New Staff Chosen For Coming Year

Editor-in-Chief Asks For The College's Cooperation

The Connecticut College News staff for 1935-36 has been selected with the following changes from last year's members — Editor-in-Chief — Elizabeth Beals '36; Managing Editor — Elizabeth Beals '36; Associate Editor — Margaret Burgess '36; Assistant Editors — Josephine Thompson '37, Estelle Thompson '37; Art Editor — Ranice Birch '37; and on the personnel of the Business Manager, Ethel Hoch 36; Advertising Manager — Jean Dyan '36; Circulation Manager — Lucinda Kirkman; Advertising Manager — Shirley Durly '36; Caroline New art '36; Marjorie Webb '37; and Elise Schwenc '38. The rest of the old staff remains the same for the coming year.

With the coming in of these new officers there will be changes from time to time in an effort to make satisfact—adjust—suit—to and to follow out different ideas. Each one is fully aware that things will be done which should be remodeled and therefore any suggestions which the faculty or students wish to make will be sincerely appreciated. There may also be questions concerning the running of this organization which outsiders would like answered, in which case a list of the staff will be only too glad to assist. Many of us, until we come into actual contact with a newspaper, have no real understanding of the problems with which the staffs have to contend, thus it will be more helpful.

The Freshmen and Sophomores Start Play Competition

"Susie Sees" and "The Rehearsal" Are Given

Wednesday evening, April 14, was the most nerve-wracking and exciting situation that the Freshmen and Sophomores have shared since Freshman initiation. Both classes presented their contributions to the all-class play competition.

Keeping every part of the production with the class, the Sophomore Reading Committee, consisting of Jeanette Shingle, Barbara Styles and Frances Wheeler, selected Susie Sees, a play written and submitted by Bobbi Styles herself. Charlotte Caldwell directed the acting, while Edith Burnham headed the committee for scenery, Emma Moore for lighting, and Ruth Holmes for make-up.

Susie Sees is a one-act play in four scenes that might be described as a 'take-off' on college girls in their typical setting, a dormitory, bedroom scene. Marjorie Mayo played the part of "Fluffy," Beth McFarland of "Ted," Helen Bendix of "Helen," Mildred Garrett of "Bun," Helen Baker of "Lynn," Joan Blair of "Susie," Margaret Bain of "Janey," Lorraine Dreyfus of "the bookworm," and Emma Moore of "a girl."

The Freshman Reading Committee made up of Marjorie Wernicke, Elizabeth Fielding, and Frances Wheeler, selected "The Rehearsal" for the Freshman play. The production was directed by Peggy Redway, stage manager, and Carol Moore had charge of make-up.

The Rehearsal is a one-act play and revolves about the exciting situation being a side glance at a group of college girls struggling among themselves with a gloomy Irish play. Florence McConnell acted as Freda, Mildred McGourty as Christine, Betty Butler as Sonja, Barbara Lawrence as Barbara, Carmen Palmer as Margery, and Peggy Ball a Gertrude.

Blackstone welcomed the return of Virginia Bowen and Julia Maa. Dr. C. M. Sparrow continued to their homes with illness.

Mary Mory spent last week-end at Harvard.

Outcome of Competitive Plays

First place—Seniors
Second place—Freshmen
Third place—Juniors
Fourth place—Sophomores

Dr. Charles Gilkey Speaks At Vespers

Dr. Schweitzer, German Benevolent factor, is Subject of His Talk

Dr. Charles W. Gilkey, Dean of the Chapel of the University of Chicago and author of "Present Day Dilemmas in Religion," was the speaker at Vespers on Sunday, April 14. He spoke of the life and work of Albert Schweitzer, the great German, who is doing such wonderful work for humanity—a man who understands and takes to heart all the difficulties of his fellowmen and does his best to help them solve.

Dr. Schweitzer is one of the personalities and souls of our generation, who is destined to true greatness. He said that he would give the first 30 years of his life to science and art and the remainder to the direct service of mankind. He has built and equipped a complete modern hospital in Central Africa. While he was working for his doctor's degree he continued his historical and musical work, made lecture tours, and gave operatic recitals all over Europe in order to obtain support for his hospital.

All the difficulties with which Dr. Schweitzer struggled didn't dissipate him from others. Instead, they brought closer barriers and enabled him to understand people. His philosophy is the "brotherhood of those who bear the mark of pain." The understanding and sympathy that result from pain bind together all races of men. Dr. Schweitzer's life "bears the shadow not only of his own personal sacrifice, but also of the agony of his generation." In his optimism he believes that we can do our share to bring about the spiritual and moral awakening of mankind. We can attain the spiritual communion with God only through love for him and for our neighbor.

These thoughts on Dr. Schweitzer are appropriate for this time of the year because they show us the enduring influence of Jesus on mankind. It was this influence that sent Dr. Schweitzer to Central Africa. "The true understanding of Jesus is the understanding of will acting on us not to be the true relation to him to be taken as possession of by Him." That's the reason why Holy Week, Good Friday, and Easter are written so deeply in the hearts of men. They all share in the brotherhood of pain. But the fact that one hasn't suffered does not shut him out from religion. He must keep the way open to the understanding and estimate of the importance of his relationship to others. One who has learned to share his joys and sorrows is truly living.

It is a conceded fact that the very large majority of students, particularly in women's colleges, oppose war. Connecticut college in its anti-war demonstration has proven the fact for herself. If conviction were all that was necessary, war would be but a hypothetical thing. While large in numbers and agree that war is a futile and unnecessary thing, however, groups interested in its prompty quietly carry on their plans for its furtherance.

A movement against war is hard to dramatize. Yet if it is to accomplish its purpose, it must combat the glamor and pageantry of war. It must, through education, pierce the colorful front of the militarist propaganda, and expose the selfish desires that lie behind the noble sounding catch words of "Preparedness", "the Yellow Evil," or "Protection of American Rights." The dreamers of self-subjugation could never stand the test of facts. The problem then becomes that of immediate stand taken on the subject of peace by Connecticut College. It is to be attained to an ultimate good, the expenditure would be justified.

Peace Movement

The answer to the problem is organization. If one is waiting for "the near future" to roll around, Don't look so sad little girl.

SOCIAL NOTES

Knowlton was well represented at the Science Conference last Saturday. Among the attendees were: Dorothy Lyman, Louise Langdon, Margaret Coulter, Shirley Fayette, Norma Bloom, Elizabeth Ayer, Emily Black, and Dorothy Richardson.

Jane Wyckoff and Frances Ernst had a house party last Saturday night at her home in Belmont, Mass.

Schaffer House welcomed Betty Jane Palmer back from vacation—extended vacation, we'd say, but we're glad she's well now.

Marjorie Mints spent her birthday with her new husband and the babe he brought with him.

Jan Freeman from Mary Harkness House went to Virginia from Thursday to Monday. She spent the weekend at D. M. L.

Kay Andrus and Betty Vanderbilt spent last week-end in Boston.

Among the Blackstone students who attended the Science Conference at Mass. State were Frances Wilson, Dorothy Fuller, Margaret Richardson, and Elsie Thomsen. We are against all practical destruction of parity, for that would cause us much employment and have an unwholesome effect upon the general situation."

One other point convinces the observer that the attitude and firm government is not pacific. Recently President Roosevelt signed the Communications Act, which sets up a Federal Communications Commission with seven, with power to regulate interstate and foreign communications, whether by wire or radio. The instant war is declared the government will be enabled to promptly and effectively organize for national defense. Looking towards a war in the near future, the government is setting up strong, compact machines.

The Peace Movement must publicize these facts, point out their significance, and fight against them. Organizations must make it their business to study legislation and oppose any that furthers the preparation of war. Eventually they will have to show to the everyday citizen that to change the trend of the nation today, the Peace Movement must aim to make the public, intimate the political machines and their influencing, the representatives of the people in legislatures.

The answer to the problem is organization in every possible field. Connecticut College certainly cannot remain in the background in the face of such ominous conditions. The embryo of an organization is being formed. With complete cooperation it can become a very powerful factor in the peace movement of this section of the state. Tuesday evening, April 28, a meeting is to be held at eight o'clock in Windham, at which Bob Craig, one of the organizers of the Peace Movement at Wesleyan University, will talk. Those interested in securing a definite stand taken on the subject of peace by Connecticut, ought to attend that meeting; for out of it, it is hoped, will come the outline of the organization as it is to function here.
ANTHONY WAR MEETING
offered practical suggestions for the remodelling of them. One reason for the failure of the peace movement is the activity of special groups which have excellent organization and are able to block the progress of anti-war measures. Another reason for the ineffectiveness of the movement is that it has been too "high-hat". We should remember that it is the man in the street who must be reached if we expect to accomplish anything. We have had too much idealism and not enough realism—too much agitation and too little education. And last of all—and perhaps most important—we do not keep at our drive to preserve peace. We hold a meeting once or twice a year and let it go at that.
We should keep at our task persistently.
Miss Pike suggests the following program for the students of Connecticut college: (1) to establish first of all an active anti-war league
(2) to secure the right to censor newspapers shown in New London theaters to prevent Hearst propaganda reaching the public, (3) to exert pressure by sending a lobbyist to the legislature if it is necessary, (4) to establish a speakers board on the campus which can of-er students to speak outside the college, (5) to obtain a special bud-getin board on which happenings relevant to the peace movement can be posted, and (6) to send a group of students as a peace section to march in the Memorial day parade.
At the conclusion of the speeches questions were asked by the students and were answered by the speakers. Miss M. Elizabeth Gerhart presided at the meeting and made a brief introductory comment on the peace movement.

I bring you the mildest smoke, the best-tasting smoke. You wonder what makes me different. For one thing, it's center leaves. I spurn the little, sticky, top leaves... so bitter to the taste. Boulder, Colo. — The complaint that "too many are going to college" recently drew the ire of Dr. George Norlin, president of the University of Colorado. "In the nation at large, of the State University (Baton Rouge) had one million are in colleges and universities, two million are at work, and sixteen and a half million are out of school and out of work," Dr. Norlin said in his recent report to the 30th Colorado General Assembly.

"To say under these circumstances that too many are going to college, or that the doors of education should continue to be closed to the many who could benefit by going to school, is to speak sheer nonsense." At the University of Nevada (Reno) there is a body called the Associated Students who thought they had some control over the destiny of their coach—until an administrative committee stepped in.

Bloomington, Ind., ACP—Indiana University students will be given aid with their vocational and academic problems, if a department proposed by Dr. M. S. Lewis of the school of education, is established. The proposed organization would be a place where students could go voluntarily for guidance, and where more attention could be given to their problems than is possible under the present set-up, Dr. Lewis pointed out.

"Students should be shown the necessity of budgeting their time, keeping their work up to date, having a regular place in which to study, keeping notes amply and systematically, summarizing their readings and reviewing frequently," Dr. Lewis declared.

Albany, N. Y., ACP—College boys who think the charming coeds they take out are sweet are about to have a rude awakening from a false illusion, for doctors at Albany Medical College of Union University have evolved the following chemical formula for the young ladies of today.

One girl is made of enough glycerine to furnish the bursting charge for one naval shell, she has enough lime to whitewash a chicken coop and she has sufficient gluten to make five pounds of glue. In addition she has enough sulphur to rid an ordinary doz of fleas and enough chlorine to sanitize three good size swimming pools.

In addition, she carries around, every day 30 teaspoons of salt, 31 pounds of carbon and 10 gallons of water. Who said "sweet young thing?"

There is a wrestler at the University of Minnesota (Minneapolis) who is going to amount to something some day. He was consigned to the State hospital for measles a few days before a big wrestling meet. As the day drew near the boy grew more flabby, afraid he would be in poor shape, even if he got out of his ward in time. So one morning he locked the door of the ward, hauled other measles-sufferers from bed, threw the mattresses on the floor—and got them to wrestle with him. He kept in shape, all right, and was released in time for the meet. But the other boys—well, all of them went back to bed with increased temperatures, and could not leave when their terms were up.

The difficult subject of how to mount an elephant was recently explained to students at Duchesne College (Omaha, Neb.) by a visiting bishop from India.

State blue laws prevented a student dramatic group at Penn State College from practicing or moving college scenery on a Sunday.
of arrangements are made by the college whereby students majoring in library sciences may work in libraries, art majors may study abroad, and psychology students may work in clinics. Students who wish to spend the period at home studying and doing research work are encouraged to do so.

Compulsory class attendance, periodic theme assignments, and publicly announced grades have been eliminated on the grounds that they tend to create artificial initiative. By abolishing classes, students are able to progress as quickly as they can. Thus the "slow" students do not hinder the "quick" students.

At Hiram College, Ohio, and New College, New York City, somewhat similar education methods are being followed. Princeton University recently gave 91 seniors, with better than Phi Beta Kappa averages, the privilege of finishing the year without attending classes.

Current Events Group Hears Joseph Cohen

Joseph Cohen, National Student League leader, addressed the Current Events Club Tuesday, on the question of consolidating campus and war sentiment expressed in the April 12th strikes in High Schools and Colleges throughout the country into a permanent and efficacious anti-war movement. "The National Student League considers it a matter of self-preservation that every student organization oppose war. We believe in a way out and fascism unite in common action. We propose that the National United Front formed for the strike to become a permanent and efficacious anti-war body, and that NSLers in the different schools urge the continuation of strike action committees as the best means of opposing war. However the NSL program goes far beyond that which will be adopted by the united front, to include every phase of campus life and activity. The NSL fights every war program of every organization. We support the revolutionary efforts of colonial peoples for liberation."

And what is C. C. O. O. going to do this spring? It has planned many interesting outings for the spring. Be sure not to miss the fun! On the 28th of this month there will be a supper in Bolleswood. Those who remember the steaks and other yummies of other waves, spray, oh what fun. Sunday, May 11 there will be a picnic on the island. Also, C. C. C. will arrange for any boat rides for Junior Prom. Be sure to make your reservations ahead of time. On May 25, the outing will be a swimming party. Such fun is ahead of us. Don't miss these outings. Everyone come!

Be on the look-out for the Riffey matches between the faculty and students. They ought to be good from all report. Cheer for your favorites! Come on students, and maybe you can show the faculty that you too can get a bulls eye and now then. And show them that you can hit the target, even though you can't always "hit an exam!"

Contest Will Open For College Oddities

Do you know any odd fact about an American college? If you do, and can prove it, the News will pay you for the information.

Beginning with the first issue next fall, a brand new feature, "College Oddities" will be a new attraction in this publication. It will appear on the editorial page in the form of a 2-column informative cartoon. And $5.00 will be paid for each odd fact about an American college or university accepted for publication provided satisfactory proof is forwarded to the News with the fact.

Here are some of the oddities which will be illustrated and proven in this newspaper as a new feature during the 1935-36 session issues:

Harvard graduates once ruled an European country.

At a number of American colleges, girls must swim for their degrees.

The first educational endowment in America included the gift of three milch cows. At one time college professors in Virginia were not allowed to marry.

It would take over 500 years to complete every course at Yale.

The second oldest college in America was endowed by three pirates.

The youngest college student was eleven years old.

New England school teachers were also grave diggers.

There is a college which has one faculty member for every four students.

A southern college stills pays its land rent in Latin verses written by its students.

Whether you believe these statements or not, they will be proven and illustrated in the News on the editorial page beginning with the first issue next fall. Watch for them and submit to the contest. It may net you $5.00.

Dr. Charles Gilkey
Speaks At Vespers

Standing there are two things we must note particularly: 1. We must not be blind to conditions that may be detrimental to others; 2. We must learn to help those who are in need—as one famous physician writes, "the secret of the care of the patient is caring for the patient."

Dr. Schweitzer's life is a shining example of a burning desire to help mankind. There are four things that are inseparably associated with his name: New Testament scholarship, Bach's music, the social and human problems of Central Africa, and the "Philosophy of Civilization".

Sample form of Canadian humor as published at the University of Manitoba (Winnipeg)—It is in the form of a riddle: "What goes 99 plunk, 99 plunk, 99 plunk?" The answer, believe it or not, is "A Centipede with a wooden leg".

Mount Vernon, Va.—What do college students do with their time? In answer to this none-too-important query, Prof. Russell Cooper, of Cornell College, gives us the following data from a survey conducted by him recently:

1. Senior men spend 85 hours of each week sleeping.
2. Women of Cornell College devote four hours per week more than the men to personal appearance.
3. Senior men are the most studious of the students, and they spend nine and one-half hours per week at the dining table.
4. Freshmen write home on the average of two and one-half hours a week.
5. Junior women consume nine hours and 30 minutes each week for entertainment.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"The pursuit of knowledge in modern Germany is on the decline," Dr. Friedrich Wolf, distinguished German playwright and refugee from Nazi Germany, declared in an interview with the seawanahaka, Long Island University newspaper.

"German officials believe that it is a question of the care of the patient is caring for the patient."

"The secret of the care of the patient is caring for the patient."

Dr. Schweitzer's life is a shining example of a burning desire to help mankind. There are four things that are inseparably associated with his name: New Testament scholarship, Bach's music, the social and human problems of Central Africa, and the "Philosophy of Civilization".
