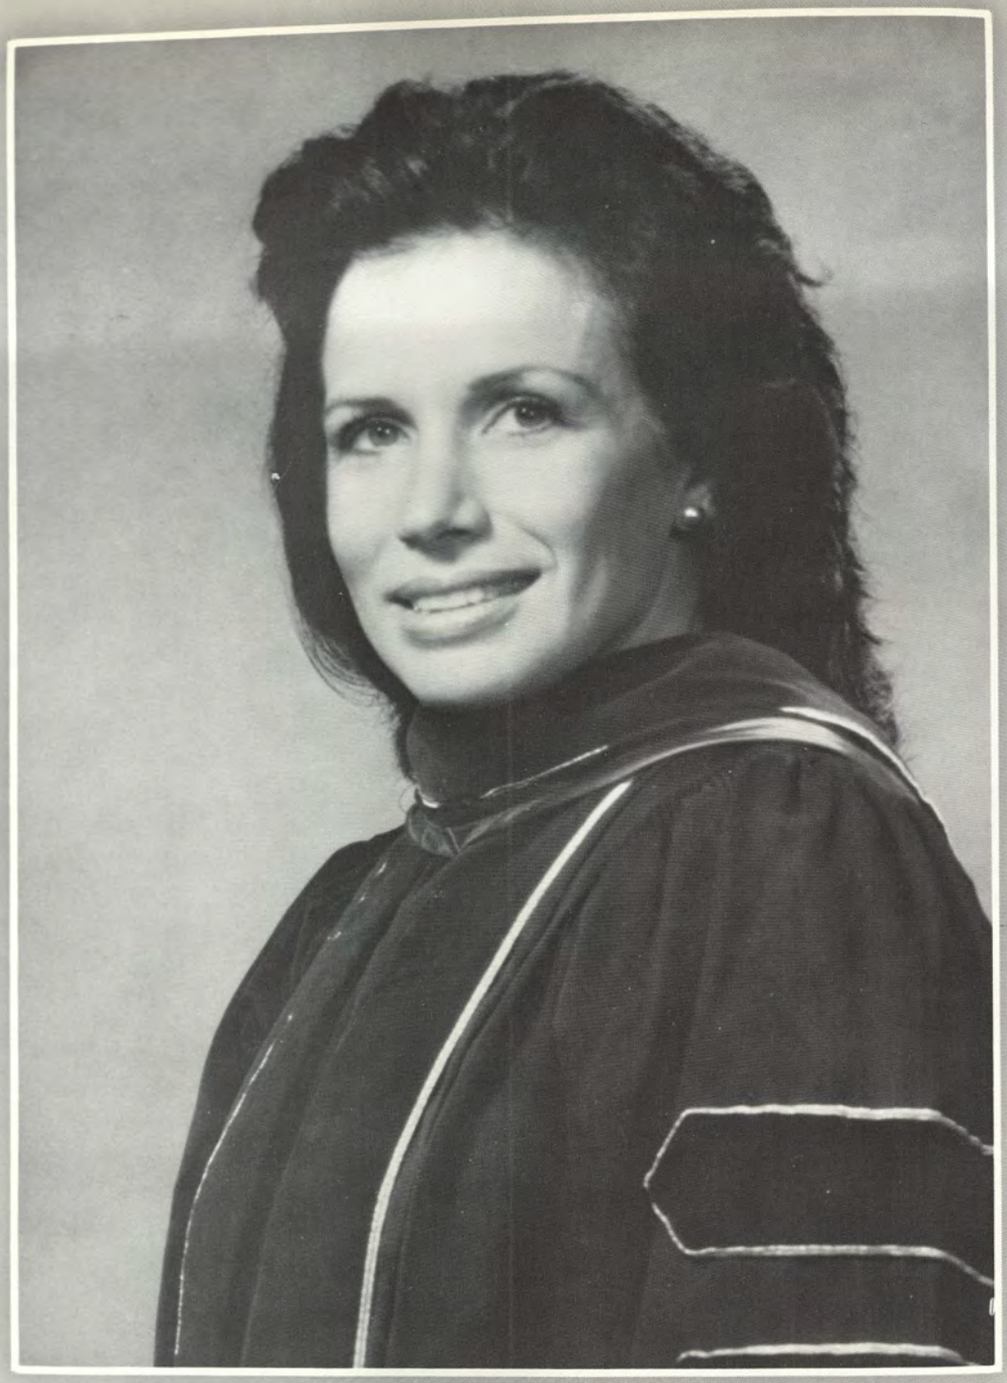
CONNECTICUT COLLEGE

1·9·8·9

We, the yearbook staff, felt it only proper to carry the theme of "Tradition and Innovation", inspired by the inauguration of President Gaudiani.

Over the years, Connecticut College has undergone a metamorphosis, and during the four years that the class of 1989 has been on campus, it has both experienced the fine traditions that have been part of the college since 1911, and seen vast changes that have improved the lives of the members of the college community. Changes such as the renovation of Palmer Library into Blaustein Humanities Center, the construction of the new Admissions building, and the renovation of the Oasis have been implemented. We also have the honor of being the first class to attain to 50-50 ratio of men to women, and we will graduate exactly twenty years after the introduction of co-education at Connecticut College.

The inauguration of Claire Gaudiani '66 introduces a new era of intellectual and social growth at the college, and as an alumna, she brings not only her energy but her pride in the college and her knowledge of its traditions. The class of 1989 leaves the college with memories of its traditions, our growth here, and of course, our friends. The yearbook is a record of our time here; a collection of images and words that will serve as a tangible momento of the time and experiences shared at Connecticut College.



The class of 1989 would like to dedicate this edition of The Koiné to Claire Lynn Gaudiani who, on July 1, 1988, became the eighth president of Connecticut College.

President Gaudiani's interest and love for Connecticut College stems from the four years she spent here as an undergraduate. She has already made a great effort to become integrated with the college community. President Gaudiani is not only the president of Connecticut College, but is also a professor of French and Italian. Her dedication and commitment is obvious.

We warmly welcome Claire Gaudiani to the Connecticut College community. She has many exciting and innovative ideas that will escalate Connecticut College's reputation as a forerunner among small liberal arts colleges.

I have a dream that one day little black boys and black girls will be able to join hands with little white boys and white girls as sisters and brothers - MLK

You have a four fold life to live, a body, a brain, a heart and a soul- these are your living tools. To use and develop them is not a task. It is a golden opportunity. William H. Danforth

"I can't believe you want to turn the page
And move your life into another stage
You can change the chapter
You can change the book
But the story remains the same
If you take a look . . .
For the time we've had
I don't want to be
A page in your diary
For the good and bad
I don't want to be
A page in your diary
For the happy and sad
I don't want to be
Just another page
In your diary."
-Yaz
