CONT

4 — Opening

What is the value of our liberal arts education in today's world? We at Connecticut College believe that such a process is worthwhile and still has a unique place in society today. These pages attempt to illustrate how the personal and intellectual growth we have achieved here is reflected in all that we do.

17 — Seniors

Some faces you can never forget. Others you can never quite remember. One way or another, this section holds us all together as a class while each photograph speaks for itself, of itself.

119 — Sports

Athletics as well as academics at Connecticut College have always been alive and available. Increased interest in sports has brought recognition to the school and a more diverse student body — one that is committed to excellence on the playing field as well as in the classroom.

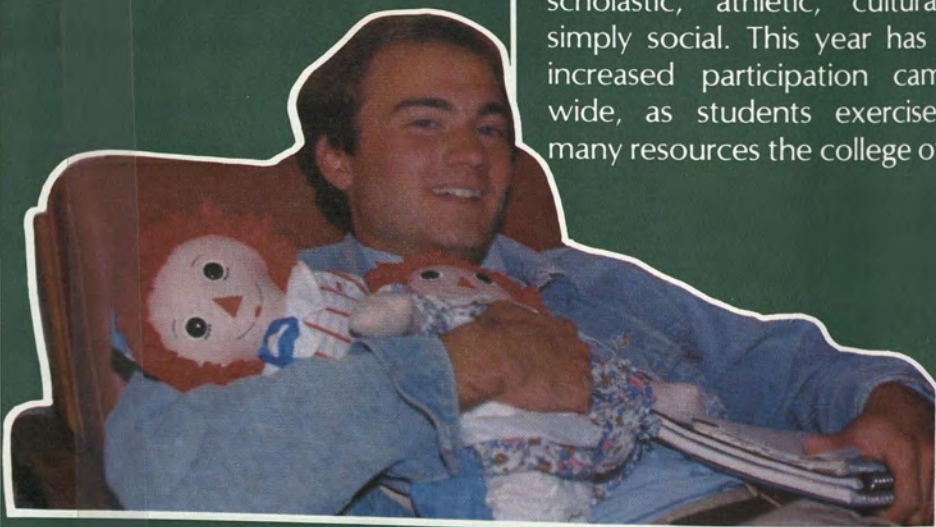

143 — Dormitories

Dormitories are a focal point around which the campus revolves. They are the environment out of which we function, and are as various and vital as all the different faces that fill them each year.

167 — Organizations

Clubs and organizations represent another aspect of the liberal arts curriculum. Groups of people are brought together by common ambitions, whether they are scholastic, athletic, cultural or simply social. This year has seen increased participation campus-wide, as students exercise the many resources the college offers.

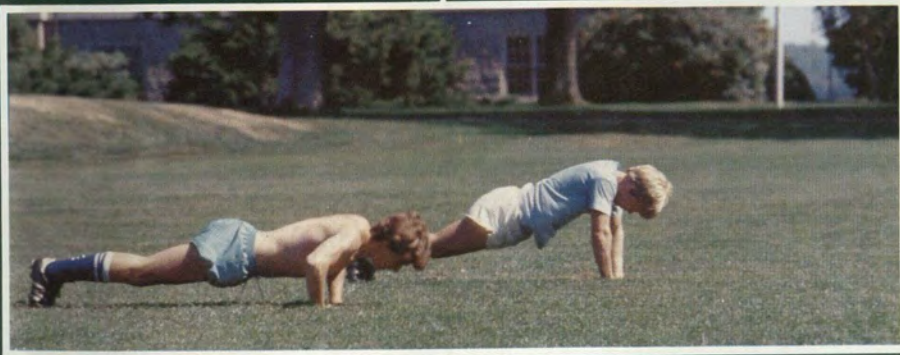

ENTS

183 — Student Life

The term says it all: student life. Here at Connecticut College many different life styles coexist. A walk in the Arboretum, lunch with a professor, tailgating at a soccer game, dance concerts, art exhibits, movies, plays, trips to Norm's or Ocean's, laying out a yearbook — all teach life's lessons, and a few are preserved here.

199 — Faculty

The liberal arts education depends on a constant and dedicated faculty and staff in all its departments. Their support, friendship, and guidance are essential to all our progress. The quality of their contributions is mirrored in the quality of academics overall.

215 — Closing

As another yearbook closes, we wish to salute once again our liberal arts education and thank all the people that make it possible. Our closing includes a few final thoughts on this microcosm in which we have lived the past four years. We will continue to support this institution so that others may also enjoy the offerings of a liberal arts education.

"The real value of a liberal arts education lies in the capacity to make fine distinctions."

These words heard by an impressionable young sophomore in Miss Mulvey's English History class, represent the philosophy of this fine professor concerning the education of her students. Never content with second best, Helen Mulvey inspires her students to go beyond mediocrity, and to strive for academic excellence. For the past thirty-six years, Miss Mulvey has been an important member of the Connecticut College community and has given her students a clearer understanding of their world, of its history, and of themselves. Miss Mulvey's record of service and dedication is an example of the heights which a college professor can attain. It is with pride, admiration, respect, and a deep sense of gratitude that we dedicate Koiné 1983 to Professor Helen F. Mulvey.

A Record of Our Experience

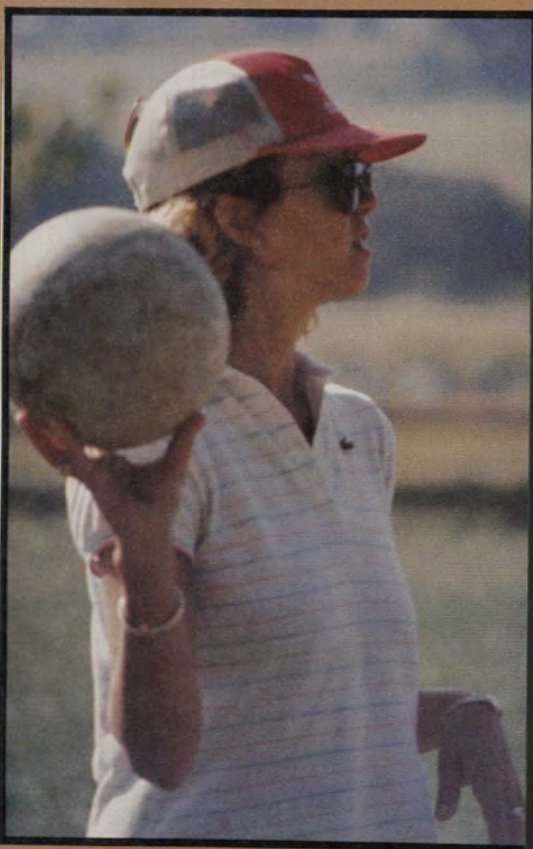

The possible avenues of education have multiplied with growing specialization and higher standards of living in this country. The history of "liberal arts" within this expanding system is unfortunately closely linked to a fluctuating economy, and it has both profited and suffered in this relationship. Now that the feasibility of the liberal arts education is being threatened, we, who have chosen this course, contribute what follows as record of our experience.

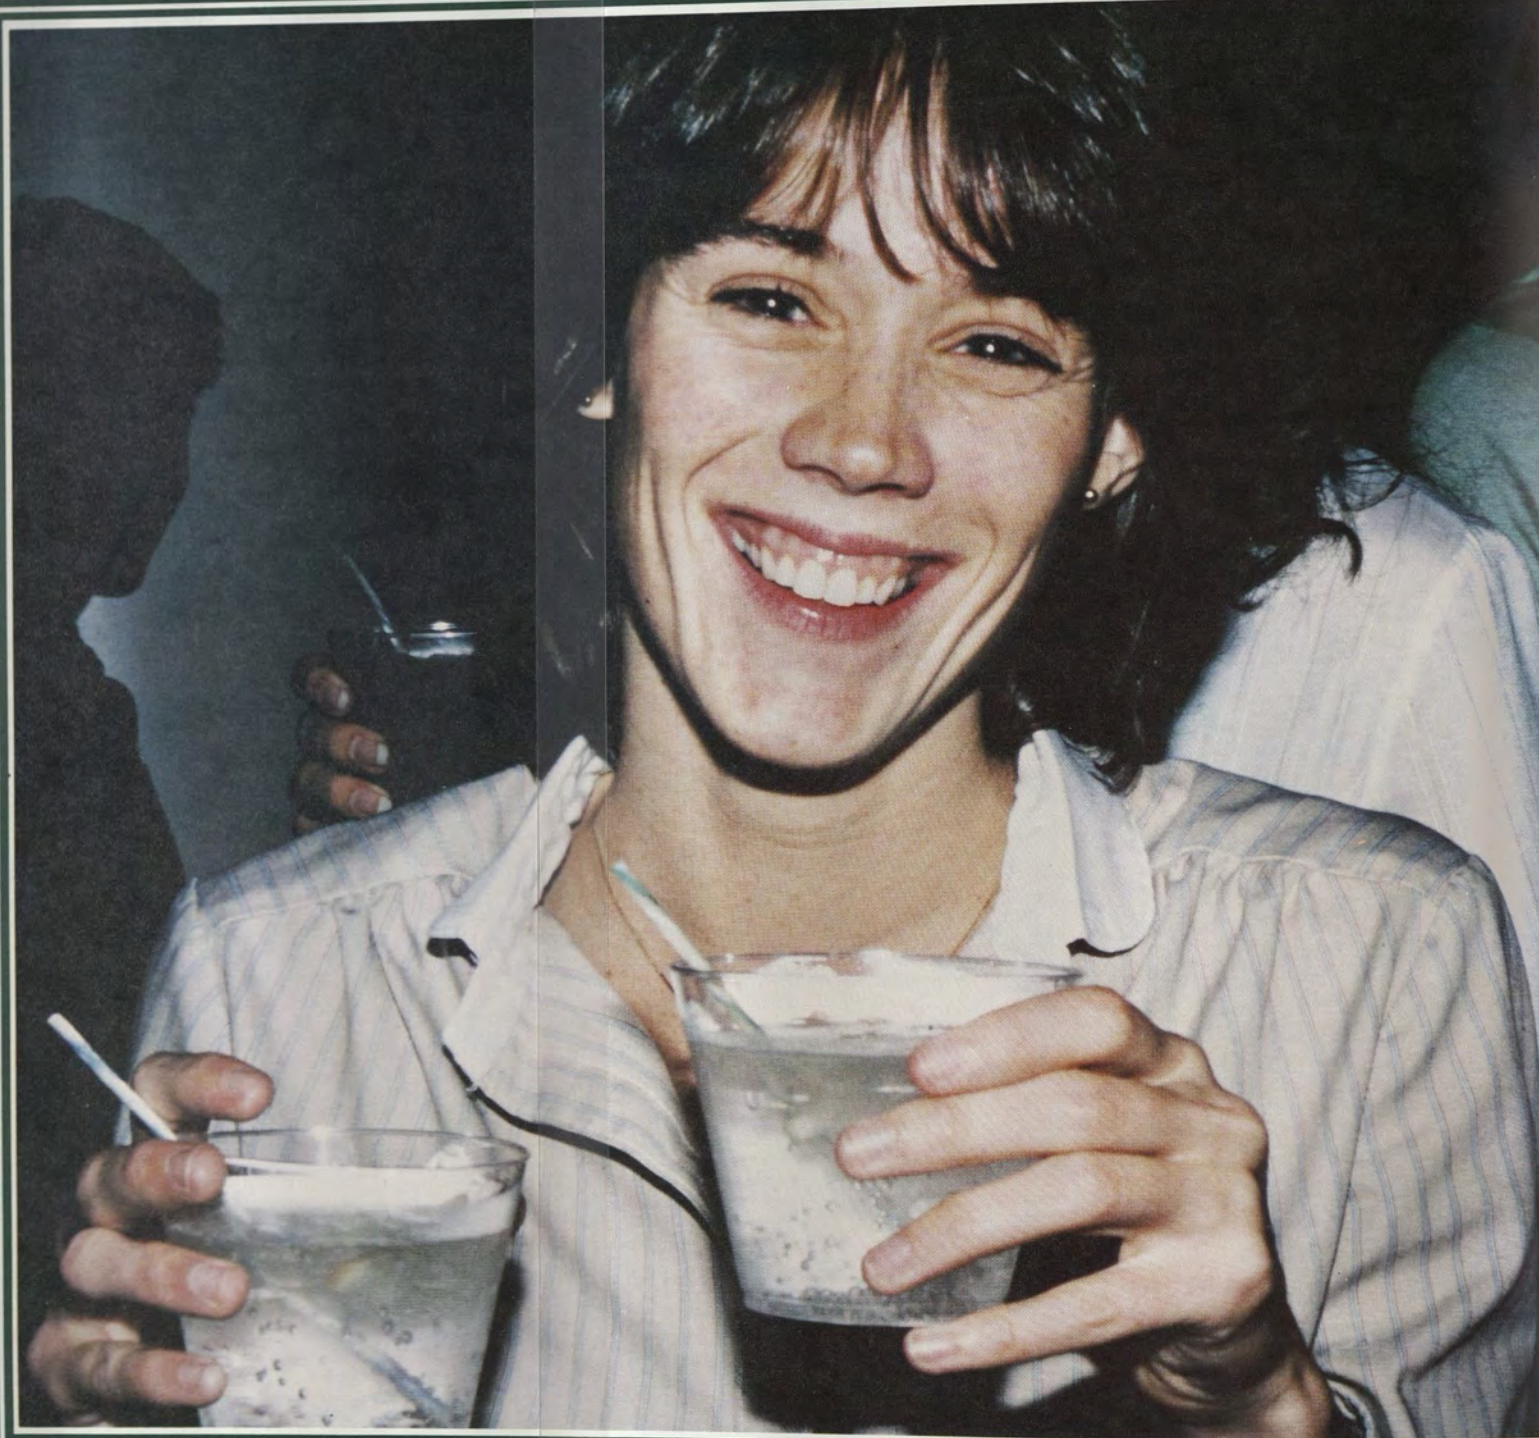

NESCAC: Keeping Academics in Mind

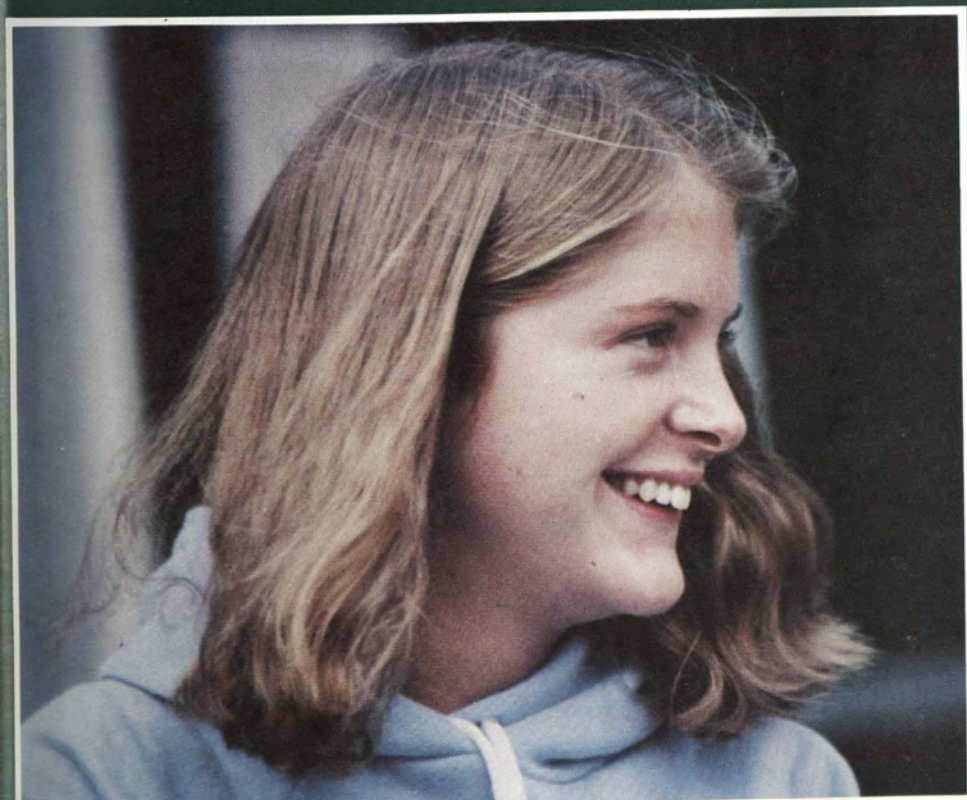

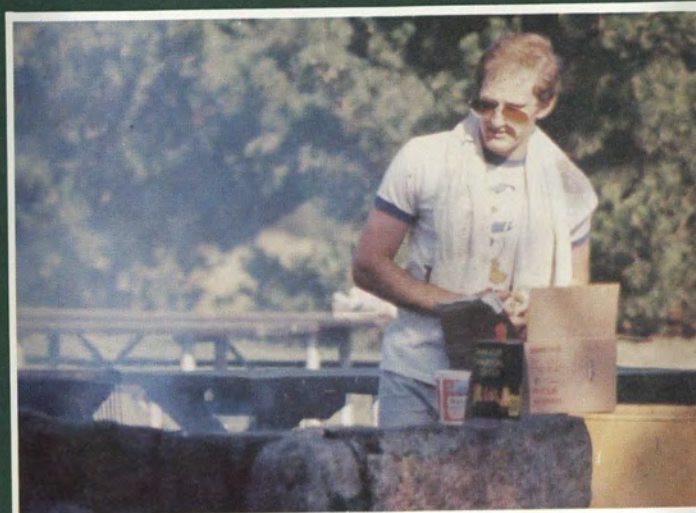

Sports at Connecticut College — another enriching aspect of our education. This year was Conn's first year as a member of NESCAC: the New England Small College Athletic Conference. Our affiliation with NESCAC brings the Camels into a new arena of strong competition with other similar institutions which are also dedicated to giving their students top rate academics and athletic experience. Connecticut College's student-athletes reflect a high level of athletic prowess and maturity which is, in essence the core of the Conn. athletic program.

Entering Well-Equipped

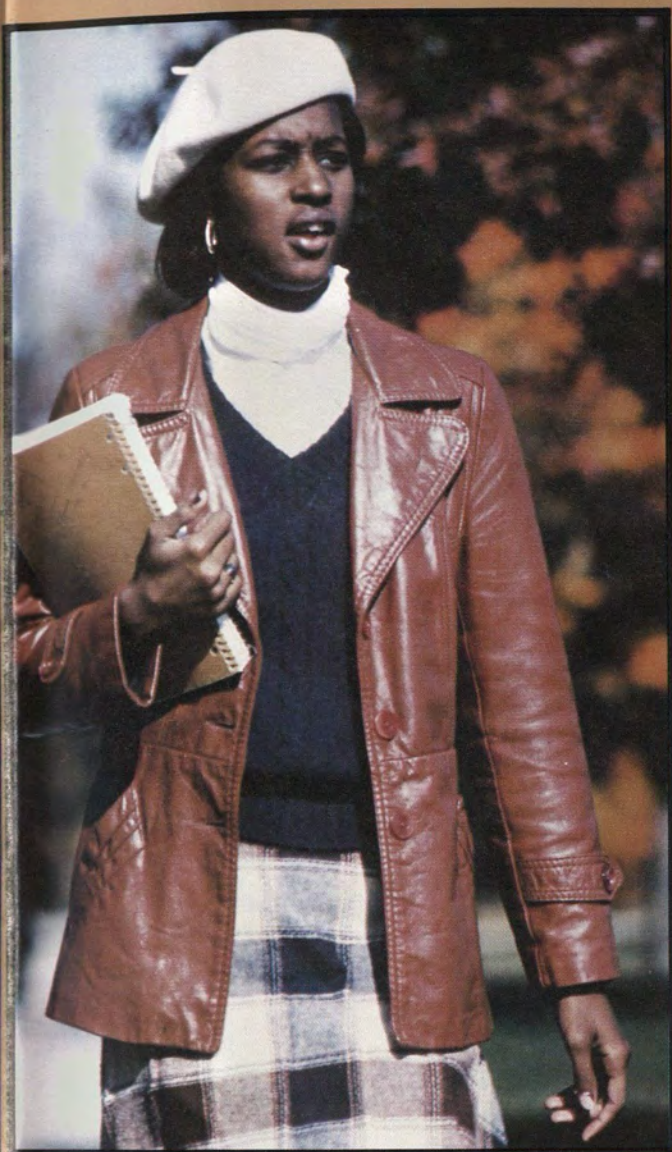

Student life not only animates all corners of the campus, but extends to marshes, to youth centres, to hospitals, to civil services in the area, to performances for the public — and ultimately creates the generation that next moves out into all parts of the world. The community and the space of four years provided by undergraduate school allows us to explore and develop ourselves and our abilities in order to enter that world well equipped.

The Opportunity for Diversity

Opportunities for social as well as academic growth occur in the community formed by the students, faculty, and staff of our college. Surely, one's education is always dependent on effective communication, the activity of human beings. The strangely select environment of a college devoted to the development of these skills is a fascinating arena of interaction that is an essential part of all education.

Exploration of the Mind

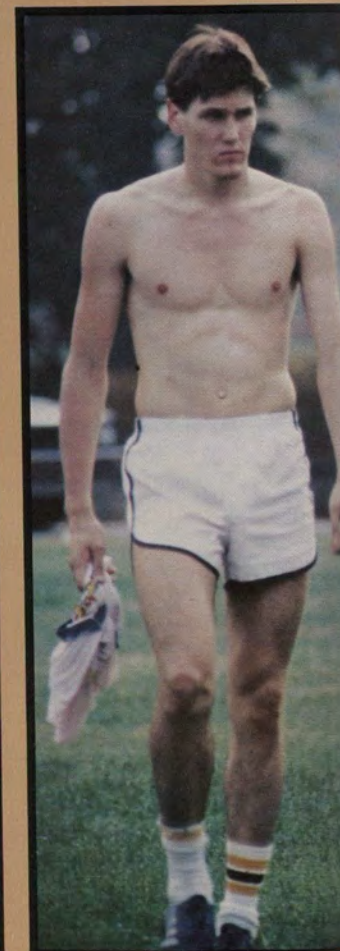

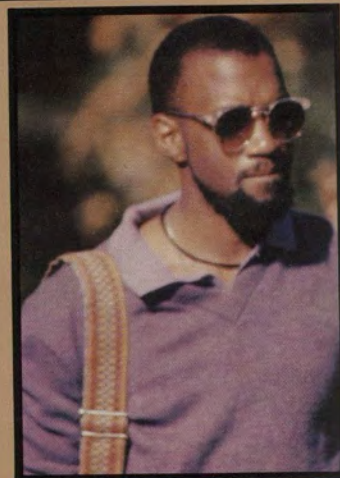

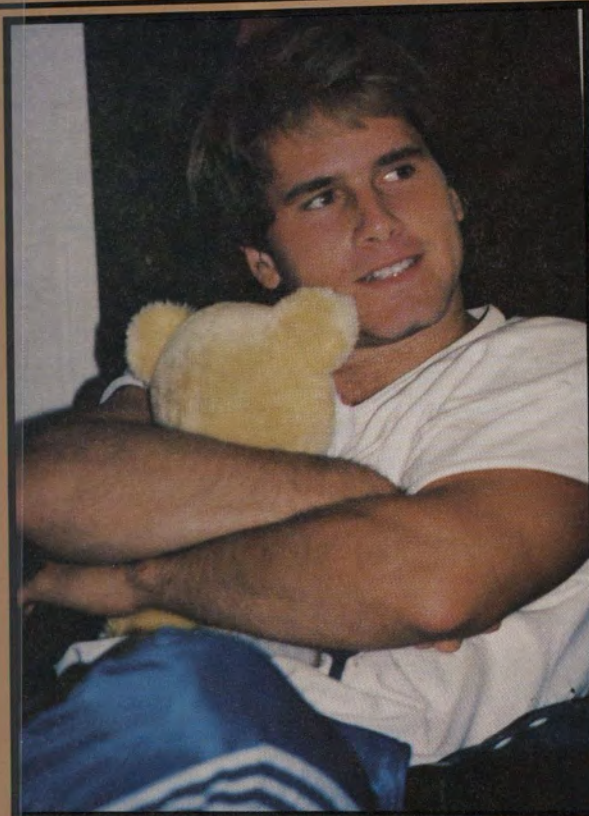

The life of the student focuses on his or her sampling of the fields available for study. This sampling alone could carry many of us far beyond the four year college life. Exploration of this kind, and the training of the mind that results are the unique attractions of the liberal arts education.

Definition by Demonstration

Liberal Arts: Academic disciplines, such as languages, history, philosophy, and abstract science, presumed to develop general intellectual ability and judgement and provide information of general cultural concern. The above is a dictionary definition of Liberal Arts. At Connecticut College this definition underlies everything we do. Whether it is student activities, parties, sports, or academics, the definition is still the skeleton of our lives here. We take responsibility for what we create from that outline, the ways in which we personally animate our own educations.

Seniors

The class of 1983, like the previous sixty-four classes, is comprised of students who both individually and collectively have made their mark on all aspects of campus life. Their individuality is expressed in this section, where each photo is a personal statement. This is their year in the limelight culminating May 29th at Commencement. We applaud the seniors and wish them the best of luck in their future endeavors.

A Tribute to "Marg."

Margaret Watson, our Dean of Student Affairs, known affectionately as "Marg", affects every student at the college in a direct or indirect way during each of their four years. She tames the monstrosously complex housing lottery and eases roommate problems throughout both semesters. She is the energetic force behind the Housefellow program, informing them and helping to untangle the "little problems" that upset the harmony of dorm life. And teaming up with Karl Beeler and S.G.A., Marg sees to it that the social life on the campus is a healthy and enjoyable one. Through her dedication and a bit of magic, Marg successfully accomplishes what would ordinarily keep a small staff busy on a full time basis.

We appreciate the exceptional job she does, but this is only a part of why Marg is such a popular member of the campus community. It is her friendliness, concern, and her dedication to Connecticut College which has won the hearts of so many students over the years.

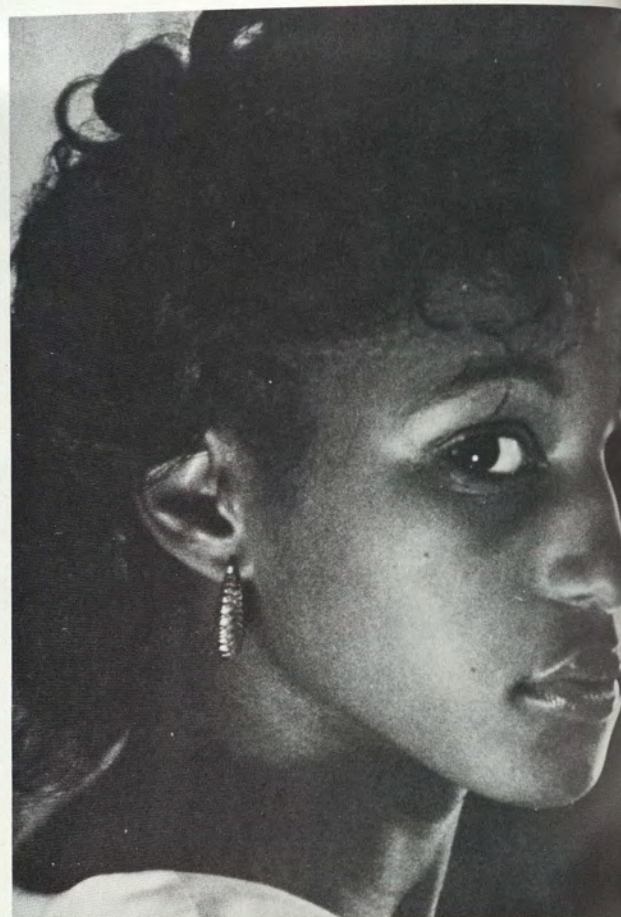

Because of her warm personality, love, friendship and support, the Class of 1983 dedicates its Senior Section to Marg Watson, and thanks her for her role in making four years of college such a great experience.

Sports

Athletically, Connecticut College offers seventeen varsity sports and sixteen intramural and club sports, giving students a wide variety to choose from. These activities enable the men and women of the college to improve themselves physically, while they get some relaxation mentally. Athletic programs also build a sense of pride in one's self and a pride in the emerging athletic tradition at the college. They are the heartbeat that keeps everything alive and vital, the physical manifestation of the college's ideal to continually improve.

The Connecticut College Women's Field Hockey Team finished its most successful season in several years. The team finished with a record of five wins, six losses, and one tie. Wins over Wesleyan University, Worcester Polytechnic Institute and Nichols College were among the season's highlights. Strong showings versus perennial powers Trinity College and Smith College proved that the Camels are a team on the rise. Freshman Caroline Twomey led the Camel attack with nine goals. Sophomore standout Page Preston added seven more. The steady, heads up play of junior Tammy Brown was the backbone of the Conn. defense. Co-captain Collette Beaulieu will be the only player lost to graduation, leaving the outlook for 1983 an optimistic one.

Camel Booters Begin Rebuilding

With a full compliment of freshman recruits, the varsity soccer team began its 1982-83 campaign with high hopes for a season which was to be anything but predictable.

The Camels gave Division I powerhouse URI a scare in their season opener, taking a 2-1 lead into halftime before bowing 4-2. Full of confidence, the varsity easily disposed of arch-rival Coast Guard and Manhattanville by 3-1 scores. Next on the agenda was nationally-ranked New Haven, and Connecticut fortunes took to a 1-1 tie with little time remaining, but let it slip away in the closing minutes 3-1.

The aftermath of the UNH match was devastating. Unable to find the back of the net, the Camels were defeated in four straight matches before drawing two 0-0 matches. The Camels regained their winning ways by thrashing Trinity 2-0 and Nichols 4-1, in two of their final five appearances of the season.

Varsity soccer closed out its schedule with a 4-9-2 mark, in what was not an altogether disappointing season. Despite losing co-captains Jim Santaniello (leading scorer) and Bert Czuchra, and strikers Bob Gibb (second-leading scorer) and Steve O'Leary to graduation, the majority of the team are freshmen who have three more seasons to put Connecticut back into the top ten in New England Division III soccer.

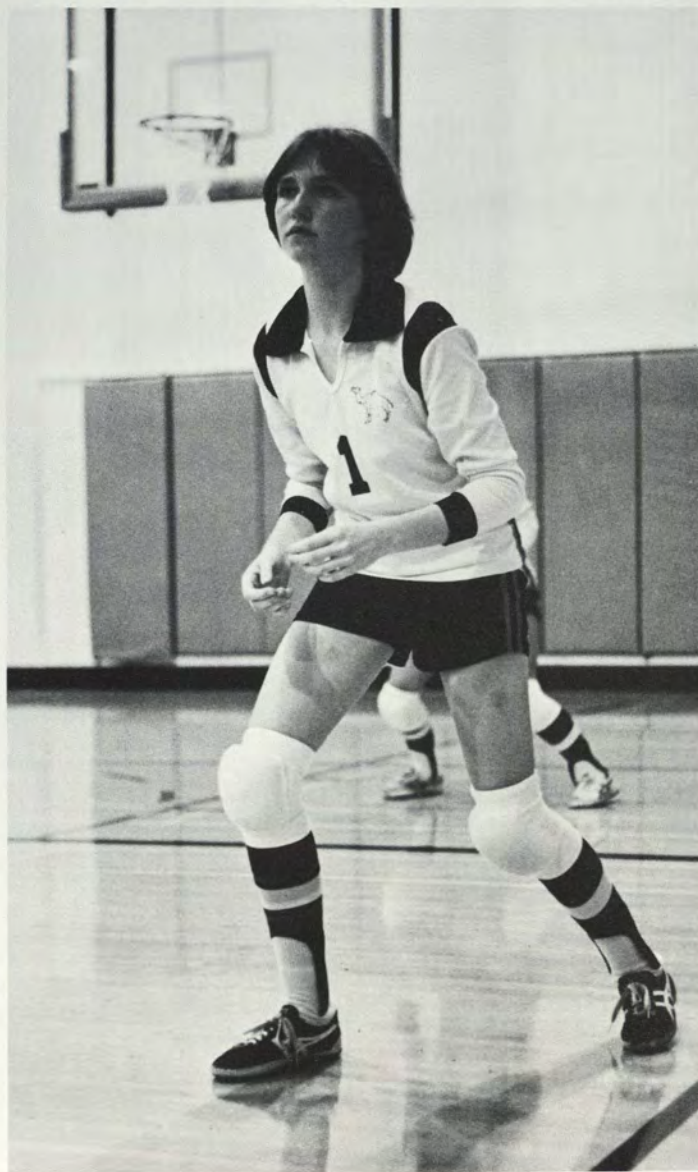

Spikers Show Strength

Despite the 1982-83 Women Volleyball Team's 13-14 overall record, the team made considerable improvements over last year's finish. This year's squad, led by seniors Michele Blanchard and Megan Vosburgh, played extremely well in dual matches during the season. Kay Offenhartz ('84), Cindy Stein ('84), Susan Westmoreland ('85), Leila Cleaves ('85), and Katie Carlin ('85) were the backbone for the Camel starters. Rookie frosh Chris Priest, Laura Brunner, and Paula Reddy gained valuable experience and maturity which will assert itself in the season to come. Coach Marilyn Gelish will most certainly have a power-packed squad for the future.

Best Season Ever

The 1982 Camel's women's tennis team completed its best season ever with a smashing 9-2 record which gained attention for the Camels in many New England college tennis circles. Led by senior co-captains Blair Nichols and Laurie Reynolds, along with seniors Taryl Johnson and Gayle Brady, Wesleyan and Bridgeport were defeated 7-2 and 4-3 respectively. Juniors Joanne Knowlton, Cici Kossman, Mary Smultea, Cathy and Leslie Leeming were among the top players for the Camels, each gaining points for each team victory. The outlook for next year? It can only be brighter as this team gains more experience and expertise.

Aiming for the Top

The Women's Crew team, full of experienced and dedicated seniors, began their fall season with the National Invitational Women's Regatta in which several Camel crews made it to the finals. The Head-of-the-Charles Regatta found Connecticut with seven women's boats entered, several of which also finished strongly. The women Camels trained diligently throughout the winter in preparation for the spring season's demanding schedule. The team should end up strongly, hopefully placing boats in the prestigious Dad Vail Regatta.

The Men's Crew surpassed all expectations with a very strong showing in the fall Head regattas. At the Head-of-the-Connecticut, the Varsity Heavyweight Eight placed 6th, while the Varsity Lightweight Eight finished a firm 11th. At the Head-of-the-Charles, the Heavyweight boat landed 19th out of forty, two slots ahead of arch-rival Coast Guard. With the freshmen boats also finishing strongly, Coach Tom Boyer can be sure his Camel oarsmen will be ready for their unsuspecting Dad Vail competitors.

The 1982-83 Men's Cross Country team posted a 0-8 record on the year, but a number of strong individual performances made the season a positive one. Senior Dave Litoff capped a brilliant four-year career, earning All-American honors by finishing 14th in the NCAA Division III National Championships in Fredonia, New York. Ned Bishop ('84) and Peter Foley ('83) both finished the season strongly, helping the team finish a solid 21st at the New England Division III Regionals. Geoff Farrell ('83), Ken Cadigan ('83), Rob Ingram ('83), and Len Ellentuck ('86) all contributed to this strong season finale.

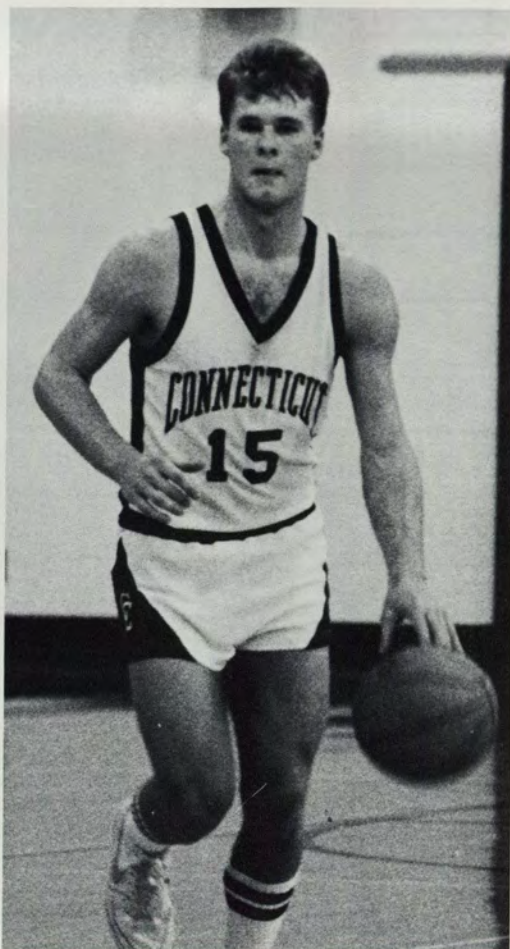

The 1982-83 Women's Cross Country Camels finished their rebuilding season with a record of 1-6-1, both their win and tie against Quinnipiac College. The young team's pack leaders were Ellen Donlon ('85) and Stephanie Taylor ('85), with strong showings by Laura Nirtaut ('86), Amy Wagner ('86), Fran Blume ('86), and Heidi Geiges ('86). With these many young runners gaining experience and increasing their potential over the past season, the future for these Camel harriers looks bright.

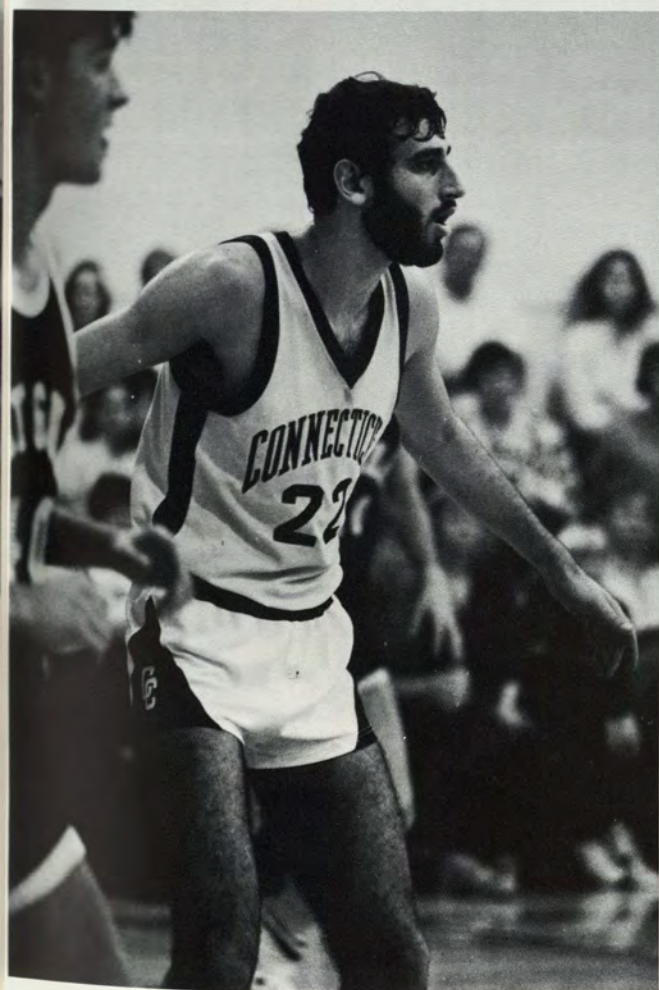

Hoopsters Remain Strong

The 1982-83 Camel hoopsters, riding off of a strong 1982 showing, finished their season with a fine 12-10 record. The season kicked into high gear as the Camels defeated Amherst and Coast Guard to win the Whaling City Invitational Tournament before an overflowing home crowd. Wins against Wesleyan and Gordon College fortified the team's record. Juniors Peter Dorfman and Tom Fleming provided the scoring firepower for the Camels while John Bartolomei ('85), Doug Kirk ('84), Jim Santaniello ('83), and Rich Wolfe ('84) were also standout performers for first year coach Martin Schoepfer's squad. Only one senior will be lost to graduation, so these young hoopsters will be stronger and faster for the years to come.

Looking Towards Next Year

The 1982-83 Women's Basketball team, under the leadership of first year coach Bill Lessig, compiled a misleading 7-13 season record. Lacking the height that many of their opponents had, these Camels fought hard in many of their games, only to lose by a small margin. On the scorecard, Laura Brunner ('86) was the top point-getter for the team. Becky Carver ('84) and Margie Bennett ('85) were the Camel's fighters, excelling on defense and team offense. M. J. Kanabis ('84) was the main playmaker on the team, with Sarra Newhall ('83) providing the backcourt depth. With new frosh next year, the Camel hoopsters can be expected to produce an excellent squad for Coach Lessig.

Ice Camels Win With Youth

The 1982-83 Camel hockey season can be adequately summed up by the Wesleyan-Connecticut game of February. With Dayton Arena packed tight with ecstatic fans, the Camels held onto a 5-4 lead for the first time ever to beat arch-rival Wesleyan. It was in this type of atmosphere that the Camels tallied an 14-9 mark for the season.

Led by seniors Nigel Bentley, Connecticut's all-time leading scorer, and captain Paul Brock, the Camel's entry into the new NESCAC league was an intimidating one, as they racked up wins and gave other Division I and II squads legitimate scares. Other vital cogs which will figure heavily in next year's season are Craig Bower ('84), Chip Orcutt ('84), and the 10 returning freshmen, many of whom were starters and also provided the squad with depth. Coach Doug Roberts should be very optimistic about the future, and about the position of the team as a new contender in New England Division III hockey.

The 1982-83 Women's Gymnastics Camels, smaller in size and competing against nine Division II teams, proved to be a stronger and more versatile team than expected. Even hampered with injuries, the squad went on to defeat such formidable opponents as Coast Guard, Brown, M.I.T., and Westfield State. Senior co-captains Royse Shanley and Laura Patz were outstanding performers on the uneven bars, the beam, and vaulting. Pat Moe ('84) lead the squad in all-around scoring and in each of the individual events. Amy Wheeler ('83), Priscilla Fulford ('85), and Katie Fiene ('86) also performed brilliantly throughout the season. Coach Jeff Zimmermann's entire team deserves praise for their accomplishments despite the obstacles they encountered.

Record Setting Season

The Connecticut College Women's Swim Team, a tightly knit group of eighteen individuals, swam to a strong 7-5 mark for the 1982-83 season. Led by Coach Cliff Larrabee and spirited senior co-captains Nancy Maxwell and Sue Coakley, the team broke numerous school records over the season. Seniors Linn Speers and Jenni Davis finished their careers with standing records in the 100 yd. Individual Medley and the 100 yd. Freestyle, respectively. Frosh Sarah Pitt was the first swimmer in Connecticut's history to qualify for the Division II National Swimming and Diving Competition. Overall, this young squad will be faster in the years to come, and will also surely miss this year's talented seniors.

Intramurals: Total Involvement

Connecticut College's strong intramural program exists as a release from the tension of academics. Every dormitory is represented by a team in various sports which include flag football, hockey, volleyball, and many others. On any given afternoon, one can find the Chapel Field filled with screaming fans; or in the evening in Crozier-Williams with dorm volleyball in full swing. For those who do not participate in varsity sports, and even for those who do, intramurals provide a sense of team competition and dorm camaraderie.

Dormitories

There are twenty-one houses on campus, varying considerably in both size and character. Abbey, Unity, and Knowlton offer three alternative living experiences to students on campus. The feeling of an extended family is bolstered by parties, intramural sports, dorm dining rooms, and day to day living. The subtleties of social relationships, cooperation, and loyalty are all brought out in the dormitory, and will provide lasting memories and friendships for years to come.

Leaders and Friends

The figurative or actual leader of the dormitory is the Housefellow. The job requires a sharp eye, a sympathetic ear, a firm hand, and patience. Laughter, a touch of insanity perhaps, and the ability to overcome embarrassing situations are also qualities that give the dormitory a healthy, supportive atmosphere. Undoubtedly, problems occur, but swift, decisive action and a cool head under pressure earn a Housefellow the respect of fellow dorm members. Things aren't always easy for these campus leaders, but when the chemistry is there, beautiful moments of togetherness and fun become etched in the mind forever.

Organizations

Connecticut College houses well over fifty clubs and organizations for students who are interested in rounding out their liberal arts education. From the Anthropology Club to WCNI to the Shwiffs to the College Voice to Women's Soccer to the yearbook, there is probably something for every extracurricular taste. Some experiences lead to post-college careers while others are merely a diversion from formal academics.

Women's Soccer

Growth and development were the keys to the success of the Women's Soccer program this season. The club played one game last year in contrast to the seven played this year. Skill levels range from beginners to experienced veterans of the sport and the twenty regular players worked hard to improve their skills and coordinate themselves as a team. The final game was a strong 3-0 win against the University of Hartford. The program is hoping to gain varsity team status next season.

The College Voice

The Voice is the only weekly independent publication at Connecticut College. In its eight pages the Voice covers news features, sports, arts and entertainment, and viewpoints. Above all it is the forum in which the important issues of the college community are discussed.

In order to increase campus awareness and provide a service to its readers, the College Voice was delivered this year to every student's door and to faculty and staff mailboxes at 7 a.m. every Tuesday morning.

This year, the Voice staff consists of over 80 students and it has been a pleasure to work together as a team. From the wee hours of the morning to the wee hours of the night, and from the office in Cro to the print shop in Mystic, it has all been worth it.

The Gallery

The Connecticut College Shwiffs were formed in 1944 as a counterpart to the Yale, all-male singing group — The Whiffenpoofs. The 40 years of tradition have allowed the Shwiffs to collect a sampling of songs from every era. This collection enables the Shwiffs to offer a bit of nostalgia each time they appear on or off the Connecticut College campus.

Conn Chords

The past two years have been a time of development for the Conn Chords. Working from a casual folk-based image, we've made changes toward a more professional sound, style, and look, and expanded our repertoire beyond ballads and signature songs to include everything from swing to Neil Young.

We've sung with new friends at Yale, Princeton, and the University of New Hampshire, and to old friends here at Connecticut. We thank our audiences and sponsors for their support, and we thank the Seniors of our group for their contributions, commitment, and enthusiasm. Good luck. We'll miss you.

Co Co Beaux

The Co Co Beaux is Connecticut College's thirteen member all-male singing group. In its fifth year, the Beaux is an active member of the close-harmony circuit; an honor that culminated in an invitation to sing at the Inter-Collegiate Songfest at Fannueil Hall in Boston. Past appearances include Mt. Holyoke, Smith, Wheaton, Tufts, and Hamilton, in addition to having sponsored jamborees of their own. The group has sung at numerous college functions and at fundraising events in New Haven, Hartford, Massachusetts, Fairfield and Westchester.

The group prides itself on its diverse song selections, humorous introductions, and slick choreography.

To support themselves, the Beaux have devised some interesting fundraising ploys like the "Co Co Beaux Tuck-In Service," complete with bedtime story, teddy bear and song, and the sale of "Connecticut College: Not U-Conn" caps.

Social Board

The Social Board works to improve student life by producing a wide variety of events. It oversees all social functions and helps various organizations in sponsoring events. Having representatives from dormitories, classes and clubs, the Social Board at-large works with the Executive Board and the Coordinator of Student Activities to provide a well-balanced social life.

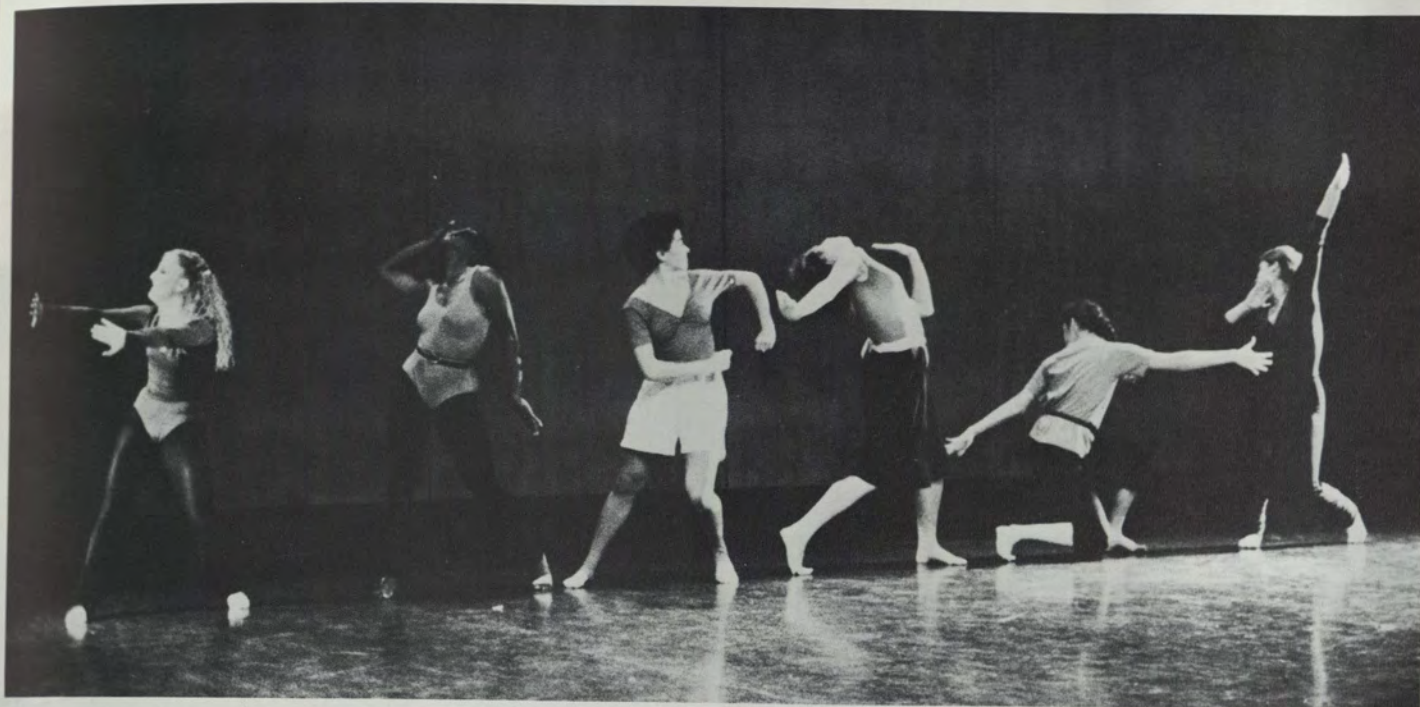

This year, in addition to managing all-campus parties and concerts, Social Board sponsored such events as Parents' Weekend, Oktoberfest, Homecoming Weekend, Twenties Weekend, and of course, Florialia '83. Social Board's fourth year has been one of great change and growth. Its greater centralization has enabled the Board to advance its pursuit of diversity and fun.

Dance Club

The Connecticut College Dance Club is an organization established to promote an interest in dance. Membership is open to all who wish to share in the appreciation for the art of dance movement. The Club sponsors many dance related activities which include guest teachers, films, and two concerts. The newest addition to the Club's repertoire is the Dance Club/Dance Department party in the spring where everyone involved with dance comes together to celebrate common ground.

Chavurah

This year the Chavurah held weekly meetings with Jewish rituals to welcome the Sabbath and discussions over Friday night dinner. These discussions ranged in topic from the current problems in the Middle East to practicing Judaism on the Conn. College campus. Students of all different religious sects contributed to these discussions.

We also held a Jewish Awareness month. During this time we sponsored different Jewish activities and co-sponsored a community lecture. During Sukkot we built a succah, and our Purim party ended the year on a high note.

Christian Fellowship

The Christian Fellowship of Connecticut College is a group of students who meet each week to pray, discuss different topics, and listen to guest speakers. We sponsor several Bible study groups, and welcome all students who are seeking new meaning in their lives. We worship and serve the lord Jesus, and reach out to the campus in His Name.

S.G.A. is a formal channel through which student concerns and issues can be heard, debated, and acted upon in the hopes of maintaining a healthy student life on campus. Offices include dormitory house council, class officers, and the S.G.A. executive board. It has been the goal of the 1982-83 board to work towards a re-unification of the student body; we would like to thank the students of Connecticut College for the opportunity to represent them this year.

Koine

When the staff of Koiné '83 got together for the first time in the fall of 1982, it became immediately apparent that this year's yearbook was going to be something special. The staff was determined to make this year's yearbook anything but a typical Connecticut

Thanks to their untiring effort and determination this year's book is not simply a book of meaningless photographs, but a description of the year's events in words and pictures praising our liberal arts education.

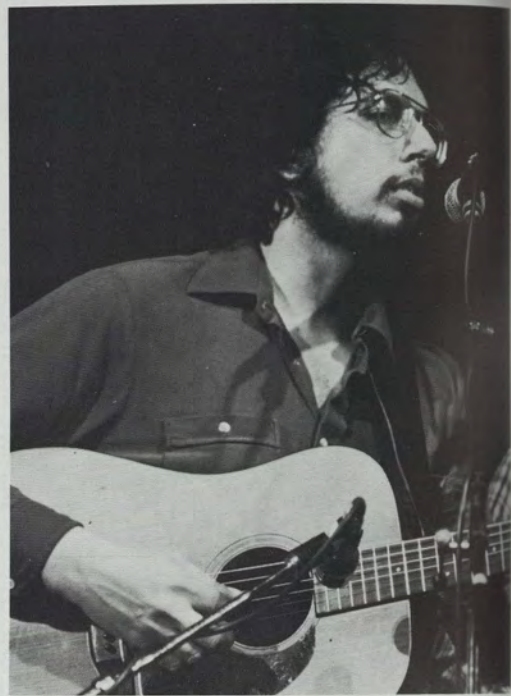

Student Life

The nebulous title "Student Life" encompasses all of the learning that takes place outside the classroom. The fine art of socializing, going to a party, exploring New London, or spectating at a sporting event are just a few of the many aspects of life at Connecticut. Beginning with orientation, freshman year, our student life here is enriched by a variety of experiences that promote maturity, confidence, and self-esteem.

Something for Everyone

Musically, the year brought a well-polished variety of talent to the campus. Music lovers were treated to everything from the classical sounds of the Concert/Artist Series to the acoustic guitar of David Bromberg to the rocking tunes of David Johansen. Some new additions to the campus music scene included the Alexander String Quartet, Connecticut's own resident artists, and several student bands. And of course, traditionally, there were the many performances by the College Chorus, the Orchestra, the Conn Chords, the CoCo Beaux, and the Shwiffs.

Creatures for a Night

On October 29th, the campus gathered for the annual Halloween party. Traditionally this event allows Conn students to display their creativity and this year was certainly no exception. All night long a collection of assorted ghouls, creatures, and bizarre objects rocked to the high powered band Steve Smith and the Naked. Best costume prizes were awarded to ET, the 'Plex, and one long tall Texan. More than one person was heard to remark "Who was that masked man anyway?"

Homecoming/Oktoberfest

Two traditional highlights of the fall semester are Homecoming and Oktoberfest. This year the two events were combined for the first time to create a weekend of meetings, reunions, and celebrations. Appropriately, this year's Homecoming banner theme was German coats of arms. Though disappointed with the Soccer team's loss to Wesleyan in the feature Homecoming game, alumni and students alike found tailgating by the soccer pitch an enjoyable experience. Following the game the festivities continued with Oktoberfest held amidst the older Quad. dormitories and decorated with the banners of all. A Bavarian band, light and dark imported ales, and special foods, created a genuine aura of German celebration as old friendships were renewed and new ones were made. The day ended with an elegant evening of wine tasting as many alumni got their first glimpse of ConnCave. For everyone involved the 1982 Homecoming/Oktoberfest will always hold fond memories.

When it's Time to Relax

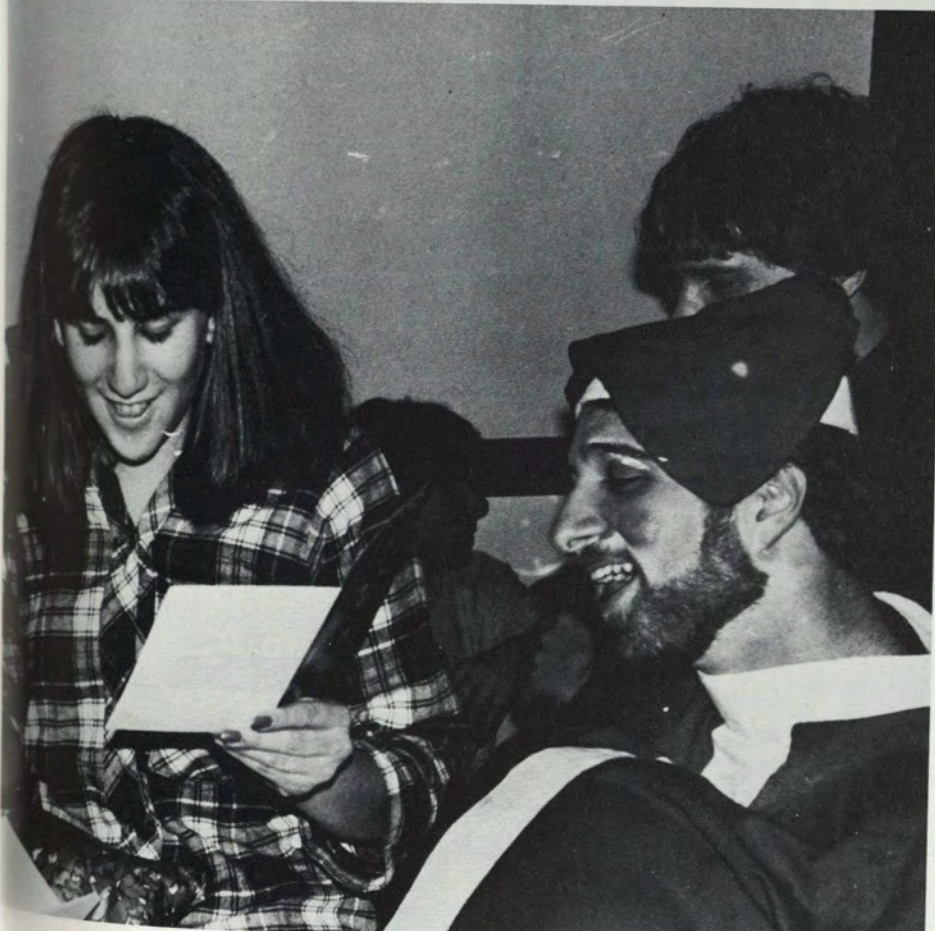

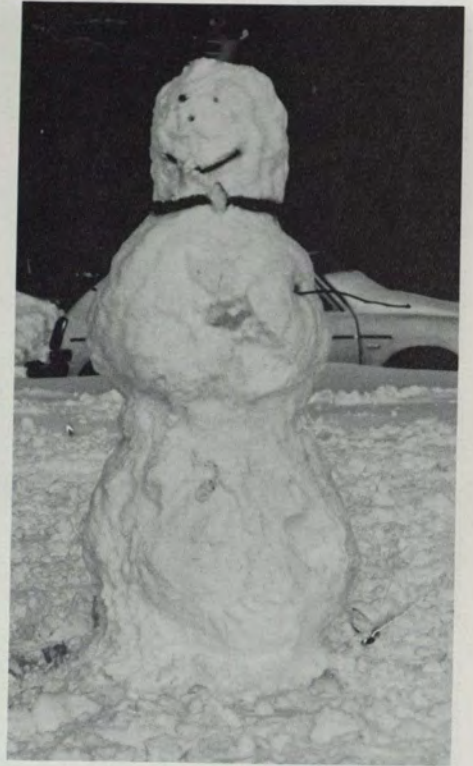

When it's late in the evening and time to unwind, the most convenient place to grab a couple of beers before bedtime is the Cro Bar. Under the supervision of Attilio Regolo, with students working as waiters, waitresses and bouncers, the bar becomes a cozy spot to socialize and relax from Tuesday through Saturday. And this year, it also became a place to listen to the music of talented campus musicians on Wednesday nights. Thanks to the Cro Bar, all of the problems that students face are just a little easier to take.

Holiday Tradition

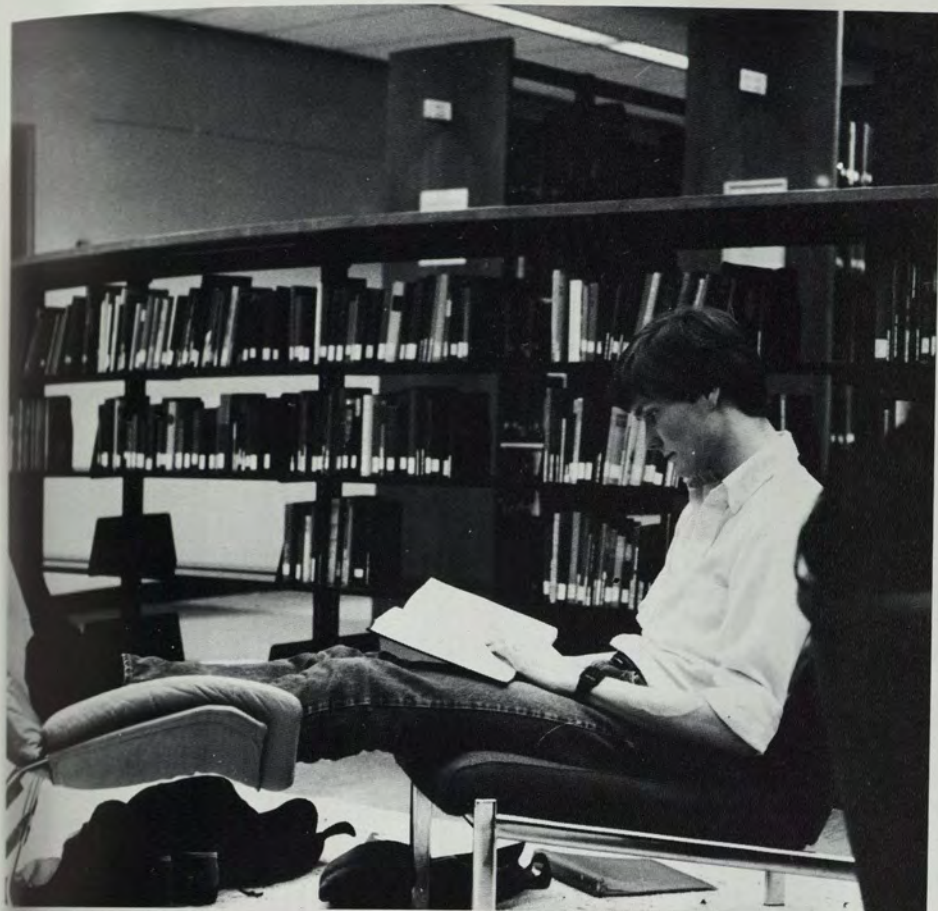

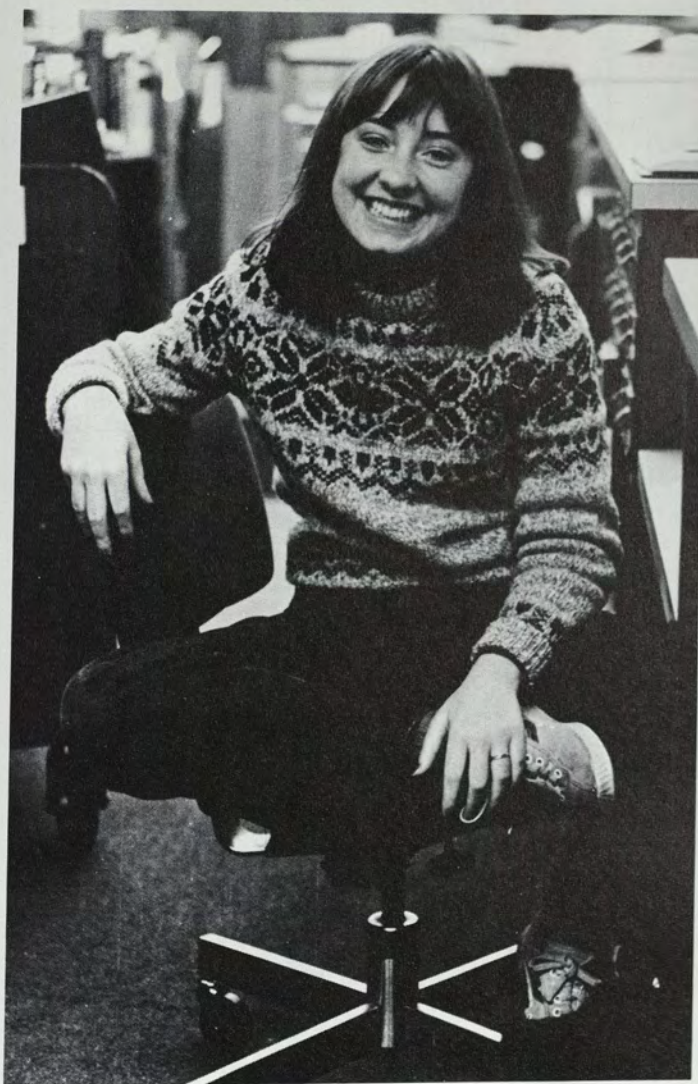

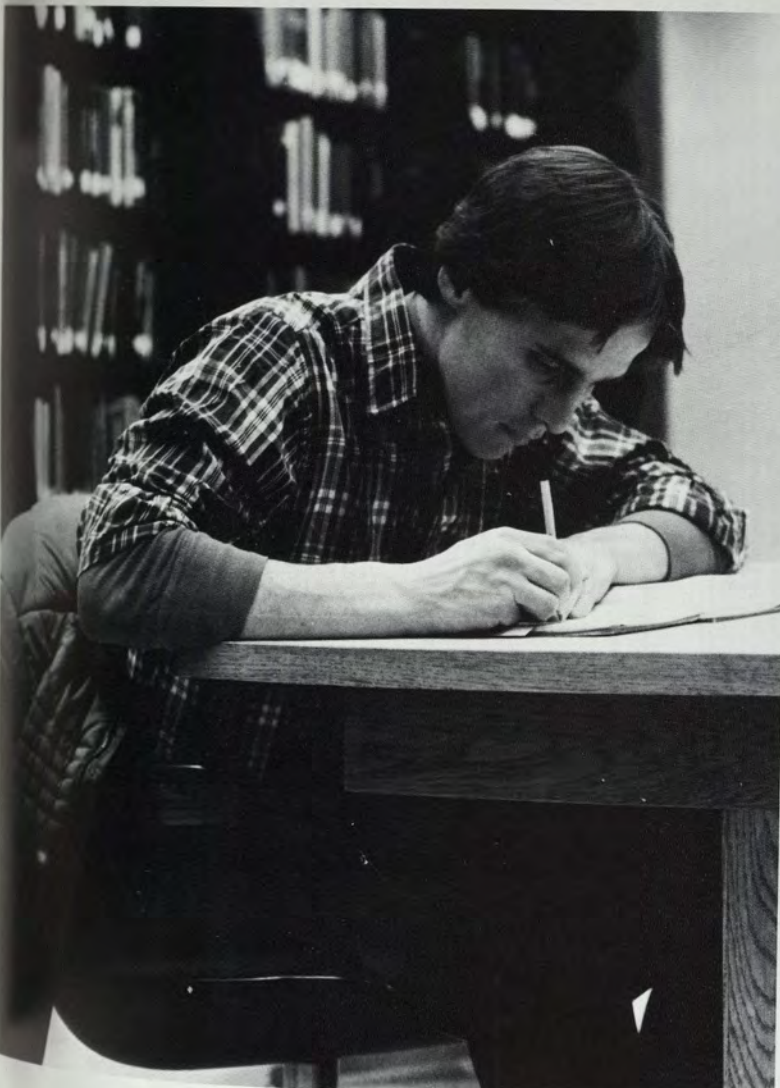

As winter settles over the campus and finals loom large on the horizon, the tradition of "Secret Santa" provides a pleasant tension-easing diversion. Each Santa Baby enjoys a week filled with surprises like bubble baths, food and drink, back rubs, and room decorating. The dorm Christmas Party caps off the fun with a visit from the real Santa Claus and the opening of the special final presents. The spirit of happiness and giving creates enough momentum to get everyone through finals and on to a well-deserved Winter Break.

Not "the Noodle Factory"

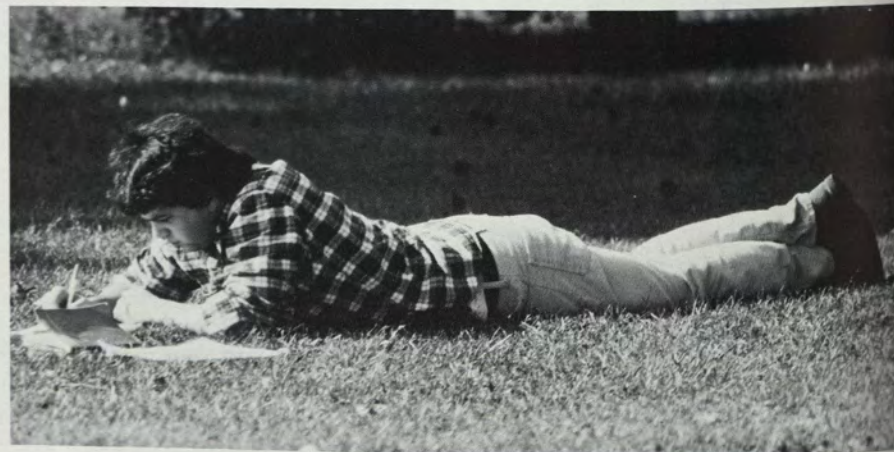

Several years ago, while speaking at the dedication ceremony for the library, Kurt Vonnegut dubbed the as yet unnamed structure "The Noodle Factory". While the library is a haven for the studious, it is far from being a factory. The library here at Connecticut instead reflects the personal nature of the campus with institutions like the helpful and often humorous library suggestion book. This personal touch is what sets Connecticut apart from larger, less communal schools.

Beyond Liberal Arts

Student Life at Connecticut College is not limited by what is represented here, but expands outward. Every part of student life adds to the process of learning that we must go through. The broad spectrum of activities encompassed by this liberal arts education contributes to the making of a complete individual. It is this well-prepared person that Connecticut sends forth to face the "real" world and its challenges.

Faculty

The faculty of the college is characterized by accessibility, involvement, and a genuine love for teaching and guiding students towards their aspirations. Their personalities are unique, their classrooms are relaxed, and their subjects challenge even the most inquisitive minds. They stand by liberal arts as a system that works, making students well-rounded individuals who are able to confront just about anything the world has to offer.

Closing

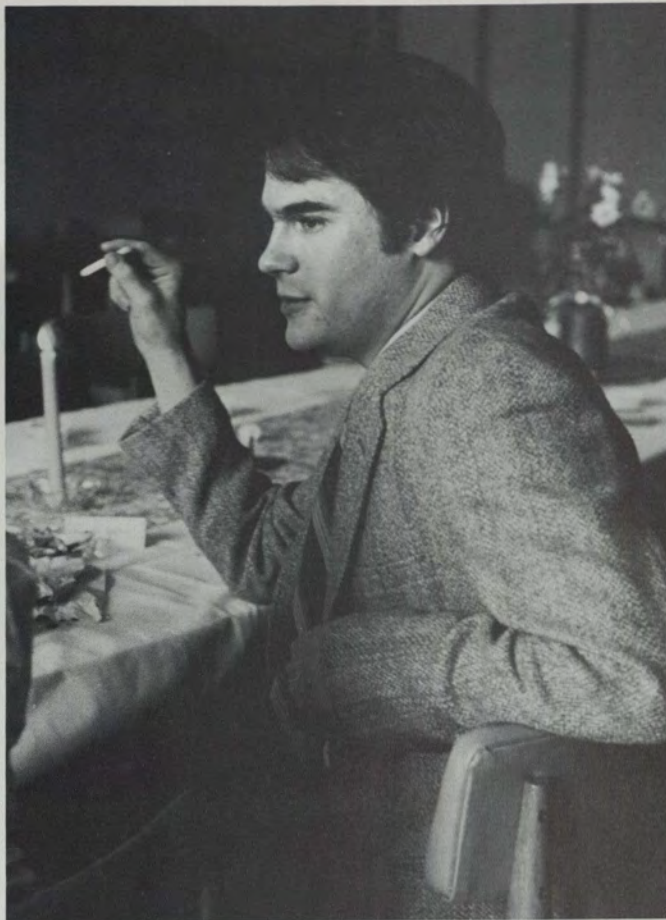

Every year is a unique experience. This makes our four years at Connecticut all the more special. The challenging, the fun, the exciting events all became part of the whole that is the essence of Connecticut College. As time passes, the fond memories of Connecticut will always provide a common bond for all. We leave, secure in the knowledge that we have handed down traditions of the past while preparing ourselves for the future.

Faces in the Crowd

MORRISON (1980-81) 2ND FLOOR
POOR RICHARD'S

Answer: FRITZ (Look hard and you'll see a mustache); CAVEMAN (He tried to look ugly and succeeded); CHUCK (Marching band music and an unforgettable poster collection); TIM BISHOP (Not Fritz); ROCKY (His old room has become one of the major archeological breakthroughs of the Eighties); TOFER (He lived on the "other side" but we don't mind); PK (In between Facial-Hair-For-Freedom crusades); LOREN (He could put more food in his mouth at one time than most people could eat in a week); JOHNNY Y (The Moose Housefellow makes good after 200 cover letters); DANGEROUS DAN (We respect anyone who can live next to Larry Dorman for a year); LIZ (Only came down to the 2nd floor to perpetrate hooliganistic pranks on Chuck, Loren, et al); GREGG (Mr. Coffeehouse goes against the system and comes out OK); WENDY (The only thing wrong was that she couldn't come home with us).

Missing: RICHARD (He thought we were meeting at IHOP); JACK (We told him we were meeting at IHOP); GLEN (He was in the neighborhood but had better things to do); GRETA (In Atlanta receiving the key to the city for work with the Guardian Angels), and a host of others who could not make it.
