Conservatives Gain in New London Elections

by Allen Carroll

Although the Democratic party reported an absence of available elections throughout Connecticut, last week's voting in New London was essentially a conservative reaction against the existing Democratic administration.

Democrats maintained control of the seven-man city council, but failed to do so on the Board of Education where a Republican filled four of the seven seats.

Ruby Turner Morris, Professor of Economics at Connecticut College, won a seat on the City Council by a two-vote margin over Republican Roy Eaton. Morris stated that the results was still in progress last Wednesday night.

Council seats are filled by the seven City Council candidates receiving the greatest number of votes. The mayor's position is filled by the candidate for City Council receiving the most votes. Hubert A. Neilen, a Democrat who served as treasurer of the Duffy campaign, but second-runner Republican William Nahas by approximately 400 votes to gain the mayor's seat.

The majors in terms of the Council and Board of Education are listed below in order of the number of votes they received:

1. Hubert A. Neilen, Demo.
2. William Nahas, Repub.
3. William Riordan, Demo.
5. Ralph Martin, Demo.
7. Thomas DiMaggio, Repub.

Students will not only be responsive to the Dunn College prudence, but also the Dunn College fund, and alumni have also soon lead to paid jobs.

The food service to a student security operation of facilities, ranging from the maintenance and continued

The upstairs lounge. Two of the many decisions are for the college to be painted brown as opposed for instance, gave underhanded support to Dodd in last year's congressional elections, according to Jay.

Most of the land in the town is not taxable, he said, since large tracts are owned by churches and other institutions. In addition, the land included in the Model Cities program is not on the tax rolls. Thus it is difficult to place the blame for the disappointingly small response on the Democratic administration.

Jay stated that the fact that these issues were inadequately clarified "points up the incompetence of the present Democratic leadership." In addition, a vacancy on the Democratic City Council seat was not declared until three weeks before the election. The vacancy was filled by Jim Jones, who was given inadequate time to mount an effective campaign.

Many of the local Democratic leaders, according to Jay, are entrenched small-time politicians who have been out of office for years and occasionally act independently of the party platform. Some, for instance the untenured underhanded support for tomorrow night, Wednesday Nov. 10 at 8:00 in the snack shop.

Unregistered Cars Force Parking Ctte. Crackdown

by Bill Bowen

The almost overwhelming problem of unregistered cars on campus recently led the College Parking Appeals Committee (C-PAC) to clamp down on all violations of the present regulations.

Anomalously the number of student parking stickers sold this year was in excess of the number of existing student parking spaces. Had not the CPAC decided upon an arbitrary number (somewhere between twenty and thirty) designating the number of cars expected to be off campus each day, this generosity might have led to some alterations among the mobile campus crowd regarding the overburdened spaces.

Furthermore, for our benefit, it was reasoned that a student unable to find some spot for his car in close proximity to his dorm, could manage to park it "in the south lot beyond Cummings Art Center." The Cummings Art Center parking area capacities (three hundred and sixty cars) enabling even the owners of cars with reasonable assurance the car won't be ticketed, towed away, or stolen.

Thus, it is believed, any student with a registered car may find a parking space on campus, whether or not he is within easy walking distance to or from classes, etc.

Several students have been hired to patrol campus restricted parking areas, according to Mr. Francis O'Grady, head of Central Services, to ameliorate the pressure on Mr. Benjamin who presently serves warning and tickets to unauthorized drivers on campus.

The fines for parking violations vary according to whether a car shows a decal, indicating that it is registered, or not. The estimation of the pressure on Mr. Benjamin who presently serves warnings and tickets to unauthorized drivers on campus.

The fines for parking violations vary according to whether a car shows a decal, indicating that it is registered, or not. The estimation of the pressure on Mr. Benjamin who presently serves warnings and tickets to unauthorized drivers on campus.

The fines for parking violations vary according to whether a car shows a decal, indicating that it is registered, or not. The estimation of the pressure on Mr. Benjamin who presently serves warnings and tickets to unauthorized drivers on campus.

The fines for parking violations vary according to whether a car shows a decal, indicating that it is registered, or not. The estimation of the pressure on Mr. Benjamin who presently serves warnings and tickets to unauthorized drivers on campus.

The fines for parking violations vary according to whether a car shows a decal, indicating that it is registered, or not. The estimation of the pressure on Mr. Benjamin who presently serves warnings and tickets to unauthorized drivers on campus.
Amendment Twenty-Six

Tuesday, November 9, 1971

Page Two

Letters To The Editors

Dear Pundit,

We would like to offer a correction to your article on the crew team in the last issue. The crew team is "officially nameless." The consensus of the team, however, is that we should be known as the Crabs. This name was chosen for several reasons, two of which are that we race in eight-woman shells which correspond to a crab's eight legs. Also, "to catch a crab" when referring to the team suggests that one can do, and in this way we intend to psyche out our opponents (along with their muscle appearance). We hope you refer to us as the Crabs in the future.

Sincerely and in Peace,
The Conn College Crabs

The CLASS OF 1974 wishes to apologize for the confusion concerning our Halloween film. It was unavoidable. Thank you for your understanding and support.

P.S.

Phone Tax for Defense

The 10% telephone excise tax due was reduced to 3% in 1966 and discontinued in 1969. However, Congress voted in 1966 to extend the tax, at which the House Ways and Means Committee Mr. Wilbur Mills said, "ONLY THE VIETNAM OPERA-

TET MAKES THIS BILL NECESS-ARY." In November 1970 the telephone excise tax again was extended, with a provision that in each successive year after 1973 it would be reduced by 1% of its external provision, and 1982—more than a decade away—THE VOLUNTARY PAYMENT OF THE PHONE TAX AMOUNTS TO A FORM OF ASSENT TO WAR. Any questions? Contact Laura (box 301) or Frann (box 131).

New Black Admissions Aide Does Recruiting
by Allen Carroll

As the recently-hired Black Admissions Aide at Connecticu.
College, Jim Jones has talked to minority group students to discuss the admission process and higher education and to familiarize them with the advantages of attending such programs. Aides are very important in the College program as they are able to work with students individually.

Jim Jones is a black student from California. He has been an avid reader and has participated in various activities related to black history. He is familiar with the struggles of minority students and is interested in helping them succeed in college. He has a strong sense of responsibility and is motivated to support the College's efforts in recruiting minority students. He has a good sense of humor and is able to connect with students on a personal level.

Jim Jones visited several high schools in San Francisco, Berkeley, Palo Alto and East Palo Alto recently. He also visited several public schools as well. He was impressed with the diversity of students he met. He found that many students were interested in attending college but had questions and concerns about the application process and financial aid.

The College's admissions office is interested in increasing the number of minority students who attend the College. They have implemented several programs to attract minority students, including the Black Admissions Aide program. Jim Jones is one of the aides assigned to this task.

Jim Jones' role is to meet with students individually and discuss their interests, concerns and future plans.
He provides information about the College's programs and services, and helps students understand the admission process. He also serves as a role model for minority students by sharing his own experiences and providing guidance.

Jim Jones believes that it is important for minority students to have access to college resources and opportunities. He encourages students to ask questions and seek help when needed. He is dedicated to helping students succeed in college and is committed to making the College a welcoming and supportive environment for all students.

Jim Jones is a valuable addition to the College's admissions team. His efforts are helping to increase the diversity of the student body and provide opportunities for minority students to pursue their dreams.

Steel Co. Files Kitchen Recruiters

We are all aware of the growing popularity of health food in the United States, especially among young people and those who are interested in maintaining a healthy lifestyle.

There are many variations of health foods: ranging from a strict macrobiotic diet consisting of grains, beans, and fruits without meat or those involving strictly organically grown vegetables and fruits. Health foods are one growth area of an important market that many are investing in.

Many people today are becoming more health-conscious and are seeking healthier options for their meals.

One popular aspect of the health food trend is the increase in health food stores and cafes. These outlets provide a variety of health foods, such as organic produce, whole grains, and natural meats.

Another popular trend is the increase in health food programs and clubs. These organizations offer health food classes and workshops to help people learn how to prepare healthy meals.

People are also becoming aware of the environmental impact of their food choices and are looking for more sustainable options.

Health foods are becoming a popular choice for many people who are looking for healthier options. As the demand for health foods continues to grow, it is likely that we will see even more innovations and new products in this area.

Health Foods and Their Benefits

Health foods offer a variety of benefits to those who incorporate them into their diet. Some of these benefits include:

- Improved digestion
- Increased energy levels
- Better overall health
- Reduced risk of chronic diseases
- Increased satiety and reduced food cravings

Many health foods are also high in antioxidants, which can help prevent cancer and other diseases.

Incorporating health foods into your diet can be beneficial for both your physical and mental health. It is important to experiment with different types of health foods to find what works best for you and to ensure that you are getting a variety of nutrients.

Julian Treston

The University of Connecticut

This year, demand for health foods in the student population has increased substantially. Many students have started incorporating health foods into their diets for various reasons, such as improved physical health, better mood and increased energy levels.

The University of Connecticut
has several health food options available to students. These include health food cafes, markets and kitchens within residence halls.

The Student Community Kitchens are available to residential students and provide healthy meal options.

Student Fraternities

by John Thomson

On Monday, November 22nd, the students of Connecticut College met at the large gymnasium to attend a presentation by the Black Admissions Aide, Jim Jones.

Jim Jones discussed the admissions process, the unique features of the College, and the importance of diversity in higher education.

Students were interested in the information provided by Jim Jones and asked several questions about the College.

The presentation was well-received and many students expressed interest in attending the College.

The Black Admissions Aide program is an important tool for recruiting minority students. It provides opportunities for students to meet one-on-one with a representative of the College, which can help increase their interest in attending.

The College is committed to increasing the diversity of its student body and is dedicated to supporting minority students in their academic pursuits.

The Black Admissions Aide program
is one of the ways that the College is working to achieve its goal of increasing diversity.

The University of Connecticut
is committed to providing a diverse and inclusive environment for all students.

The College is proud of its success in recruiting minority students and is committed to continuing to do so.

The Black Admissions Aide
program is an important step in this process.

Dr. Martin Jones, the Director of the Office of Diversity, expressed his satisfaction with the results of the Black Admissions Aide program.

"This program has been very successful," he said. "We have seen an increase in the number of minority students who are admitted to the College.

The University of Connecticut
is committed to providing opportunities for all students and is dedicated to creating a welcoming environment for all.

The Black Admissions Aide
program is an important tool in this effort."
Football Tourney In Tight Race

by Greg Yahia

For those who do not know, and there may be many, an intramural touch-football tournament is being held among the men on this campus. Strange as it may be, there are men on campus, and we are currently involved in this tourney. It is a double-elimination tournament, which means that you have to lose twice before you can be counted out. At this point, we have three teams in contention: Larrabee First Floor, Park I, and Park II. Larrabee is already in the final and the two Park teams square off on Friday, Nov. 5, to determine who will meet Larrabee.

At first, there were eight teams in the tournament: Larrabee First Floor, Larrabee Basement, a Mixed Team, Burdick, Freeman, Remains Undefeated, Garrison, and Packard. Garrison and Packard, the biggest in the country, were eliminated in the first round.

Larrabee defeated Garrison and Packard by scores of 3-0 and 3-1. Larrabee's win over Garrison was actually not a fair fight, as Garrison had nearly 200 pounds more weight than Larrabee. Larrabee defeated Packard 15-0, with two goals scored in the first half, and one in the second half.

On November 1, the team earned a victory over Mitchell College. The two goals scored in the first half were made by Cathy Niles. Mitchell scored early in the second half, but the Conn team managed to widen the margin with another goal scored by Kathy Richards. The November 3 game with Brown was cancelled due to inclement weather and will not be rescheduled, but there will be a game with Yale at Yale's home field on November 12.

Women's Tennis Ends Promising Season

by Kathy McClure

The field hockey team, coached by Misses Ferguson and Cushing, is boasting a 1-1-0 record. The team lost to the University of Connecticut on October 28, 2-1. Early in the first half a goal was scored by Kathy McClure. In the last five minutes U Conn scored two quick goals, giving them the win over Conn.

On November 1, the team earned a victory over Mitchell College. The two goals scored in the first half were made by Cathy Niles. Mitchell scored early in the second half, but the Conn team managed to widen the margin with another goal scored by Kathy Richards. The November 3 game with Brown was cancelled due to inclement weather and will not be rescheduled, but there will be a game with Yale at Yale's home field on November 12.

Classified Ads

Sport's Speculation as to the outcome of the election and the Voting Rights Act of 1970, which with literacy requirements and long residency

Football Tourney In Tight Race

by Greg Yahia

For those who do not know, and there may be many, an intramural touch-football tournament is being held among the men on this campus. Strange as it may be, there are men on campus, and we are currently involved in this tourney. It is a double-elimination tournament, which means that you have to lose twice before you can be counted out. At this point, we have three teams in contention: Larrabee First Floor, Park I, and Park II. Larrabee is already in the final and the two Park teams square off on Friday, Nov. 5, to determine who will meet Larrabee.

At first, there were eight teams in the tournament: Larrabee First Floor, Larrabee Basement, a Mixed Team, Burdick, Freeman, Remains Undefeated, Garrison, and Packard. Garrison and Packard, the biggest in the country, were eliminated in the first round.

Larrabee defeated Garrison and Packard by scores of 3-0 and 3-1. Larrabee's win over Garrison was actually not a fair fight, as Garrison had nearly 200 pounds more weight than Larrabee. Larrabee defeated Packard 15-0, with two goals scored in the first half, and one in the second half.

On November 1, the team earned a victory over Mitchell College. The two goals scored in the first half were made by Cathy Niles. Mitchell scored early in the second half, but the Conn team managed to widen the margin with another goal scored by Kathy Richards. The November 3 game with Brown was cancelled due to inclement weather and will not be rescheduled, but there will be a game with Yale at Yale's home field on November 12.

Women's Tennis Ends Promising Season

by Kathy McClure

The field hockey team, coached by Misses Ferguson and Cushing, is boasting a 1-1-0 record. The team lost to the University of Connecticut on October 28, 2-1. Early in the first half a goal was scored by Kathy McClure. In the last five minutes U Conn scored two quick goals, giving them the win over Conn.

On November 1, the team earned a victory over Mitchell College. The two goals scored in the first half were made by Cathy Niles. Mitchell scored early in the second half, but the Conn team managed to widen the margin with another goal scored by Kathy Richards. The November 3 game with Brown was cancelled due to inclement weather and will not be rescheduled, but there will be a game with Yale at Yale's home field on November 12.

Lowest Youth Fares to Europe $165

round-trip jet from New York

For only $165 round-trip, Icelandic Airlines will take you from New York to Luxembourg. In the heart of Europe for best connections to everywhere. Effective for departure dates 30 days or more. Book your seat today. Call your local Icelandic Airlines office, check out your Youth Fares to Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Eng- land and Scotland. Major credit cards accepted. Send your travel agent's coupon! Add $10 one way for departures within ten days before and after Christmas and Easter and during summer season. Fares and conditions subject to change.

To: Icelandic Airlines
630 Fifth Ave., N.Y., N.Y. 10022
(212) PL7-8585
Send yours or let Lowest Youth Fares to Europe know.