German Lecturer to Deliver Talk on New Soviet Outlook

The Changing Soviet Outlook and the World

Mr. Mark Lowenthal, Lecturer in International Relations at the University of California, has been invited to deliver a lecture on the topic of "The Changing Soviet Outlook and the World." The lecture is scheduled for the evening of February 18 at 8:00 p.m. in the University Union's Main Auditorium.

Mr. Lowenthal, a leading expert on Soviet affairs, has written extensively on the subject of Soviet foreign policy. His recent book, "Soviet Foreign Policy in the Post-Cold War Era," has been praised for its insightful analysis of the evolving relationship between the Soviet Union and the United States.

The lecture is co-sponsored by the Connecticut College Political Science Department and the International Relations Club. It is open to the public and free of charge. Refreshments will be served after the lecture.
Census
Established 1916
Published for the students of Connecticut College every Thursday through the academic year.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Intercollegiate Press

@M @M @M

Editorial...

A Student Voice:
The Art of Teaching

Since three Connecticut College faculty members were recognized by the National Board of Book Selection with the $1500 William and Mary Prize, the students have had a chance to consider the teaching ability of their professors. According to the latest reports, 90% of the 1,500 students who voted in the poll said that their professors were more enthusiastic about teaching than before.

Placing aside the question of the students' perception of teaching ability, a few points can be made concerning the teaching process itself. The most important of these is that teaching is not simply about conveying information; it involves creating a learning environment where students can think critically and develop their own ideas. In this regard, the most effective teachers are those who are passionate about their subjects and who are able to engage their students in meaningful discussions.

Furthermore, teaching is not a one-way process. Teachers must also learn from their students, and this requires a willingness to adapt and improve. It is not uncommon for teachers to seek feedback from their students, and this feedback is often used to inform their teaching strategies.

In conclusion, teaching is a complex and dynamic process that requires ongoing effort and commitment. Teachers who are willing to engage with their students and continually improve their teaching methods are likely to be the most effective. It is up to the students to recognize and reward these efforts, and to encourage their teachers to continue to grow and develop as educators.
Student Government Elections 1965

The conscientious execution of any leadership position requires three essentials: interest, energy, and time. Each facet is dependent upon the other. Interest must propel the individual, energy sustain her, and time permit her to see the fulfillment of her responsibilities.

Peggy Riffkin

Judith Stuckel

The holder of this office has the major aspects of her job. She is concerned with activities as well as on several committees. This includes the New First-Year Student Council and other active positions in the College community.

Perry Timko

The holder of this office is responsible for the Student Government against inactivity if the students at her scheduled candidates on theirs. Thank you.

The Speaker's prime function is to serve as a chair of communication between students and administration. She should be a dynamic and enthusiastic person, capable of presenting both sides of a question. In House of Rep, she leads discussions of proposed legislation.

Dian Hall

The Speaker's prime function is to serve as a chair of communication between students and administration. She should be a dynamic and enthusiastic person, capable of presenting both sides of a question. In House of Rep, she leads discussions of proposed legislation.

The Speaker's prime function is to serve as a chair of communication between students and administration. She should be a dynamic and enthusiastic person, capable of presenting both sides of a question. In House of Rep, she leads discussions of proposed legislation.

Caroline Anderson

The Speaker's prime function is to serve as a chair of communication between students and administration. She should be a dynamic and enthusiastic person, capable of presenting both sides of a question. In House of Rep, she leads discussions of proposed legislation.

Carolyn Cook

The Speaker's prime function is to serve as a chair of communication between students and administration. She should be a dynamic and enthusiastic person, capable of presenting both sides of a question. In House of Rep, she leads discussions of proposed legislation.

Caroline Anderson

The Speaker's prime function is to serve as a chair of communication between students and administration. She should be a dynamic and enthusiastic person, capable of presenting both sides of a question. In House of Rep, she leads discussions of proposed legislation.

Caroline Anderson

The Speaker's prime function is to serve as a chair of communication between students and administration. She should be a dynamic and enthusiastic person, capable of presenting both sides of a question. In House of Rep, she leads discussions of proposed legislation.

Caroline Anderson

The Speaker's prime function is to serve as a chair of communication between students and administration. She should be a dynamic and enthusiastic person, capable of presenting both sides of a question. In House of Rep, she leads discussions of proposed legislation.

Caroline Anderson

The Speaker's prime function is to serve as a chair of communication between students and administration. She should be a dynamic and enthusiastic person, capable of presenting both sides of a question. In House of Rep, she leads discussions of proposed legislation.

Caroline Anderson

The Speaker's prime function is to serve as a chair of communication between students and administration. She should be a dynamic and enthusiastic person, capable of presenting both sides of a question. In House of Rep, she leads discussions of proposed legislation.

Caroline Anderson

The Speaker's prime function is to serve as a chair of communication between students and administration. She should be a dynamic and enthusiastic person, capable of presenting both sides of a question. In House of Rep, she leads discussions of proposed legislation.

Caroline Anderson

The Speaker's prime function is to serve as a chair of communication between students and administration. She should be a dynamic and enthusiastic person, capable of presenting both sides of a question. In House of Rep, she leads discussions of proposed legislation.

Caroline Anderson

The Speaker's prime function is to serve as a chair of communication between students and administration. She should be a dynamic and enthusiastic person, capable of presenting both sides of a question. In House of Rep, she leads discussions of proposed legislation.

Caroline Anderson

The Speaker's prime function is to serve as a chair of communication between students and administration. She should be a dynamic and enthusiastic person, capable of presenting both sides of a question. In House of Rep, she leads discussions of proposed legislation.

Caroline Anderson

The Speaker's prime function is to serve as a chair of communication between students and administration. She should be a dynamic and enthusiastic person, capable of presenting both sides of a question. In House of Rep, she leads discussions of proposed legislation.

Caroline Anderson

The Speaker's prime function is to serve as a chair of communication between students and administration. She should be a dynamic and enthusiastic person, capable of presenting both sides of a question. In House of Rep, she leads discussions of proposed legislation.

Caroline Anderson

The Speaker's prime function is to serve as a chair of communication between students and administration. She should be a dynamic and enthusiastic person, capable of presenting both sides of a question. In House of Rep, she leads discussions of proposed legislation.

Caroline Anderson

The Speaker's prime function is to serve as a chair of communication between students and administration. She should be a dynamic and enthusiastic person, capable of presenting both sides of a question. In House of Rep, she leads discussions of proposed legislation.

Caroline Anderson

The Speaker's prime function is to serve as a chair of communication between students and administration. She should be a dynamic and enthusiastic person, capable of presenting both sides of a question. In House of Rep, she leads discussions of proposed legislation.
Presidential Candidates State Views on Student Government

Round one: Barbara Sears, music major from Mobile, Alabama, announced at the February see-through that she would seek the position of Student Government. Sears, a member of the class of 1966, who was a member of the Student Government Association and was a member of the student governing body. The summary of the present communication states Sandra Kanner from Farmington, Connecticut, and Judy Stetich, Round two: The pre-candidates for the positions of Student Government have been announced. The next stage of the interview will be the formal presentation of the candidates. The final stage of the interview will be the formal presentation of the candidates.

Debussy songs, Air de l'Enfant, and Frühlingsnacht. A junior from Mobile, Alabama, is giving a joint effort to each of the 1400 students on campus. She will be in Holmes Hall at 8:30 p.m. to present her senior recital. Barbara Sears will be opening this year's round of senior recitals.

Tennis Racquets

Tennis Racquets Restrung

Tenni

Sports Equipment

Basi. Weejun • Englisb Bicycles Bowling Shirt.

Fife & Mondo's

HOLLY HOUSE

92 Huntington Street

Where the College Girls Meet and Eat!

Delivery to the Dorms

Base Weejuns

English Bicycles

Bowling Shirts

G. M. WILLIAMS CO.

47 State St.

Ski Equipment

443-5361

For All Occasions

Tennis Racquets

Tennis Shoes

Tennis Racquets
On South Viet-Nam's Struggles for Freedom

Q: What are the origins of our commitment in Viet-Nam?
A: President Eisenhower in 1959, in his farewell address, noted the special role our nation and its allies play in the struggle for freedom, and the struggle for freedom is the struggle for a better kind of life for people everywhere. This address is often referred to as the farewell address, because it is the last speech made by the United States President.

Q: What is the current status of Viet-Nam?
A: President Kennedy has repeatedly emphasized the importance of Viet-Nam to our national security and economic prosperity. He has stated that the fate of Viet-Nam is not just a matter of foreign policy, but it is a matter of national security. The survival of the South Viet-Namese and their way of life is a direct threat to the stability of the world order. The United States has a vital interest in ensuring that the Viet-Namese people have the opportunity to determine their own future in a free and democratic manner.

Q: Why are the people of Viet-Nam fighting for freedom?
A: The people of Viet-Nam are fighting for their country's independence and sovereignty. They are fighting against the domination of foreign powers, especially the United States, which has been intervening in the internal affairs of Viet-Nam. The Viet-Namese people are fighting for the right to control their own destiny and to live in peace and prosperity.

Q: What is the nature of the Viet-Nam conflict?
A: The conflict in Viet-Nam is a struggle between the Viet-Namese people, who seek to establish a free and independent nation, and the United States and its allies, who seek to maintain their influence and control over the region. It is a conflict between two different visions of the world, each with its own set of values and beliefs. It is a conflict between two different conceptions of the role of the United States in the world, one that sees the United States as a global superpower, and another that sees it as a small and isolated country.

Q: What is the role of the United States in the Viet-Nam conflict?
A: The United States has been involved in the Viet-Nam conflict since the mid-1950s. It has provided military and economic aid to the South Viet-Namese government, and it has sent troops to fight against the Viet-Cong, a guerrilla group that is opposed to the South Viet-Namese government. The United States has also provided military and economic aid to the North Viet-Namese government, which is opposed to the South Viet-Namese government.

Q: What are the long-term consequences of the Viet-Nam conflict?
A: The long-term consequences of the Viet-Nam conflict are likely to be significant. It is likely to have a major impact on the political and economic stability of the region, and it is likely to have a major impact on the global economy. It is also likely to have a major impact on the global balance of power, and it is likely to have a major impact on the security of the United States and its allies.

Q: What is the role of the United Nations in the Viet-Nam conflict?
A: The United Nations has been involved in the Viet-Nam conflict since the mid-1960s. It has provided economic and military aid to the South Viet-Namese government, and it has sent peacekeeping forces to the region. The United Nations has also attempted to mediate the conflict, and it has attempted to bring about a peaceful resolution to the conflict.

Q: What is the role of the United Nations in the world?
A: The United Nations is a global organization that was established after World War II to promote international cooperation and to maintain international peace and security. It is a forum where nations can discuss and resolve their differences, and it is a source of international law and norms. It is also a source of international norms and standards, and it is a source of international justice.

Q: What is the role of the United Nations in the world today?
A: The United Nations is still an important source of international cooperation and international law. It is still a forum where nations can discuss and resolve their differences, and it is still a source of international norms and standards. However, it is also facing major challenges, such as the challenges of global warming, terrorism, and the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction.
By the artist. They are songs known and loved wholeheartedly. These mere performer, but rather, something more. The audience could feel Bikel's genuine delight in singing his 'own' songs. He is neither tempted to do both. He is neither a flamenco singer nor a mustached musician. Charms folsongs in many languages; he does not disappoint them.

In the planning of Mid-Winter weekend events. Without their strict regulations of rehearsal time, the social committee who spent two hard working months of the winter could not have been inclined toward revenge. It is right in implying that it is the Submarine Race Watcher's Club which he plays in Spanish for the sake of the sailors. The junior Compl Paly, The Will Of the Wise, by Doris S. Hadlin. It is equally unusual, both in its text and in its instrumentation. The big screen came alive with the effect of the harmonica section. The cast included Elaine Delcastan as the American, German, Swiss as the caretaker, and Anne Brauer and Martha Ayers as two hard working women. The last performance of the first week was played. Bikel showed himself as a mustached man who the public in the hall will be invited to meet a variety of students to share their publications for Palmer Library with the gift.

Maurice Bernstein has announced that Mr. and Mrs. Maurice J. Bernstein of Newton, Massachusetts, have given $50,000 to Princeton College in honor of their daughter, Mrs. Robert Horowitz of Director, Mass. She graduated from Connecticut in 1956. Mr. Bernstein, who is president of the American Hillrite Rubber Company in Chelsea, Massachusetts, presented the gift to the government. It is used as a candy in programs, and in the LeBeath tradition, from past to present, the New Tenant promises an exciting new dimension in the theatre, in which the set alone is so important that, according to Margery, the furniture may almost be considered a fifth actor. The junior Compl Paly, The Will Of the Wise, by Doris S. Hadlin. In equally unusual, both in its text and in its instrumentation. The big screen came alive with the effect of the harmonica section. The cast included Elaine Delcastan as the American, German, Swiss as the caretaker, and Anne Brauer and Martha Ayers as two hard working women. The last performance of the first week was played. Bikel showed himself as a mustached man who the public in the hall will be invited to meet a variety of students to share their publications for Palmer Library with the gift.

Maurice Bernstein has announced that Mr. and Mrs. Maurice J. Bernstein of Newton, Massachusetts, have given $50,000 to Princeton College in honor of their daughter, Mrs. Robert Horowitz of Director, Mass. She graduated from Connecticut in 1956. Mr. Bernstein, who is president of the American Hillrite Rubber Company in Chelsea, Massachusetts, presented the gift to the government. It is used as a candy in programs, and in the LeBeath tradition, from past to present, the New Tenant promises an exciting new dimension in the theatre, in which the set alone is so important that, according to Margery, the furniture may almost be considered a fifth actor. The junior Compl Paly, The Will Of the Wise, by Doris S. Hadlin. In equally unusual, both in its text and in its instrumentation. The big screen came alive with the effect of the harmonica section. The cast included Elaine Delcastan as the American, German, Swiss as the caretaker, and Anne Brauer and Martha Ayers as two hard working women. The last performance of the first week was played. Bikel showed himself as a mustached man who the public in the hall will be invited to meet a variety of students to share their publications for Palmer Library with the gift.
Six Art Faculty Members Exhibit Works at Norwich Show

By Nancy Jones

The talents of Connecticut College faculty members are currently on display in Norwich through March 14. On display is the work of six faculty members, and two former members of the Department of Art. The exhibit catalog is illustrated and features a conference transcript and personal comments contributed by faculty members and students. The exhibition is housed in the职能 Art Center, Room 7.

The exhibition is open to the public and free of charge. It is sponsored by the Department of Art and funded by a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation.

Revered Unsworth Vespers Speaker

Sunday evening's vesper speaker was Robert W. Ingle, professor of religion at Dartmouth College. Ingle will speak at 7 p.m. in Memorial Chapel.

Ingle will focus on the theme of "The Eye of Prana," a concept from Hindu philosophy that refers to the innermost self or life force.

Mr. Novak Discusses Contemporary Meanings of Religion

by Annette Albro

On Thursday of last week Mr. Michael Novak of Harvard spoke to an audience of faculty members about the question of belief and faith. His address as well as his acumen to the subject was an inspiration to all who attended.

Mr. Novak is known for his work in the field of religion and has published several books on the subject. His lecture focused on the changing nature of religious beliefs and practices in contemporary society.

Mr. Novak stressed the importance of understanding and appreciating the diversity of religious traditions. He argued that religion is not simply a matter of personal belief, but rather a force that shapes cultural and social structures.

The lecture was well-received by the audience, who engaged in a lively discussion following the presentation.

Mr. Novak's lecture was part of a series of events sponsored by the Department of Religion, and is just one example of the ongoing exploration of religious studies at the college.
Merediths' Thresher Nominated for Prize

Competing with the works of major contemporary poets, William Dunlap’s poem, “The Prophetess of the Thresher,” has been nominated for the annual National Book Award. The news service, which has traditionally been a major prize given annually to the best book of poetry, fiction, and nonfiction. The nominations were announced Tuesday morning by the Poetry Digest. The two principal categories for this year’s award were fiction and poetry. Among the nominees for fiction are: "The Enemy" by John Dickey; "Country to country" by Ned Butler; "The Coroner’s Eyes" by James Berryman; and "The Far Field" by Theodore Roosevelt. The winners will be announced on December 1, 1966.

Withdrawal

(Continued from Page One)

Withdrawing

the last remaining American soldiers from Vietnam, U.S. Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford said last week that the United States was "in the process of withdrawing our forces from Vietnam."

"We have absolutely no justification for the presence of American forces in Vietnam as a part of our course of action," Secretary Clifford said in a televised interview on the evening of the withdrawal.

The statement came as a surprise to many Americans who had been following the Vietnam War closely. The Secretary's remarks were interpreted as a signal that the United States would soon end its military involvement in Vietnam.

However, some experts cautioned that the withdrawal might not be complete and that the United States could still be involved in other ways, such as providing military equipment or training to Vietnamese forces.

The Secretary's words were greeted with a mixture of relief and skepticism by many people.

"This is wonderful news," said one listener. "I've been following the Vietnam War for years and it's nice to see this finally come to an end."

But others were more cautious in their反应s.

"I'm not sure that the United States will actually leave Vietnam," said another viewer. "There might be some American soldiers still there in a training capacity or to provide security for American interests."