p.m. after all business had been taken care of.

Cooperation Plus

Last Thursday evening, two of our greatest scholastic problems comprehensives and reading period were subject of the joint meeting of the Student Faculty and the President. The subject of discussion was the format for the reading period as it is an important part of the comprehensive. The students were informed that the reading period was not only a time for the students to read, but also a time for them to think critically about the material they have read. The students were also informed that the reading period would be used for the preparation of the comprehensive. The students were asked to think about their goals for the reading period and to make a plan for their reading. The students were also encouraged to take breaks during the reading period and to make sure they have enough time for rest and relaxation.

Chapel

Chapel services were held on various dates throughout the week. The services were conducted by the chaplain of the college, who gave an address to the students on the importance of faith and spirituality in daily life. The worship service was attended by a large number of students, who participated in the service with songs and prayers. The chaplain also read passages from the Bible and gave a sermon on the topic of faith and spirituality. The students were encouraged to reflect on the message and to apply it to their daily lives.

Cabinet

The election of the two student members of the Development Committee was held. It was decided that the election would be held in the coming week, and the students were asked to vote for the two members who they think would best represent the student body. The students were also asked to consider the importance of the Development Committee and to think about the issues that need to be discussed. The cabinet discussed the importance of the Development Committee and the role it plays in the college. The cabinet also discussed the need for the students to be more involved in the decision-making process and to take an active role in the college.

Criticalism Justified

After reading over the last in- terest and thought, I noticed that we would like to welcome criticism of the paper, if it is due, because it is an idea to read and understand. The idea is that this is a student publication, and the goal is to make it more interesting and informative. The students were asked to provide feedback and to suggest ways to improve the paper. The students were also encouraged to participate in the decision-making process and to take an active role in the cabinet.

Irina’s Bridge Rates With Culbertson: University Offers Job Exams To Class of 1952

The University of Oslo will hold its sixth Summer School from June 15 to July 27, open to American and Canadian students who have completed their freshman year in any accredited college of the United States. The prominent feature of the 1952 session will be an Institute for English-Speaking Students. Basket will be held at Oslo University.

The University provides outstanding lecturers and master classes in all fields of study. All classes will be conducted in English and an American Dean of Students is on the administrative staff. Students may choose courses in four fields: (a) General Survey of Norwegian Culture; (b) The Humanities; (c) Social Studies; (d) Journalism. Single students will live in the Blindern Students Hall and many may live in private homes.

Dr. Hob Gray, Teacher Placement Bureau, 1805 Broadway, New York City, is looking for candidates who are planning to be a teaching in Norwegian schools. Because the State Government has only five annual salary incentives this winter, the Federal Government is offering a special student from public administration internmark to fill these teaching positions. On Dept. of English, however, you’re planning to be a teacher, for example, you may be able to get up many scholarships. Some of the items are directly relevant to education, others the hand and she had eleven for the class of ’52. Whether you're planning to get in public administration internmark or the State Civil Service are out at the question, and this is because of the high of the turnover of the State Civil Service.

The interclass games have at last captured. Two interclass hockey games were played off last week, with the seniors overcoming the juniors 6-0, and the freshmen winning again with six goals. The freshmen were looking good in this game, and thus were hindered in their offensive work.

Next Saturday is another big day for hockey. CC is playing host to Providence and Whittier at the all college playday. If you’re around come out and cheer—our team wants local backing. The same thing goes for interclass games in general, more encouraging to play with class backing, and all the team sports make excellent watching.

"Stu-Fac" Forum

The general consensus on campus seems to be that it should be a time when a girl may follow up her classes, and study. The work not covered in the course must be done by the student herself. Miss Dilley stated that it is up to the faculty to present their opinions. She said that since the fall term is one week shorter than the work not covered in the course must be done during reading period.

Mr. Strider, however, expressed the opposing view that the time should be used for reading in which the student is interested but which correlates with the semester’s work. He suggested that there be several choices of reading from which the student may choose one which the most inter-test her.

Nothing was resolved by this discussion, but it did provide an opportunity for the students attending to present their opinions. It is easy for us to make snap judgments when we don’t know whom they represent. Perhaps now we will understand more clearly the theory and problems of comprehensiveness and reading period.

Weather Fails to Hurt Party Plans

Although the weather did damp on the bonfire plans for the Sophomore-Athletic Senior party, for the Freshmen last Friday, it had little dampening effect on the spirits of those hardy souls who ventured out to the gym. As of late, rain and coldness seem to take away the appetites of the three big classes. The great quantities of cider and doughnuts were consumed.

The entertainment of the evening had as its feature attraction The Baker’s Dozen from Yale, who sang quite harmoniously but far too short a time as far as the audience was concerned. However, Joan Molinsky proved to be the hit of the evening with her impersonation of a woman trying to save a seat at an outdoor concert. Group singing ended the party, it had begun for, and many thanks go to Mollie Hunt and Cyndy Linster, the class presidents, and to M. K. Lackey and Darbie Guerin, the Social Chairmen, for their time and effort in making the party, in spite of the unfortunate weather, a successful one.

It is not necessary to consider a number one professor as perfect, but simply as good as the best the student has had. Similarly, the number one teacher is not good for teaching, but compares with the poorest the student has had. The testing facts are voluntary with the instructors.

After the students have checked the test, their responses are recorded electrically and results are given to the instructor. No report is made to his superiors or to the University administration, and no one else sees the tests.

The electric scoring machine also tabulates the results, so that the teacher can compare his ratings with the averages of all those who were rated.

The faculty rating procedure is used as one means of improving the quality of university teaching. It places the responsibility for improvement on the university faculty, the basis of its students' opinions of him. A primary benefit of this plan is its interest from the teachers, who usually have no idea of how they are getting along with their classes. Other teachers will probably use the tests every two years to chart their progress.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 26 THE ROOSTER

You have to get up early in the morning to put one over on this cock-of-the-walk! When it came to making “quick-trick” experiments of cigarette mildness, he stated flatly, “That’s strictly for clucks!” How ‘ya going to keep ‘em down in the winter? If they know there’s one convincing way to prove cigarette mildness!

It’s the sensible test... the 30-day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camel as a steady smoke—on a day after day basis. No snap judgments. Once you’ve enjoyed Camel for 30 days in your “T-Zone” (T for Throat, T for Taste), you’ll see why...

After all the Mildness Tests... Camel leads all other brands by billions
Caught on Campus

Wedding bells will ring for two CC gals in the near future when Alice Green, K.B. senior, and Pat Moore, a sophomore from Windham, renew their marriage vows. Alice will become Mrs. Harry Grant this coming Saturday, Nov. 10. Molly Hunt will be a bridesmaid in the ceremony, which will take place in New Bedford, Mass. After a honeymoon in Quebec the Grants will live in New London until Harry goes into the navy, and Alice will finish her senior year here at CC.

The following Saturday, Nov. 17, Pat Moore and Robt. W. Brooks will be married in her home town of Ottawa, Ill. After the ceremony the bride and groom will live at Ft. Riley, Kansas, where he is stationed as a Marine second lieutenant. Rob, who hails from Millboro, Va., is a graduate of Millboro and Williams College where he was a member of Alpha Delta Phi.

CC has a new name to be added to the ever-growing list of engagements on campus. Evelyn ("Hobby") Moore, K.B. senior, announced her engagement on Sept. 22 to Jack Sheehy of Shelton, Conn. Jack and Hobby have known each other for a long time, and started going together way back in freshman year. He is a graduate of the University of Connecticut where he was a member of Theta Chi, and is now working as a cost engineer for a construction company in Bridgeport, Conn. No definite date has been set for the wedding.
