NEW PLAN PRESENTED FOR STUDENT GOVERNMENT.

The new plan for reorganization involves many changes—some will be easily noticeable. Others will be detected only after a gradual appreciation of their worth. The most prominent changes take place in the structure of the plan—the redistribution of power to give more girls more responsibility, and this warranting better representation, and the application of the duties and functions to each organized department. The more subtle changes have to do with the administration of the newly devised powers.

In order to understand fully the operation of any kind of mechanism, it is profitable to know the contribution of each of its parts. It is the same way with this new plan of government—the understanding of the whole is readily gained by the knowledge of the function of the various parts.

Each department seems to work in complete sympathy and co-operation with all others. In the matter of legislation, the Cabinet, the House Board, the Honor Court, or members of the Assembly, may propose legislative measures to be brought to the attention of the Senate. In this way a close band is formed and unity of purpose is accomplished. As regards the judiciary branch, the Honor Court acts upon, besides its own cases of suspension and expulsion, the cases involving extreme campus penalties which have gotten beyond the jurisdiction of the Minor Judiciary and have been referred by that body to the Court. Thus a close connection exists between the two. It is the same with social matters. The House Board performs its duties and functions and acts in accordance with the other bodies by proposing legislation to the Senate and referring its extreme cases to the Honor Court. And, of course, all three branches are represented in the Cabinet—the final bond of union between them all. So by a minimum of effort, maximum results are obtained.

Besides these changes, there are several decided alterations which the new plan involves:

1. Revision of the Point System is necessary to accord with the introduction of several new offices.

PROPOSED REORGANIZATION DISCUSSED.

The Student Government Meeting, held in the gymnasium on Tuesday, February 9th, was a crisis in the history of that organization. The need for a change in Student Government which has been evident for some time, culminated in a plan for reorganization which was presented at that meeting.

Miss Hewlett, President of Student Government, spoke of the present organization which has been in effect since the first year of the college. Unlike most other colleges which started with faculty government, Connecticut College was granted student government from the beginning. The first class formed an organization which fitted their needs and which functioned well at that time. Since then, however, the college has grown and many changes have taken place. While there has been a raising of the academic standard and a growth in the recognition the college receives in the world, its inner condition has been static as far as Student Government is concerned. As the organization now stands, all power is in the hands of the thirteen girls who compose the council. There are too few people who understand the government or who are interested in it. Instead of cooperation from the student body, there is a critical undertone. The only solution. Miss Hewlett stated, seems to be in instituting a new system. From this hasty organization it is hoped to distribute energies and effort more widely, to prevent one student's being burdened with double responsibility, to get a better representation of student opinion, and to obtain fuller understanding and observance of the honor system.

The plan was then laid before the student body. Under this plan, elections will be held in the spring and the new term of office will start immediately after spring vacation, and last until the following April.

The fundamental purpose of reorganization is to bring about a change in the spirit of the government. In the past the attitude of many has been that...
EDUCATOR INTERPRETS VALUE OF GRADES.

Find Yourself in Mr. Hyde's Scale.

William DeWitt Hyde has interpreted academic grades in a clear and indisputable fashion. The mid-years and vacation examinations are a rosy dream of the past, and the present and past, and grades are the present thorn in our memory a few faint traces which are but fragments of the alphabet really mean, and to identify, poor and pitiful as such an exercise is. To the individual insight upon it. To the individual insight upon it. To the individual insight upon it. To the individual insight upon it. To the individual insight upon it.

"A" means that you have grasped a subject; thought about it; reacted upon it; made it your own; so that you can give it away again with the stamp of your individual insight upon it.

"B" means that you have taken it in and can give it away again in the same form in which it came to you. In details, what you say and write sounds like what the "A" man says and writes; but the words come from the book or the teacher, not from you. No "B" man can make a scholar, he will be a receiver, rather than a giver; a creative, rather than a constructive, to the end of his days.

"C" means the same as "B"; only that you are so lazy or so stupid that you are unable to give any information at all, and are like a leaf on the plate of your memory a few faint traces which the charity of the examiner is able to identify. Poor and pitiful as such an exhibition is we allow a limited number of "D's" to count toward a degree.

"F" means total failure. Two "E's" bring a letter to your parent stating that if the college were to allow you to remain longer under the impression that you are getting an education, it would be receiving money under false pretenses.

OPEN LETTERS.

To the Malay Described. Are grades really grades; are they really anything at all? Does the time when you are hard handicapped often hurt the spanker as much as it does the spanked? And why are you really registering in the cerebral regions? So run the thoughts present of the students in Connecticut College upon the order of an understanding as to what grades are all about and why they happen as they do. Is it really just as painful to give a D as to receive it as the pain of one's effort and comprehension? It is probably the truth that many famous men are quite accurately handicapped by ex- cognition of facts by the apparent in- consistent grades. All this is not the absolute but the most fortunately more brilliant than other men, and the brilliant at the same time. But at the same time, they are not handicapped by the brilliant at the same time. But at the same time, they are not handicapped by the brilliant but to receive a grade which does away with the evils of the old situation. From shyness to democracy! And the reorganization of the centralized power, which has more to do with government and equal responsibility for all, as well as creating a greater opportunity for the individual, are all on the part of the student body, by the student body in direct and vital contact with control of student affairs. A load of abuse will be done away with at the same time.

Students at Connecticut College have been making the Student Council as the strong policeman, wishing the students to have been in the students to have been in the students.

The MALAY DESCRIBED.

The 1st Annual Dances at Connecticut College News were held Friday, February 5, in the Pangborn, director of Chautel House, told in a very pleasing manner of the work of Chautel House since its founding three years ago. She explained in brief the operation of Chautel House and the work of the Student Council. Her words were well received by all present.

2. The order of election for all officers must be carefully worked out to ensure their rating in the lot.
3. With the stipulation that all officers should assume their duties following spring vacation, it is fundamental for all to co-operate during the next few weeks in order to complete the plan before March 25th.
4. The question of what terms shall constitute the academic average necessary to accept office is important. This involves the question of whether the minimum standing required for holding office should be raised.
5. The relationship between the faculty and the student bodies must be clearly defined.
6. A new Constitution will have to be written.

FORWARD PASS NEEDED IN EDUCATIONAL SCRIMMAGES.
In an attack on standard examinations, Mr. Lawrence F. Abbott, Editor of "Outlook," declares that College Board Examinations, in particular, stifle any real and human interest on the part of the student. After maintaining that the forward pass has brought into football the element of personal initiative that has really saved it, Mr. Abbott concludes his article by suggesting that what the American Collegiate system needs today is the introduction of the forward pass in its educational scrimmages. In this same connection Dr. E. A. Alderman, president of the University of Virginia, recently characterized college entrance examinations as "Too wooden and too formal."—Intercollegiate World.

PROPOSED REORGANIZATION DISCUSSED.
Concluded from page 5 are views of a prep school student. If a new spirit of cooperation and responsibility can be obtained, reorganization will be considered worth while. While every one was eager to discuss the plans, by only thoughtful discussion and criticism can the utmost be hoped for in creating a keener interest and a new spirit in the college body.

COLLEGE MUST INTENSIFY CREATIVE SIDE OF LIFE.
"If the college of tomorrow is to be as different from the preparatory school of today as the college of today was from the preparatory school of yesterday the college must develop new roles, new interests and a new atmosphere. It must become a man and put away childish things," Dr. John H. MacCracken, President of Lafayette College, says in his report published recently.

Dr. MacCracken describes the growth of such schools which are being opened at the rate of one a day, the increase of a million pupils in these schools, the recent advances in the equipment of these schools. Then he calls attention to the development of preparatory schools, pointing out how alumni are providing heavy endowments for larger institutions; how the intercostal and interclass spirit is developed in the same as it is in colleges, and says, "there is little in the college life of the last generation which does not find its reflection in the life of the preparatory school of today."

He explains how these changes may be made and tells of the proposed made at Johns Hopkins University, which may be followed by other institutions throughout the country, of eliminating the freshman and sophomore years and making it an institution simply for students working for the higher degrees, similar to the German universities. Apparently President MacCracken does not fully agree with this plan, for he says that "in his opinion we have in the American college an institution peculiarly well designed to effect the transformation from youth to manhood and it is too valuable to be thrown overboard in favor of the German system."

"The college is to maintain its claim to a position superior to the preparatory school, it must intensify its life particularly on the creative side, in literature, art, science, politics and religion," he said. "The only way in which this can be done is by making the professor's chair more attractive by larger salaries and greater freedom from routine and from the drudgery of elementary instruction so as to satisfy the noblest minds."—New York Times.
