NEW OFFICERS ELECTED FOR COMING YEAR

Honors Are Divided

The last two days of Agamalation meetings saw the election of all the remaining major officers for the coming year. Miss Swartwout '33, was elected as Speaker of the House of Representatives. Miss Fairchild has won great distinction for herself as song leader of her class for the two last years, and under her guidance the Freshmen of last two years won the Song Contest.

Janet Townsend '34, was chosen as Vice-President of Student Government. "Jan" as President of this year's Junior class has proved herself worthy of carrying out any task assigned to her.

Janye Pickel '36, who has t served as Chairman of Entertainment on Service League this year, was elected to the same organization in recognition of the fine work that she has done.

Ann D. Crocker '34, was elected Editor-in-Chief of the News. She has worked hard this year as a Junior Editor, in which position she has shown the ingenuity, literary ability, and willingness to co-operate that are so essential a part of News' work.

"Minna" Benson '35, was unanimously chosen as President of the Athletic Association. Minna's outstanding ability in all sports fits her eminently for this position.

Letitia Williams '35, was elected President of "Wig and Candle." The beginning of her Freshman year she gave an outstanding performance in the competitive plays and this past fall she again served in a leading role in The Young Idea.

Quarterly and Press Board have chosen Velma Beaucage, Editator-in-Chief, and Emily Benedict as President, respectively.

At the end of the week the various classes held their elections for President for the coming year. Mary Seabury '34, Harriet Webster '35, and "Dutch" Bowdin '36, were chosen.

DR. SEYMOUR SPEAKS AT CONVOCATION

Dr. Seymour, Professor of History at Yale University and a delegate to the Peace Conference in 1919, spoke at Convocation on Tuesday on "Franco-German Relations.

In introducing his subject, Professor Seymour stated that this problem is still unsolved by the greatest statesmen of the time. Yet it is important, he said, that every American understand the essential factors in the situation inasmuch as the United States is involved and must be prepared to make a decision in the future as to what attitude it will take.

The problem not only of Europe but of the world as well, depends upon the relations of Germany and France. The League of Nations and Kellogg Pact were to lay the basis for this feeling of security. The practice, however, has not followed the principle. Germany found that the League was in the hands of those to whom she was hostile. She believed it to be an Anglo-French device for her subjugation. France also has not found the security that she desires in the League. The League's ineffectiveness as an instrument for maintaining, financially, emotionally, physically, and intellectually, the peace of the world is one of the greatest failures of the present administration.

CELEBRATED SCHOLAR TO LECTURE HERE

The college has been fortunate in securing Monsieur Albert J. Farmer, Dean of the Lettres, Officeier d'Academie, and Professor at the University of Grenoble, who will lecture in French on "Richardson and His Influence on the 18th Century French Novel."

The scholarly achievements of Professor Farmer, especially in the field of modern Anglo-French literary relations, have attracted the attention of critics and have evoked the most favorable comment. His last book on the Mouvement Esthetique et Decadent en Angleterre has been reviewed enthusiastically. A recent study of Walter Pater as a Critic of English Literature is perhaps his most widelly known work.

Professor Farmer is spending the current year in America as visiting professor of French at Brown University. He is also expected to give a series of lectures at the Institute of French Education of Pennsylvania State Col-elle.

A dinner and reception were given in her honor at the College Club to which many friends and parets were invited. The reception
President Blunt spoke on the development of the college.

On the committee in charge of this event were Ruth Miss Jean Howard, Miss Mary Bond, Miss Evelyn Clarke, Miss Miss Clare M. Tousley, assistant director of the Charity Org-organization. Miss Tousley spoke on Monday, March 18th, about the social work now going on in New York. She stated the astonishing fact that in the city today there are one million two hundred thousand unemployed, for whom seven million dollars have been expended in relief purposes.

Miss Tousley said that there is point to be stressed, the need to give and instances showing how the worker has to deal expertly with the various cases. A worker must be able to give advice to those who are human and poverty. In detail, working for the develop and ease. Miss Tousley urged people to go out for volunteer work.

On Monday evening Miss Tousley spoke informally to the juniors interested in Junior Month. Due to an endowed fund, twelve juniors from twelve colleges were given the month of July in New York. These juniors are chosen by the outgoing junior, one or two student officers, and members of the faculty. Their living expenses are paid, and under the direction of Miss Tousley they work with a "living laboratory." They come into contact with the realities of social work, which, for them, are divided into individual and group work. Social workers attempt to make individuals self-maintaining financially, emotionally, physically, and intellectually. As the faculty and other problems are as important in many cases as financial aid.

CORRECTIVE CONF. TO BE HELD

The Conference on Corrective Problems is being held Friday and Saturday, March 17th and 18th in New London Hall. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the teaching of Body Mechanics in groups effectively. Stress is laid on the fact that it is the study of Body Mechanics in motion and in the execution of exercise rather than static Body Mechanics.

This type of conference was started by Vassar College last year when the head of the Physical Education Department came. It will be open to several colleges in the vicinity and invited them to attend on (Continued on page 3, column 1)

FACULTY PLAYS MARCH 22nd

At Chapel Tuesday morning President Blunt gave a report on the progress of the curriculum committee. She said that some changes in courses indicate that a new method in education is being adopted. The language requirement, for instance, has been altered. Starting next year, if a student does not wish to take the usual two six-point courses, during Freshman year, she may take a reading test in one language and an elementary reading test in another language. If she passes these, she will fulfill the language requirement, but the student may, if she wishes, continue the study of these languages.

Another innovation is an Italian major. The prerequisite for it is a course in Vergil. Doctor Sevick is offering a new course, "Problems in Marriage and Family Life." A change has been made in the Finance Department. Now the courses in applied music have to be taken individually and, consequently, are expensive. Beginning next year classes will be larger and less expensive, provided that three or four girls with about an equal development of skill can be grouped together.

The physics majors will have a new arrangement in their mathematics courses. A new rule has been made for incoming freshmen concerning the history requirement. If they have had a good course in High School, they will not have to take this course at college, but may choose another history course instead. A new course in dance will be open to freshmen. It has not been decided what changes may be made by the persons taking Dr. Dunham's or Mrs. Kempton's places.

A few new individual courses are being offered to stimulate students' independent work with the guidance of instructors. These new courses will be given with approval, so that, in turn, to answer the critics who complain that too many students slide through courses without really achieving anything.

The Old Order Changeeth, Yielding Place

With this issue the regime of the present News board comes to an end. Not without a slight feeling of regret we turn over the reins to a new board, a new staff. Our regret lies not in the fact that we must step aside in favour of this particular new staff, but in the fact that our work as servants to the college public is done. Whether or not it has been done well is for others to decide.

For the past year we have striven to better the college paper, to make it more interesting, more representative of great things done in C. C. Which are we accomplishing is but a beginning towards what we prophesy as a brilliant future for the News. Our path has been beset with obstacles, not the least of these the lack of cooperation, and the constructive criticism of the college as a whole. We realize that it is easier to find fault with something others do, than to find merit in it. We realize also that it is impossible to please everyone. This time, we feel that a greater cooperation and more intense interest towards the News could and should be shown.

The paper is representative of the college as a whole, not of the group which edits it. If the News has failed to satisfy the wants of the college, the editors alone must not be blamed; blame rather those whose indifference has made it necessary for the News staff to work almost entirely on its own initiative.

Because we have experienced the difficulties which have arisen from the indifference of the college in general, and because we have greatly deplored the fact that we have been obtained in comparatively small degree, we ask that our successors be given more cooperation. If there must be criticism let it be constructive criticism. The board which take our place is an extremely inexperienced one, yet that will need your help. If the college has pride in its paper, let it give the staff all the help it can. It will not be wasted.

A year ago we said "Hello" to you; now we must say "Goodbye.

In that year we have seen a greater enthusiasm, a greater college spirit than before. Let it increase even more. College should mean more than entirely academic work. The social life, the community spirit, should be awakened to all of equal if not greater value to us outside than that which we have obtained, and that we are they today, we must be adequately prepared to do our bit. If we cannot learn to work with others to the exclusion of our own personal and selfish gain when in college, what chance shall we have of being successful in life?

At this time we wish to take the opportunity to publicly express our appreciation to those members of the News board who have worked so well and so willingly for us during the past year. We also at this time extend to the new staff our best wishes for its success in the coming year.

CAMPUS CHARACTERS

A strict monitor, a fine athlete, a good scholar, and a jolly person is the ideal of humor—she has all these characteristics. She is fairly tall, and of medium build; her hair is dark brown, somewhat forward at the corners, but by no means so. She shows the all around the color of her dress; and her mouth is small, but fairly expressive. She has a back; her eyes are blue or green, depending upon the color of her dress; and her mouth is small, but fairly expressive. She has a very good voice, that shamous "bear-ug" of a coat. Then, too, not many can miss the broad "s" and soft "r" that betray her Boston environment.

Lizzie and Dizzie

To Whom It May Concern:
It is with great regret that we announce the passing of Lizzie and Dizzie. This famous pair, bearers of names renowned in history (Elizabeth and Disraeli) were drowned on Monday, March 23th, 1833, in the Duck Pond at Bolluslesse. Their death was due to heroism on the part of others, both being drowned in an effort to save the other. The preceding catastrophe they had been preparing was a true test of strength, and for an effort to save one of the others, they both fell overboard. So thick was the mud at the bottom of the pond, that they were unable to pull out their feet. In trying to pull each other out, they both sank and were lost to sight. All that remained were a few light pons floating on the water.

Many will not forget the death of these famous ducks. We hope, will have a mournful sigh and perhaps shed a tear over their already watery grave. Soon they will be forgotten, but let us hope they are forgiven for having obliterated on the public vision and for having tried the public's patience for so long. Let every one's enemies agree that the following epitaph to be floated on the troubled waters is true, and just.

To rise no more.
May they rest in peace.
On some far shore."

The Professor's Chair

Friday night the Gymnasium was the scene of the annual exhibition given by the Physical Education Department. The following classes performed, showing more interest and strength towards the News could and should be shown.

EXHIBITION STAGED

The tapping part of the exhibition took place in a store. The cast was composed of several salesmen and girls, a dude, a policeman, and a janitor who danced while he read his poem, or read his poem while he danced. At any rate he was, very successful.

After cleaning up the floor he fell asleep and the show was over. The dances showed much preparation on the part of the participants are greatly to be complimented. The folk dancing proved to be another League of Nations. Of the many dances put on during the day, Ruth Ferree's and Virginia Swain's were chosen as the best. There was a model League in which the grumble companies were represented. They gave their dances in the turn and the company which won was freed from her dancing. Folk dancing, natural dances in turn and the country dancing. The natural dancing demonstrated.

Tower Times reports that professors at the University of Washington claim that B and C students will be social leaders, while A students will have no personalities and will be uninteresting individuals. That's a comfort to most of us!

The Faculty and the students are acclimated with the news that our chance to do something about the present situation. Our generation is the one which will hear the brunt of any national calamity. We are the ones who will bear the brunt of any national calamity. We are the ones who will bear the brunt of any national calamity.

What are we going to do about it? For a beginning, everyone should be informed on current happenings, and discuss them in house groups. But, are we going to stop with mere talk? No, indeed. We stand out organized in definite groups and must get in touch with similar movements at other colleges. We must stand out as a Youth Movement. Then we should be identified by some symbol—a green shirt, perhaps?

In any event we must do something about the present situation.

Sir Herbert Ames, former treasurer of the League of Nations, in giving his critique, praised the remarkable degree of accuracy, the correct governmental attitudes, and could find only minor points to criticize of which the main one was the improvised movement which could be made in the delivery of speeches.

Although they have not yet set a Youth Movement which cannot be overlooked.

They both sank and were lost to sight. All that remained were a few light pons floating on the water.

Cigarettes, like Foods need Seasoning

That's the part Turkish Tobaccos play in making Chesterfield's Taste Better

Smokers notice a certain "touch" in Chesterfields that comes from having just enough Turkish tobacco in them...a spicy, aromatic flavor that's much the same to a cigarette as seasoning is to food.

For only by blending and cross-blending the right amounts of mild Domestic tobaccos with the right amount of Turkish can we get the flavor and aroma that Chesterfield smokers enjoy.

Next time, ask for "The Cigarette that Satisfies"...you'll get Chesterfields, with Milder, Better Taste.

Chesterfield

They're Milder — They taste Better.

There is no question now but what the end is near—the seniors have begun ...

Meetings in such abundance might become monotonous except for such diversions as the other night when one girl's idea of college bread was so graphically demonstrated.

... all of which goes to show that there are places and places to accommodate and some are more secure than others.

Masco hunt provided occupation for all but the seniors and they had to go to the libe to pass the time away. Saturday afternoon there was standing room only and a long waiting line for reserve books.

One sophomore enjoyed sleeping in pajamas last Saturday night for the first time in a week. It seems she was accustomed to sleeping under beds and such, or not sleeping at all.

Sophomores have gotten so into the habit of trilling juniors that they keep right on although many of the company are aU over. That accounts for the pairs one sees going about hand in hand.

The Connecticut Campus reveals: The revenue from the fines imposed upon students for cutting classes at the University of Edinburgh is used to buy a Christmas present for the president. Last year the president received a cigar! We say it with trepidation—but those Scotchmen again!

Dr. Cadman to Lecture

Dr. S. Parkes Cadman is to speak next Tuesday on "My Experiences in Europe." Dr. Cadman is a well-lectured man serving as a special lecturer at the Yale Divinity School. He has been the pastor of the Central Congregational Church in Brooklyn since 1901, and for two years he was acting president of Adelphi College.

Correction

We wish to correct an error made in the last issue of the Avoc. The class of 1935, not 1934, excelled in scholarship.

Dr. Seymour Speaks

(Concluded from page 1, column 2) France has made itself predominant in the military and financial fields. There is a balance of power at the present time between Germany and France, but it is a balance of insecurity.

The conciliation of Germany cannot be complete until she assumes the position among the powers that she desires. If her attitude toward other countries is one of trust, she must be repaid accordingly. She must feel that her opinions are worth something to others. A great deal depends upon the attitude of France, who wants security from the League.

The United States action in staying out of the League has been the main factor in hurting the assurance of France. It is the United States’ job to reaffirm the belief in the international concert by making a security pact with France, Italy, Germany, and England and thus prevent a European panic.
