Receive Prestigious Guggenheim Grant

By Laura Simmons

The elections for the Student Government Association (SGA) Executive Board positions for the 2005-2006 school year took place online via Camelweb from Wednesday, April 13th, to Sunday, April 17th, according to the SGA website. 427 students voted in the elections, which is less than half of the 2004 count.

- Current Vice President (VP), Eldee Slade '06, who ran unopposed, will be serving in the Student Government President's position next year, replacing Pete Leitke '05. The President's two main jobs are to prioritize in the Priorities, Planning, and Budget Committee (PPBC), the school-wide finance committee of Connecticut College, and to make sure all budget decisions, and also to run the SGA online.

President Crutcher, who is also a member of the CONNtact, maintaining the SGA website, and generally making information available to all students, announced that she is especially excited about the PPBC position since it will allow her to communicate important issues from the student government to the student body through "SGA on the Can" and the SGA website.

The Chair of Academic Affairs (AA) position will be received by Patty Eaves '06, who also held the position during the fall semester.

continued on page 7

President of Wheaton College and Norman Fainstein Speak About Student Activism

By Thomas McBride

President Ronald Croner of Wheaton College and Connecticut College's President Norman Fainstein gave a lecture at the Student Activism on Campus conference on October 22nd, 1996. The conference was a part of a two day conference on activism on college campuses that included an address by Winona LaDuke, an Ojibwe community organizer, economist, and author. The Multicultural, and Interdisciplinary Affairs Committee hosted the event.

President Croner, who is also a professional cellist, began his talk by using the differences between student activism in the '60's and the current day. He asserted that the '60's were the "high-day" of protest forces in today's society, Croner also stated.

- President Croner pointed out that the "modes of activism" have changed since the 1960's. For instance, conferences have replaced conferences have continued on page 6

Students Elect 2005-2006 SGA Exec Board

By Laura Simmons

Professor Dorfman's story. Using a series of letters which make up a chronological narration of her family's experiences during the WWII, Professor of Dance, intends to use the grant to further the development of scholars and artists by assisting them to engage in work such as community education has grown beyond the classroom, as students now have received much more publicity and media attention.

Student activist campaigns in the 1960's and today are linked by similar issues. The nation is still at war, Crotcher noted, and poverty, discrimination, and social injustice are still pervasive factors in this country. Furthermore, activist movements by the religious, right, leftists, and other groups are still facing the same issues of today's society, Croner also stated.

... Continued on page 6

Author Phyllis Chesler Discusses Implications of Anti-Israel Academia

By Erika Pond

On Tuesday, April 19, Dr. Phyllis Chesler gave a lecture entitled "The New Anti-Semitism and the Palestinianization of the Western Academy." The event was attended by a handful of Connecticut College students and members of the New London community in the Green Music Library. Dr. Chesler is the author of several books and is a well-known examines professor, feminist, and pro-Israel activist.

President of Connecticut College, Congressman John G. Larson was one of many speakers the SGA brought to the College this past weekend. Social Issues on the mind of the students were front and center at the conference. On Friday, students discussted the importance of maintaining campus freedom on this issue. In Saturday's events, students focused on issues such as domestic violence, poverty, immigration and terrorism.

In the room, they discussed ways to improve their strategies and effects on the 2004 presidential election. Also, at the site for Connecticut College, the students were able to cast an online ballot at the conference. The students were able to cast a ballot at the conference for students who are not Connecticut College students. The students were able to cast a ballot for students who are not Connecticut College students.

The multicultural event of the semester, was also held on campus, the Student Activism on Campus conference that took place this weekend.

continued on page 6

Author Phyllis Chesler Discusses Implications of Anti-Israel Academia

Continued from page 1

President of Connecticut College, Congressman John G. Larson was one of many speakers the SGA brought to the College this past weekend. Social Issues on the mind of the students were front and center at the conference. On Friday, students discussted the importance of maintaining campus freedom on this issue. In Saturday's events, students focused on issues such as domestic violence, poverty, immigration and terrorism.

In the room, they discussed ways to improve their strategies and effects on the 2004 presidential election. Also, at the site for Connecticut College, the students were able to cast an online ballot at the conference. The students were able to cast a ballot for students who are not Connecticut College students. The students were able to cast a ballot for students who are not Connecticut College students.

The multicultural event of the semester, was also held on campus, the Student Activism on Campus conference that took place this weekend.

continued on page 6

Author Phyllis Chesler Discusses Implications of Anti-Israel Academia

Continued from page 1

President of Connecticut College, Congressman John G. Larson was one of many speakers the SGA brought to the College this past weekend. Social Issues on the mind of the students were front and center at the conference. On Friday, students discussted the importance of maintaining campus freedom on this issue. In Saturday's events, students focused on issues such as domestic violence, poverty, immigration and terrorism.

In the room, they discussed ways to improve their strategies and effects on the 2004 presidential election. Also, at the site for Connecticut College, the students were able to cast an online ballot at the conference. The students were able to cast a ballot for students who are not Connecticut College students. The students were able to cast a ballot for students who are not Connecticut College students.

The multicultural event of the semester, was also held on campus, the Student Activism on Campus conference that took place this weekend.
Apathy Delegitimizes Student Elections and Shared Governance

Last Sunday, the final day of the SGA Executive Board self-nomination period, a message that announced the availability of a slate of governing positions went out to the entire campus. Several hours before midnight, there was at least one position without any candidates for each class. Not a single junior had signed up to run for any of the seven elected class positions, vice-president, secretary, in the BAC and SAC reps.

An even greater problem was the lack of interest in SGA executive board elections. Penultimate of SGA, the most powerful student position on campus, was an unopposed cakewalk for current VP Eddie Slade. SAC Chair (Christian Adams) and Vice-Chair (Eugene Fong) were uncontested for their appointed terms. SGA's equal toBoard elections were not overlooked, many people often forget that SGA elections are final and students don't seem particularly interested in leading this community. Every student is directly accountable on campus. Students seem to assume that "someone else" will get the job done.

In this case, what's needed is a sense of personal accountability within the student body. SGA publicized election results; this is not the problem. The problem is that there is a vast unbalance of responsibility on campus. Students seem to assume that "someone else" will get the job done. In this case, what's needed is a sense of personal accountability within the student body.

As students who have the privilege of cooperating with the administration, we need to hold ourselves accountable as individuals, capable of leading this community forward, constantly improving. Who cares if someone else does what we could do? If you have any kind of respect for the institution of shared governance at Connecticut College, step up to the plate when the opportunity arises.

As students who have the privilege of cooperating with the administration, we need to hold ourselves accountable as individuals, capable of leading this community forward, constantly improving. Who cares if someone else does what we could do? If you have any kind of respect for the institution of shared governance at Connecticut College, step up to the plate when the opportunity arises.

Letters to the Editor

Do you care about anything?

"Voice" your opinions; write a letter to the Editor.

send to: ccvoice@conncoll.edu

The College Voice

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

THEO KAPLAN

ASSOCIATE EDITOR

BRAD LAMBERT

ASSOCIATE PHOTO EDITOR

LIZ CRON

ART DIRECTOR

EMMA CMUN

ASSOCIATE ART DIRECTOR

SOPHIE RODDY

BUSINESS MANAGER

ALISON GLASSMAN

PHOTO EDITOR

DERRICK FRANKLIN

ASSOCIATE PHOTO EDITOR

NATE PERRY

ADVERTISEMENT MANAGER

ALLISON GLASSMAN

ASSOCIATE AD MANAGER

PHILIP FREEMAN

NEWS EDITOR

THOMAS MCDERMOTT

ASSOCIATE NEWS EDITOR

ELIZABETH GREENBERG

SPORTS EDITORS

PETER STERLING

STEVE SMALLWOOD

The College Voice is an open forum. The opinion expressed by individual advertisers is their own. In no way does The College Voice endorse the views expressed by individual advertisers. The College Voice will not accept ads about events that are libelous, an incitement to violence, or personally debilitating. All rates are available on request by calling (860) 439-8181. Please refer all inquiries to the Business Manager, Ashley Kenerson. The College Voice reserves the right to accept or reject any ad. The Editors-in-Chief shall have final content approval. The final deadline for advertising is 5:00 p.m. on the Wednesday preceding publication.

Don't you care about anything?

"Voice" your opinions; write a letter to the Editor. send to: ccvoice@conncoll.edu

Housefolk Appreciation Week

Dearest Readers,

We are pleased and proud to invite the campus community to join the Office of Student Life in appreciating the Housefellow Appreciation Week. This week has been designated Housefolk Appreciation Week, a time to recognize our friends, neighbors, and the people who live and work together to maintain Connecticut College. This week, the Housefellow Appreciation Week, will be held on campus throughout the week. The goal of this week is to recognize the hard work of the housefellow. Many people often forget that Housefellow Appreciation Week is not an opportunity to show their appreciation to the experiences by the many students living at their homes. Most of their jobs are extremely well and without fault. However, the true value of the Housefellow Appreciation Week is not in recognizing the hard work that they do but in appreciating the unique and valuable contributions to our community.

Shelly Motler
Director of Residential Life and Housing

Student Retreat Lack of Participation in Day of Silence

Dear Editor,

While consuming my daily portion of pallid vegetables in the Harris dining hall on Tuesday, I was drawn...
OPINION

SPRING BREAK: PART TWO

YOUNG FRIEDMAN • OCPULATED Orbit

Dear Editor,
The History Department would like to point out that Nick Iyengar's column 'The History of America Slavery Since 1945' (Stock) is a valuable resource for students looking to learn about this topic.

I would point out that the History Department is offering a course on American Slavery from the Civil War to the present, which I believe addresses some of the issues Mr. Iyengar raises.

After reading Nick Iyengar's column this past week, 'The History of American Slavery Since 1945,' I hope that students will consider taking a course on this topic. The History Department is committed to teaching US history and two of them are offered in the spring semester.

Mr. Iyengar believes that History 225, African-American Studies, is a required course and that it would be sound. Search deeper; I don't think so. History is not always rewarded where it is needed and a member of it all four years and a member of it all four years.

The History Department would like to point out that Nick Iyengar's column 'The History of America Slavery Since 1945' (Stock) is a valuable resource for students looking to learn about this topic.

I would point out that the History Department is offering a course on American Slavery from the Civil War to the present, which I believe addresses some of the issues Mr. Iyengar raises.

After reading Nick Iyengar's column this past week, 'The History of American Slavery Since 1945,' I hope that students will consider taking a course on this topic. The History Department is committed to teaching US history and two of them are offered in the spring semester.

Mr. Iyengar believes that History 225, African-American Studies, is a required course and that it would be sound. Search deeper; I don't think so. History is not always rewarded where it is needed and a member of it all four years and a member of it all four years.

The History Department would like to point out that Nick Iyengar's column 'The History of America Slavery Since 1945' (Stock) is a valuable resource for students looking to learn about this topic.

I would point out that the History Department is offering a course on American Slavery from the Civil War to the present, which I believe addresses some of the issues Mr. Iyengar raises.

After reading Nick Iyengar's column this past week, 'The History of American Slavery Since 1945,' I hope that students will consider taking a course on this topic. The History Department is committed to teaching US history and two of them are offered in the spring semester.

Mr. Iyengar believes that History 225, African-American Studies, is a required course and that it would be sound. Search deeper; I don't think so. History is not always rewarded where it is needed and a member of it all four years and a member of it all four years.

I-NITE: ATLAS’s Comeback Event is Full of International Flavor

By Gena Gaines

I-NITE, auser group that promotes cultural diversity through various events and activities, is hosting a student performance that is sure to get the audience excited. Featuring a delicious variety of food and entertainment, this event is the perfect way to end the semester and start the long summer break on a fun note.

Among the performers will be the Student Choir, a fashion show, and a Mongolian photo exhibition. The event also features music from different artists, including O.A.R. and Stephen Kellogg. Both will play on the last Friday Nights Live of the year, and the event will be a success.

So what can you expect to enjoy? There will be food and a Mongolian photo exhibition. The event also features music from different artists, including O.A.R. and Stephen Kellogg. Both will play on the last Friday Nights Live of the year, and the event will be a success.

I-NITE will take place on Friday, and the event will be a success. The event also features music from different artists, including O.A.R. and Stephen Kellogg. Both will play on the last Friday Nights Live of the year, and the event will be a success.

I-NITE will take place on Friday, and the event will be a success. The event also features music from different artists, including O.A.R. and Stephen Kellogg. Both will play on the last Friday Nights Live of the year, and the event will be a success.

I-NITE will take place on Friday, and the event will be a success. The event also features music from different artists, including O.A.R. and Stephen Kellogg. Both will play on the last Friday Nights Live of the year, and the event will be a success.
Bring A Big Appetite To Kitchen Little

By HELEN ELSON

Staff Writer

Taking advantage of the New London public school system's spring vacation where my friend and I work, we decided to go for breakfast. I am a passionate fan of Somewhere in Time, located in Mystic; however, en route I remembered that they were closed on Mondays and decided to drive around and see what we could find. Claritza and I came upon Kitchen Little, located right by the Mystic Seaport.

Knowing its reputation for taking at least twenty minutes to seat customers, we were overjoyed to see that the parking lot was not full and no one seemed to be waiting. For the next fifteen minutes, we have little to say to each other, except for quick glances and some more water for us and we're ready to start with the menu.

We want your input. (Dessert will be served)

After a little more than five minutes, but less than ten, our food arrives. "Would we care for some sugar sprinkled pancakes. On the menu, the idea of grilled pumpkin and would have been perfectly pleased. We have little to say to each other, except for quick glances and stilted laughter at how much we are taking pleasure in eating our food.

With our bellies a bit rounder, we look down and see that neither of us had a problem finishing what the beginning seemed impossible. There is no more food left on either of our plates. Claritza saves me the embarrassment and states that she wants a pancake, and I..."

It seems that the actors should have followed the motto of the sequel to Get Shorty, that the film won't stay entertaining but it hardly changes your life.

Come to a discussion with our editorial board to talk about how we can improve the paper.

Tuesday, April 26
9:00 pm
Larabee Common Room

We want your input. (Dessert will be served)

Collateral Damage:
The Social Impacts of Gambling on the Community

Wednesday, April 27, 2005 6:30-8:00 PM
Blaustein Hood Dining Room
Connecticut College

Presented by:
Citizens Task Force on Addictions in New London County, Inc.
New London County Youth Service Association
Connecticut College Peer Education
Phyllis Chesler Discusses Anti-Israeli Academia

continued from page 1

reign, on the other hand, and is not held to the same standard by any other country or by the Western academy.

CV: How do you feel about being part of this "new wave" of singer/songwriters that have spawned your own genre?
AH: Around the time I got signed, it was a bit of a hassle to become part of it. There were some other singer-songwriters that aren't as critical, but I see why the press makes it so that people get tired of that kind of thing... even though I like it. I'm not going to stay in one genre for too long. At the same time, I have to be happy that it's popular, I just hope we get to see where it's going to next.

*Figure your own musical idols... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in... Stuents receive an agenda with regards to specific areas they are active in...
Students Elect SGA
Executive Board

continued from page 1

Erika Berlinghof '05 is currently serving as the Academic Affairs Chair. The most important role of this position is to oversee all the Academic Advisories Boards on campus. Another crucial aspect of the Chair of Academic Affairs job is to look out for and voice student interests to the faculty and administration on issues such as Self-Scheduled Exams. In order to accomplish this, the Chair of Academic Affairs sits on the Academic Planning Committee, the Educational Planning Committee (EPC), and the Academic Affairs Committee.

Similarly, Jay Karpen '06 will resume the position of Judicial Board Chair, on which he served during the fall semester as well. His absence, Emily Chamberlin '05 is serving as J-Board Chair this spring. The J-Board Chair has jurisdiction over matters involving possible infractions of the Honor Code, and his or her responsibilities include overseeing the coordination of all judicial hearings.

Whitney Longworth '07, current member of the Residential Life and Housing Advisory Committee, who ran unopposed, was elected to the position of Chair of Residential Affairs. This position heads the Board of Governors, co-chairs the Residential Life Committee with Shelly Metivier, and acts as the SGA liaison to the residential component of the Office of Student Life. Additionally, the position is responsible for the coordination of dormitory House Councils. Upon assuming the position in the fall, Longworth hopes to "improve residential life on this campus in all of its aspects," particularly issues around longevity and priority, as well as physical improvements to the residence halls.

Colleen White '06 was elected without opposition to the position of Diversity and Equity Chair. The most important role of this position is to represent the needs and concerns of the students on campus in terms of issues dealing with diversity and multiculturalism. The Chair of D&E also chairs the Cultural Diversity Committee, which is composed of students from SGA and Unity Clubs.

Finally, the position of the Chair of the Student Activities Council was won by Christian Clansky '06, who also ran unopposed. Jessica Mellen '05 is the exiting SAC Chair. As a branch of the Student Government Association, SAC coordinates the social life of the College and as such, has jurisdiction over all matters involving entertainment on the campus, including Floralia. Clansky's new job entails supervising the SAC executive board and all the subcommittees under it, as well as acting as the liaison between SGA and SAC.

Conn students: Write for the Voice!

The Voice is actively searching for writers for the News, A&E, and Sports departments.

Help support an important part of life at the College.

A great way to get involved! Call x2812 or email ccvoice@conncoll.edu today!
Top Ten Little-Known Conn College Facts

1. Bowling balls will bounce when dropped out of Freeman Tower.

2. In reference to #10, know where the Housefellow suite is on the first floor, cause the bounce may not be straight up.

3. Rewiring the elevator buttons in Park so that the 3 takes you to 2 and 2 takes you to 5 is not popular with most students.

4. Ferreting in the cafeteria line as a way to critique the food is not a valid form of expression.

5. Putting bottle rockets in the air vents will wake up and eventually force the evacuation of the entire dorm floor.

6. Finishing any essay with the phrase “End Me” will not help you pass the course.

7. Putting hair in a community shampoo bottle in the bathroom will not help you make friends.

8. Dropping your roommate’s classes for him will only get you the beating of your life after Day 1.

9. Rewinding the elevator buttons in Starr will make you lose the 2 and 2 makes you lose the 5.

10. If you get drunk, don’t ever strip in public. If you strip, don’t climb to the roof of Freer. If you climb, don’t pose for pictures in the College Voice. If the picture gets published, drop out.

(from SPIT@Funnybone.com)

Camel Curiosity

“Camel’s milk does not curdle.”

Source: http://www.toaddragon.net

Not sure where the road is taking you after graduation?

Take a week-long road trip this summer to find the business careers where you’ll fit...and succeed.

Career Treks will offer personalized career advice on a journey from Washington DC up to Philadelphia and all the way behind the scenes of corporate America.

Washington DC, June 18th - 22th.

Set on a Career Trek will include exclusive access to career breaks up and down the East Coast. Treks will help participants answer the question of “What’s next?”

Apply by April 22nd for a 7-day free trip. Our goal is to provide you with the knowledge to take advantage of this opportunity to connect with people and mentors that you will never find at your current job.

Apply at www.careerreks.com by April 22 to get an edge in starting your career!

Scheduled Recruiters:
- Capital One
- Ferguson
- FedEx Ground
- Enterprise Rent-A-Car
- Corporate Executive Board
- Nationwide
- Devon Health Services
- NVR
- Cox Radio
- Meijer
- Kellogg Brown & Root Services
Ultimate Frisbee Having Strong Spring
BY STEVE STRAUSS

The team went 3-0 on Saturday with big wins over Roger Williams, literally one of the season's toughest opponents. The win was historically significant, however, as the team's match against Brown University A team on Sunday was quite a good fight, but fell 15-6. Brown University A is ranked #7 in the nation, and the victory clinched a Trumpel et al. (Brown) vs. Brown University B team, which came late on Sunday, when Conn was beaten and exhausted, having already played three games.

Smash Steam

On the weekend of April 16-17, the Conn ultimate Frisbee team (Dawgdo) qualified for the regional championships for the first time in school history, a historic achievement. The team did so by finishing 5-2, matching the best in the region of 17 teams. Winning the game meant that the team would need to repeat the feat in the last few games of the season, which has managed to remain at the top of the regional standings for weeks, competing strongly against the top tier of ultimate teams in the region. Now, Coach Dennis Hopkins ‘07 “We’re just one team, we’re just one team...” the voice of the season...”

THE COWGE VOICE APR!

The team’s goal is to send to: Write for the Voice...It looks good on resumes, Call x2812 today!
cvvoice@conncoll.edu

Men’s Lacrosse Wins

“Voice” your opinions write a letter to the editor...

Call 2821 today!

Women’s Tennis Slams Competition

The team has won all three matches against the University of Florida in the past, with the most recent victory coming in 2008. The team will be looking to continue their winning streak against these tough opponents.

Women’s Lacrosse Lacrosse Eastern Conn

continued from page 10

The team heads into its final week of regular competition as they look to solidify their position in the NEC standings. The team has been on a roll, winning their last three matches, and will look to keep that momentum going as they prepare for their regional tournament.

More writers

Send to: Write for the Voice, looks good on resumes, ccvoice@conncoll.edu

Do you care about anything?

The team has won all three matches against the University of Florida in the past, with the most recent victory coming in 2008. The team will be looking to continue their winning streak against these tough opponents.

The team has won all three matches against the University of Florida in the past, with the most recent victory coming in 2008. The team will be looking to continue their winning streak against these tough opponents.
Questions Of Derby Safety

In Europe, US

Last week's scenes at the San Siro ... 0, Colby 7
4/22-24 NESCAC @ Amherst

By Peter Stimson

The Cornell men's lacrosse team

The Cornell men's lacrosse team

their dominating play when,

the ball into the back, both
tied with several chances,

the Camels were still 5-8 and in fourth place in their division at the time. Steinbrenner wasn't satisfied with the job he did. These days he's talking about the Yankees?

their time talking about the Yankees?

Talk to Jeff Weaver. He was a Yankee

When is enough enough? On

Monday, when the Yanks miraculously responded to their employer's
performance, but because of the job

He wasn't satisfied with the job he did. These days he's talking about the Yankees?

Steinbrenner is unhappy about the Yankees?

The Yankees just aren't doing enough?

on Monday, though? George is I kidding? The Yankees don't

their time talking about the Yankees?

the ball into the back, both
tied with several chances,

the Camels were still 5-8 and in fourth
place in their division at the time. Steinbrenner wasn't satisfied with the job he did. These
days he's talking about the Yankees?

Talk to Jeff Weaver. He was a Yankee

When is enough enough? On

Monday, when the Yanks miraculously
responded to their employer's
performance, but because of the job

He wasn't satisfied with the job he did. These
days he's talking about the Yankees?

Steinbrenner is unhappy about the Yankees?

The Yankees just aren't doing enough?

on Monday, though? George

is I kidding? The Yankees don't

their time talking about the Yankees?

the ball into the back, both
tied with several chances,

the Camels were still 5-8 and in fourth
place in their division at the time. Steinbrenner wasn't satisfied with the job he did. These
days he's talking about the Yankees?

Talk to Jeff Weaver. He was a Yankee

When is enough enough? On

Monday, when the Yanks miraculously
responded to their employer's
performance, but because of the job

He wasn't satisfied with the job he did. These
days he's talking about the Yankees?

Steinbrenner is unhappy about the Yankees?

The Yankees just aren't doing enough?

on Monday, though? George

is I kidding? The Yankees don't

their time talking about the Yankees?

the ball into the back, both
tied with several chances,

the Camels were still 5-8 and in fourth
place in their division at the time. Steinbrenner wasn't satisfied with the job he did. These
days he's talking about the Yankees?

Talk to Jeff Weaver. He was a Yankee

When is enough enough? On

Monday, when the Yanks miraculously
responded to their employer's
performance, but because of the job

He wasn't satisfied with the job he did. These
days he's talking about the Yankees?

Steinbrenner is unhappy about the Yankees?

The Yankees just aren't doing enough?