Cell Phone Tower Still in Limbo Student Support Spurs Exam Vote

By Thomas McEvoy

In a closed event this past Friday, Tom Ridge, Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) and former governor of Pennsylvania, spoke to the Coast Guard Academy. Ridge was created one minute after the tsunami arrived on December 11, 2003 by President Bush, in one of the largest re-organizations of the federal bureaucracy in decades. When this happened, the Coast Guard Academy, which had been under the Department of the Treasury, was placed under DHS. Since then, Ridge has come to be widely popular with the CGA.

The Secretary's motherly duty can always be caused by policy expert at a few minutes after 7 PM. While cadets seized his arrival in the auditorium, the CGA's top-notch jazz band entertained with some classic jazz vocals.

Entering the auditorium behind Section Service officers, in perfect silence while cadets and officers stood at attention, Ridge took his seat on the stage. After introductions by a cadet and a Rear Admiral at the Academy, Ridge approached the podium as cadets cheered and provoked acute excitement among the audience. He also quipped "Give me a hand!" before turning to the audience and saying, "I..."
Flynn protesters miss the mark

The verbal and physical tactics used by Conn students to disrupt the lecture of out-of-town conservative commentator Dan Flynn this past Monday night, as well as similar moves for future speakers who wish to protest as campus. While it is commendable that students possess progressive political views that they express and defend with utmost conviction, it is simply counterproductive, hypocritical, and disrespectful for students to repeatedly attempt not to even point out, but to silence the voice of the opposition.

One member of the audience stood in front of Flynn for the duration of his speech, physically blocking the speaker from the view of the audience. Such an obstruction interfered with the ability of the speaker to convey his ideas to those present, people that had decided to take time out of their day to see him speak. It is one thing to express with the voices expressed by a speaker. In fact, dissent is a crucial component of any well-informed political society. However, for dissent to be effective it cannot be fame-fed to individuals who may wish to form opinions on their own. It simply makes sense for an individual to group to attempt to prevent someone’s opinion from being voiced, wisely or not, because they do not agree with it.

As Flynn travels to several college campuses per week to express, solely because they do not agree with Fainstein to members of Physical Plant or Dining Services, he was not the only one who was silent during the event. One member of the audience stood in front of Flynn for the duration of his speech, physically blocking the speaker from the view of those present, people that had decided to take time out of their day to see him speak. It is one thing to express dissent with the voices expressed by a speaker. In fact, dissent is a crucial component of any well-informed political society. However, for dissent to be effective it cannot be fame-fed to individuals who may wish to form opinions on their own. It simply makes sense for an individual to group to attempt to prevent someone’s opinion from being voiced, wisely or not, because they do not agree with it.

As seniors in the Museum Studies Certificate Program, we have benefited from the experience of being Flynn Alyn in the College Ayns. The Museum has played a significant role in the Muscum Studies Program at Connecticut College. By providing the students and faculty of Connecticut College with a computer screen or editing by hand if we’re out of computers (we have six (barely) working computers, one phone line is not available for sale because of the Klan ever decides to hold a rally at Conn, I’ll protest with you. Until then, I’m writing to express my disgust with the content of Flynn’s typecasting of the place where free speech is stifled by PC reactionaries)

The acts of protest engaged in last Monday by some individuals reflect poorly on the entire College community and the Lyman Allyn Art Museum. The voice of the students and faculty of Connecticut College is valued and appreciated by the administration with regard to the Lyman Allyn Museum. We have emphasized that the museum is valued and appreciated by the students and faculty of Connecticut College.

The acts of protest engaged in last Monday by some individuals reflect poorly on the entire College community and the Lyman Allyn Art Museum. The voice of the students and faculty of Connecticut College is valued and appreciated by the administration with regard to the Lyman Allyn Museum. We have emphasized that the museum is valued and appreciated by the students and faculty of Connecticut College.

I DON’T KNOW ABOUT THIS “CLASS AT THE COAST GUARD THING”...I DON’T WANT TO SPEAK AT THE COAST GUARD THING. I DON’T KNOW ABOUT THIS “CLASS AT THE COAST GUARD THING”...I DON’T WANT TO SPEAK AT THE COAST GUARD THING.

I DON’T KNOW ABOUT THIS “CLASS AT THE COAST GUARD THING”...I DON’T WANT TO SPEAK AT THE COAST GUARD THING. I DON’T KNOW ABOUT THIS “CLASS AT THE COAST GUARD THING”...I DON’T WANT TO SPEAK AT THE COAST GUARD THING.
Opinion

The Democratic Party

JORDAN GEARY

I don't pretend that I was smart enough to come up with the idea for this week's column all by myself. I was leaning back and enjoying a drink, only to be interrupted by my roommate, who informed me that the Democratic Party is in the midst of deciding whether or not to move to the center of the political spectrum. This news made me consider the topic of the Democratic Party in general, and I came to the conclusion that the party is in need of a new strategy.

All things for all people

The Democratic Party, at least as we know it today, has been characterized by its focus on economic and social justice. While this is a noble goal, it has led to the party being seen as too liberal for many voters. In order to compete in the 21st century, the Democratic Party must adopt a more moderate stance if it hopes to attract a broader base of voters.

The Democratic Party, like any political party, needs to adapt to the changing political landscape. The party must also find a way to appeal to the younger generation, who are more concerned with issues like climate change and social justice. This is a difficult task, but one that is necessary if the party wants to remain relevant.

A new strategy

The Democratic Party must find a way to balance the party's traditional values with the needs of the modern voter. This could involve adopting a more centrist position on issues like healthcare and immigration, or focusing on issues like student debt and affordable housing. While this may mean disappointing some of the party's traditional supporters, it is necessary if the party wants to remain relevant and competitive.

In conclusion, the Democratic Party needs to find a new strategy if it hopes to remain relevant and competitive in the 21st century. This will involve adopting a more centrist position on issues and appealing to a broader base of voters. The party must also find a way to balance its traditional values with the needs of the modern voter.

Glotney, J.D. - Opinion

The Rooftop of Africa

Bijan Omid-Oono & Christian Zehnder

A View From Gazebo

The beauty of the moment was great. One even thought what the future would be like. The moment was only for a few days, but the future was for the people. Not for the tourists in their goliath coats. The African traders who hanno't even seen the beauty of a goliath. They can't wait to see the beauty that they will see. The future is for them, not for the tourists who can't wait to take photos that they will share with the world. The future is for the people.

End of a moment

The moment was over, and with it, the beauty of the moment. The African traders were left waiting for the future, and the tourists were left with memories of the past. The moment was a beautiful moment, but it was also a fleeting moment, one that will never be forgotten.

The Rooftop of Africa, October 21, 2003

A SPRING BREAK NEEDED

Work for Sunsplash Tours and Travel for 2004's Hottest Destinations & Parties

It's "Real"... 2 free trips / high commissions

Apply now: sac@sunsplash.com or call 1-842-767-7101

Get an opinion you just can't hide!

Contact Ben Morse at 7334 to write for Op/Ed
Road to Comedy Steers Clear of Errors, Ends in Success

****
Rating: ****

Comedy of Errors Succeeds in Making Shakespeare Accessible for All, Humorous Performances Cover Any Glaring Weaknesses

By Kristen New

A lot of people are a little apprehensive about seeing a Shakespeare play - myself included. I’ve always been a little nervous that I would be unable to follow what was going on. I know I can trust my theater sensibilities, that I will know what’s going on, but, to be honest, my concern is valid. I think so, however, that I left Connecticut College’s Garage Theater with the Performances of Shakespeare’s “The Comedy of Errors” in my pocket, and I’m pleased that I did. This show was absolutely hilarious and enjoyed it by my fellow spectators. For me, the play was totally accessible and enjoyable, and when I think about it, that’s not surprising, because to me, I think the play was also about love and relationships. It’s a story of two sets of twins corrupted by a series of unfortunate errors that sets the stage for a comedic series of events. But the real surprise is that the play is actually quite funny, and the audience was laughing throughout the performance. I was surprised at how well the director managed to keep the audience engaged and prevented the play from feeling dull or monotonous. The play was well-acted, with each actor bringing their own unique style to the role. The pacing was perfect, with enough pauses for laughter and enough action to keep the audience on their toes. The set was simple but effective, with just a few props used to create the necessary atmosphere. Overall, I really enjoyed this production of “The Comedy of Errors” and think it would be a great choice for anyone looking for a fun and entertaining night out.
Go Fish: More Than a Card Game

After last week's somewhat disappointing social experiment with Cardama's, my Californian friend was on a mission to satisfy his craving for some quality playing cards. Luckily for us, the University's Grill and Fish Restaurant recently added a new California-themed fish to its menu, the Fish. This restaurant is located in the heart of Old Mission Village, known for its rustic charm and warm hospitality. The restaurant offers a variety of fish dishes, including the famous California Rainbow, made famous by the locals.

The California Rainbow is a popular dish that consists of raw tuna, avocado, and wakame seaweed. The dish is beautifully presented and expertly prepared. The tuna is fresh and juicy, the avocado is creamy and smooth, and the wakame seaweed adds a unique flavor and texture. The dish is served with a side of wasabi and ginger, and the combination of flavors is simply delicious.

One special item on the menu is the Spicy Hamachi, which is a yellowtail fish dish served with pico de gallo and cucumber. The dish is spicy and flavorful, and the crunch of the cucumber adds a refreshing contrast.

The Fish also offers a variety of sushi rolls, including the Yaki Maid and Sansei Rolls, both of which are highly recommended. The Yaki Maid is a medley of distinct colors combined to give the sushi an impressive appearance. The Sansei Roll is a perfect “rainy day” or “read before bed” book. It is easy to read with believable characters and a touching story. The Sansei Roll is the perfect gift for anyone who enjoys a good book.

The Fish also offers a variety of appetizers, including the Tempura Calamari, which is a classic favorite. The dish is perfectly cooked and flavorful. The Fish also offers a variety of desserts, including the popular cheesecake and chocolate cake.

The service at the Fish is friendly and attentive. The staff is knowledgeable and helpful, and they are always willing to accommodate any dietary restrictions. The Fish also offers a variety of wine and beer selections, and the staff is happy to make recommendations.

In conclusion, the Fish is a must-visit restaurant for anyone looking for a delicious and authentic California experience. The menu offers a variety of fish dishes, sushi rolls, and appetizers, all expertly prepared and beautifully presented. The service is friendly and attentive, and the atmosphere is warm and inviting. The Fish is a true gem of a restaurant, and I highly recommend it to anyone.

ELIZABETH GREENMAN

Spring Break '04 with Student Body Club and Maxim Magazine Get hooked up with Free Tickets, Free Drinks & Free Maxim Magazines! Choose from 1 of the hottest destinations - Spring Break '04 w/ Drink Ministry+
• Pour House-
• Tiki Bar-
• Blue Martini-
• Crockett's-
• Hard Rock Cafe-
• Lakeshore Records (free tickets for the show)-

SPRING BREAK!
Professor Eugene Gallagher Commended by State of Connecticut

When asked why he thought Professor Eugene Gallagher was a good teacher, Irene Fish replied, "He’s not a good teacher, he’s THE BEST teacher there is." This won pretty much the general consensus among students who have taken his classes. Shippa Crowell, who took Religion 101, said: "Professor Gallagher brings something to the subject of religion. He is interesting and enthusiastic, and you can really tell that he loves what he does."

Professor Gallagher isn’t one to talk about himself. In his opinion he doesn’t do anything special, but just doing his job to be the best teacher he can be. He really cares about his students and their welfare, he is an excellent teacher who is a role model to his students and utilizes innovative teaching methods.

Professor Gallagher, a specialist in the history of religions, new religious movements, and religious terrorism, has written and co-authored many books, such as "When Jesus Came to Conquer the Nations," "Multiculturalists in America," "Catholics and Communists," and "The Lion and the Lamb". After September 11th, he was instrumental in helping students understand the religious motives behind the attack, and even taught a class called "Religion and Terrorism," which nearly 200 students attended.

Professor Gallagher acclaimed a large portion of his success to the "great teacher, he’s the BEST teacher there is." Nicole Adams, Treasurer and Co-Chair of the FemMaj, recently renovated their branch of The Women’s Center in Freeman Renovated. "Our energy. We really need people to jump in and help."

Women’s Center in Freeman Renovated

The Connecticut College chapter of the Feminist Majority Leadership Alliance, also referred to as FMLA, is an entirely autonomous student club of Women’s Center in Freeman Renovated. Four members of the club worked hard, organized the event’s logistics, and accepted the space with curator. The renovations took about this Friday and Saturday night in the meeting room until 4:30 in the afternoon.

The group devises the support and attention from the College campus on a whole, including input as to ideas for various image of the room and decorating conferences.

Rachel Chase, President of the FMLA at Conn and Assistant Director of the Women’s Gender Resource Center, commented, "Needless to say, we were really proud! Some people pooled their heads inside the room and helped and we are all really grateful."

The organization's goal is to establish a grassroots, taking his classes. Shayna Crowell, who took Religion 101 as a freshman, said that, "Professor Gallagher brings necessary staff and resources, the group needs more of Teaching. Council for Advancement and Support of Education and the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement working hard, for engaging in serious study, and who relish what they are doing in the classroom. I count myself something to the subject of religion. He is interesting and enthusiastic, and you can really tell that he loves what he does."

Professor Gallagher isn’t one to talk about himself. In his opinion he doesn’t do anything special, but just doing his job to be the best teacher he can be. He really cares about his students and their welfare, he is an excellent teacher who is a role model to his students and utilizes innovative teaching methods.

Professor Gallagher, a specialist in the history of religions, new religious movements, and religious terrorism, has written and co-authored many books, such as "When Jesus Came to Conquer the Nations," "Multiculturalists in America," "Catholics and Communists," and "The Lion and the Lamb". After September 11th, he was instrumental in helping students understand the religious motives behind the attack, and even taught a class called "Religion and Terrorism," which nearly 200 students attended.

Professor Gallagher acclaimed a large portion of his success to the "great teacher, he’s the BEST teacher there is." Nicole Adams, Treasurer and Co-Chair of the FemMaj, recently renovated their branch of The Women’s Center in Freeman Renovated. "Our energy. We really need people to jump in and help."

Women’s Center in Freeman Renovated

The Connecticut College chapter of the Feminist Majority Leadership Alliance, also referred to as FMLA, is an entirely autonomous student club of Women’s Center in Freeman Renovated. Four members of the club worked hard, organized the event’s logistics, and accepted the space with curator. The renovations took about this Friday and Saturday night in the meeting room until 4:30 in the afternoon.

The group devises the support and attention from the College campus on a whole, including input as to ideas for various image of the room and decorati

Dan Flynn Sparks Controversy on Conn’s Campus

“Mama, can I have another balloon?” asked 4 year-old Ben as he threw his eighth balloon to the ceiling. His parents watched with mixed emotions as the balloon popped and a shower of confetti filled the air.

“Not now Ben, you’ve already had eight balloons!” exclaimed his mother, Mary. Ben sat down, his eyes wide with disappointment.

“Fine, I’ll give you two more,” said Mary, handing him two more balloons. Ben’s face lit up with excitement.

Later that day, Ben was playing with his new toys when he heard a loud knock on the door.

“Who’s there?” asked Mary, getting up from the couch.

“Halloween Candy,” replied a familiar voice.

Mary opened the door to reveal a group of neighborhood children.

“Hi Ben, happy Halloween!”

Ben, who was dressed as a pumpkin, happily handed out candy to all the children who stopped by.

That night, Ben slept soundly, dreaming of the trick-or-treating fun he had that day.

The next day, Ben was eager to return to his Halloween adventures. He dressed up in his costume and was ready to go trick-or-treating again. But this time, he had a new friend by his side - his Rubik’s cube.

Ben and his Rubik’s cube went door-to-door, collecting candy as usual. But Ben soon realized that his Rubik’s cube had a mind of its own.

Each time the cube was solved, it would vanish, only to reappear when Ben reached for it.

“Aha!” exclaimed Ben, realizing that his Rubik’s cube was a magical toy. He decided to keep the cube as his new Halloween tradition.

That night, Ben and his Rubik’s cube sat by the fireplace, enjoying the comfort of their new tradition. And as Ben drifted off to sleep, he thought about all the fun adventures he would have with his magical Rubik’s cube. The end.
Fall Concert: A Story in Two Pictures

(please specify your favorite in each category. Choose only one)

Movies
- Favorite movie (all-time)?
- Favorite movie (in the last year)?
  - Favorite character?
  - Favorite villain?
  - Favorite actor?
  - Favorite actress?
  - Favorite director?
  - Favorite drama?
  - Favorite comedy?
  - Favorite action movie?
  - Favorite romance?
  - Favorite sports movie?
  - Favorite genre?

Television
- Favorite show (all-time)?
- Favorite show (current)?
  - Favorite character?
  - Favorite actor?
  - Favorite actress?
  - Favorite sitcom?
  - Favorite soap opera?
  - Favorite channel?
  - Favorite news program?
  - Favorite series finale?
  - Favorite made-for-TV movie?

Sports
- Favorite sport?
  - Favorite male athlete (all-time)?
  - Favorite male athlete (current)?
  - Favorite female athlete (all-time)?
  - Favorite female athlete (current)?
  - Favorite team (all-time)?
  - Favorite team (current)?
  - Favorite moment?

Books
- Favorite book (all-time)?
- Favorite book (recent)?
  - Favorite author?
  - Favorite newspaper, magazine, etc.?
  - Favorite male character?
  - Favorite female character?

Food
- Favorite food?
  - Favorite restaurant (local)?
  - Favorite restaurant (anywhere)?
  - Favorite snack (that you keep in your dorm room)?
  - Favorite beverage (alcoholic)?
  - Favorite beverage (non-alcoholic)?

Fashion
- Favorite clothing brand?
- Favorite clothing outfit?
- Favorite clothing color?

Shopping
- Favorite store (local)?
- Favorite store (anywhere)?

Miscellaneous
- Favorite car?
- Favorite color?
- Favorite city?
- Favorite state?

Conn
- Favorite dorm?
- Favorite outdoor location on campus?
- Favorite department (doesn't have to be your own)?
- Favorite professor?
- Favorite class (one you've taught or taken)?
- Favorite place to eat?
- Favorite meal?
- Favorite sports team?
- Favorite intramural?
- Favorite Camelympics activity?
- Favorite theatrical performance?
- Favorite acapella group?
- Favorite non-acapella performing group?
- Favorite dance performance?
- Favorite literary publication (Voice, Ethos, Expose, etc.)?
- Favorite section of the College Voice?
- Favorite column in the College Voice?

Are We Forgetting Something...
Please feel free to write in your own categories and choices

Please fill this out, get your friends to fill this out, get your parents to fill this out, get the alumni who lives down the street to fill this out and get them back to us by the end of Thanksgiving break! Thanks!
These suggestions will be clarified and brought back to the Assembly.

Knowlton was absent.

Student Open Forum

Philip Gedeon asked if the coffee cans are being used properly. Some students' needs. There will be an open dinner on 12/2 to discuss this.

There are two full sheets of names. Alex Sandman asked more about punishments for smoking.

Dean Miltsone mentioned that Blackstone may not be substance free anymore because of downloading them onto their computer through Outlook Express.

Maybe an update is needed.

Student Support Spans Exam Vote

continued from page 6

Dorms that they think will promote diversity. Theoretically things that are important where people must smoke, but where we would like them to throw out instead of a "plurality," in a constitution process.

Philip Gedeon mentioned that Blackstone may not be substance free anymore.

Announcements

Holly Simpson mentioned that Health Services will be handing out a survey about students' needs. There will be an open dinner on 12/2 to discuss this.

There are two full sheets of names.

Alex Sandman asked more about punishments for smoking.

Dean Miltsone mentioned that Blackstone may not be substance free anymore.
LET THE TRUTH BE TOLD!

TAYLOR CUMMINS
Ripple Media

...the first time I bought her brou..."...

removal of forks from the dining halls for a day...remembrance of Black Solidarity Day have encouraged...

II

THE ROOFTOP OF ÁFRICA

I. DÜRR-DÜRR: ÖNSÖN & CHRISTIAN ÖNSÖN • A YEAR FROM GAZU

9

Every year, thousands of trees are cleared by unscrupulous environmental violators. Pursue their fate too has been using toxic fertilizers and chemicals and this affects the environment in a big way. Governments, in the region, have caved in to the deception of non-renewable forests and this has resulted in the devastation of the ecosystem of the area.

The Chagga people of Tanzania live on a thin slice of arid land. This is the reason why Mount Kenya (Kerinyaga) is a sanctuary, a sacred place of worship. As the saying goes, the writing is on the wall. East African nations are on the threshold of an ecological disaster.

Alcohol Research Center
VA Connecticut Healthcare System

Ages 21+30

You may be eligible for a research project testing the brain’s reaction to alcohol.

$150/ per day

Costs

Alcohol use

GMAT class starting on campus
Saturday, October 4
10:30am

Classes meet every Saturday until 12/6.

For more information call Kaplan at
(203) 789-1169.

World Leader in Test Prep and Admissions

KAPLAN
1-800-KAP-TEST
kaptest.com/business

Comedy of Errors: Department, Cast & Crew Work Together to Persevere Through Character Changes & Challenges

Continued from page 2...

Lorenzo misinterpreted the time he had at his disposal by having Wieder and the cast members running separate steamers at the same time as he shot, and ending up everybody together and unloading script and ideas from an entire cut and come.

"By allowing the cast to almost totally block the show, Michael created the same sort of interaction that we have in other shows, but didn't hinder our work.""

The next show, which was kicked off last weekend, has been a wise choice. It was wise enough to make something special happen. Payson and his team have turned a corner and things seem to be progressing in the right direction.

"It was never an occasion when we felt like we didn't have time to explore and experiment with what we did. Michael pushed hard and fast but we didn't hinder our work."

This weekend, after all the characters and hard work, the collaborative efforts of the cast, crew, and multiple direct-1es of CU.'s production of "The Comedy of Errors,"

...an insight into the whole world.

"If you have a complaint or thoughts regarding this column, please write to the editor in care of service@vconn tóc or contact the directly listed number for further information.

KAPLAN
1-800-KAP-TEST
kaptest.com/business

#12310 Refi#06

clicker recording, the dash has already been cast.

The evidence of the retreat and the loss of large ice bodies is overwhelming. If Kilimanjaro were to be our Mount Lonely at the Top, we would not see a natural withdrawal of the snows, as we have in the past.

The show will feature a number of local talent (see Calendar page 4).

The Rooftop of África

The show will feature a number of local talent (see Calendar page 4).

Tidaline, come to their show at Cro's Nest this Saturday at 9:00. We have every reason to get to that club that night. The show is a good opportunity to learn about collaboration and to just go with the flow.

Many of the cast members have been using toxic fertilizers and chemicals and this affects the environment in a big way. Governments, in the region, have caved in to the deception of non-renewable forests and this has resulted in the devastation of the ecosystem of the area.

The Chagga people of Tanzania live on a thin slice of arid land. This is the reason why Mount Kenya (Kerinyaga) is a sanctuary, a sacred place of worship. As the saying goes, the writing is on the wall. East African nations are on the threshold of an ecological disaster.

The Rooftop of África

The show will feature a number of local talent (see Calendar page 4).

Tidaline, come to their show at Cro's Nest this Saturday at 9:00. We have every reason to get to that club that night. The show is a good opportunity to learn about collaboration and to just go with the flow.

Many of the cast members have been using toxic fertilizers and chemicals and this affects the environment in a big way. Governments, in the region, have caved in to the deception of non-renewable forests and this has resulted in the devastation of the ecosystem of the area.

The Chagga people of Tanzania live on a thin slice of arid land. This is the reason why Mount Kenya (Kerinyaga) is a sanctuary, a sacred place of worship. As the saying goes, the writing is on the wall. East African nations are on the threshold of an ecological disaster.

The Rooftop of África
Theater

Theater brings Grateful Dead cover band Great Laughing at Mistakes

Theatre brings Grateful Dead cover band Great Laughing at Mistakes.

Great Laughing at Mistakes means chac Iwm nocacsc myyocelor acomprom~se.

Free.

There is no reason we can't struggle.

There is no reason we can't struggle.

Department play "A Comedy of Errors," we listed the CamelWeb (wrong director and wrong showtimes (thanks to sloppy editing by Editor-in-Chief Ben Morse)

Friday, November 21

All Jazzed Up

After a weekend of cover bands and rains, take an opportunity with Virtues Variations to June, the faculty director of Nita Rogen. She'll be on the stage, while an assortment of guest performers will round out the show.

8:00pm, Evans Hall, Commencement

Thanks A Lot

Why isn't Camel Guide to short this week? Because all campus events and activities swarmed to a halt today when Thanksgiving Break begins at 5:00pm. See you all next week (of course Dan meant to say "See you in two weeks," since we don't have an issue next week, thanks to the just mentioned break. Happy Thanksgiving, everybody!)

This space for rent

Students can advertise

Call Sarah Mercurio at Call x2812 today!

Call Sarall Mercurio at

Call Sarah Mercurio at Call x2812 today!

Warior Wisdom

"The battle between the alternatives has existed since the beginning of time. Over time good always prevails over what is evil. Same end result with true over false, right over wrong. A compromise between any of the two is only a matter of what is negative and destructive and only prolongs the clear, decisive victory of what is good and constructive and constructive rather than negative and destructive. It is going to have more time to run its course because the compromise others are willing to make, it will do so without any assurance that it will lead to any solution, and even then, at least, I means that I will not cast my vote for a compromise."

(Excerpt from the Warrior Wisdom column intellectual property of former wrestling super-)

Girl Reporter

Frances Bergher

November 21

Living Dead

There's no MOBRO show this weekend, but that doesn't mean that just because bands have to lease campuses to get their weekly fee. Tonight Friday Nights Live presents brings Grateful Dead cover band Great Laughing at Mistakes.

Arizona

Student quoted above, who disagreed with Mr. Plyn.

William A.

We feel that the response of the administration is not indicative of the student and faculty sentiment towards the University of Connecticut and the MOBRO show. We believe that the students and faculty feel that the University of Connecticut is severely lacking in raves. That all innocent campus to the thumping world of underground music which may not be enough to get you down to campus safety to claim your missing stuff, or come over to me at a loss and also somewhat shocked. We pride ourselves as being a more open-minded institution, but when a group with a differing opinion decides to try to make their voice heard, we automatically label them as "radical" or "overly stupid" because their opinion may not fall in line with what we consider the presented norm on campus. How are you any better than them when you're doing something like that? You are doing what you are accusing others of doing, and quite honestly embarrassing yourself and the rest of the more liberal minded on campus.

It is the way in which CC Left responded that was bothersome to me, and a lot and also somewhat shocked. We pride ourselves as being a more open-minded institution, but when a group with a differing opinion decides to try to make their voice heard, we automatically label them as "radical" or "overly stupid" because their opinion may not fall in line with what we consider the presented norm on campus. How are you any better than them when you're doing something like that? You are doing what you are accusing others of doing, and quite honestly embarrassing yourself and the rest of the more liberal minded on campus.

It is the way in which CC Left responded that was bothersome to me, and a lot and also somewhat shocked. We pride ourselves as being a more open-minded institution, but when a group with a differing opinion decides to try to make their voice heard, we automatically label them as "radical" or "overly stupid" because their opinion may not fall in line with what we consider the presented norm on campus. How are you any better than them when you're doing something like that? You are doing what you are accusing others of doing, and quite honestly embarrassing yourself and the rest of the more liberal minded on campus.

It is the way in which CC Left responded that was bothersome to me, and a lot and also somewhat shocked. We pride ourselves as being a more open-minded institution, but when a group with a differing opinion decides to try to make their voice heard, we automatically label them as "radical" or "overly stupid" because their opinion may not fall in line with what we consider the presented norm on campus. How are you any better than them when you're doing something like that? You are doing what you are accusing others of doing, and quite honestly embarrassing yourself and the rest of the more liberal minded on campus.

It is the way in which CC Left responded that was bothersome to me, and a lot and also somewhat shocked. We pride ourselves as being a more open-minded institution, but when a group with a differing opinion decides to try to make their voice heard, we automatically label them as "radical" or "overly stupid" because their opinion may not fall in line with what we consider the presented norm on campus. How are you any better than them when you're doing something like that? You are doing what you are accusing others of doing, and quite honestly embarrassing yourself and the rest of the more liberal minded on campus.

It is the way in which CC Left responded that was bothersome to me, and a lot and also somewhat shocked. We pride ourselves as being a more open-minded institution, but when a group with a differing opinion decides to try to make their voice heard, we automatically label them as "radical" or "overly stupid" because their opinion may not fall in line with what we consider the presented norm on campus. How are you any better than them when you're doing something like that? You are doing what you are accusing others of doing, and quite honestly embarrassing yourself and the rest of the more liberal minded on campus.
Mountain Bike Club Up and Riding

By Denny Pax

Recently approved for funding by the SGA, the Connecticut College Mountain Bike Club is poised to bring its unique sport to campus. Prior to this year, Conn College had a club for individuals interested in the aspect of biking, but there was only a campus cycling club (CCCLV) that was focused on mostly road riding.

Last year a group of six friends often rode together every week, challenging one another and developing new skills and tips. This year under the leadership of the club’s president and founder Ben Ramos, this group of friends formed the club and applied to the SGA for funding. Over the course of this semester the club has grown in numbers from its original six to a core group of eighteen individuals. “Hopefully the club will still grow even more,” Ramos said about the success of the club. “You will have more people interested in joining this spring. A number of them are athletes on other teams and some are still busy with their other commitments.”

The club is overseen by board chairman John Ramos as president, Adam Romanow as vice president, Alex Jodoin as treasurer, and John Hansen as secretary. The club usually consists of students at this point, but faculty and staff are encouraged to join as well. In the future the club hopes to expand more and possibly start racing in early races.

The club is open to all riders with all levels of experience, from the beginner to the advanced and experienced riders. The club mainly consists of students at this point, but faculty and staff are encouraged to join as well. “In the future the club hopes to expand more and possibly start racing in early races,” Ramos stated, “and sometimes those can be hard to find.”

Every Sunday the club meets at noon to depart on a group ride to various local areas. The club’s favorite location is Bluff Point State Park, though Miller’s Pond is a popular destination as well. Every member of the club also has a phone list of riders who are interested in going as well. “Every rider who has been a part of the club with me. Everyone knows they can always call me for a ride,” Ramos said.

In its first season the club has ridden over five thousand miles.

The 12th Annual Nassau/Paradise Island, Cancun, Jamaica and Acapulco from $489. Air, Hotel, Transfers, Parties and More! Organize small group - earn FREE TRIPS plus commissions!

Call 1-800-GET-SUN-1

For more information about our trip, please call us at 1-800-GET-SUN-1 or visit www.springbreakcom.vh.com.

The Connecticut College men’s cross country team entered the 2003 season a young team, with only one junior, two sophomores and one graduate student. Despite the fact that seven sophomores and three freshmen made up the bulk of the team, the squad would prove to be little indicators of the Camels’ performance towards the end of the season.

Despite losing six runners to graduation from last year’s team that finished fourth in New England and second to a top 25 place in the ECAC Championships, and the NACC Championships, the New England Division III Championship was held earlier in November.

"We are a young team, having graduated many seniors last year," said Caitlin Connors ’07. "Although our performance was not as strong as last year’s, there were certainly many standout performances and I believe we look forward to next season.”

The Camels ran a 6th place finish at Middlebury College, with an impressive 15th place out of 33 teams. The winner was Middlebury, with 307 points. The home team, Tufts, finished second in the competition. The women’s cross-country team finished 3rd for the team and improve her 6k best time up the season, and we felt pretty good about our performance. We had a big focus in this year’s team, which was a key ingredient to our success.

The race was run in awful conditions. The weather was cold and it was raining. The conditions were very challenging and hard. The course was hilly, and the rain made it muddy. But we soldiered on and tried to do our best, the race is still. All my records are lost to the rain.

People say that Lechman is big talk up to any of the types that were in the lineup, his hitting was just too dominant. The Camels are good because they always maintain the top level. They are the disciplined type of hitter the A’s need. Joe Kielty, Beane has created, whether it’s the A’s competitive. To do this, the Illinois GM made a couple of trades that put this post with what I think of this, especially coming out of a place like Dartmouth, but I know that Keggy means what he says. If the team wants to do it with the team, the team needs to do it with the team, the team needs to do it with the team.

The A’s competitive. To do this, the Illinois GM made a couple of trades that put this post with what I think of this, especially coming out of a place like Dartmouth, but I know that Keggy means what he says. If the team wants to do it with the team, the team needs to do it with the team, the team needs to do it with the team.

The A’s competitive. To do this, the Illinois GM made a couple of trades that put this post with what I think of this, especially coming out of a place like Dartmouth, but I know that Keggy means what he says. If the team wants to do it with the team, the team needs to do it with the team, the team needs to do it with the team.