Six Receive New Posts

President Charles E. Shain has announced the appointment of two faculty members to the rank of assistant professor and four women to key administration posts.

Conn Honors Six Srs., One Soph as Scholars

Six seniors, Mrs. Linda P. Tyler, Karen D. Bowden, Bonnie L. Daniels, Kathleen A. Dilzer, Mary C. Pellegrini, and Susan A. Schrölle were named Winthrop Scholars at the 54th Opening Assembly.

This designation indicates election to Phi Beta Kappa on the basis of their six-semester records. In addition Mary Faith Higgins '71 was named Irene Nye Scholar as the highest academically ranking in the class of 1970.

RTC Named

Linda Tyler, mother of two young sons, entered Connecticut College in 1969 as a Return to College Student. She is a zoology major, and was a student assistant in the department last year.

Karen Bowden, an English major, served as project secretary to the Project Development Survey investigating vocational training and employment opportunities for handicapped persons in the summer of 1967. She will be the housefellow at Grace Smith this year.

Bonnie Daniels, who has been active on Conn Campus, and who was formerly an assistant make-up editor, is a history major.

German Scholar Elected

Majoring in German, Kathleen Dilzer received the German Consulate Prize for excellence in foreign language studies.

Winthrop Scholars Bonnie Daniels, Mary C. Pellegrini, Karen Bowden, Sue Schrölle, Kathleen A. Dilzer, and Linda Tyler with Dean Noyes.

House to Consider Housing Petition

Kitten Marx and Susan Der- man '70 are circulating copies of a petition which would allow seniors to have the option to live off campus in private residences of their own choosing. The petition will be presented to the House of Representatives at their next meeting.

Dr. William P. Holden, chairman of the department of education at Connecticut College, died June 20 at his home on campus. A 52-year-old English scholar, he came to the College in 1959 following 12 years as an assistant professor of English at Yale University.

At Yale, Mr. Holden was a fellow of Timothy Dwight College and was instrumental in the reconstruction of his college's arts center.

activities of the spring semester here instilled vigor and hope into students. Campaigning for Sen. McCarthy, the Vietnam Forum and Conn Quest are only a few of the channels through which the community's energies were directed.

We left the campus in May our mood optimistic, our hopes invested in the summer convention. Then the stagnant air of Miami and the horror of Chicago crushed these hopes.

This week we returned to a changed campus. The physical renovations are obvious. What is more important and far more subtle is the change of mood among these May hopefuls. They are in the process of changing their direction. In every individual who watched television or read a paper this summer realizes the necessity for a change. Chicago was the last straw.

The problem remaining is how will bring about the reforms we see are needed in society? Are we to wait until the next generation that is a prerequisite.

"No one can deny student power in American politics — let's use it. We urge interested individuals to bring an Al Lowenstein, Abe Ribicoff or St. Onge to this campus in order to help determine the direction of the community."

Sociology 223

Approximately fourteen per cent of all eligible students enrolled last Wednesday in Sociology 223, "Minority Groups." This estimate excludes freshmen who may have expressed interest, but lack an introductory course that is a prerequisite.

Such mass interest in a course dealing with the problems of today's society, especially urban society, indicates a definite need for more such courses. Yet nothing more has been mentioned of the tentative Negro history course which would have been offered this spring.

We are criticized for our interest in the contemporary world at the expense of a liberal arts background. With student interest in American politics, especially urban sociology, indicates a definite need for more such courses. Yet nothing more has been mentioned of the tentative Negro history course which would have been offered this spring.

"If you were mature women and were supporting a group that have the draft the use of such words will be without any hesitation."

Perhaps you don't realize that to support such activities and individuals will only contribute to the downfall of our country. You have more of a vested interest in the situation that you feel you are allying our country with an unholy selfish act.

"Are you mature women? Are you proud of what you are doing? If so, we would also like to know your reasons.

"We understand the fear that you are supporting this draft."

If we can do your country."

Miss Margaret Watson, Connecticut College '61, is the new assistant librarian. She has spent the last year doing research in the Chinese rare book field and is now working in the stacks.

"I hope this new initiative to get peace negotiations will bring about the reforms we see are needed in society."

Margaret Watson, assistant librarian since 1967, has been named college librarian with the rank of assistant. Mrs. McIntosh had been associated with the Library of Congress since 1949. 25

Dean's List - Near Completion

Connecticut College is undergoing major changes in its physical appearance which will result in a comprehensive and up-to- date protection system. Changes are also being made in other building improvements.

According to Mr. Richard S. Lewis, treasurer and comptroller of the college, most of the projects which were started at the beginning of the fall semester, or completed or nearing completion.

New Fire Detection System

The new fire detection system, which was prompted by the Jane Addams fire last spring, is scheduled for completion by Oct. 15.

Mr. Lewis also announced that the new system is to be tested. Previous to the installation of the new sprinkler system which was prompted by the Jane Addams fire last spring, a new main will be fed into the new fire loop. The new system will be completed by October 15.

New Fire Hydrants

Mr. Lewis said that the new main will be fed into 12 new fire hydrants, a new pump house, which houses additional equipment, has been installed.

Mr. Lewis added that the Fine Arts building, which was delayed due to last winter's weather, the steel workers strike this summer, and a present labor shortage in the area, will be completed by late spring, according to Mr. Lewis.

Palm Beach

In connection with the new fire center, Palm Beach Auditorium is the process of being air conditioned. The air ducts have been installed and the hall will be completed by the middle of November. The new main will be fed into the new fire loop which mains for the Jane Addams fire.

Among the other improvements that are to be made later on the Jane Addams fire are located in the area, will be completed by late spring, according to Mr. Lewis.

Available Housing

Another reason which increases the chances of the proposal's approval, according to Kitts and Susan, is the fact that adequate housing in the immediate area is available.

With parental permission, students could rent furnished homes from Old Saybrook through to Groton at prices ranging from $150-$200 per month.

The petition continues, "Additional funds available to the College due to an increased number of day students can only serve to benefit the College community as a whole.

Enlightened Atmosphere

"Voluntary off-campus residence by those seniors who are dissatisfied with dormitory living will enlighten the residential atmosphere of the campus," Kitts explained this last point by stating that if individuals who were not happy living in dormitories were able to live off campus, then tension would be greatly reduced and the girls who enjoyed dormitory living would not be bothered.

One problem that the proposal will encounter, explained Susan, is the question of where the non-residents would eat their meals.

The petition, in its present form, is open for amendment and specific additional clauses to be put in by the administration.

In mid-October, Kitts and Susan will be holding an open forum on the proposal, since their main goal at present is to achieve "a widespread knowledge of our purpose."

For the Liberal Arts Major,
PQT can open a whole new world of opportunity...

Each year, NSA offers challenging career opportunities to Liberal Arts majors through participation in the Professional Qualification Test. This year, NSA has scheduled the PQT for Saturday, October 19, 1968.

Comparison of this Test by the Liberal Arts major is a prerequisite to consideration for NSA employment.

The Career Scene at NSA:

The National Security Agency is the U.S. Government agency responsible for developing invaluable communications systems to transmit and receive vital information. As an NSA professional, you will be trained to work on programs of national importance in many areas such as:

• Cryptography—developing & logical proving of new cryptologic concepts
• Research—the gathering, analyzing, and reporting of substantive data
• Languages—used as a basic tool of research into a number of analytical fields
• Programming—includes data systems program writing, and development of mechanical and administrative procedures
• Documentation—technical writing in its broadest terms, including research, writing, editing, illustrating, layout and reproduction

Your specific academic major is of secondary importance. Of far greater importance is your ingenuity, intellectual curiosity and perseverance—plus a desire to apply them in assignments where "imagination is the essential qualification".

SALARIES start at $6981.00 and are supplemented by the benefits of a career federal employment.

ADVANCEMENT AND CAREER DEVELOPMENT—NSA promotes from within, and awards salary increases as you assume greater responsibility. NSA is anxious to stimulate your professional and intellectual growth in many ways, including intensive travel as well as on-the-job training.

Achievement and advancement are not an upward bound affair, but rather a career federal employment. NSA is an equal opportunity employer.

The College has a new 2-operator switchboard which will be able to handle 17 more calls than previously, and is equipped with all the modern automatic devices, including a five person conference strip.

As previously announced, Connecticut College's newly formed Hillel group will present the B'nai B'rith Fraternity Chapter 19 Fashion Show in Palmer Auditorium, at 8.00 p.m. on Wed., Oct. 23. Proceeds from the $1.50 admission charge will go to Connecticut College Scholastic Fund and B'nai B'rith Charities.

The third top of the power plant's chimney had to be rebuilt because of extensive smoke damage, and finally the faculty lounge on the second floor of Fanning was converted into an office for Mr. Philip Jordan, the new assistant dean for academic affairs. The new faculty lounge is located in the former common lounge in the basement of Burdick, while the commutes lounge has been moved to Crozier-Williams.

An effort was made to seek solutions to those problems in group discussions. Also, a theater workshop was given in which the students were asked to act out a situation which particularly bothered them. Discussion after each session helped to clarify the problem depicted.

The methods of teaching in the program were unorthodox. Films, dramatics, and field trips were used to present course material. The group traveled to Harlem to view community centers and to New Haven to observe CFI progress.

On their two days of field work each week, the students became members of local agencies, teen centers, and legacy workers in the area. Mrs. Villellah stressed that CLOUT is not an upward bound program. The students came from how economic means and many had neither previously planned on college nor so planned as a result of the program. We were trying to develop future community leaders by provoking awareness and involvement in urban situations.

CLOUT begins with a 15-week program in urban situations, and the students are expected to become members of the local agency. The students are then given a chance to work in the area. The program is designed to help the students in their later years to find a job in the field of their interest.

Rev. William S. Coffin

He has been active both in this country and abroad in the promotion of interfaith and inter racial programs, stemming from his strong belief that church leaders should take an active stand on social and political issues. He is a member of the boards of the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, "Crossroads Africa", and the Freedom of Residence Fund. He is also part of the President's Advisory Committee on Civil Rights for the State of Connecticut.

In the fall of 1964, he was one of the 100 men in America under 40 years old selected by Life Magazine as outstanding "in the take-over generation". Rev. Coffin made an extensive tour of the Far East in 1964. He particularly visited and lectured in universities in southern and central India. His India trip was made possible by the Specialists Program of the U.S. State Department. Known for his provocative sermons, the Reverend Mr. Coffin has also written articles for The Nation, Saturday Review, Parents Magazine and others.

Two of his sermons were anthologized in the 1962 volume, "Sermons to Intellectuals from Three Continents".

In the summer of 1969, he led a group of 15 students to Ghana to work as part of the "Operations Crossroads" project in Africa. When the Peace Corps was started early in 1961, the Reverend Mr. Coffin was one of the men named as an advisor and consultant.

In May, 1961, he was one of seven "Freedom Riders" arrested in Montgomery, Alabama. The group was protesting local South ern segregation laws pertaining to bus transportation and restaurant seating, arguing that such local laws were in conflict with the integration ruling of the United States Supreme Court.

ORIT. MC LAUGHLIN

Between 1941 and 1959, Mr. McLaughlin served with the U.S. Navy, rising from the rank of ensign to that of captain. National University, Washington, D.C. awarded him the Bachele of Laws degree and his Master of Laws was earned at George Washington University.

Before coming to the College in 1968 as administrative assistant to the treasurer, Mr. McLaughlin has been engaged in private law practice in the District of Columbia. Earlier, he had been associated with McLaughlin's law practice in the Department of the Treasury. He graduated from the College in 1967 and is now a graduate student at Harvard.

Frosh — Jr. Picnic, Thurs.

Juniors and Freshmen will have the opportunity to meet each other at the Freshmen-Junior Class Picnic on Thursday, Sept. 29, at the Harris Green.

According to Linda Manno, president of the Junior Class, the girls will eat according to their diets. If it rains, the picnic will be postponed until suitable weather.

Temporary VP

Because Nancy Gilbert, who was elected vice-president of the Junior Class last spring, did not return to school, Patty Salmonsen, former vice-president of the class of 1970, has agreed to be temporary vice-president until another election can be held.

For the next few weeks the Class of 70 will be concerned with setting up the Freshman Class, explained Linda, but the class does plan to stage a Dad's Fair on Thursday, Dec. 12, under the direction of Valerie De Voge, '70.

FROSH

On Sunday morning, a special chapel service was held at 11 a.m. It was highlighted by a prayer service as part of the annual Rev. Randel Field. She asked God for understanding because it is "the most important thing that He could grant to people today." Froshmen spent Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday finishing the routine chores of orientation, such as matriculation and registration.

On Wednesday evening the new class of 72 officially took its place as a part of Connecticut College Junior Class during the fifty-fourth Opening Convocation.
