Campus Security

From Mr. O'Grady...

Dispelling Rumors

Francis P. O'Grady, Chief of College Security, has revealed that most of the rumors circulating among students and faculty concerning crime on campus have little or no basis in truth.

"There are no foundations to the rumor at all" that an armed robbery occurred outside of Marshall House on February first, O'Grady said. The incident that resulted in the rumors did not involve students at Connecticut College. The case is being investigated by the New London police department, and will be explained in full next week, when more details will be available.

Furthermore, O'Grady stated that "There have been no assaults on campus at all" this semester. One student was assaulted, but on the grounds of the Coast Guard Academy. Since the assault occurred on a government reservation, the incident is being handled by the F.B.I.

Fewer reports of theft and pilferage have been received in the past two weeks than earlier O'Grady added, although a vending machine in Park House was broken into on Monday night.

A painting by Richard Lukosius was stolen from Cummings Arts Center on February 10th. The painting was recovered when two security guards observed a man leaving the building with the painting. The New London police were notified, and an arrest was made.

"An extra man has been put on at night," O'Grady said, and Freeman and the complex dorms are being locked up early as extra security precautions. "We ask that students cooperate more in keeping their doors locked," he stated.

President Shain observed with regret that the increase of campus crime is not unique to Conn. College Wesleyan's president has called the Middletown campus "Rip-off U." because of the increased incidence of theft.

"The security budget is one of the fastest growing of all," Shain said. He added that a lighting company is still doing a study of ways to improve the lighting on campus.

He felt that in spite of these measures, "there's nothing you can do" that is really effective, except to convince students to "act prudently" by locking rooms and, when walking alone at night staying away from potentially dangerous areas.

Budget to be Reviewed By Board of Trustees

On Saturday, February 12, the Budget Review Committee of the Board of Trustees met with the Student-faculty Development Committee to discuss the budget for the 1972-73 school year.

Five trustees on the Budget Committee met in an all-morning session, and were joined by the Development Committee at 11:30. The Development Committee recently completed its work on next year's budget, and discussed its recommendations with the trustee committee.

The trustee Budget Review Committee, chaired by Mr. James English, Chairman of the board of the Connecticut Bank and Trust Company, will go over the recommendations of the Development Committee and present it with their modifications to the full Board of Trustees at meetings on February 24th and 25th. The board will then approve, disapprove, or alter the budget, and return the final version to the administration, which will prepare a presentation of the budget.

President Shain stated that an all-college meeting will be scheduled for the presentation and discussion of the final budget. Questions will be answered at the meeting. Director of Development John Detmold said that the all-college meeting will be held sometime early in March, to allow time for the preparation of charts and graphs for the presentation.

This is the first time that the Development Committee has met with the trustees' Budget Committee to discuss the budget. Detmold stated that it gave both committees a valuable opportunity to "talk to each other, and to ask and answer questions" concerning the budget.

The provisions of the budget will not be available to the public until the final version is approved by the Board of Trustees. The student members of the Development Committee submitted a minority report to the trustee committee. The minority report, which concerned one of the points of Development Committee's recommendations, was accepted for consideration by the trustee review committee.

The Development Committee and the Library Committee will meet with the Board of Trustees on February 24th to discuss plans for the new library and various proposals for parking and the perimeter drive.

Results of SGA Poll On Academic Reform

The results of the recent Student Government poll of student opinions of the Student Report on Academic Change showed that 53.1 per cent of the return was in complete agreement with the general concepts of the report. Since the total return represented 615 students, 47 of which had not read the report, the 53.1 per cent represented 302 students. 41.3 per cent of those who had read the report were in agreement with some of principles and 5.6 per cent of the return were in total disagreement with the report. A total of 330 students had some comment or suggestion to make but these have not yet been compiled.

Jay Levin, President of Student Government, felt that "the report was a success because it has provided a catalyst for change and a basis for faculty-student discussion." He also said, "I think that in general the dorm-meetings of students and faculty for discussion of the Report were a success. Of course some meetings had a greater degree of success than others. I think that the faculty is impressed with the student interest in academia."

Comments by house presidents on the meetings in their dormitories ranged from the regretful to the enthusiastic. Connie Vigneri, house president of Windham, commented, "I was sorry that more students and faculty didn't come to the meeting. There were moments when individuals dwelt upon their private gripes and situations, but I think the general concept that evolved was that the present situation is quite flexible and that the report only seeks to structure

Further Precautions

Over the weekend of February 11, 12, 12 the nurses of the Infirmary received some obscene and threatening telephone calls. A nurse is here alone in the Infirmary from 9 p.m. to 7 a.m., and such incidents can be the basis for considerable anxiety. Our policy in the Student Health Service has always been an open-door one, with the night nurses readily and unquestioningly admitting any student at any time. Now, however, due to circumstances in general and these incidents in particular, it seems impossible to continue with this relaxed and comfortable policy. The new policy will probably be a nuisance for everyone, and we regret its necessity, but it does seem to be a realistic one for everyone's protection.

We are asking all night arrivals (9 p.m.-7 a.m.) to telephone the guards (Ext. 366, or 442-5630) for "pick-up and delivery". This will mean that no student (especially female) will cruise out to walk alone on campus at night to get to the Infirmary and that the admitting night nurse will have the protection of the guards. The night nurse will not admit any unescorted patients.

Sorry about this.

Director, Student Health Service

A Students' Guide

By Allen Carroll

Among the most frequently-voiced complaints among students at Conn College (and everyone knows Conn students voice plenty of complaints) is that there is nothing to do in New London.

One can easily get the impression the "The Whaling City" is a cultural, recreational, and gastronomic desert, offering opportunities only for a greasy pizza, a dirty movie, and a mugging or two. Actually, one would be hard put to find anything farther from the truth.

With a car, a little patience, and a compass, anyone seeking excitement in New London should be able to find it in one form or another. This guide has been prepared to aid you in your search, should you become sufficiently bored with life at Connecticut College to try your luck in New London. Save this article—it may come in handy some dull Saturday evening.

The guide has been divided in two sections; one for eating and drinking, and one which contains everything else. You might be wise to stay away from a few of the establishments mentioned below, but most should provide some sort of diversion—just be sure you are prepared for the particular diversions offered.

Several persons have helped in the preparation of this exclusive feature, but particular thanks go to Tom Bowler '74, whose intimate knowledge of New London (he is a life-long resident) has borne ample fruit on these pages. Many of the more apt descriptions are his.

Food and Drinks

1-Campus Pizza, 467 Williams Street; Close to CC; good mushrooms; lots of cadets.

2-Mr. G's, 452 Williams Street; Easy to get served; 4 Seasons on juke box; convenient location; Mr G is one of us; reasonably good food; incredible interior.

3-95 House, Route 95; Very good steaks, but, as usual, you pay for what you get.

4-Dunkin' Donuts, 165 Broad St; Good, fresh doughnuts, but it's sometimes hard to find the filling in the blueberry variety.

5-Friendly's, 175 Broad St; Just about every thing is good except for the marshmallow sauce.

6-Rialto's, 103 Broad St; Convenient location; juke box. Coke machine; 1950's design; standard rates; OK food.

7-Capitol Candy Shoppe, 83 Broad St; See Conn College faculty members; a bit expensive; great food and ice cream (their own); art deco counter.

8-Old Dutch Tavern, 23 Green St; Atmosphere beyond your wildest dreams; beer.

9-Rib'N Embers, Mohican Hotel, State St; Good students welcome; drinks 65c Friday and Saturday 9-11:00.

10-Crocker House, 178 State St;

Authentic Irish pub; art deco interior; old vending machines; good food; reasonable; ultraviolet lights in bathrooms.

11-Chop Sticks, 14 Main St; Sleazy-kitsch Oriental atmosphere; solicitous proprietor; good juke box; fantastic tea; great egg drop soup; relatively cheap; Cantonese group rates.

12-Hubie's, bottom of State St; Chili hot enough to curl your hair; derelicts weird enough to make it stand on end..

13-Hygienic Restaurant, 79 Bank St; Unbelievable characters, open all night; food not too hot; bar; juke box; action all the time.

14-Lamperelli's Seven Brothers, 238 Bank St; Not recommended for the weak at heart.

15-Ye Olde Tavern, 354 Bank St; Strolling violinist now and then; terrific food; drinks.

16-Patsy's Grocery, 377 Bank St. Open 'til 1:00 a.m.; grinders great, but no tune; don't handle the magazines; good people.

17-Tiny's Heat Wave, 388 Bank St; Included here for its name, not its quality.

18-Wong's, 78 Truman St; Go here if chops sticks closed

19-Dante's 52 Truman St; Small; good atmosphere; not-so-good food.

20-Red Garter Cafe, 580 Bank St; Your host Lou Job is a terrific pitcher; good beer; risqué cafe.

21-The Corral, Bank St; Open all night; reportedly gay.

22-Philippe's, 80 Ocean Ave.; C.C. hangout; great reputation; open late.

23-Chuck's Steak House, 250 Pequot Ave; Patrician splendor for the proletariat; nice view.

25-Mabrey's, 17 Park Ocean Beach; Dance dance dance; chicks from all around; horny guys; usually good band.

26-Lighthouse Inn, Lower Boulevard; Posh; expensive; have your parents take you.

Everything Else

A-Mamacoke Island; The best part of the arboretum; marshes, woods rocks; almost no people; panoramic view of the sub base.

B - North portion of the Arboretum; Follow old road (Bolles Rd.) north from Gallows Lane through beautiful woods, old fields; almost completely deserted; don't smoke or litter

C-Pilgrim Road; Drive, ride or walk to dead end, then hike two miles down abandoned road to the shores of Miller's Pond; a very beautiful hike, fall winter or spring.

D-Junk along Thames; South of Mamacoke; dead fish, baubles, bangles, and beads; it's not trash!

E-Lyman-Allyn Museum; Currently closed

F-Mall; best place to people-watch; stay out of coffee shop; dig the kitsch

G-Old Mill and Nathan Hale School House off Main St. Authentic Americana; history

lives; ancient buildings dwarfed by bridge almost directly above

H-Gold Star Memorial Bridge; Sidewalk on south side; sun fence; watch construction on bridge; bird's-eye view metropolitan New London.

I-Ye Olde Burial Ground; Huntington St; Oldies goodies; a very nice tree.

J-Public Library, top of State St; Great collection of children's novels; free parking; done H.H. Richardson; nice fireplace K-The Wine Merchant; Broad St. Friendly, helpful service; phenomenal selection $1-$20.

L-Bus and train stations; the freakos!; stay out of bathrooms.

M-Fisher's Island Ferry, behind the train station; expensive, but worth it; 45-minute ride; walk or take bicycle; island is fascinating, beautiful; wait for abandoned WWII gun emplacements; don't get lost and miss the ferry back

N-Capitol Theater, Bank St; Specializes in X-er-sexers; bring ID; stay out of bathroom

O-Little Book Shop, 111 Bank St; Porno Shop; bring ID: 21

P-Hempstead House, Hempstead St; Oldest house in New London.

Q-Hugenot House, Truman St; Older than Americana

R-Spiritualist Church; Blackhall St. Pay now pray later 12-5:00 Sunday

S-Shaw Mansion-Historical Society, Bank St; Washington slept here of course

T-Train tracks behind Howland St; Great junk; bright blue boats

U-Block Island Ferry, pier at Shaw's Cove; To take if you're gone to Fisher's Island, aren't satisfied, and have more time and money

V-Orient Point Ferry, pier at Pequot Ave.; and Montauk Ave. this once or twice if you live on Long Island.

W-O'Neill House, Pequot Ave; Sort of run down; New London's own Nobel laureate

X-Mitchell Woods, between Ocean Ave; Soand Montauk Ave; Not as nice as the Arboretum but lots of wildflowers in the spring.

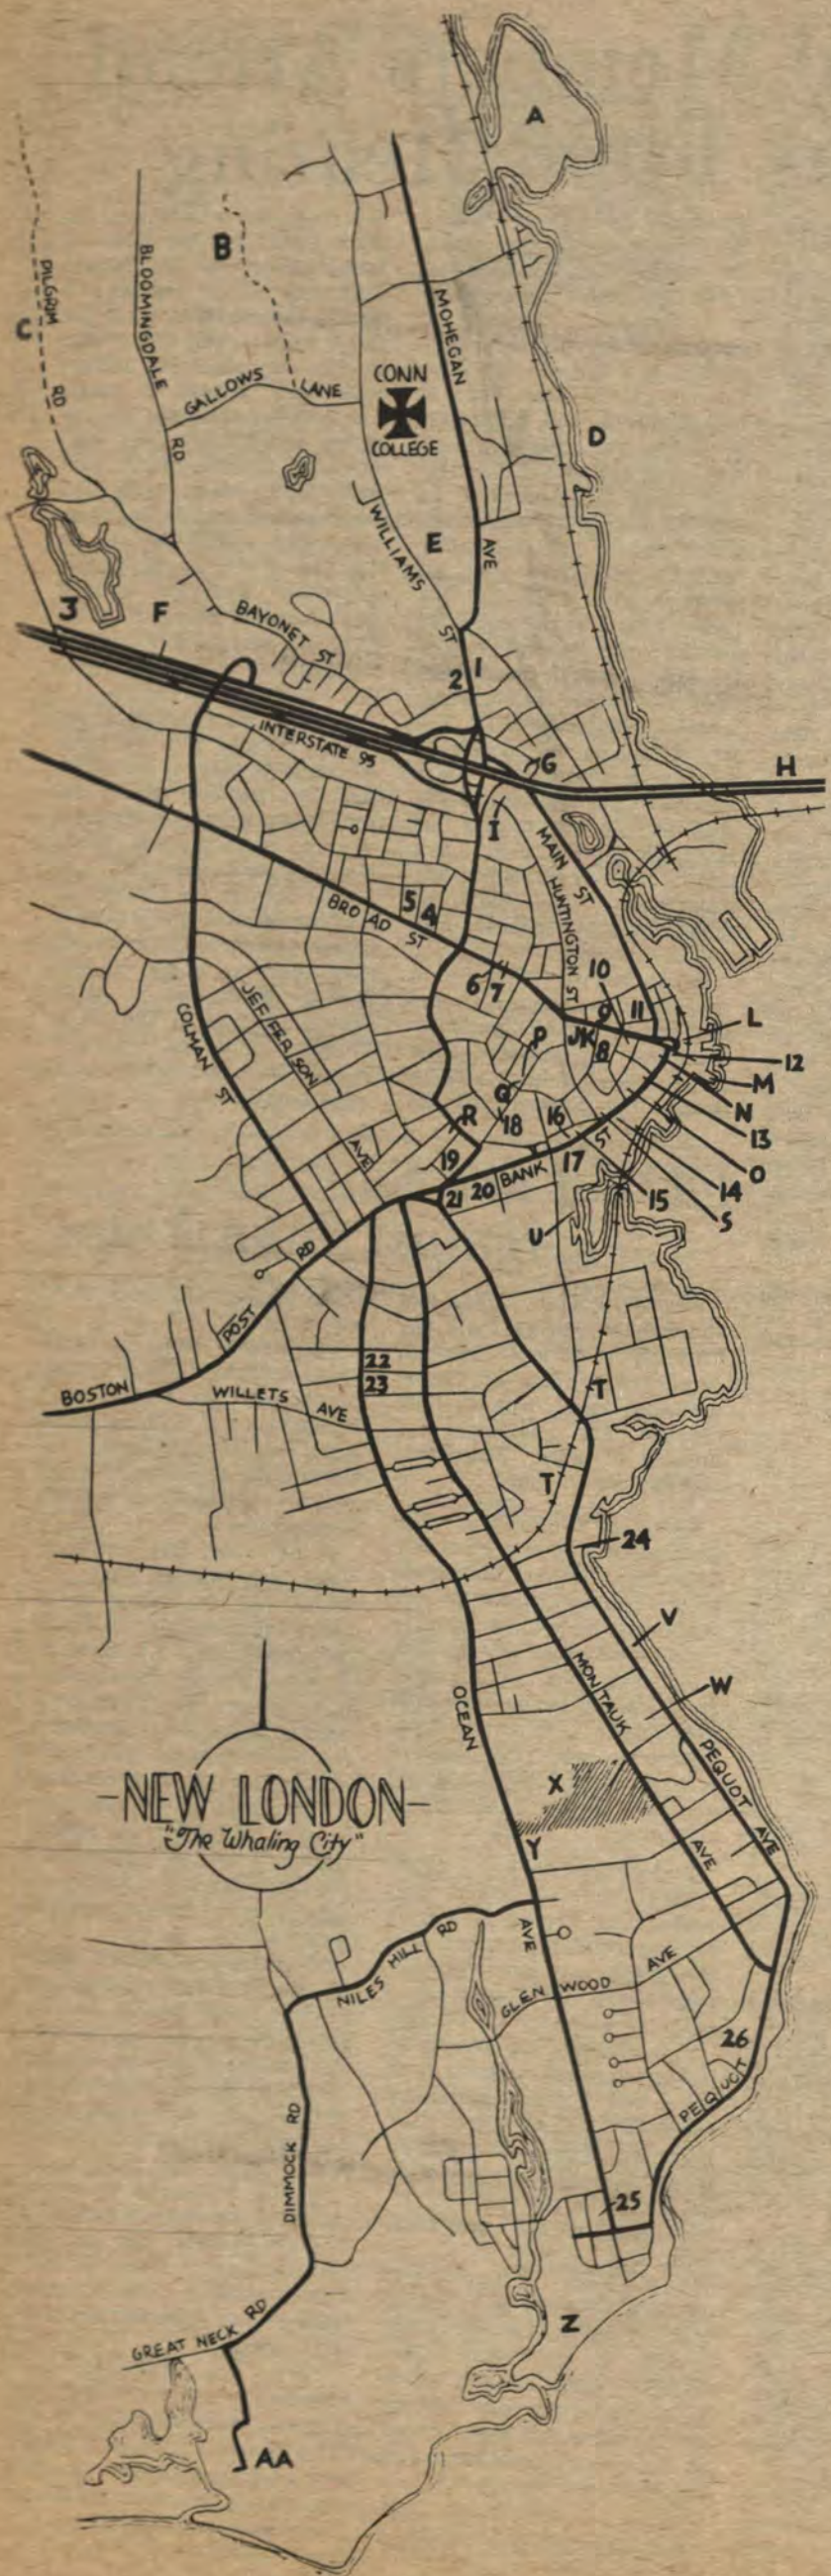

Y-Cemetery, Ocean Ave; Good for night visit; spooky tomb back with a mysterious object; glass vase—is it a human brain

Z-Ocean Beach; Broadwalk; lots of water; 1/2-mile shore; ugly rides and concessions outrageous rates; olympic pool miniature golf-whoopie

AA-Harkness Park; Eat-your-hear-out mansion and grounds; water; good for kites.

To be sure, many of New London's hottest spots have been omitted or overlooked. If you know of places that should have been included here, please tell Pundit.

UP CONNECTICUT COLLEGE?

For those people fortunate enough to have missed PUTNEY SWOPE over Winter Weekend, I congratulate you for not wasting your time. Though the posters advertising PUTNEY SWOPE read "Up Madison Avenue", they might as well have said "up the paying audience," because the movie seemed to be desired to take the viewer for the price of his ticket and offered little in return but a wasted evening.

The beginning of the movie was excellent and promised more than it actually gave. The chairman of the board of an advertising agency falls over dead after having a fit in a meeting with the board. The board, composed of one black man and nearly a dozen white men, must then elect a new chairman. Thinking that no one else will vote for the black man (who else but Putney Swope?), everyone cast a ballot for Swope. His acceptance speech begins with him saying he doesn't believe in rocking the boat, he believes in sinking it. The board is no longer white, but black. This is the first dynamic scene of the movie. This is the last dynamic scene of the movie.

PUTNEY SWOPE turned the advertising business upside down and amassed a fortune. This was accomplished, but there was nothing about the film or the character to make one cheer him on as he screwed Madison Avenue. Putney was just as corrupt as his predecessors. His ideas were not clever and original, merely tasteless.

No actor was outstanding. Each recited his lines with either no expression or too much expression. The photography left a great deal to be desired. The film seemed endless. There were a few (very few) amusing scenes in the film, but they didn't make up for the poor quality of a film with a bad script.

Hopefully the movie selections will be made more carefully in the future. It is much better to pay the dollar charged for a fine a film as Z (shown in Palmer on February 4) than to pay seventy-five cents to waste an evening with PUTNEY SWOPE.

Peace Corps, VISTA to Recruit Students

Representatives of Peace Corps and VISTA will be on campus to recruit specialists and generalists who wish to devote a year or two of their lives to working with the world's disadvantaged.

This year, for the first time, Peace Corps and VISTA recruit together. While their programs are still distinct they are now both part of a newly created organization called ACTION.

Peace Corps volunteers serve a two-year term overseas in one of 58 underdeveloped countries. Programs in Peace Corps are set up in cooperation with the host country and according to the needs of that country. As a result, a wide range of skilled volunteers are needed.

VISTA volunteers serve one year in the United States helping to counter the ignorance, apathy and prejudice which have historically dominated the poor in the depression and misery of poverty found in rural areas, Indian reservations, and migrant camps.

The eligibility requirements for Peace Corps and VISTA are similar. Eighteen is the minimum age; however, few applicants under 20 years old qualify for service. College graduates are preferred unless the applicant is a skilled tradesman or had lived or worked on a farm.

Action recruiters Mary Bowler (returned Peace Corps volunteer from Swaziland, Africa), Lloyd Lovejoy (former VISTA volunteer), and Emmanuel Apea (Host Country National from Ghana) will be on campus in the Student Government Room on Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 21-22. A movie will be shown at 5 p.m. on Tuesday in the Student Lounge, Crozier-Williams.

USCGA Clips Hippies; Dromedaries Defeated

Girls' Volleyball Beats Wesleyan

By FRANN AXELRAD

Conn College's girls' volleyball season began with a bang as they trounced the Wesleyan co-eds on February 14. Although Wesleyan had the advantage of playing on their home court, the nameless Conn netsmen (Camelettes? Coconuts? Bozoettes?) were victorious in both matches.

The power-packed punch of Les Revilock gave the First Team thirteen consecutive points in the opening minutes of the contest, leading them to a 15-0 shutout. Conn then proceeded to capture the match by pulling a quick 15-4 win in the next game.

After an easy 14-5 victory in the opener, Conn's Second Team allowed the home players a 15-8 win, in an effort to liven up an otherwise one-sided contest. Through consecutive serving and combined team effort, we clinched the match for our alma mater in a 15-13 cliffhanger.

The "spikers and setters" of Conn College have plans for continuing their winning record in matches against UConn, Mitchell, and Central Connecticut College. We will host the UConn game on March 9 at 7:00 p.m. and hope to be cheered on to victory by the rest of Conn's jocks.

It was a big day for the cadets, who showed their true colors and for all. Trailing 17-12 early in the first half, they put on a devastating press throughout the rest of the game and won easily. Ahead by 41 points with five seconds left, they still had the press on. The Coasties should be proud to have scored 110 points. After all, they tried awfully hard. Effort should always be rewarded.

Contrary to the impression one might get from the score, Conn played a good game. It was simply that the cadets were too good. Skip Lynch and Paul Lantz had 18 and 17 points respectively for the Camels. Jim Cawley, the season's scoring leader with a 26 ppg. average, was held to 12 points. To be honest, Jim was suffering from a sprained ankle.

This is the only game Conn will play against the Coast Guard this year as they don't want us to appear in their gym. I guess we're just no good enough to play there.

The Camels are now 2-8 for the season, with four games remaining on the schedule. They play Mohegan on Feb. 18th and St. Joseph's on the 19th. Both games are at home. The following Saturday, Conn hosts Manhattanville and a week from then the team travels to Vassar for the last game of the season.

Support for the team has been disappointing. Right now, we have a good team that deserves the support of everyone. Help the Camels!

Study of Freshman Year Announced

President Shain announced Monday that a study would be conducted of the effectiveness of the freshman year at Connecticut College.

Selected members of the class of 1975 shall be given interviews of approximately an hour in length, and a questionnaire shall be sent to all members of the class. It is hoped that the interviews will be completed and the questionnaires circulated before spring vacation. The results will be analyzed after vacation, and a completed report submitted to the faculty before the end of the school year.

President Shain explained that the chief goal of the study is to "find what our contemporary freshmen want" from their courses. Freshmen will be asked if they prefer more general courses at first, or if they wish to specialize earlier.

The amount of overlap between the senior year in high school and the freshman year will also be studied.

The specific goals of the study are few, Shain said. What is being sought after are the ideas and opinions of the freshmen on all academic aspects of their first year at Connecticut College, and not opinions on a few specific matters.

Dean Emeritus Noyes will supervise the interviewing, which will be done by "people close to the faculty," but not faculty themselves, Shain stated. Among the interviewers are Mrs. Thomas Havens and Tim Napier.

Although the study is separate from the American Council of Education questionnaires that each freshman fill out during the fall semester, the results of the questionnaires will be considered in the forthcoming survey.

Dance of light

"The Whimsical Dance of Animal Light"

Sonja Zarek and James Clouser of the Connecticut College Dane Department will lead the chapel service at Harkness Memorial Chapel, Sunday February 20 at 11 a.m.

This service will be made up of original songs and dances by Sonja and Jim that have been part of the programs that they have toured across the United States and Canada.

Sonja is a folk artist, composer and dance accompanist of the highest reputation. Jim was at one time ballet-master of the Royal Winnipeg Ballet and was on the faculty of the Juilliard School before coming to Connecticut College.

Known as Brady and Sonja, the couple have toured their programs of music and dance to many centers.

3 Million Registered to Vote

Approximately 3,000,000 18-20 year olds have registered to vote at a 2.7 to 1 Democratic rate, Robert Weiner, National Youth Registration coordinator for the young Democrats office at the Democratic National Committee, announced today. These are the results of a survey of secretaries of state and voter registration coordinators across the country by the young democrats' national headquarters in Washington, D.C.

This total represents 27 per cent of the 11½ million eligible 18-21 year olds with the presidential election coming up in more than ten months. The total registered at this early time surprises many political analysts who had predicted that young persons would not register in large numbers.

Results were obtained from thirty-two states, as well as a breakdown of party registration for fourteen.

The National Young Democrats, Weiner said have been conducting an intensive registration drive in the 18-20 year old age group since June 1, 1971. They have sent teams of canvassers to assist local groups, sponsored rock concerts, held statewide and local registration workshops, and utilized telephone banks and other techniques. College, high school and non-student youth groups besides the Young Democrats which have contributed to what he termed, "an excellent beginning." He stressed, however that it is only a beginning, and that the critical period for registering young voters will be the next six months, in order for these voters to have the maximum impact on next year's Presidential, Congressional, and local elections.

Weiner cited the 2.7 to 1 Democratic to Republican registration ratio nationwide as proof that "the young people of America are ready for constructive, responsible change."

that flexibility. There was great interest in half-semester courses for Freshman and a general consensus that something must be done about Freshman Orientation Period."

Fran Wocjicki, house president of Jane Addams remarked that she felt "the meeting was generally informative. There seemed, however, to be objections by the faculty to the idea of half semester courses, although everyone agreed that something must be done about the freshman year."

Nancy Carniglia, house

president of Park also felt the meeting was a success. She mentioned that, "Some people felt half-semester courses on special topics should be available to the upper-classmen as well as to the freshmen. It was also suggested that each department hold a discussion of the courses offered in the department before registration, and senior volunteers be trained as advisors rather than faculty. It was also pointed out that students are now allowed to see their final exams, a fact which seems not to be generally known."
