President

Pam Ryecroft Bambi Mitchell

The position of the President is of the greatest importance in the Student Government. The President must be willing to work with the administration to clarify and achieve her objectives. Although she is the official head of the Student Government, she fulfills her responsibilities through conferences and her own personal initiative. As an elected representative of the student body, she acts as a channel of information, but she is also responsible for the coordination of volunteer and welfare activities such as the Blood Mobile, the Book and Clothing Drive, the Community Fund, Lost and Found, Spring Wring-Ding, the Cancer Drive, the New Faculty-Student Dinner, the Christmas Party, and the Easter Egg Roll. In short her job is to represent the students in the Senate and to the administration. The President must be willing to work with organizations, especially in the administration to clarify and achieve her objectives.

Religious Fellowship

Beth Murphy Ann Doody

With the new policy of religious groups on campus, the position of President of Religious Fellowship has taken on new dimensions. The President must be willing to work with the administration to clarify and achieve her objectives. In short her job is to represent the students in the Senate and to the administration. The President must be willing to work with organizations, especially in the administration to clarify and achieve her objectives.

Service League

The President of Service League is faced with many challenges, opportunities, and responsibilities. Acting as a liaison between the college and New London community, she is responsible for the coordination of volunteer and welfare activities such as the Blood Mobile, the Book and Clothing Drive, the Community Fund, Lost and Found, Spring Wring-Ding, the Cancer Drive, the New Faculty-Student Dinner, the Christmas Party, and the Easter Egg Roll. In short her job is to represent the students in the Senate and to the administration. The President must be willing to work with organizations, especially in the administration to clarify and achieve her objectives.

House of Representatives

The Speaker should keep the Senate President informed of any coming legislation. The Speaker also represents the House of Representatives at the Senate meetings with Miss Noyes. The Speaker is the second in charge of the Senate and must be willing to work with the administration to clarify and achieve her objectives.

Athletic Association

Ann Weatherly

The Athletic Association is an organization which is immediately connected with the Student Government. Under it, Cutting Club, Sabre and Spur, Modern Dance Club, "C" Synchro, Competitive Swimming, Softball, and Skiing. The student government has also been an active member of the Intercollegiate League, which is an organization designed to improve communication between A.A. and the students by utilizing the activity as a means of communication. Vice President

Pat Anwll

The office of the Vice President of Student Government is unique in its scope and in its rewards. The President works closely with the Vice President to establish the actual structure of the government and to gain perspective of the total college environment. While the President is responsible for organizing the administration and the student body, the Vice President is responsible for the Senate. The Vice President acts as the co-chair of the Senate and is the second in charge of the Senate. The Vice President must be willing to work with the administration to clarify and achieve her objectives.

Odetta's performance Sunday afternoon at Palmer Fieldlweekend on a note of success. Couples and groups who came to hear the renowned folk singer, filled Palmer Auditorium. Odetta, who had performed as much as two hours, had no problem filling her audience, which included students, alumni, and others who had come to hear her.

Odetta's performance was marked by her distinctive voice and her ability to connect with her audience. She sang a variety of songs, including traditional folk songs and original compositions. Her performance was well-received by the audience, who sang along and cheered for her throughout the show.

After the performance, Odetta was seen signing autographs and taking pictures with fans. She seemed to enjoy the event and was grateful for the support of the audience.

The event was sponsored by the College Women, who strive to bring cultural and musical events to the campus.

The success of this event is a testament to the efforts of the College Women and their ability to bring quality entertainment to the campus.

This event highlights the importance of cultural events in college campuses and the role they play in providing students with opportunities to engage with different cultures and artistic expressions.

The College Women continue to plan and organize events that bring together students and the community to foster a vibrant and inclusive campus life.

The title, printed in last week’s issue “Area Urban Renewal Project Increases Racial Segregation,” was misleading and incorrect. It was the point of the article that the problem presented was one of discrimination, rather than outright segregation. Furthermore, there is no evidence that there might be an impact on the quality of life in the area. Urban Renewal, and if proper corrective action is not taken, that problem may be avoided.

Topic of Candor
find any great value in punish ment as the threat of punishment ought to be a deterrent in the social action in the first place, not an omnipresent fear. The presence surrounding fear is an aspect of misery which we again, ask what great value it has.
Why do we have rules at all? Obviously, there are certain practical necessities; the campus cannot remain open all night for any number of reasons, and it is to be controlled by state law. There are, however, in certain hours, and honor must be controlled on campus. If someone decides to stay out beyond curfew and does not report himself, nothing happens. If someone stays out and does report himself, again, what happens? She receives a rap on the hand for something else, or a more serious penalty, or in a case, no punishment at all. If (larger is a somewhat different case) as it involves state and may affect other persons, we question the ability of the Honor Court to deal with state infrac tions.

Thus there are those who re port themselves and others, and those who don’t, and to what end Honor Court? I was always under the impression that it was the place of a court to judge upon the feasibility and practicality of laws and facts, and their constitutionality, not upon the motives and results of personal decisions and identities. Most members of the student body do not appear to be faced with a crisis, most of us are fairly well set in our own system of honor. Some will abide by the rules, some won’t. The statistics for infractions would probably remain the same with or without, Honor Court. Honor Court does not appear to be either significantly preventive or significantly deterrent upon the merits of our Honor Court. Honor Court would deal with honor; honor or lack of honor is found in the motive of the act, not in the act itself. I suggest Honor Court turn into a Court, leaving honor to the student body. The modern arguments to deal with realistic pretensions of evaluation and the specification of carry over so if law of some real value, and this value is explained in intelligent and reasonable ways, most probably more people will be more willing to abide by the rules. Let us abolish Honor Court and establish a real court. M. R.

Mr. Baird Discusses Melville; Works Relate Man, Cosmos

Wednesday night, Mr. Baird opened his lecture on Herman Melville in the series of lectures on Religious Issues in Life, Literature, by saying that Melville’s works both deal with modern problems, and deal with the symbolism of his own personal experience. Mr. Baird mentioned, Billy Budd, and Moby Dick, Melville’s long poem, have much in common with Moby Dick. In all three are contained the same spiri tual beings, the same energy and passion for life. Most important, there is the same quest to grasp the final answer.
