Teach for America Program Gains Momentum

BY CALMEN GREIF

Teach for America, a national nonprofit that trains college graduates to commit two years of teaching in underserved schools, is growing in popularity. According to James, TFA is “disreputable of the profession of teaching,” but he hopes that by teaching in underserved schools, he can positively influence the lives of a few children.

Teaching for America

The updates of Connecticut College’s information systems continues.

A&E

The curtain lifts on the Faculty College’s information systems continues.

SPORTS

Woody goes undercover as our college’s beloved mascot.

Teach for America Program Gains Momentum

By Calmen Greif

Teaching for America, a national nonprofit that trains college graduates to commit two years of teaching in underserved schools, is growing in popularity. According to James, TFA is “disreputable of the profession of teaching,” but he hopes that by teaching in underserved schools, he can positively influence the lives of a few children.

Teaching for America

The updates of Connecticut College’s information systems continues.

A&E

The curtain lifts on the Faculty College’s information systems continues.

SPORTS

Woody goes undercover as our college’s beloved mascot.
Online Registration More Pain Than Gain

- With the current regarding of Connecticut College's information network to the new campus, students and faculty are prone to experience a sort of new phenomena when it comes to data storage and management. Through the new system, all students and faculty members will be able to access the network from any computer on campus. This will allow for easier communication between students and faculty members, as well as make it easier for students to access important information.

For example, if a student needs to access their grades, they can simply log onto the network at any time and access their grades through the college's online registration program.

- The new system will also allow for easier communication between students and faculty members. For example, if a student needs to access their grades, they can simply log onto the network at any time and access their grades through the college's online registration program.

- The new system will also allow for easier communication between students and faculty members. For example, if a student needs to access their grades, they can simply log onto the network at any time and access their grades through the college's online registration program.

- The new system will also allow for easier communication between students and faculty members. For example, if a student needs to access their grades, they can simply log onto the network at any time and access their grades through the college's online registration program.

Letters to the Editor

J-Board Chair Declares Past Weekend 'Excessive'

To the editors:

I would like to respond to Coley Ward's insightful viewpoint, "Many Troubles Beset This College," by emphasizing a few key points. First, the fact that we are currently facing the "worst possible scenario" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Second, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Third, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Fourth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Fifth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Sixth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

I would like to respond to Coley Ward's insightful viewpoint, "Many Troubles Beset This College," by emphasizing a few key points. First, the fact that we are currently facing the "worst possible scenario" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Second, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Third, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Fourth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Fifth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Sixth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

I would like to respond to Coley Ward's insightful viewpoint, "Many Troubles Beset This College," by emphasizing a few key points. First, the fact that we are currently facing the "worst possible scenario" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Second, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Third, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Fourth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Fifth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Sixth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

I would like to respond to Coley Ward's insightful viewpoint, "Many Troubles Beset This College," by emphasizing a few key points. First, the fact that we are currently facing the "worst possible scenario" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Second, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Third, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Fourth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Fifth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Sixth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

I would like to respond to Coley Ward's insightful viewpoint, "Many Troubles Beset This College," by emphasizing a few key points. First, the fact that we are currently facing the "worst possible scenario" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Second, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Third, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Fourth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Fifth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Sixth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

I would like to respond to Coley Ward's insightful viewpoint, "Many Troubles Beset This College," by emphasizing a few key points. First, the fact that we are currently facing the "worst possible scenario" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Second, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Third, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Fourth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Fifth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Sixth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

I would like to respond to Coley Ward's insightful viewpoint, "Many Troubles Beset This College," by emphasizing a few key points. First, the fact that we are currently facing the "worst possible scenario" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Second, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Third, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Fourth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Fifth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Sixth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

I would like to respond to Coley Ward's insightful viewpoint, "Many Troubles Beset This College," by emphasizing a few key points. First, the fact that we are currently facing the "worst possible scenario" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Second, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Third, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Fourth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Fifth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

Sixth, the fact that we are in a "state of emergency" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.

I would like to respond to Coley Ward's insightful viewpoint, "Many Troubles Beset This College," by emphasizing a few key points. First, the fact that we are currently facing the "worst possible scenario" is not new. In previous years, the college has faced similar situations, but none as severe as this one.
Sarad Greene • Viewpoint

"Do not follow where the path may lead, go instead where there is no path and leave a trail."

On the Planes?

"...and write for The College Voice!* * * * *

Our nation is caught up in a fervor of patriotism, heightened by mini-American flags and "smart" weapon footage. "Keep America Moving!" the car ads say, and we do; we keep going, smiling, and living. I guess that's what September 11th is all about. It's the "in this together" mentality... We'll be arriving right on time."

Real American Airlines

America is on strike. We all have window seats and we're flying for free, but there's one catch; we don't know where we are going until we get there. Our narrow portfolio in the fuselage, chugging along with condensation on our forehead as we strain to see, only affords us a sliver of what's going on outside. None of us knows."

The Supreme Court's Decision in Brown v. Board of Education said essentially that separate-but-equal is inherently unequal. Is such a leap out of line in this country?

The Supreme Court's decision in Brown v. Board of Education said essentially that separate-but-equal is inherently unequal. Is such a leap out of line in this country? "In my mind, the sanctity of marriage requires that it be confined to marriage between a man and a woman," Jane Smith, the Republican governor of Massachusetts, told the Boston Globe last week. Smith's appropriation of an old-fashioned phrase, and her public criticism of the governor for opposing same-sex marriage, has both sparked a controversy and raised questions about the role of religion in politics. As for the sanctity-of-marriage argument, Smith is her husband's, fourth, but Smith says that the tradition of marriage is not about the man and woman... It is about being a member of a marriage community..."

"Okay, I promise I'll be good."

"I can see the woke philosophy is spreading at the crossroads of the debate. The state possesses a unique opportunity to..."

"...and write for The College Voice! * * * * *

Real American Airlines

The Supreme Court's Decision in Brown v. Board of Education said essentially that separate-but-equal is inherently unequal. Is such a leap out of line in this country?

The Supreme Court's decision in Brown v. Board of Education said essentially that separate-but-equal is inherently unequal. Is such a leap out of line in this country? "In my mind, the sanctity of marriage requires that it be confined to marriage between a man and a woman," Jane Smith, the Republican governor of Massachusetts, told the Boston Globe last week. Smith's appropriation of an old-fashioned phrase, and her public criticism of the governor for opposing same-sex marriage, has both sparked a controversy and raised questions about the role of religion in politics. As for the sanctity-of-marriage argument, Smith is her husband's, fourth, but Smith says that the tradition of marriage is not about the man and woman... It is about being a member of a marriage community..."

"Okay, I promise I'll be good."

"I can see the woke philosophy is spreading at the crossroads of the debate. The state possesses a unique opportunity to..."
Despite the simple conditions, we were the guests, and my friend's father greeted ... medical science, focus your energies on a rewarding career.

BASTYR UNIVERSITY
The Most Notable Rice in the World

What we are doing? And, the real question- Why? No longer tainted by the evil apple, so long ago- in our human view.

It's Coming...
Astronomy- The planets, the universe- black holes, the male guided by the female principle of life, the principles.

This struggle could be viewed as a continuation of the opposites did in the previous decade, as well as what our society holds as sacred. Regardless of where you stand on the issues of police practices, freedom of expression, gay rights, abortion, church-state separation and federalism, it is even more monumental as a prelude to the fierce ideologues who, as often as they do wonderful things for our society, are the decision makers who, as often as they do wonderful things for our society, are heart broken, and miffed by a paradoxical relationship with the system. In a sense, the system has failed us. Instead, they feature individuals, programs, initiatives, and events that show the "true nature" of our candidates. Accordingly, I believe this philosophy, one of celebrating uniqueness and triumph, must be considered not only in the off campus, but also in the on-campus environment.

It's Coming...
Astronomy- The planets, the universe- black holes, the male guided by the female principle of life, the principles.

So what of my friend and his origins? His story is just two university-level programs- an offering a master of science degree in Chinese herbs, acupuncture and modern medical science, and a practice made perfect degree which was the result of his being able to hold both the classroom position and the medical position.

Despite the simple conditions, we were the guests, and my friend's father greeted us with good vibes and making conversation through my friend and his brother who acted as translators.

The father and mother came to this country with little money back in the 80's, as his mother wanted to escape political strife and poverty. They settled in the same apartment, he, being an elevator operator, and she, as a waitress. His mother and father gave him three, going out the window of their subleased housing to the skyscrapers, glitter and glamour of the city. By the time he was one of the nation's finest magnet schools came to a close, he applied to Connecticut College and entered amongst as Connecticuters and Students of Boston University. At the same time, he was accepted into the New York University School of Law, and the University of Chicago. He moved to the city, and the University of Chicago School of Law. He moved to the city, and the University of Chicago. He moved...
Committee Works Towards a New Digital Connecticut College

By USMAN SHEIKH
STAFF WRITER

CC Pride. The committee consists of Hassan Mamun, Usman Khosa, and Colin Fleming as the chair, all of whom are "committed to the goal of using the internet and technology to provide through financial aid. It $4,000 that Conn would not be able to make up."

The committee also plans to encourage the departments who have websites to update and standardize them to, and to tie those who don't to create websites. The committee is also working towards adding syllabi for all courses on the web to make it easier for students to find out about any courses before pre-registration. Not all courses have webpages right now, and even after putting every online, it will be a tremendous amount of work to constantly update the information as courses change.

But the highlights of Information and Media Access Committee's agenda this year is the introduction of the Intranet Voting System. The students have wanted, for some time, to shift from online voting to direct their representatives as the faculty members do, to avoid the hassle of going down to the College to cast their vote. This new system, devised by Laurie Littenhal and Michael Hochs of Information Technology services, will make use of the CamelWeb; students will log in and fill out any other online form.

Moreover, they would only have to do so once, because they would only have to provide through financial aid. It would be disastrous to have to chase the software, but we don't have the money for that right now."
Dance Concert Showcases Eclectic Choreography

By MARISA D'ELIA

The College Concert Series conclude its spring season with a performance by the Connecticut College Dance Ensemble on Thursday, March 7, at 8 p.m. in the Auditorium of the Campus Center.

The performance was choreographed and directed by J.M. Rebudal, the College Department of Dance's Artistic Director, who is also a Visiting Assistant Professor of Music at Connecticut College.

The performance included a variety of pieces, ranging from quick and dynamic movements to slow, flowing motions. The dancers showcased their ability to move in unison or independently, creating a visually striking spectacle for the audience.

The concert began with a piece by Rebudal, followed by a performance by the Connecticut College Dance Ensemble. The piece was a modern dance piece that featured a mix of contemporary and classical elements. The dancers moved effortlessly, with each movement perfectly timed and executed.

The second piece, choreographed by Rebudal, was a classical ballet piece that featured a beautiful pas de deux between two dancers. The movements were graceful and flowing, with the dancers executing intricate steps with ease.

The third piece, choreographed by Rebudal, was a contemporary piece that featured a group of dancers moving in sync, creating a cohesive and impactful performance. The piece ended with the entire ensemble freezing in a striking pose, leaving the audience in awe.

The fourth and final piece was a jazz-inspired performance that featured a group of dancers moving rapidly and energetically, with the music providing a perfect backdrop for their movements. The piece ended with the dancers striking a final pose, signaling the end of the performance.

Overall, the performance was a stunning display of the College Department of Dance's talent and dedication to the art form. The dancers' skill and passion were on full display, making for a truly memorable evening of dance.

Mariana Zevatch

Hart's War

Rated: R
Length: 2 hours, 8 minutes
Starring: Bruce Willis, Colin Farrell
Directed by: Gregory Hoblit

Summary:

Directed by Gregory Hoblit and starring Bruce Willis, "Hart's War" is a historical drama that tells the story of Lt. Hart (played by Colin Farrell), an American fighter pilot who is captured by the Germans during World War II.

The film follows Hart's journey as he becomes involved in a plot to escape from the camp, with the aid of Lt. U.S. Army Col. Werner Visser (played by Bruce Willis). Hart is determined to save his fellow prisoners and to make a difference in the war effort.

"Hart's War" received mixed reviews from critics, with some praising the performances and others criticising the plot and pacing.

The film was released in 2002 and was nominated for several awards, including Best Actor at the Golden Globe Awards.

"Hart's War" is available on DVD and streaming platforms, and is recommended for mature audiences.

Jordan Geary

Dorm Life

Welcome to the world of dorm life! As a college student, you're likely to experience a variety of challenges and opportunities as you navigate college life.

Living in a dorm can be both exciting and challenging. You'll have the opportunity to meet new people, make lifelong friends, and explore your independence.

However, dorm life also comes with its own set of challenges. You'll need to learn how to manage your time, balance your studies, and get involved in campus life.

But don't worry, you're not alone! Many college students face the same challenges, and there are plenty of resources available to help you succeed.

Whether you're a first-year student or a returning upperclassman, you're sure to find something that resonates with you in this collection of experiences and advice from fellow college students.

Jordan Geary

The College Voice

Dance Concert Showcases Eclectic Choreography

By MARISA D'ELIA

The College Concert Series conclude its spring season with a performance by the Connecticut College Dance Ensemble on Thursday, March 7, at 8 p.m. in the Auditorium of the Campus Center.

The performance was choreographed and directed by J.M. Rebudal, the College Department of Dance's Artistic Director, who is also a Visiting Assistant Professor of Music at Connecticut College.

The performance included a variety of pieces, ranging from quick and dynamic movements to slow, flowing motions. The dancers showcased their ability to move in unison or independently, creating a visually striking spectacle for the audience.

The concert began with a piece by Rebudal, followed by a performance by the Connecticut College Dance Ensemble. The piece was a modern dance piece that featured a mix of contemporary and classical elements. The dancers moved effortlessly, with each movement perfectly timed and executed.

The second piece, choreographed by Rebudal, was a classical ballet piece that featured a beautiful pas de deux between two dancers. The movements were graceful and flowing, with the dancers executing intricate steps with ease.

The third piece, choreographed by Rebudal, was a contemporary piece that featured a group of dancers moving in sync, creating a cohesive and impactful performance. The piece ended with the entire ensemble freezing in a striking pose, leaving the audience in awe.

The fourth and final piece was a jazz-inspired performance that featured a group of dancers moving rapidly and energetically, with the music providing a perfect backdrop for their movements. The piece ended with the dancers striking a final pose, signaling the end of the performance.

Overall, the performance was a stunning display of the College Department of Dance's talent and dedication to the art form. The dancers' skill and passion were on full display, making for a truly memorable evening of dance.

Mariana Zevatch

Hart's War

Rated: R
Length: 2 hours, 8 minutes
Starring: Bruce Willis, Colin Farrell
Directed by: Gregory Hoblit

Summary:

Directed by Gregory Hoblit and starring Bruce Willis, "Hart's War" is a historical drama that tells the story of Lt. Hart (played by Colin Farrell), an American fighter pilot who is captured by the Germans during World War II.

The film follows Hart's journey as he becomes involved in a plot to escape from the camp, with the aid of Lt. U.S. Army Col. Werner Visser (played by Bruce Willis). Hart is determined to save his fellow prisoners and to make a difference in the war effort.

"Hart's War" received mixed reviews from critics, with some praising the performances and others criticising the plot and pacing.

The film was released in 2002 and was nominated for several awards, including Best Actor at the Golden Globe Awards.

"Hart's War" is available on DVD and streaming platforms, and is recommended for mature audiences.

Jordan Geary

Dorm Life

Welcome to the world of dorm life! As a college student, you're likely to experience a variety of challenges and opportunities as you navigate college life.

Living in a dorm can be both exciting and challenging. You'll have the opportunity to meet new people, make lifelong friends, and explore your independence.

However, dorm life also comes with its own set of challenges. You'll need to learn how to manage your time, balance your studies, and get involved in campus life.

But don't worry, you're not alone! Many college students face the same challenges, and there are plenty of resources available to help you succeed.

Whether you're a first-year student or a returning upperclassman, you're sure to find something that resonates with you in this collection of experiences and advice from fellow college students.

Jordan Geary
John Paul Jones was the quiet one in the back seat, and on a conch shell. The performance, which made use of all of the different aspects of the show, from singing to dancing, so it was a night everyone will remember. While my mom's own ravvies couldn't have silenced us completely, there was a marked decline in conversation once our meals were brought to the table. And while my mom's own ravvies couldn't have silenced us completely, there was a marked decline in conversation once our meals were brought to the table. And while my mom's own ravvies couldn't have silenced us completely, there was a marked decline in conversation once our meals were brought to the table. And while my mom's own ravvies couldn't have silenced us completely, there was a marked decline in conversation once our meals were brought to the table.
Exactly what it sounds like.

THE VAGINA MONOLOGUES
EVE ENSLER
SPREAD THE WORD

Practice Made Perfect
Bastyr is known worldwide for its innovative graduate programs in the natural health sciences. We prepare you for rewarding careers in complementary and alternative medicine. Learn to make a difference.

Learn more about our graduate programs:
- Acupuncture & Oriental Medicine
- Naturopathic Medicine
- Nutrition

223 Thames St., Groton, CT 06340
860-445-5276
www.paulspasta.com
Gourmet Pasta Shop & Restaurant
Hours: Tuesday - Sunday 11-9
Closed Mondays
Specializing in Freshly Made Pasta and Pasta Accompaniments

It’s 10 p.m. Do you know where your LSAT prep is?

We do.

With Kaplan’s online LSAT prep course, you study when and where you want—and you score higher. Start your preparation now.

KAPLAN
1-800-KAP-TEST
kaptest.com
Test Prep, Admissions and Guidance. For Life.

$20 student tickets! Available two hours prior to each performance. Any open seat subject to availability. Limit two tickets per student. Available at box office only.

FEBRUARY 28 - MARCH 3
Proceeds to benefit Women’s and Girls Fund of Southeaster Connecticut

PAULA'S PASTA SHOP

223 Thames St., Groton, CT 06340
860-445-5276
www.paulspasta.com
Gourmet Pasta Shop & Restaurant
Hours: Tuesday - Sunday 11-9
Closed Mondays
Specializing in Freshly Made Pasta and Pasta Accompaniments

It’s 10 p.m. Do you know where your LSAT prep is?

We do.

With Kaplan’s online LSAT prep course, you study when and where you want—and you score higher. Start your preparation now.

KAPLAN
1-800-KAP-TEST
kaptest.com
Test Prep, Admissions and Guidance. For life.

$20 student tickets! Available two hours prior to each performance. Any open seat subject to availability. Limit two tickets per student. Available at box office only.

FEBRUARY 28 - MARCH 3
Proceeds to benefit Women’s and Girls Fund of Southeaster Connecticut

PAULA'S PASTA SHOP

223 Thames St., Groton, CT 06340
860-445-5276
www.paulspasta.com
Gourmet Pasta Shop & Restaurant
Hours: Tuesday - Sunday 11-9
Closed Mondays
Specializing in Freshly Made Pasta and Pasta Accompaniments

It’s 10 p.m. Do you know where your LSAT prep is?

We do.

With Kaplan’s online LSAT prep course, you study when and where you want—and you score higher. Start your preparation now.

KAPLAN
1-800-KAP-TEST
kaptest.com
Test Prep, Admissions and Guidance. For life.

$20 student tickets! Available two hours prior to each performance. Any open seat subject to availability. Limit two tickets per student. Available at box office only.

FEBRUARY 28 - MARCH 3
Proceeds to benefit Women’s and Girls Fund of Southeaster Connecticut

PAULA'S PASTA SHOP

223 Thames St., Groton, CT 06340
860-445-5276
www.paulspasta.com
Gourmet Pasta Shop & Restaurant
Hours: Tuesday - Sunday 11-9
Closed Mondays
Specializing in Freshly Made Pasta and Pasta Accompaniments

It’s 10 p.m. Do you know where your LSAT prep is?

We do.

With Kaplan’s online LSAT prep course, you study when and where you want—and you score higher. Start your preparation now.

KAPLAN
1-800-KAP-TEST
kaptest.com
Test Prep, Admissions and Guidance. For life.
Swimming Takes On NESCACs
continued from page 10

اتفa the Camels. The rest of the... swims.
Coaches
Arkansas
continued from page 10

Camel Country's Chief Exposed
continued from page 10

to the bathroom to cool down. As I walked across the practice courts, I remembered that I was smiling and looking behind loud. I turned, fully expecting (and perhaps hoping) to see someone about to steal my money. As I began spelling out C-A-M-E-S-L with my body, and as soon as I realized that I was reading my mistakes, spelling out what had meditated and fulfilled the nec-

The tremendous feats by many of the sprinting season include

“Mr. Camel... Can I have a...”

State Considers Single Sex Marriages
continued from page 1

old, you are considered legal draggers in the eyes of Connecticut's government. During the hearing, other con-

Statistics
States have passed 300 Grandes laws concerning marriage and equal rights to registered domestic partnerships.

Attention Vintage Clothing Fans! Looking for retro clothing and accessories?

Within the minds of many activists, in addition to the legal benefits, marriage also plays a large role in the marriage of heterogeneous and same-sex couples. An individual who has ever married another person of the same sex is more likely to be regarded as heterosexual, while someone who has married another person of the same sex is more likely to be regarded as homosexual.

George Ann McGhee, a New York man who had been married for over 50 years, was one of the two girls asked. As Mr. McGhee, I decided I had better not speak. I squared my shoulders, and the process was very simple. It was worth it, but, looking back, I would never have gone through it again.

Connecticut's struggle for gay marriage rights continues.
"We're well beyond the point of asking whether we want to have marriage," said Janet Reiner, a Rep. Michael Lawlor, co-chairs of the powerful judiciary committee that will consider legislation.
"They're now. Here is the time that we want to say: 'Let's start marshalling our forces.'"

Teach For America Expands Countrywide
continued from page 1

To whose office at TFA teachers will go, if they will seek alternative employment during the summer.

A question has also been raised about the availability of the program to minority students. At the heart of the debate is the idea that the program's model is distinctive in its exclusive use of the "teaching as a profession" concept. In order to meet the requirements for the education certificate one must pass four or five of the courses in two or three years of full-time study. In addition, a total of 200 students, most of whom are white, have been recruited to TFA corps members under a rigorous application process that includes interviews in cities like Houston. They then travel equipped to Teach For America (TFA) currently recruits from colleges and universities all across the United States. Although those who have not necessarily had a great deal of experience in teaching, but who have demonstrated leadership potential and commitment in aiding the disadvantaged children of

TFA sends its members to areas that are
targeted to have significant educational problems.

TFA sends its members to areas that are
targeted to have significant educational problems.

TFA sends its members to areas that are
targeted to have significant educational problems.

TFA sends its members to areas that are
targeted to have significant educational problems.

TFA sends its members to areas that are
targeted to have significant educational problems.

TFA sends its members to areas that are
targeted to have significant educational problems.

TFA sends its members to areas that are
targeted to have significant educational problems.

TFA sends its members to areas that are
targeted to have significant educational problems.

TFA sends its members to areas that are
targeted to have significant educational problems.
Camel Country's Chief Exposed

"If you are under the age of ten, or still believe that our school's mascot is as important as a first string math that was shipped to Camel Country from the dozen of Atlanta, specifically to live in the basement of the Life Field House, then only you can see the big birds of big games, then stop reading. It is not just.

For if you didn’t read what you were supposed to, I’ve scared to break this book and I’m not even going to be able

Is it in a real Camel Country. Believe it or not, it is actually a person and a century. And for one thing (and looking back, one that had proposed to me) I was certainly free to go just about BY anywhere I wanted. They announced the court to be part of the players receiving and presenting; I didn’t need to show

my identity or say anything (or do anything) that little window up to where we’re going.

Reading the Break

New Season

---

M. April promised

Sports

Camel

Country's

Chief

Exposed

---

By Marc Persons

---

Despite the minor inability of Connecticut College students to unravel that the track and field team has been competing through out the winter season, lack of rest and nothing but jumping, sprinting, and throwing. While the Camel’s season starts out, one of these neat little fine arts (quality and physical) pluged the team all season. The throwers impressed dramatically throughout the season. A hard work and constant dedication throughout the season.

The bench (mostly through the pitcher) on either the outdoor track or at the track, the Camel’s Academy’s indoor track, depending on the weather, the camel remained consistent throughout the season. The training. The recipes of training were practiced throughout the season, so many teams men and women members of the teams made a lot of progress in a small period of time.

---

Women’s Swimming and Diving Teams Take on the NESCACs

Track Stars Enjoy Strong Winter, Tune Up for Spring

---

The NESCAC Swimming and Diving champions. The NESCAC meet head first to get things started

---

---

IM Rocker Kicks Off New Season

---

By Bob Gran

---

--

IM Rocker Kicks Off New Season

---

By Bob Gran