Robert Frost to Publish Book of Poetry April 20

A "Further Range" Is The First Publication Since 1928

Robert Frost, pastoral poet of New England and one of America's foremost poets, will publish on April 20th a volume of poems entitled "A Further Range," his first volume of new poems since 1928.

Robert Frost was born in San Francisco in 1874; it was during the course of its picturesque "waterfront" days, the son of the editor of one of the pioneer newspapers. He came to New England and there, in the home of his father to live at Lowell with his grandfather. Except for three years spent in pre-war New England, has been his home.

He began writing at the age of fifteen, at that time going through the usual stages of deep admiration and love for the great masters. Robert Frost, however, has never been a "literary" poet, preferring rather to draw his inspiration from direct contact with the world. He attended Dartmouth for a few months, then ran away to return to Lowell. Owning to the anger of his grandfather, he was left to shift for himself after this incident. He tried various things to make his living, but was relatively unsuccessful. In 1899 he married Elinor White, a friend of his high school days.

It's ten the way the arrow flies,
And minus two the other wise.

These are on the black list:

\begin{itemize}
\item \underline{1} 4 5 8
\item \underline{2} 5
\item \underline{3} 10
\item \underline{4} 3
\item \underline{5} 4 7
\item \underline{6} 6 5 8
\item \underline{7} 2 3
\item \underline{8} 5
\item \underline{9} 1
\item \underline{10} 0
\end{itemize}

Mrs. Wilmott Tells of Co-operative School

Mrs. Dorothy Wilmott, who is a member of the central staff of the Co-operative School for Teachers in New York City, was a guest at college on Tuesday, March 8. She recounted and answered questions in the education classes in the morning, and in the afternoon talked to the Education Club at an informal tea at Windham.

The afternoon discussion was concerned primarily with the work of the Co-operative School where specific training in teaching and teaching problems is given to college graduates. The school is experimental in nature, and most of its teachers are sent after a year's course to progressive private schools. Much emphasis is placed on the development of the individual child, and upon

(Continued to Page 4, Col. 1)

Cornelia Otis Skinner COMING

Buy your tickets NOW

From any Senior

Art Club Speaker Is Love Laylon

Slides And Photographs Were Used As Illustrations

H. Love Laylon, designer for Chase Copper and Brass Co., Waterbury, spoke to the Art Club Friday night on the designer's job and the opportunities for women in the design field. Although one of our younger designers, Mr. Laylon was well qualified to speak as he designs most of the Chase Specialty Line which brings out over forty new items each year. He is responsible for the pioneering hours of new work, the bolder, the modern approach to the product, and the numerous smoking sets in chromium, copper or brass that we see everywhere. After his talk Mr. Laylon passed around some of his original drawings, working plans, and finished articles.

Love Laylon believes that a woman's best opportunity in design is in

(Continued to Page 3, Col. 1)

Rare Editions of Palmer Collection Now on Exhibit

Books And Photogravure Plates Deal With History Of Sculpture

No one should miss the opportunity of seeing one of the finest of the college library exhibits which opened recently. It contains several of the rarest editions of the Palmer collection, and should prove interesting to the book-lover, the student, or the visitor. To the exhibit is concerned with books on the history of sculpture, and is supplemented by reproductions of the works of such renowned artists as Donatello, Rodin, Danti, and several others. There are historical books, tracing the development of sculpture from the Orientals to the Italian Renaissance. Julia deWolf Addison has a book on the "Arts and Crafts of the Middle Ages," in which she discusses the progress of work in jewelry, embroidery, inlay and mosaic, and metal work, as well as sculpture. Dr. Wilhelm Lohke's "History of Sculpture" which is accepted as an authority, and Charles Bristow's "Famous Sculptures" are both books worthy of attention.

One of the most valuable of the books in the collection is the beautifully bound edition of Rodin—which contains a series of sixty photogravure plates, hand-printed on handmade paper, of his greatest works.

(Cont'd on Page 3, Col. 1)

Concert Will Be Given by Wesleyan Glee Club, Sat.

Freshmen and Sophomores Sponsor Program For S.A. Fund

On Saturday night, March 7, at 8:15, the Sophomore and Freshman classes will present the Wesleyan Glee Club as their contribution to the Student Alumni Fund. Each year four of the classes are responsible for some entertainment to raise money toward the building of a house that will be used for Alumni and Students. This year the Sophomore and Freshmen classes decided to unite in their efforts.

The Glee Club concert will be given at 8:15, and a Concert Dance with the Wesleyan Orchestra playing, at 9:30. If one wishes to attend the concert, the tickets will be $0.50, and for admission to both the charge will be $.75 for stag, and 1.50 for couple, and students. For anyone who wishes to meet the members of the Glee Club, the arrangements can be made through Virgil Hiram, Winthrop House.

For further information, Con dance Levitt in Winthrop House.

Fame Kellog and Margaret Nelson in Branford House may be consulted.

Amalgamation Meeting For Campus Problems

An Amalgamation meeting was held last Monday evening for the purpose of discussing campus problems. Dean Burdick struck to the point that the situation in a brief address urging the students to take a more active part in the affairs of the college. While the girls were still filled with her inspiration, Margaret McKelvey, President of Student Government, brought up several important matters for discussion. First was the question of quiet hours; judging by the reaction of the students, our present methods of enforcement has met with varying degrees of success. To houses where quiet hours have not been observed, President McKelvey recommended that the girls be more thoughtful of each other's welfare.

For the sake of those who didn't understand how our Student Government operates, the President introduced Homer Clinton and Cabinet, and explained their functions.

The six rules formulated by Cabinet to help prevent cheating were brought up at the meeting. After a prolonged discussion, the rules were approved. The majority of the students were also in favor of making a rule that the professor should
CONNECTICUT COLLEGE NEWS
EASTERN 1916
Published by the students of Connecticut College every Saturday throughout the college year from October to June, excepting mid-winter and vacations. Started as second class mail August 5, 1919, at the Post Office in New London, Connecticut, under the act of August 24, 1912.

Editorial Staff
Editor-in-chief .................. Aileen Guttering '36
News Editor .................... Virginia Brown '36
Managing Editor ................... Elizabeth Beals '36
Senior Editor .................. Margaret Burgess '36
Junior Editor .................. Lucy Herrera '37; Elsie Thompson '37
Art Editor ...................... Baines Birch '37
Stenographer .................. Aliette Deming
Reporters ...................... Eleanor Elms '36; Mary Mackay '36; Margaret Smilun '36; Lorraine Harmann '36; Norma Bloom '36; Sally Colle '36; Louise Langdon '37; Nancy Damon '36; Lorraine Weeden '36; Winifred Seales '36; Janet Thorpe '36; Margaret Riedel '36; Margaret Hennessey '36; Anne Darling '36; Winifred French '36; Helen Silverman '36; Eunice Wilson '36; Hazel Aingeve '39; Janet Irwin '39; Jean Friedlander '39; Mary Mae '36; Ruth Fordyce '36; Helene Hising '36.

Business Staff
Business Manager .................. Ethel Rothfuss '36
Assistant Business Manager .......... Charlotte Shirley
Advertising Manager .................. Jean Dayton '36
Assistant Advertising Managers .......... Shirley Petzke '36; Ruth Pierre '36
Circulation Manager .................. Luodna Kirkman '37
Assistant Circulation Managers ...... Shirley Durley '38; Bessie Webb '37; Caroline Stewart '36; Ruth Jnehk '36; Delcy Przyw '36.

Faculty Advisor .................. Dr. Gerhard E. Jonek

What do Friendships Mean to Us?

A recent conversation with an alumna impressed me with one of her enthusiastic remarks, "Oh, those ball sessions! What sport they were.

Sport? No rather, a trying experience too often at the expense of one bewildered victim. Criticism is all right in its place, and in the right amount. But I remember a worldly philosopher's conclusion to the effect that integrity is the way to find fault and pick apart the personalities that we call friends. And, too, to me, the word, "friend" has something of a selfish worship in my friends. I value them for their qualities, I admire them for their genuine individuality. All their little peculiarities are what make them themselves. If these peculiarities were changed, they would not be consistent with the human entity I knew as my friend.

Friendship, another name for love—is the height of any sect's graces, being the one all-inclusive respect of all that has gone on within us during these few years of life and experience. It has many components, every one essentially significant. Perhaps the first of these is patience. Patience to forgive and understand. Second is kindness; kindness of thought of word and deed. Then, generosity, courtesy, and unselfishness and sincerity, too are qualities constituting the foundations and essence of friendship.

But when we lay aside all reserve and dig in, tooth and nail, at the minds, and in the long run, unimportant idiosyncrasies of our fellows are we being kind? Are we showing appreciation to that priceless quality of generosity? Aren't we scattering whatever respect we might have inspired in the particular person's estimation of us? Are not a great many of our criticisms merely selfish desires to take the door and do a little act to amuse the audience and to break down the resistance of our lovely sweet-faced victim, mercifully boggled over and thrown into a distracting mental conflict? Aren't we being a little "sadistic," as it were?

Have we not agreed that sincerity is the very life of friendships?

Perhaps our ball-sessions have never reached the point of cruelty. I have seen too many that, instead (Continued to Column 4)

ATTENTION

Are you interested in architecture? In landscape gardening? In interior architectural decoration? Then come to hear Miss Louise Leonard on Tuesday, March 10, at 4 P.M. Miss Leonard comes to us from the Cambridge School of Architecture and Landscape Architecture, Cambridge, Mass., which is affiliated with Smith College. The thirteenth, but the brilliant idea occurred to them that Norwich Inn was only four or five miles away (a stone's throw) so they decided to make an afternoon of it as long as they had progressed thus far. At precisely six fifteen two girls entered Norwich Inn very tired and very hungry. After washing up, they each treated themselves to a dollar dinner and a package of cigarettes. Their next thought was of getting home for the time was quickly passing and the only alternative besides hiking home again, was that the bus would be kind enough to give them a ride. Fate was with them, however, for just as they were debating the unimportant question, some friends of theirs appeared who were just ready to leave for the race for the vicinity of New London, so soon after dinner the two juniors were back in Norwich safe and sound realizing their escapades. Three hours for ten miles isn't so bad!

CAMPUS RUMOR

Weren't you of near Mary Harkness the other day? Fussy if she enjoys blowing out matches and --- Spring is here—when two Seniors will go wading in the ocean! How would you like to live in South America? Well, that's where Dot-Burough's going this June.

How's your Spanish, Dottie?

We're all wondering when a certain Sophomore will announce her engagement to everyone, and not just a chosen few?

A couple of Juniors in Knowledge became bored one afternoon this week with the atmosphere around college, so they decided to take a little walk, but with no specific destination in mind. They started out on the gate of Williams St. at approximately three-fifteen and wended their footsteps meandering around campus. They walked a while and neither one was weary so they continued. After fudging along for about an hour and a half they found themselves at Quaker Hill. They still had the spirit of adventure within their souls so they continued on. While later, they both became rather fatigued, but the brilliant idea occurred to them that Norwich Inn was only four or five miles away (a stone's throw) so they decided to make an afternoon of it as long as they had progressed thus far. At precisely six fifteen two girls entered Norwich Inn very tired and very hungry. After washing up, they each treated themselves to a dollar dinner and a package of cigarettes. Their next thought was of getting home for the time was quickly passing and the only alternative besides hiking home again, was that the bus would be kind enough to give them a ride. Fate was with them, however, for just as they were debating the unimportant question, some friends of theirs appeared who were just ready to leave for the race for the vicinity of New London, so soon after dinner the two juniors were back in Norwich safe and realizing their escapades. Three hours for ten miles isn't so bad!

WHAT DO FRIENDSHIPS MEAN TO US?

(Continued from Column 1) of accomplishing what was originally intended as a gradually constructive goal, have become too heated, too thoughtless, too petty. Beware of anything small that might possibly cause a tension to grow into and in time destroy a once fine relationship.

II feeling is one of the most diffusive and obnoxious of all world ailments. Friendship is the greatest thing in the world. It has such infinitely wonderful possibilities—but don't abuse them.

At Carnegie Tech, His Honor, Mayor McNair of Pittsburgh, presented to an open student forum his solution for general economic recovery. By popular request, also at hand was Dr. Nathan A. Rea on October 5. At Carnegie Tech, His Honor, Mayor McNair of Pittsburgh, presented to an open student forum his solution for general economic recovery. By popular request, also at hand was Dr. Nathan A. Rea on October 5. At Carnegie Tech, His Honor, Mayor McNair of Pittsburgh, presented to an open student forum his solution for general economic recovery. By popular request, also at hand was Dr. Nathan A. Rea on October 5.
RARE EDITIONS OF PALMER COLLECTION NOW ON EXHIBIT

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 4)
This is supplemented by a critical, historical analysis by Lionel Benedi dite, director of the Luxembourg and the Rodin Museums, who gives an understanding account of Rodin's life and work. "La Feme Impos-ic", a life-size statue, and one of Rodin's best, is one of the plates on exhibit.

A German book on Donatello of the Italian Renaissance by Ulfrid Goethold-Meyer contains plates of the famous doors at the Sacristy of San Lorenzo in Florence. More about Donatello may be found in Max Crudtwill's book, Donatellalso on exhibit. She devotes a whole chapter to the Sacristy of S. Lorenzo, the Burial Chapel of the Medici, which contains many of Donatello's best works.

Some interesting work of the 16th Century Florentine, Vincenzo Den-ti, is described in Waters' Italian Sculpture. A relief which is said to be his masterpiece, is illustrated in one of the plates.

Because the exhibit is on for a limited time, only, students should make an effort to see it as soon as possible. It is distinctly worthwhile.

AMALGAMATION MEETS FOR CAMPUS PROBLEMS

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 5) stay in the room during examination ations and quizzes—not as a proctor, but to remove any temptation to cheat. These rules are to be on trial during the rest of this semester.
Charlotte Calwell, President of Drama Club, announced a science for an active membership, based on a point system, has been devised. In the future, men are going to take part in our plays. She reminded the students that competitive plays are coming soon.

President McKelvey expressed the gratitude of the college to Gertrude Allen for her service in organizing the recent Student-Faculty Forum. In addition Miss Allen has directed the preparation of questionnaires to be filled out by the students for the purpose of indicating what can be done to improve campus activities. The President urged that everyone give serious thought to answering the questions.

The student body approved the amendment to the election rules which provides that two girls may take out one petition. Then, after the singing of the Alma Mater, the meeting was adjourned.

ART CLUB SPEAKER IS LARVE LAYON

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 3) the stylish field. Every large company and retail store employs a person—or a woman—to watch the consumer's reactions. It is her job to know the type of article that will sell, and to know the price consumers will be willing to pay. As an approach to such a position, Mr. Laylon believes in a liberal arts background, plus a specialized training in a particular design field, and some practical experience in buying and selling.

Classes In Urban Sociology Hear E. Reeves Talk

Director of Comm. Bureau Of Old Age Assistance Tells State Methods

Mr. Edward H. Reeves, Director of the Connecticut Bureau of Old Age Assistance at Hartford, spoke to the Urban Sociology classes on Friday, February 28. He explained the qualifications for applicants for the Old Age benefit and showed the various steps through which an application must go before the final decision is made as to whether the person shall or shall not receive an award.

Recently Mrs. Edith Cook, Secretary of the Child Welfare Association in Connecticut, spoke to the class on the subject of Juvenile Courts. Mrs. Cook was instrumental in the fight in the Connecticut Legislation for the establishment of separate juvenile courts, of which there are now two, one each in Fairfield and Windham counties.

Mary Lyman On Race Prejudice

Mary Ely Lyman's sermon on March 1 dealt with the place of religion in this modern world of racial prejudices, industrial strife, and tremendous greed for profit.

Our Christian ideal is that God is the Heavenly Father, and all men are His children, negroes and white men alike. Yet we allow excited mobs swaying on the wave of hysteria to carry off negro criminals and hang them before they have had a fair trial. And we smugly talk of our Universal brotherhood, and daunt our Christian ideal in the faces of our heathen neighbors! Would it not be more honest to confess to them instead of blindly refusing to confess to them?

Sincere religion could make our lives as much more worth-while. It deepens our understanding and sympathy for others, and is the elcement which prevents life from becoming shallow. It broadens our range of interest, provides us with the skill for the renewal of purpose which is absolutely essential for the living of the good life.

-0-

STRANGE NEW CLUB FORMED ON CAMPUS

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 2) 17. The ego again. 18. A flower with a fifth before. 19. If it isn't that, it's the other one.
20. She lies down, she relaxes, she —-

Something to eat, something in the middle,
Something that's twice — oh, boy what a riddle!

Something's after — oh, you know it's not me!

Read something in every line you see.

* * *

Please Patronize Our Advertisers

According to Dr. Jesse H. Holmes, professor emeritus of philo-osophy at Swarthmore, we are yet "behind the times." He claims that the trouble with our educational system today is that we are using nineteenth century ideals and models with a twentieth century spirit.

Robert Frost
A Future Range

to be published April 20th, must be received by March 17th. This is the first volume of new poems by Robert Frost since 1928.

Limited Edition (A Collector's Item) $7.50
Regular Edition $2.50
Connecticut College Bookshop

Orders for the limited and signed edition of the latest volume from the pen of America's most distinguished poet,

LEARN ABOUT Fashions

FROM US...

What will be the keynote color this Spring? Will pleats be popular in evening dresses? What importance will the "Margot" influence play? Is the waistline to be changed? Are dinner suits here to stay?

Special articles, exclusive pictures and timely notes appearing regularly on the Woman's Page of The Sun supply the answers to many such questions of style. And the advertisements of New York's smartest stores and shops contain important news of the latest apparel and accessories.

In addition, The Sun contains stories of successful women in the professions, business and sports, as well as news of politics and national and world affairs.

The Sun
Favorite New York Evening Newspaper of Leading Eastern Colleges
NEW YORK

MISS BETTY BUTLER
214 Plant House
Dr. Chakerian Gives Talk To Conn. Mayors

Dr. Charles G. Chakerian, member of the Social Science Department of Connecticut College and Secretary and Consultant of the State Commission to study the Poor Laws, addressed a meeting of the Connecticut League of Municipal Executives at Waterbury on Wednesday, March 26.

Dr. Chakerian pointed out that dependency has now become a chronic malady that is very prevalent and will continue to be so for some time. He said that the state poor relief system had three major difficulties:

1. The settlement law dilemma.
2. Cities that claim they need state assistance for the unemployed.
3. The majority of patients in almshouses will not be eligible for state assistance for the unemployed.

A cheery word to home ec students: After daring to sample some of their own concoctions some sixty students from Iowa State university were stricken ill in the home economics class. (The department is considering falling back upon the experimenter’s faithful friend, the guinea pig.)

- Laboratory tests have shown that we might live for 1,300 years if we could keep our blood temperature at 45 degrees Fahrenheit.

Sponsored by the German Club of Connecticut College, Margarethe Bach, talented dramatic artist from Vienna, recipient of honors from many nations, presented a group of readings Thursday, February 27, in Windham living room. Guest artist for the Gerhart Hauptmann memorial celebration at Columbia University and at the University of Pennsylvania in 1922-23, she was recommended to the German club by Carl Schurz Memorial Foundation.

Among her selections were works of Werfel, Metzche, Goethe, Hoffmann and Eichendorff. The entire program was as follows:

Ninny-first Psalm
Das Nachtdicht
An dem Mond
Nietsch, Goethe
Die Erde still gekurst
Eichendorff
Hafte des Lebens
Bildde
Rihie
Entfuehrung
George
Trauringe Tanze
George
Eine alte Frau Geht
Werfel
Eine Frau am Biete ihres Sohns
Wurfel
Prinzessin auf der Erbse
Anderson
Prinzenssa auf der Erbse
Hess

Among the religions represented by students at Leigh are Holy Jumpers, Taoists, and Mormons, according to their registration cards.

We guess we’ll have to blame it on the coming of the women; the scholastic rating of the boys at Gettysburg has declined this year even below that of the girls.

Fly’s wings are mixed with rag fibers in making a high quality correspondence paper.

THE SOPHOMORE AND FRESHMAN CLASSES present

Wesleyan College Glee Club Concert
Saturday Evening March 7th
8:15 o’clock

Dancing 9:15 to 12

PROCEEDS TO STUDENT-ALUMNIA FUND $1.50 Couple (Concert and Dance) — Stag 75c
Concert Only — 50c Stag

Come on out and enjoy yourself and at the same time support the fund
MARY HARKNESS

Several of the girls went home this weekend. Betty Smith went to Flushing, N. Y.; Janet Sherman and Mary Schoen went to Hartford; Ethel Rothfuss went to New Jersey; and Milla Rindge went to Madison, Conn.

Dr. and Mrs. Wells and Mr. and Mrs. Jensen were guests of Mary Harkness House on Sunday.

Emily Black spent the week-end in New York.

Three alumnae visited Mary Harkness during the week-end. Ethel Feingold '35 was guest of Marcella Resnikoff on Saturday, Alma Nichols '35 was guest of Elizabeth Taylor and Less Pond '35 was guest of Dorothy Wadhams.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Wadhams were guests of Dorothy Wadhams on Sunday.

Anne Cooper celebrated her birthday on Friday. Several girls in the house had a pre-birthday celebration for Anne Thursday night.

Dorothy Barbour visited friends in Boston over the week-end.

Donald E. Blakesley of New Haven was a guest of Jean Clarke on Saturday.

Margaret Woodbury and Lorene Smith went home.

Donald E. Blakesley of New Haven was a guest of Jean Clarke on Saturday.

Margaret Woodbury and Lorene Smith went home.

Dr. and Mrs. Wells and Mr. and Mrs. Jensen were guests of Mary Harkness House on Sunday.

Margaret Woodbury and Lorene Smith went home.

THE ELEANOR SHOP

133 State St.

Phone 2-3733

Reasonably Priced Lingerie, Hostelry, Knit Wear and Gift Novelties

Women's Consulting Library

L. LEWIS & CO.

Established 1880

China, Glass, Silver

Lamps and Novelties

State and Green Streets

New London, Ct.

Mrs. Dwyer

Patronize RUDOLPH'S BEAUTY STUDIO

The Largest, Airiest and Lightest 10 MERIDIAN STREET

THE SPECIALTY SHOP

The Finest Line of Sport Jewelry 50c to $5.00 Models of Neckwear 5c to $1.00

Good Shepherd Yarn.

THE DEAN

YALE SCHOOL OF NURSING

New Haven, Connecticut

We fill orders promptly and efficiently for shipping to all parts of the United States.

Telephone your order and we'll do the rest.
...and Chesterfields are usually there
...it's a corking good cigarette

ROBERT FROST TO PUBLISH BOOK OF POETRY ON MARCH 20
(Continued from Page 1, Col. 2) years later his grandfather bought him a farm in Derry, N. H. Mr. Frost lived there for twelve years farming, writing, and teaching. There followed a brief sojourn in England, after which he returned to New Hampshire to find his reputation as a poet made by that publication of the volume, "North of Boston". From that time on Mr. Frost has taught, lectured, farmed, and written poetry.

The only true bucolic poetry being written in America today, it is the consensus of opinion, is that of Robert Frost. His poems are not merely competent pieces of work. His gentle understanding, sympathy, quiet power of emotion, and forceful technique have never been equalled by any of his contemporaries.

The explanation of Mr. Frost's force and power is, I believe, revealed to a certain extent by his own words, "The living poem begins with a lump in the throat;... It is a reaching out toward expression; an effort to find fulfillment. A complete poem is one in which an emotion has found its thought and the thought has found the words."

Some of Mr. Frost's better known volumes are the following: "A Boy's Will", 1913; "North of Boston", 1914; "Mountain Interval", 1917; "New Hampshire", 1923; "West Running Brook", 1929 and "Collected Poems", 1930.

MRS. WILMOTT TELLS OF COOPERATIVE SCHOOL
(Continued from Page 1, Col. 2) on interesting him in various activities. The students who attend the Cooperative School are sent as teacher's to several experimental schools in New York, for practice work, and over week-ends, attend seminars and discussion groups at the Cooperative School. The age groups dealt with are from two to thirteen—the most interesting ages to teach, according to Mrs. Wilmott, because of the importance of early child training, and because it is a "growing field", one distinctly adaptable to experimentation.

The afternoon tea, at which Mary Griffin, '36, president of Education Club, acted as hostess, was well attended. Miss Ramsay, head of the Personnel Department, introduced Mrs. Wilmott, who extended an invitation to any students who are interested to visit the Cooperative School in New York, and to see what sort of work is being done there. A catalogue may be obtained from Miss Ramsay.

EXAM ANSWERS AT WALDORF COLLEGE

Forest City, Ia. (ACP)—Freshmen at Waldorf College here have invented a lot of new facts for scientists and educators. Recent examination answers revealed the following new facts:

1. Shelly unfortunately died while drowning in the Gulf of Leghorn.
2. Dido means the same, and is usually represented by Dido marks.
3. Romeo and Juliet are an example of an heroic couplet.
4. Milton wrote "Paradise Lost"; then his wife died and he wrote "Paradise Regained."
5. Keats is a poet who wrote on a greeny urn.
6. Robert Louis Stevenson got married and went on his honeymoon. It was then that he wrote "Travels with a Donkey".
7. Robinson Caruso was a great singer who lived on an island.
8. A yokel is the way people talk to each other in the Alps.
9. Rural life is found mostly in the country.
10. A corps is a dead gentleman, a corpse is a dead lady.

Michigan's Collector of Internal Revenue has tied up the University of Michigan's football funds because he says they haven't paid $22,000 in taxes on general admissions.

Columbia's Professor Colin G. Fink believes universities should have less "blackboard scientists", more practical laboratory workers.