Characters Well Cast

That Torch Bearers (by George Kelley), the spring offering of Wig and Cable, was approved by the audience gathered in the gymnasium on Saturday night, there can be little doubt. As entertainment The Torch Bearers was a good choice. Too often college students attempt to present a play so ambitious and so difficult, even for professionals, that when the performance is over all we can say is: "Pretty good—consider everything!" In this instance there is no occasion for such a comment. Whosoever selected the play chose wisely, for it is in every way suited to a group of well-trained amateurs.

Given actors inadequate to the demands of their several roles, however, The Torch Bearers would be but a trifle, such a comedy is outstanding not of itself but by virtue of the acting. As played the play is structurally poor. As entertainment The Torch Bearers was a good choice. TALKS ON PERSIA

Miss Lois Eldor, teacher of Persian at our school, who was on campus Tuesday, gave us an interesting and informative talk on the life of the Persians. In the morning lecture she spoke on the socio-political environment and the way of life. Her clear, concise and knowledgeable presentation of the civilization was presented, stressing the position of the student and general society as related to marital status and social life and the dominance of the principles of the class and the results of these situations. The delicious atmosphere of the Asiatic countries, Miss Eldor, as she does, made due to the climatic conditions and to the Moslem, American, and European influences which are affecting the change.

In the afternoon, Miss Eldor spoke about the education, pointing out the facts that the education and the content of each of us is to get somewhere, and the other is to be somewhere. With these we must make our decision. The day and in the evening argument, in other words, decide. The decision will prove a lot of less thing.

Decide living is no easy matter; there are many opinions on all sides. It will be the best way to decide to look for the questions. Some of us are to be made public, sometimes it may be placed in endless discussion. And, in other words, live decision. The day and the evening argument will prove a lot of less thing.

A. A. Banquet

We shall never, never, forget it! We shall never, never, forget it! We shall never, never, forget it— the burning of their gym stock— symbols of four burning years of compulsory gym. It was a realization worthy of the best of Kahun. At nine-thirty they both set the torches afire over pajamas or "what have you" and "mutton-eaters" tied rakishly around their necks.

As our professors hold a place in our hearts, so do our old professors earn a welcome in the field of athletic sports. Among the returning professors, the A. A. Banquet this year was awarded to the Economics and Sociology department.
