Prevention of War
Gas Poisoning Is Topic of Meeting

At a compulsory War services committee meeting held in the Palmer auditorium Monday evening, April 5, members of the committee demonstrated the actual effect and danger of asphyxiation, when poisonous gases are present, and demonstrated the various types of devices which can be used to protect oneself from gas.

There are two methods of detecting poisonous gas, both of which are simple. One method is the use of a gas mask with a filter which will detect any poisonous gas. The second method is the use of a phosphorescent tube, which will give off a glow when poisonous gas is present. The latter method does not protect the individual from gas, but simply warns him of its presence.

Another important point which was demonstrated was the fact that poisonous gas will not affect the eyes, but will affect the respiratory system. The committee demonstrated this by blowing some smoke into a room and then entering the room and breathing the smoke, while the other members of the committee were left outside.

Dear Editor:

On December 3, 1942, approximately 120 girls were scheduled to donate a pint of blood to the Red Cross Blood Bunting. The purpose was not only to serve as the sanctuary for volunteers. Fruit juice before and sandwich after donations, coffee afterwards were given the donors as sustenance, as they wrote this to the writer's knowledge there were few if any ill effects after the donations.

This time, the Red Cross has planned to thank inculded the college, it will be impossible to come unless at least 200 people volunteer to donate blood, or that college will be closed down so that if a few are turned down on the day of the donation.

Around 70 more blood donor volunteers are needed to help; if no one who donated last time signed up to do so this time, there should be still an adequate number with a student body alone of over 700.

It would be a shame if those who have already signed up were not able to donate because there were not enough volunteers. Would-be volunteers have until Monday, April 12, to sign up on the Service Bureau bulletin board in Fanning.

Spring again!

We are always glad to see private citizens take an active part in national affairs and help the war effort with their advice and valuable experience. However, these citizens are broadminded and sympathetic. Nobody wants to see a man make a career of himself by dragging his personal prejudices and ill feelings into the Congress of the United States, the legislature of the State of New York, and other places where important tasks should be attended to right now. We regret to observe our Rockefeller making just that thing. Ever since he returned from his remarkable tour of the enemy, say, Rockefeller has focused the spotlight of public attention on the lack of cooperation among war workers and on the inefficiency of union officials. Mr. Rockefeller, however, is responsible for absenteeism.

Absenteeism in war factories is a great problem, according to the New York Times, in which the workers are not threatened with machine guns by an invading enemy or by their own countrymen, and in which the workers are not threatened with the well known director, George Cukor, go honors for guiding the youngsters several newcomers to the movie critics. For good entrance, this film is already making almost a success and will have to be turned over to the people who have already seen it. The details about the movie are kept under wraps, but it includes several newcomers to the screen, like Mr. Tracy and Miss Hepburn doing just that thing. Miss Chapman, New A. A. Head Reveals Riding, Ceramics, Knitting as Hobbies

by Marjorie Lawrence '45

Through a long, languid call she found herself "one of those who had horseriding lessons," Dorothy "Chips" Chapman, new A. A. head of the athletic association of the college. Chips was chosen to be a member of the Athletic Association, in recognition of her enthusiasm for the sport. Her particular passion, Chips excel in a variety of activities, from horseriding to pottery making.

Of her athletic interests, Chips is particularly fond of horseriding, which she attributes to her parents' influence. Her father was a movie director, and Chips learned to ride at an early age. As a result, she has developed a strong connection with the horse, which she describes as "too wonderful."

Chips is very particular about horses and dogs. Though she admits to some of the same interests as her peers, she prefers the quiet companionship of her dog, who she describes as "a perfect gentleman in every way."

Chips is an.Name of a horse. Her dog is called "Gentleman," and she is very fond of him.

The athletic association is composed of various subcommittees, each with its own responsibilities. Chips is particularly interested in the equestrian subcommittee, which is in charge of organizing horse shows and events. She is also interested in the pottery subcommittee, which is responsible for producing pottery for the school.

Chips is a member of the National Equestrian Federation, and she has won several awards for her riding skills. She has represented the college in various interscholastic competitions, and she has won several medals and trophies for her performance.

In addition to horseriding, Chips is interested in pottery making. She has taken several classes in pottery, and she has developed a passion for the art form. She is particularly interested in the technical aspects of pottery making, and she has experimented with various techniques and styles.

Chips is a member of the National Pottery Association, and she has won several awards for her pottery work. She has represented the college in various interscholastic competitions, and she has won several medals and trophies for her performance.

Dr. Quimby to Be Guest Performer

Dr. Arthur Quimby, head of the music department, has made plans for a three-day visit to Cleveland on April 11. The primary reason for his trip is to give the organ part for a performance of Bach's Saint Matthew Passion, which will be held in Severance Hall in Cleveland on Monday, April 19.

Dr. Quimby has also been asked to play the organ for the Sunday morning service at the First Unitarian church on April 18. He will also give a recital that afternoon at the Cleveland Museum of Art. Sunday afternoon recitals were part of his duties when he was at the Museum.

In spite of this exhausting schedule, Mr. Quimby plans to visit his friends among the faculty and students during his time there.

Eleven People Certified for Advanced First Aid

The advanced first aid course started February 8 and finished on March 15. The necessary two hours were completed in five two-hour periods. One librarian, one chemistry assistant, and nine students will be awarded the advanced first aid certificate of the American Red Cross. They are: Miss Mary Hardtbrook, librarian; Miss Charlotte Gilbert, assistant in chemistry; Evelyn Isler '46, Marjorie Lawton '46, Caryl Messier '45, Elizabeth Middleton '43, Margaret Nichols '43, Barbara Swift '45, Katherine Wenk '45, and Mary Wood '43.

Caught On Campus

Once more after a vacation, we stop making those grueling efforts to be funny, and instead, we give you the extra curricular news.

Among the seniors, spring has brought rings to Marian Reich '43 from John Wilson IV, a chemical engineer, to Jean Gehlard '43 from Corporal George Hussey, and to Virginia Railshack '43 from Lt. (I.G.) George F. Neely, Jr.

We have several more engagements to report from the class of '43. Lola Clevington has announced her engagement to Lt. Seth Abbott of the U.S. Army Air Corps. Jessie Mitchell has announced her engagement to Cadet Keith Low, U.S.C.G. Academy of the class of '44. Margery Cleaver has announced her engagement to George Barnes. Audrey Rasken has announced her engagement to Lt. Paul Beery, U.S.A. Virginia King has announced her engagement to Almon Girard Stevens.

In the class of '44, Priscilla (Purry) Martin has announced her engagement to Ensign George Lambe, U.S.N.

Betty Trimble '45 has announced her engagement to Army Air Corps Cadet Dorland Crossman.

Elizabeth Rowitch '45 has announced her engagement to Lt. (I.G.) Marvin Waaman of Detroit, of the Naval Air Corps.

The Connecticut college choir hasn’t announced its engagement but it is about to present a surprise to the student body soon. Watch for announcement of this surprise. While waiting, keep singing.

Bobbie Wadhams '44 is knocking herself and friends out with the recently heard definition of an A.P.A. sandwich: two slices of bread with a ration-book common between.

Mrs. Woodhouse, trying to prove that Connecticut girls know their American history, read parts of the questionnaire recently published in the Times to her management class. When an identification of Jesse James was demanded, Charie Noble '44 brightened proudly and burst out with, “Oh, you mean that famous bandit?”

Memo to the junior class: X-ray pictures will be taken soon. Keep it in mind when planning the budget.

A British naval officer, after dining at Mary Harkness and enjoying the dubious pleasure of sitting in on a house meeting, desired he wanted to see the News office. The staff was glad to enlighten him as to tricks of the trade and C.C. life in general. Casual mention of the fact that some guests are allowed to attend dances was the last straw, and his only comment was, “Amazing social life you have here!”
