C. C. to Participate in Model League
Held at Harvard

To Represent Yugoslavia And Chile At Gathering

Under the leadership of Tucker Dean of Harvard, president of "The New England Model League of Nations, delegates and observers from practically every New England col-gress, representing every state member of the League of Nations, will convene in Phillips Brooks House, Harvard University, to debate for two days, on March 12th and 13th, the various international problems with which the League is confronted.

Connecticut College will represent Yugoslavia and Chile with six delegates for each country. These deleagtes, well versed in the national point-of-view of their parcular country, will serve on six repective committees of the League Assembly, in addition to taking part in the deliberations of the Assembly itself. The committees and their members are as follows:

Non-Intervention under the League with particular reference to the Spanish situation: Jane Holdoube and Helen Swan with Marlyn Maxted as alternate.

Trade Barriers: Elizabeth Stromberg and Katherine Madden

Appears Saturday
In Awaited Concert

One Of Finest Choral Groups
In All New England Colleges; Dance Follows

Amherst Glee Club, long noted as one of the finest college choral groups in New England, will be here for a concert on Saturday evening.
Nothing like it is planned in the history of the Amherst Glee Club, as the program will be entirely new.
It is planned to feature songs of a different character than those previously presented.

The Amherst Glee Club is under the direction of Mr. T. O. Trott, as pected to give.

Ground to be Broken
For New Dormitory

Ground will be broken for the new dormitory at the regular chapel hour on Thursday morning. The brief, informal ceremony will include speeches by President Blunt and Margaret McConnell '37, president of Student Government. Mr.
Laubenheimer will direct the service.

The building which is to house

senior men, is being designed by Shreve, Lamb & Harmon, archiects of New York; the builders will be A. F. Pease, Inc., of Hartford. The name is as yet undecided.

Hobbies of C. C. Personnel Director

By JANET MARSH '30

Miss Lucy Alice Ramsay, director of the Women's Union, was born in London, in the north of Ireland, in 1902. Although she was only seven years old, she has continued to keep Ireland in her heart. Miss Ramsay was a student of Connecticut College, and after her graduation in 1923, she went to Columbia to get her master’s degree in Psychology. She became the director of Personnel at her Alma Mater.

Miss Ramsay began her voyaging at the early age of five, and since then every June arrives in New York at times too early for a long journey to travel. She has been abroad five times to spend the entire summer. Each year she spends most of her time living among the peasants of Ireland. Her reaction to this way she has collected a fascinating variety of facts for her"Bucket List." She has been to many places, and is one of the most popular of all the faculty. Her pleasing personality and willingness to share her experiences with everyone makes her invaluable to college life.

Faculty Of History

Dept. Express Views
On Supreme Court

The Supreme Court which was first organized under the "Judiciary Act of 1789," stands at the head of the judicial system of the United States. This act provided for a chief justice and five associate justices. It now consists of three chief justices and eight associate justices. All are appointed by the president with the approval of the Senate, and hold office so long as their behavior is satisfactory.

President Roosevelt recently offered the Supreme Court another increase, which will result in reforming the judicial system of the United States. They are going to add judges to the federal courts. The president will, however, only fill the seats when he sees a need for them.

The enthusiasm with which this proposed increase is received is due in a large part to the fact that the court has been rather inefficient in its work in recent years. The court has been criticized for its slow and often uncertain decisions, and its prejudices against women and girls in the plays it produces have been criticized as well.

Hudnut, Harvard Dean

Conferred on Campus Development Recently

Dean Joseph Hudnut, dean of the School of Engineering at Harvard, was recently conferred with President Katharine Blunt, Harvard’s new president, and the Board of Trustees, and others, at the college last Monday. Mrs. Blunt, in an address to the students, said that the women and girls in the plays is a great improvement and gives a more finished production.

Huntington Chappell

To Speak at Vespers

Huntington Chappell, rector of St. Paul’s Church, Woodstock, Connecticut, will speak at the Vespers service this evening, June 7, in the gymnasium at 7 o’clock. Mr. Chappell was educated in Hamilton Normal and Yale University and received his theological training in the Harvard Divinity School. He is now a friend of the Chippewa, and as an exchange fellow, studying Byzantine and Aramaic, is now in the ministry, and he became a member of the Episcopal Church in Watertown, Connecticut, before moving to his present parish. He is the son of Mr. Frank Valens, assistant professor of bacteriology at Connecticut College.

Glee Club Joins

Congest of New England Colleges

by D. HAZEL SAND '30

Riot of color and variety of tone was the outstanding feature of the Intercollegiate Glee Club’s annual meeting held in Hartford, Conn., last Friday evening. The forty members of the Yale Glee Club and the Connecticut Glee Club joined their voices with those of six hundred students from seventeen New England colleges. The most thrilling of these numbers was梗"The Coronation Scene from Boris Godunov"梗 by Moussorgsky.

Several of the choral groups were elegied closed for the honors of the evening. Among the other groups were the Wesleyan Glee Club for "Harry's Home at the End of the World," and the Yale Glee Club for "Chorus of the Israelites," both of which were sung with great success.

Lecture on German

Art to be Given Here

By Mrs. Helen Read

Mrs. Helen Read will give a lecture Wednesday night, March 2, at 8 o’clock in Knowlton Salon on the exhibition of original German paintings from the fifteenth to the twentieth centuries, which will be shown in Boston during March and April.

Mrs. Read assembled this group of paintings, which were drawn from German museums and private collections, under the auspices of the Caspar Schurath Memorial Foundation in the belief that this country was in need of a soft and effective medium for promoting international understanding as verbal messages of art.

Many art critics including Mr. Edward A. Jewell of the New York Times, and Mr. T. Streeter of the New York Herald-Tribune have commented favorably on the show, and all agree it is an example of the distinctive quality of German art.

Mrs. Read is an editor of the American-German Review and former art critic of the Brooklyn Eagle.

Club Notes
SCIENCE CLUB
Photography was the topic at a recent topical science Club held in the Commuters' Room. Various subdivisions of the Photographic sciences were discussed by members of the Science Club. Helen Daghlinan '38, spoke about the history of photography and the development of the camera. Mary Winton '39, dealt with the more technical side of photography, discussing the different types of film and the processing. "The Toning of Prints" was discussed by Marjorie Hanson '38, and "The Dying of Prints" by Ruth Burdall '39. Amusing and informative dyed prints were shown by the speakers.

The next meeting, which will be held Friday, March 19, will have as its topic "Current Events in Botany, Chemistry, Home Economics, Physics, and Zoology.

What a curious contrast Listen For a Lowensome Drum is to the former book. It is just as rambling, just as delightfully told; yet it lacks several fine qualities of the Alabama book. In fact, for a Lowensome Drum, Mr. Carliner has attempted to portray the unknown quantity that used to be up-state New York. For some reason, he has not succeeded in making the story a unified whole. Alabama says that the West Coast stars fell from heaven on the state. Mr. Carliner chose to roll the hills on wild nights. Some say it is the drum of a wild boy; others that it is the death knell of an officer of the Revolution, who was shot for betraying country and cause. With as interesting a basis for his tale, Mr. Carliner should have taken the job of maintaining an air of mystery through out the book, but he fails. Perhaps the state never had the mystery that one associate with Alabama to begin with if anyone thinks that up-state New York is civilized and ordinary, he owes it to himself to read the book. He will find himself in an unknown land, meeting strange people, who are certain he has heard the sound of the unearthly Lowensome Drum.

The head-business—his restraint was admirable. As the spoiled, thoughtful, choleric gentleman, he displayed a sense of timing seldom observed in amateur groups. A little restrained characterization. His appearance hardly coincided with the character, in which case much may be made of that bad spot in the door, where the light showed through! The clothing was, on the whole, well done; especially the dark blue bolero jacket plus a cowl neckline, short puffed sleeves, and a slim-fitted skirt. Action plus attractiveness equals very good, though he seemed, in the entire cast, the only one not quite certain of himself. His performance, however, was consistent—be it ever so "stepped out of character". Walter Bennett as Nichols was recommended, for Miss Bryan has never been recommended for a quiet, well-restrained characterization. His case in handling the role helped overcome the obvious fact that a little make-up could have been used to good advantage; his youth makes his appearance hardly coincided with the age demanded by the part.

U. S. Senator Reynolds says: “Luckies are considerable of my throat”

“Two Southern traditions are oratory—and good tobacco. Lucky Strike shows me how to indulge in both. For this light smoke not only pleases my taste but leaves my throat in condition.

Last fall in North Carolina—when I made over 100 speeches—I visited the Lucky Strike factory. I believe I discovered, in the Lucky Strike ‘Toasting’ process, the secret of what makes this cigarette so considerate of my throat.

I have been more than ever an advocate of a light smoke since seeing the extra care and expense devoted to making Luckies easy on the throat.”

HON. ROBT R. REYNOLDS
U.S. SENATOR FROM NORTH CAROLINA

In a recent independent survey, an overwhelming majority of lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc., who said they smoked cigarettes, expressed their personal preference for a light smoke.

Senator Reynolds’ statement verifies the wisdom of this preference and so do leading artists of radio, stage, screen and opera, whose voices are their fortunes, and who choose Luckies, a light smoke. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process “It’s Toasted”. Luckies are gentle on your throat.
