Connecticut College News Vol. 22 No. 25

Connecticut College

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.conncoll.edu/ccnews_1936_1937

Recommended Citation

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Newspapers at Digital Commons @ Connecticut College. It has been accepted for inclusion in 1936-1937 by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Connecticut College. For more information, please contact bpancier@conncoll.edu. The views expressed in this paper are solely those of the author.
President Park, Bryn Mawr, delivered the Nineteenth Annual Commencement Address.

President Speaks

One hundred and thirty-seven seniors were graduated at the 19th annual Commencement exercises of Bryn Mawr College, held Monday morning, June 14, at 10 o’clock.

The Rev. Paul F. Laubenstein opened the services with the Invocation after the Academic procession had entered the Quadrangle. Immediately following, the College Choir sang two numbers, “Love Me If I Live”, by Foote, and “My Love Dwelt in a Northern Land”, by Elgar.

Marion Edwards Park, Ph. D., LL.D., President of Bryn Mawr College delivered the commencement address. She spoke on the topic of education, stressing particularly the problems in the education of women and the need for more and progressive colleges. She was followed by the Choir which sang “Whence Love Is Gone” by Eby, and “Invirritis” by Tabor.

President Blunt then conferred degrees upon the graduating class, and announced honors and prizes. Master of Arts degrees were conferred at Commencement.

Dr. Marion E. Park

Dr. Park Speaks of Women’s Needs In Education Today

“Never again will your education be so fresh in your mind, or you so ready to attack or defend it,” said President Marion Edwards Park of Bryn Mawr College at Commencement exercises at Connecticut, Monday, June 14.

“It is nothing new in the history of the processes of civilization to have a new group filter into and use an old process; and nothing new to find that the process is used by the newcomers for some time without any thought of change from the form in which it has been standardized. But later on in the new group, increases in numbers and consequently more attention and interest gathers around it, if again the new group becomes not only larger, but different in character, more varied in its powers and in its purpose, and so makes more demands on the old routine, then the question of the fit between the new group and the old process which at first was used without question rises to the surface.

The education of women is a good example.

“About seventy-five years ago colleges for women began to filter into an old educational process, the liberal arts curriculum, worked out so far for men only. They did it, and speaking generally, in one of two ways. Some women’s colleges started in without any definitely feminist point of view. As a matter of course they set up the curriculums and methods which colleges for men had tried and found satisfactory. Some of them on the other hand with clenched teeth took over deliberately every dull detail with a melodic purpose; to prove at once and forever that women could match them.

President Katharine Blunt

President Makes Annual Statement At Commencement

Tells Of Progress And Problems Of Connecticut College

I think of my brief talk today as especially for the parents of the graduates. The undergraduate Colleges, second, a few points of the progress within the college to further these hopes, next the gifts by which our friends are aiding us, and finally the hope of our thoughts for the future.

Most of them will marry and have children, helped, we hope, by the alumnae who have gained into our society, and in which it has been standardized. But later on in the new group, increases in numbers and consequently more attention and interest gathers around it, if again the new group becomes not only larger, but different in character, more varied in its powers and in its purpose, and so makes more demands on the old routine, then the question of the fit between the new group and the old process which at first was used without question rises to the surface.

The education of women is a good example.

“About seventy-five years ago colleges for women began to filter into an old educational process, the liberal arts curriculum, worked out so far for men only. They did it, and speaking generally, in one of two ways. Some women’s colleges started in without any definitely feminist point of view. As a matter of course they set up the curriculums and methods which colleges for men had tried and found satisfactory. Some of them on the other hand with clenched teeth took over deliberately every dull detail with a melodic purpose; to prove at once and forever that women could match them.

Dr. Mcintosh of Yale Is Speaker At Baccalaureate

Dr. Marig X. Park

“Science and religion in their mutual relations in the past and present exhibit a series of stages of progress, which we may designate as the stage of cooperation, the stage of conciliation, and the stage of cooperation,” stated Dr. Douglas C. Macintosh of Yale Divinity School at the Baccalaureate services on Sunday, June 14, 1937.

In speaking of the stage of the religious world, Dr. Macintosh pointed out that religion has considered science the aggressor, “best on the destruction of priesthood,” and that while science has looked disappointingly at spokesmen of religion who seemed to be obstructing progress in gaining knowledge of reality, both the scientist and the man of religion were guilty of “prejudging” upon the domain of the other. There was no attempt to reach understanding between the opposing groups; neither could realize the value which the truth of the other might offer.

However, conflict was gradually replaced by conciliation in the mutual relations of science and religion. Proposals for this compromising bargain came from the scientists and from those whose interests were mainly religious. It was a “peace process” wide science was to reign in the realm of observable fact and instrumental value, religion was given freedom and self-determination in its appreciation of ultimate values and its faith in ultimate reality.

But already there are signs "that we are about to pass beyond the stage of mere conciliation, neutral."

President Blunt

Tells Of College News in Chapel

President Blunt told the student body of interesting news items about the college in a special chapel during the examination period.

"The situation is rather favorable in the financing of the university," said Miss Blunt. "We now have eight dormitory amounts amounting to $122,000. One is particular for Jane Addams house, $80,000 given by a friend of the college and... (Continued to Page 2, Column 2)"
Senior Class Pays Tribute to President Blunt

Farewell thoughts are in our hearts, farewell songs upon our lips, not only because the end is happy. It is sad. It is both. But because the sharp realization that comes with parting brings us closer to those things that have meant much to us as members of the class of 1937. We give our tribute in those songs, in an exchange of camaraderie, in a long look across campus, and in our minds, each hidden hand, each hidden heart; you—your friendship and companionship will never be forgotten.

But we have set us an example. You have led the way. We who remain behind will strive to follow your lead, make a clean jump and gain to you. We were paying tribute not only because the end of four years is at hand, but because 1,155 of us have made the heart beat of our college days. We linger over them as over the pages of a half-remembered but dearly cherished diary.

So it was that we paid tribute when we sang, "Oh, President Blunt, our hearts to you, our hands to the very life blood of the college."

We have come to recognize that the college we boast of to the world, is a place of opportunity; to one who, through devotion, loyalty, and service, stands for "Competent Citizenship." At the moment of the first warm handclasp on the day we entered Connecticut College, we were aware that our president was to play a real part in our lives here, and we in his. After a bit we came to realize that the warmth and sincerity of his greeting was the embodiment of the very spirit of the college itself, and that from the very beginning we would have opportunity to grow intellectually, physically, and spiritually, in the stimulating atmosphere of fellowship. We would all be a part, faculty, administration, and student body, of that unified purpose that is significant of growth.

Now that we have become members of the graduating class of 1937, we understand that President Blunt has created that unity of purpose and that friendliness, and fused them into the very life blood of the college. We have come to recognize that the college we boast of to the world, has been passing through a dangerous period of adolescence during our four years here, and as we look back, we realize that today we are graduates of a mature institution, that is growing in stature, and increasing in potentialities with each new year of its life. Tomorrow we will be proud to have our daughters become alumnae.

Only a devoted parent could guide a child so safely through its crucial years, and truly, President Katherine Blunt may be called the God-parent of this, our college. Only through service and sacrifice are great achievements made possible, and when we think with gratitude of the doors that have been open to us here, of the friendships made possible, and of the horizons that loom ahead, we may truly raise our hearts and our voices in tribute to one who, through service and sacrifice, has made Connecticut College a place of opportunity; to one who is, through devotion, loyalty, and inspirational guidance, building a college that is capable of shaping minds and directing lives.
Senior Play Is Produced Sat., In Outdoor Theatre

The Casket Sequence from Shakespeare's Merchant of Venice will be given as the Commencement Play on Class Day, Saturday, June 12. Seniors in the cast are Dorothy Han- cy, who will take the part of the Prince of Aragon; Marian Adams Lawrence, Cook, Singing Page; and Cornelia Riddick and Theodore Hubson, Pages. Other members of the cast are Barbara Lawrence, Jean Sincere, Anna L. Marianna Sookob, Elizabeth Taylor, Helen Maxwell, Harriet Rice, Ruth Kellogg, Helen Bibbs, and Evelyn Good.

Josephine Hunter Ray, faculty member in charge of the play, procured art committee is made up of Eliza- beth Hamblin, Elizabeth Taylor, Marian Littlefield, Luella Kirk- man, and Grace Beckwith and Ewel-

Senior History Divulges Class Memories

The first thing we learned here at Connecticut College was the utter uselessness of what, up until that time, had seemed like adequate clothing. Like clean clothes, we had been against the ravages of weather. Dainty rubber sandals were chucked for knee-boots, and so on through our wardrobes from the bottom up, ending with sturdy rain-hats that would have stood their ground with any old oil-skin number that an succeeded in making their lives miserable for a four.

Our four years have been great because of the general scheme of things at Connecticut College. A few of them were beautiful new, fine professors, and the introductions of courses that made us wish we had five or six years here instead of four. The innovation of Father's Day during our Sophomore year was another. We would have shared mothers of groups who stood up at the event too. While we were somewhere about the town trying to make our allowances stretch around the howl of the private, and before we would murmur our secret in our source. However, the secret remained ours until we chose to have it other.

Junior Prom came next. Hawes unrigged supreme, but all of the probes were surprisingly indulgent. When the last moonlight song came and the Seniors gave their boxed ball, we groaned, as we were out. We had gushed a little time before when we had imagined that we were drawing rooms for the last time. We went home for our summer vacation seeming quite accurately just how heavy were a cap and gown.

Our Senior year started off in high gear, with no time for warming up into the spirit of the. We plunged headlong into affa- irs that were speeding before we realized they even existed. The first specifically Senior activ- ity of the year was the Sophomore Hunt, wherein we stated most emphatically the superiority of our position in the college regime. After Thanksgiving vacation these same Addames-ites went about looking so glum that they attracted at- tention throughout the college. They (Continued on Page 9, Column 3)

Senior Class Held Farewell Banquet

Virginia Deuel Toastmistress

The traditional farewell banquet for the Senior Class was held at Lighthouse Inn at seven o'clock on Thursday night, June 10. Virginia Deuel was toastmistress of the eve- ning, the seating arrangements and the Seniors' table were: Enos Carlough and Barbara Haines, class presi- dents; Elsie Thompson, in charge of the class gift; Margaret Coulter, chairman of Commencement; Nel- lora Bloom, chairman of Class Day; Margaret McConnell; Jessie Anne Foley, chairman of Senior Banquet and President; Lenore Gibson and Louise Langdon, authors of the class prophecy.

PoiNt:

The Agamemnon comes forth with this M.C.:

Motorist: "Madam, I'm sorry I killed your dog. May I replace it?"

Spitnik: "This is so sudden.

Knowlton Is Scene of Senior Prom

Paulson's Orchestra Featured

The annual Senior Prom took place on Friday, June 11, in Know- lton Salon from 9:00 to 1:00 A.M. Paulson's orchestra furnished the music for this last dance of the sen- ior class, and the decorations were done in a spring motif with pink, lavender, and burgundy predominating. Junior Prom King and Queen, Joseph Foley was chair- man of the Prom committee.

The following members of the Junior class were waitresses: Mar- garet Ball, Catherine Caldwell, Mary E. Chase, Eugenia Dick, Bar- bara Lawrence, Beth McIlraith, Margaret Ann Meier, Alice Parr, Seacriet, Jean Pierce, and Kath- erine Walbridge.

Chaperons were President Katha- rine Blunt, Dean E. Alverna Burd- dick, Miss Frances Brett, Dr. and Mrs. Henry W. Lawrence, and Mrs. J. D. Lawrence.

Please Patronize Our Advertisers

ConnecTicut College News

Page 3

President Blunt Receives Seniors at Garden Party

Trustees and Faculty Aid Miss Blunt To Entertain At Reception Sunday

President Blunt's reception for the seniors and their guests took place at her garden party on Thursday afterno- ons. The receiving line included Miss Blunt, Mrs. Janet Crawford How, Mrs. Kathryn Moss, Dean Irene Nye, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nye, Miss Manse, and Miss Emma Cur- lough.

The poures for the garden party were Mr. Earl Stumm, Miss Mary Bakley, Miss Marjorie Prentice, Miss Pauline Dederer, Mrs. James W. Morrison, Mrs. Kathryn Lud- ington, Miss Mary E. Partridge, Miss Maitie P. Whitney, Mrs. Wil- liam L. Cross, Jr., Mrs. Henry Plant, Miss Louise Howe, Mrs. F. E. Chappell, Mrs. Clement Scott, Mrs. Chas. W. Blunt, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harris, Mrs. Charles G. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Garbad K. Daghian, Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Jensen, Mr. and Mrs. George Avery, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Martindale. The Misses Esther Carey, Mrs. M. C. McKee, Margaret S. Chaney, Mrs. Mary Wright, Elizabeth Wright, Ruth Starwood, E. G. Brown, Lavinia Stewart, Hannah Rosse, Margaret Ham- ilton, Beatrice Reynolds, and Mrs. Besse B. Wessel.

The Misses Margaret Ball, Eugenia Dick, Barbara Law- rence, Beth McIlraith, Catherine Caldwell, Margaret Mulock, Jean Pierce, Alice Parr, Scacriet, Kath- erine Walbridge.

Local Alumnae Hold Elections

Mrs. Mary DeGange Palmer was elected president of the local chapter of the Connecticut College Alumnae. Saturday evening at a tea at the home of the retiring president, Ger- trude E. Noyes.

Other officers and chairmen chosen for the coming year are: Vice president—Dorothy Stew- art of Norwich. Secretary—Mrs. Mary Croft Denison. Treasurer—Florence Dimmock. Advisory committee—Katharine G. Buckley, Gertrude E. Noyes. Chairman of the scholarship commit- tee—Agatha McGuire.

Chairman of finance committee—Marion Bedell.

Chairman of program committee—Lois Lankster St, Chairman of public service committee—Eliza Corby.

Chairman of nominating com- mittee—Barbara Bell Crouch.

The slate was presented by Jessie Williams Koh, chairman of the nominating committee. The receiving line was present. Miss Marian E. Sanford poured, and Mrs. Stuart and Miss Edith Canisar served.
Helen Mary O'Brien
Bernice Irene Parker
Elizabeth Rose Peirce
Virginia Elise Peterson
Ruth Pierce
Margaret Anne Powell
Margaret Catherine Prekop
Mary Theresa Reynolds
Juliana Erwin Sanders
Charlotte Dean Sharp
Mary Kenyon Stewart
Elizabeth Rose Peirce
Dorothy Alice Richardson
June Merkle Santee
Madeline Shepard
Martha Hannah Sterek
Elizabeth Reed Stromberg
Virginia Elise Peterson
Lois Jennette Riley
Ruth Davis Scales
Barbara Jeanette Shingle
Elizabeth Bottimore Taylor
Ruth Pierce
Mila Elizabeth Rindge
Elizabeth Jane Schlesinger
Anne Elizabeth Smith
Marion Adelaide Taylor
Margaret Anne Powell
Margaret Carew Ross
Elizabeth Emma Schumann
Selma Madelyne Sohn
Eile Elgin Thompson
Calendar of Important Events and Speakers for the Year 1936-1937

September 17. Freshman Week begins.
September 22. Service League Reception.
September 26. Junior Party to Freshmen.
September 27. Vespers, Paul E. Laubenstein.
October 3. Service League Dance.
October 4. Vespers, Roy B. Chamberlin.
October 5. Round Table Discussion with Dr. Bonn.
October 6. Convocation, Professor Bonn.
October 7. Freshman Initiation.
October 9. Senior Proclamation.
October 11. Special Vesper Service, Dean Nye.
October 13. Recital, Miss Ballard.
October 17. Service League Dance.
October 18. Vespers, Hornell Hart.
October 20, "C" Quiz.
October 23. Convocation, Jennie Lee.
October 24. Informal Student Recital.
October 27. Service League Dance.
October 29. Music Club, Freshman Recital.
October 30. Hampton Singers, Recital.
November 1. Vespers, Reverend Gilkey.
November 3. Convocation, Dr. Hamilton.
November 5. Siberian Singers.
November 7. Service League Dance.
November 9. Dr. Reid, Speaker.
November 10. Colonel Hodges and Thomas Dewart, Members of the Executive Board of the New York Sw. Speakers.
November 12. Informal Student Recital.
November 15. Robert R. Wicks, Vespers.
November 17. Convocation, Bartlett J. Whitney.
November 20. Lecture, B. Mitchell, Fall Plays.
November 22. Vespers, Bernard Edmonds, Fall Play Dance.
December 3. Music Department Recital.
December 6. Vespers, Boynton Merrill.
December 12. Sophomore Hop.
December 13. Vespers, Christmas Carol Service.
January 14. German Club Meeting.
January 16. French Club Meeting, Speaker, Dr. Joliat.
January 21. International Relations Club, Speaker, Dr. Hornell Hart.
January 23. Dance Demonstration.
February 11. Mary and Virginia Drake, Recital.
February 13. C. Leslie Glenn.
February 18. Informal Student Recital.
February 25. Edwin and Jewie Hughes, Two Piano Recital.
February 27. Dorset Road, Wig and Candle.
February 28. Vespers, Huntington ChapPELL.
March 4. Hanya Holm and her Dance Group, Lecture and Demonstration.
March 5. Amherst Glee Club Recital.
March 6. Anmerst Glee Club Recital.
March 7. Vespers, Huntington ChapPELL.
March 8. Miss Magda de Spar, Speaker, Social Science Department.
March 15. Recital, Miss Ballard.
March 16. Recital, Miss Ballard.
March 21. International Relations Club, Speaker, Dr. Hornell Hart.
March 23. Dance Demonstration.
April 6. Competitive Plays, Seniors and Freshman.
April 8. Vespers, Dean L. H. Hough.
April 11. Vespers, Dean L. H. Hough.
April 12. International Relations Club Chapel.
April 25. Dance Demonstration.
April 27. Dover Road, Wig and Candle.
April 28. Vespers, Huntington ChapPELL.
April 29. "Strike Chapel".
April 30. Windham House Musical, Miss Johns.
April 31. Memorial Day, Holiday.
May 2. Vespers, Arthur Lee Kinser.
May 3. Competitive Plays, Seniors and Freshman.
May 5. Student-Alumnae Fund, Recital, Alice Templeton.
May 6. Recital, Miss Ballard.
May 7 and 8. Junior Prom.
May 12. Senior Tea for Juniors.
May 13. Music Department Recital.
May 15. Fathers' Day.
May 17. Cadie Prize Speaking Contest.
May 18. William Lyon Phelps.
May 20. Concert, Miss Leslie and Miss Mauro-Cottone.
May 23. Vespers, Rev. Walter Williams.
May 24. Phi Beta Kappa Dinner.
May 25. Competitive Sing.
May 27. Windham House Musical, Miss Johns.
May 28. Moonlight Sing.
May 29. Competitive, Sophomore and Junior.
May 30. Senior Day.
May 31. Memorial Day, Holiday.
June 2. Final Examinations Begin.
June 7. Faculty Meeting.

Commencement Program—Page 9
President Blunt Delivers Annual Statement on Progress of College

Statement Broadcast

Station WTHT, the Hartford Times of Hartford will broadcast the commencement exercises. They will also relay the broadcast to Station WNLJ of New London. This is the first time that the commencement exercises have gone over the air.

Many Alumnae Return For Commencement

One hundred and fifty alumnae are expected to return to Connecticut for reunion and commencement events this June. New England, Ohio, Illinois, and even California, will be represented by former college students. They will arrive on campus at 10:00 o'clock on Friday night and Saturday morning.

Classes having reunions are: 1927 with the second largest attendance, 1928 with the third largest, 1934 with the smallest, and 1936 with the largest representation. The reunion chairs are: 1927, Edith Clark, of Mt. Clair, N. J.; 1928, Miss Smith, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa; 1934, Eleanor Hine Krantz, of New York City; and 1936, Barbara Cairns, of Upper Mt. Clair, N. J.

The annual meeting of the Alumnae Association will be held in Fanning Hall at 9:30 on Saturday morning. This is an open meeting and a large attendance is expected. This will be followed by the Trustees luncheon, with the alumnae as guests of the Trustees and the college.

The annual Class Day Parade will take place Saturday afternoon. The Class of 1927 will follow the freshmen, followed by the Classes of 1929, 1934, and 1936, with the Class of 1911 last. Class Dinners will be held Saturday evening. The Class of 1911 will have a picnic in Boltonville following the Class Day exercises.

With Commencement in the outdoor Theatre on Monday morning at 10 o'clock, the activities will come to a conclusion.

Compliments of
WILLOW RESTAURANT
28 BANS STREET

Twelve Students Initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, Friday

Four juniors, eight seniors and two alumnae were awarded one of the highest scholarly honors a college can bestow; the Phi Beta Kappas. The senior and alumnae group was elected Thursday, June 10, by Phi Beta Kappa, Delta of Connecticut, at a reception held Friday afternoon in the Memorial Hall.

The following juniors were elected: Doris L. Bacon, Hartford, Connecticut; Marjorie P. Hanson, Kansas City, Missouri; Gladys E. Kippell, East Norwalk, Connecticut; Anne Oppenheim, New Haven, Connecticut.

Class Day Closed

With Farewell Singing

Standing together on the library steps in caps and gowns and holding lighted candles, the Class of 1937 closed its Class Day exercises Saturday night, June 12, with an impressive farewell song.

With Doris Wheeler as song leader, the Seniors sang many of their favorite college songs together as an undergraduate group for the last time.

Compliments of
WILLOW RESTAURANT
28 BANS STREET

Twelve Students Initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, Friday

Four juniors, eight seniors and two alumnae were awarded one of the highest scholarly honors a college can bestow; the Phi Beta Kappas. The senior and alumnae group was elected Thursday, June 10, by Phi Beta Kappa, Delta of Connecticut, at a reception held Friday afternoon in the Memorial Hall.

The following juniors were elected: Doris L. Bacon, Hartford, Connecticut; Marjorie P. Hanson, Kansas City, Missouri; Gladys E. Kippell, East Norwalk, Connecticut; Anne Oppenheim, New Haven, Connecticut.

Class Day Closed

With Farewell Singing

Standing together on the library steps in caps and gowns and holding lighted candles, the Class of 1937 closed its Class Day exercises Saturday night, June 12, with an impressive farewell song.

With Doris Wheeler as song leader, the Seniors sang many of their favorite college songs together as an undergraduate group for the last time.

Compliments of
WILLOW RESTAURANT
28 BANS STREET

Twelve Students Initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, Friday

Four juniors, eight seniors and two alumnae were awarded one of the highest scholarly honors a college can bestow; the Phi Beta Kappas. The senior and alumnae group was elected Thursday, June 10, by Phi Beta Kappa, Delta of Connecticut, at a reception held Friday afternoon in the Memorial Hall.

The following juniors were elected: Doris L. Bacon, Hartford, Connecticut; Marjorie P. Hanson, Kansas City, Missouri; Gladys E. Kippell, East Norwalk, Connecticut; Anne Oppenheim, New Haven, Connecticut.

Class Day Closed

With Farewell Singing

Standing together on the library steps in caps and gowns and holding lighted candles, the Class of 1937 closed its Class Day exercises Saturday night, June 12, with an impressive farewell song.

With Doris Wheeler as song leader, the Seniors sang many of their favorite college songs together as an undergraduate group for the last time.

Compliments of
WILLOW RESTAURANT
28 BANS STREET

Twelve Students Initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, Friday

Four juniors, eight seniors and two alumnae were awarded one of the highest scholarly honors a college can bestow; the Phi Beta Kappas. The senior and alumnae group was elected Thursday, June 10, by Phi Beta Kappa, Delta of Connecticut, at a reception held Friday afternoon in the Memorial Hall.

The following juniors were elected: Doris L. Bacon, Hartford, Connecticut; Marjorie P. Hanson, Kansas City, Missouri; Gladys E. Kippell, East Norwalk, Connecticut; Anne Oppenheim, New Haven, Connecticut.

Class Day Closed

With Farewell Singing

Standing together on the library steps in caps and gowns and holding lighted candles, the Class of 1937 closed its Class Day exercises Saturday night, June 12, with an impressive farewell song.

With Doris Wheeler as song leader, the Seniors sang many of their favorite college songs together as an undergraduate group for the last time.

Compliments of
WILLOW RESTAURANT
28 BANS STREET
Dr. Park Speaks of Women's Needs In Education Today

(Continued from Page 1, Column 3) men intellectually. Both approaches, the natural use of the familiar formal and the dogged experiment had the same result for the women students; masculine education was everywhere repeated for the ladies.

President Park sees no need for Bryn Mawr or Cornell in 1937 to passively initiate any curriculum or to attempt a proof that they can carry it. Important groundwork has already been done.

"Are there reasons for continuing to borrow the curriculum of colleges for men? If not where shall the borrowing be replaced by our own material and method? Or ought we to think of our education in wholly new terms? You, the class of 1937, at some time will be the College who, confess not, or have come with some seriousness and interest to get for yourselves a more varied and interesting life and to move to the civilization into which you are born a contribution which is satisfactory to yourselves, you look up with a healthy application, a great many, to women's colleges.

"Should women's colleges think of your education in wholly new terms, begin to offer you wholly new ways, think more yourself? Miss Park quoted from Sidney Smith as follows: 'As long as boys and girls run about in the dirt, and tandﾄmost have books they are both previously alike. If you catch up one half of these creatures, and train them to a particular set of actions and opinions, and the other half to a perfectly opposite set, of course their understandings will differ, as one or the other sort of occupations has called this or that talent into action.'

Our society has the idea that there are certain attitudes and women certain others; to quote again from Dr. Park, "that the man's attitudes are, say, enterprise, initiative, fearlessness, and the woman's regard for personal relations, care for human life, emotional responsiveness. This is actually the hypothesis by which we win over by and large serves the purpose of both men and women, not trying to train as standardized females on a new plan of our own but as human individuals on a plan which includes your brother and you!"

"Second, the general problem of giving permanent, usable intellectual interest to you with the complicated demands and activities which we and you know must meet is the most important problem which the women's colleges face. It is a great and grave honor courses for a major system by whatever name it is called, in a woman's college, a major system with a full and rich content laid down by law, I think that the college which is training you with your future in mind should give you as much responsibility, in its small community as possible without the protection from your failures or your mistakes, not only in the academic part of your college experience, but in its background of social life. And last of all, the college itself should try to develop by its own example, by process, and the clientele the part-time job for salary or wages and the responsible volunteer job, so that its earlier students returning to an outside interest or duty after absence from it shall find the first steps, and indeed the final outcome, not impossible but difficult."

President Park expressed the belief that the general outlines of the curriculum borrowed from men's colleges was good and should change only as did the colleges which first instituted them. In concluding she said, "By putting together our grains of sand we may build for women and for so human society a better foundation on which to meet the future."

THE BEAUTY BOX

Rose Rieger
Eileen Shea
13 Meridian Street
Phone 7500

"Beauty is an Asset"

Dr. Macintosh of Yale Is Speaker At Baccalaureate

(Continued from Page 1, Column 4) and compromise, and enter into the final stage of cooperation between science and religion." Gradually science is being recognized as a "true friend of religion. Science is one of the great teachers of religion; the pioneers and spokesmen of science have been conspicuous among the prophets of true religion," stated Dr. Macintosh.

Science also benefits religion in that it aids the religious teacher who must be able to speak with scientific expert authority" on important religious questions. The speaker explained his point further by saying: "I do not mean to say that all theoretically reasonable or practically essential belief can be reduced to scientific form. I do not think it can. Our religious belief will remain in large part a religious institution, faith, or philosophy, rather than fully verified or scientific knowledge. But it may nevertheless be very important, not only theoretically but practically, that we transform as much of our religious think into verified religious knowledge as critical thought and religious experience together make possible."

Thus, concluded Dr. Macintosh, the cooperation of science and religion can be of practical as well as theoretical importance. "This cooperation is necessary for world salvation. Through science and religion, and by being scientific in our religion, let us seek to know the truth. If in this way we know the truth, the truth shall make us free and makes works for the individual. It would work for the world."

The program for the Baccalaureate service is as follows: Opening Voluntary—Adagio (Second Sonata) Processional Hymn 357 Invocation The Rev. Frank S. Morehouse, President of the Divinity School of Yale University, and Betty Hindles, '30, of California University, are working on it now. About forty women from Connecticut will attend. The object will be to see and learn the most desirable garden variety of trees and shrubs.

The National Board of Commerce of New London Established 1852

Please Patronize Our Advertisers

The Rev. J. Beveridge Lee, Minister—The King of Love

Perrv & Stone, Inc.

Jewelers Since 1865

We wish to take this opportunity to express our sincere appreciation for your generous support of the past year and to wish you all a very happy and enjoyable vacation.

Dr. Macintosh of Yale Is Speaker At Baccalaureate

The former College Inn on Mohegan Avenue, which was purchased by Connecticut College following a lawsuit last fall, will be operated by the college as a tea room and recreation place for students next year.

Miss Mary Patterson, an assistant to the director of residence, will be relieved of her other duties at the college and placed in charge.

President Katherine Blane announced today that the building will be renovated and redecorated during the summer. Plans are being made for colorful appointments to provide an attractive gathering place where students may take guests for meals, where they may go for informal refreshments, or simply to lounge and talk.

COMPETITIVE SING

After finishing in fourth place for three successive years in the annual Competitive Sing, the Class of 1937 had a pleasant surprise in winning a decisive first place in this year's competition, held Wednesday evening, May 26, on the library steps.

With an almost perfect attendance, a new marching formation, and a greatly improved chorus, the Seniors, headed by Doris Wheeler as songleader, left no doubt as to who was the rightful winner.

The Junior Class, led by Jeanette Dawless, won second place in the competition. The Froshmen took third and the sophomores, fourth.

CONNECTICUT COLLEGE NEWS

FRESH FLOWERS DAILY

Our Corsages Speak for Themselves

FELLMAN & CLARK

Tel. 5588 Crocker House Block

In Tune with

PERRV & STONE, Inc.

Perrv & Stone, Inc.

18 Meridian St.
Phone 5075

Dancing at

EVEY SATURDAY NIGHT in the

The Blue Room

at NORWICH INN

Reservations:
Phone NORWICH 2180

Norwich Inn, Norwich, Conn.

Music by The Melodians of Providence