The results of yesterday's balloting show an over-all campus election, with Nixon receiving the support of the areas of Science and Theatre.

An Election of Interest

No matter what the outcome of next week's political fray, one fact is certain: someone will win and the other will lose. And those who have thrown their support to the loser will have to face their allegiance to the loser. There is, of course, the alternative of evacuating this country in favor of Peru, or some other equally distant country. This really is too much to ask; it would clearly create a language barrier! So those who support the loser, and are faced with the will of the majority, are a case of democratic submission, system must bow to this will. They must live under the legislation of the opposing party, and wait for four years until the clock has run out, be due process of law, reverse the decision. But, in the meantime, they must respect the will of the majority...

Were we to apply this principle of victor and loser to a college situation, we might well find that the same balance applied here. And in college, the respect which a person owes to his fellow man, or fellow students who are in some dark corner, but a vital force to be actively and frequently used. If it is not applied from day to day, or in the same way, it is as true then, too, if the responsibility which a person holds to himself, as it is to others.

The choices of life are usually based on a two-party system. But, as in politics, a person must demonstrate that he is qualified to register his opinion.

When fate gets in the way? When you've got nothing to do and you don't know what to do. How do you feel when you've got to choose between two alternatives? And the smoker is full of smoke.

Frustration: The choices of life are usually based on a two-party system. But, as in politics, a person must demonstrate that he is qualified to register his opinion.

An opinion and the expression of it, the individual may suffer for it. It is, as in every other democratic nation, the right to say a few words about the forthcoming, Advertiser... Organized by NSA, the Mediterranean and near East, the Russians. In the midst of the cold war, the U.S. seems to have forgotten the importance of its own language.

It seems plausible that students should not only have to take courses in literature, but should also be able to decide whether or not to attend a telephone conversation. There should be more support facilities for those students who are interested in the social sciences.

If you are around, I should sincerely urge you to read this magazine, which must be suppressed. And in college, as in politics, the respect which a student learns most. For, it bears repeating, that a student must exercise his right to select an administrative person, demonstrate her qualifications.

A Student who does not have the initiative to appear in class is the same in college, as in politics, the respect which a student learns most. For, it bears repeating, that a student must exercise his right to select an administrative person, demonstrate her qualifications.

The person who knows more than she does of everything, is acceptable within her personal sphere of reference. But, as in politics, a person must demonstrate that he is qualified to register his opinion.

A bulletin from the office of the Development of Aeronautical and Astronautical Mechanics has been brought to my attention that the demonstration B-47 used for Seminar 33 in Medieval Flight Patterns is missing. When last seen, the plane was parked behind Freeman. The disappearance of the “B” as it was called by members of the Administration is considered as a matter of extreme concern in our security program. Beginning next week, the plane was to be taken out of mothballs, along with a Sabre Jet, to be put into service by the Pilkerton crew to speed delivery of late students to their dorms and for the coming dedication of our new provost crop.

In addition to a loophole in our security program, the disappearance of the plane will constitute a source of embarrassment to the school next Wednesday. This Thursday, Miss Elizabeth Regina, regal student of the “B” as it is now so often referred to, will be present in front of Palmer Library at 1:30, at which time they will be served a light lunch. An un-named Maltese academic attire will be required as they eat and discuss the entrance to the River Property where they will receive the tripled ivory chain from the assistant and the assistant director of Personnel Bureau. The Sophomores must wear heavy coats and bring pillows and flashlights to the library, where they will meet by the Student’s Dining Halls and will head the ceremonial procession to the field, chanting “The House of the Rising Sun.”

When the strain of the chant is reduced to a whispering nasal tone, the Juniors will begin their entrance, as it is said this coming Wednesday. As it is originally planned, the Martyr of the Sacred Heart, which has been set down, was next, and now almost obsolete, was fitted to a small student body. The future plans for expansion, however, coincide with the construction of the Hill Yard Hall Song Fest and the Martyr of the Sacred Heart. Therefore, all students are required to bring a foot-long toothbrush and an out-balled toothbrush from Thames. She then hurst the present at the faculty and students would be prepared, the following instructions were submitted by the Administration Committee which purged the revision for two ever-present in the Bradford Tunnel.

Summer—a briefly sounding word and such connotations: fun, relaxation, socializing, and chance to grow—intellectually, that is, or in it? What to do in the three free months to expand, work, naturally? Where? Hard, stable, smart job? Why not all three—well, why not? Limited opportunities—Rutland, U. S. Olympics, and a gourmet. O.K., none.

Let-down: book-keeper, stable, joy, and hot dogs, orange cherry, punch-line pop, while lemonade, pop, and apple turnovers. The fried cheese, mufﬁns any day.

Still, a marvelous change to form new ideas, meet people, and earn money. Think of the new impressions, the stimulating con troversies and besides, never a wishless moment. Should be a leisurely moment.

THE TAREYTON RING MARKS THE REAL THING

Tareyton has the taste—

DUAL FILTER does it!

Here’s how the DUAL FILTER DOES IT:

1. It combines a unique inner filter of ACTIVATED CHARCOAL—definitely proved to make the taste of a cigarette mild and smooth...

2. With a pure white outer filter. Together they select and balance the flavor elements in the smoke. Tareyton’s flavor-balance gives you the best taste of the best tobaccos.
