K O I N E

1992

Having seen these, you may not forget them: a blackbird, swallowed by light over the Sound; orange streetlights in fog that reduces the night to room-size, and you cannot see a friend walking towards you.

Imagine a lightless life. Imagine a life without form. You can't, having seen them. Exposure: To subject (a photographic film, for example) to the action of light, act of. Subject must be sensitized. Also, the act of making visible, or laying open, as to something undesirable or injurious. In short, to expose: to reveal the guilt or wrongdoing of; to put out or abandon with neither food nor shelter.

Do you see where this is taking you?

At night, you have a few choices. You may work through the night until morning, when you switch off your desk-lamp because the light outside overwhelms it, and you read by the sun. You may dream -- about fame, money, love, or something more absurd and frightening. something like being caught naked, exposed.

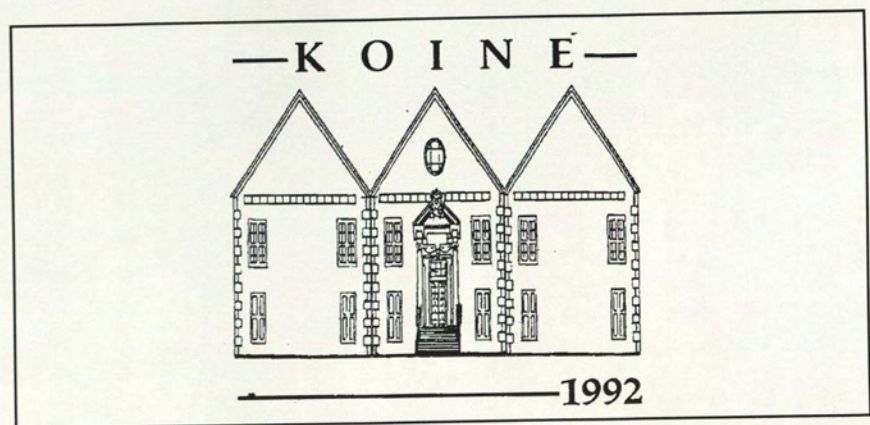

Exposure: also, the act of exposing. Some object so exposed. The amount of radiant energy needed to expose. An act of abandoning without food or shelter. Caught. The years here, the blackbird, the streetlight. Us, groping to define form by an uncertain light, and they'll remember us like this.

-Kristin Lee

EGO TRIPPING
(there may be a reason why)

*i was born in the congo
I walked to the fertile crescent and built the sphinx
I designed a pyramid so tough that a star that only glows every one hundred years falls into the center giving divine perfect light
I am bad*

*I sat on the throne
drinking nectar with allah
I got hot and sent an ice age to europe to cool my thirst
My oldest daughter is nefertiti
the tears form my birth pains
created the Nile
I am a beautiful woman*

*I gazed on the forest and burned out the sahara desert
with a packet of goat's meat
and a change of clothes
I crossed it in two hours
I am a gazelle so swift so swift you can't catch me*

*For a birthday present when he was three
I gave my son hannibal an elephant
He gave me rome for mother's day
My strength flows ever on*

*My son noah built new/ark and I stood proudly at the helm
as we sailed on a soft summer day
I turned myself into myself and was jesus
men intone loving name
All praises All praises
I am the one who would save*

*I sowed diamonds in my back yard
My bowels deliver uranium
the filings from my fingernails are semi-precious jewels
On a trip north
I caught a cold and blew
My nose giving oil to the arab world
I am so hip even my errors are correct
I sailed west to reach east and had to round off the earth as I went
The hair from my head thinned and gold was laid across three continents*

*I am so perfect so divine so ethereal so surreal
I cannot be comprehended except by my permission*

*I mean...I...can fly
like a bird in the sky*

Everyday of our lives we are encouraged toward some new beginning. It is natural that we, like every living thing, evolve. A life well lived is one with many transformations. To move forward we must release the habits, patterns of behavior, the people who hold us back. It's true that letting go of the familiar makes us anxious. But without endings there are no beginnings. --Susan L. Taylor

Your graduation day is the beginning of good things for you, new dreams, new accomplishments to celebrate with pride; but throughout your life, remember you're already a success because of all of your qualities and who you are inside.

Within your reach lies every path you ever dreamed of taking.
Within your power lies every step you ever dreamed of making.
Within your range lies every joy you ever dreamed of seeing.
Within yourself lies everything you ever dreamed of being.

Here's hoping your success will continue through a future of increasing happiness.

With Very Loving Wishes,

To question and satisfy the wonder of the moment

To step forward and risk the sacrifice of strength

To start again each time renewed by faith

To search for questions that you know not are there

To seek counsel with the openness of truth

To trust with the commitment of forgiveness

To sacrifice for the allegiance to principles

To cry for other's pain and rejoice in their pleasure

To share without keeping score

To make mistakes and see the wisdom in the error

To tap dance on quicksand and stay afloat with grace and dignity

To not look at the outside but look at the inside

To succeed and have it be enough to know alone

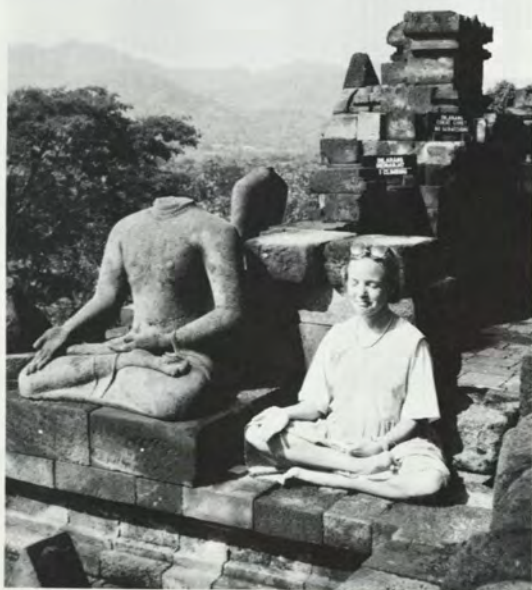

This you do and they are but some of the many reasons that we love you so very much.
With love from your family.

Dear Amy,

A few things to think about as you continue your journey of self-discovery beyond the walls of C.C.

Don't swallow today's myths that it's possible to have it all or that money changes everything. Work toward your goals not with an eye on the prize at the end, or by trying to meet the expectations of others, or by clinging to the familiar certainties of the past. Rather you can realize your vision most fully by being who you are. Measure your progress against your inner feelings, your personal comfort level, your knowledge of yourself. Growing up is never done. It is an on-going process of listening to - and trusting in - the ultimate wisdom of your own inner voice.

Remember that personal satisfaction is more important than the accumulation of things as, without love, everything loses its meaning. Happiness comes not from having things, but from being a part of things. Barry Kaufman reminds us that, "The way we choose to see the world creates the world we see."

You have already learned that caring for others enlarges and enriches your life ten-fold; that you cannot love yourself unless you treat others with honesty and respect.

We believe in you, in your goodness, your many gifts and talents, your on-going goals and dreams. We look forward to witnessing your continued blossoming. We will always be there for you...continuing to offer the warmth of our abiding love, but with "no strings attached," no parental expectations. You are FREE to be...the best possible you.

In love and thanksgiving for the gift of you.
