THEN...

*Open your mind but keep your guards up.
Shake your part of the world and I will shake mine,
And when enough ripples have been made
They will know that we were here.
Shout loud & stay hard, we only live once,
And always do the right thing!!*

Thank you for the memories

*After our youth has come and gone
We no stand, but not alone
The door of tomorrow inevitably opens,
So forward we step as our new journey begins...
Grace to all*

CONSTRUCTION AND CIVILIZATION

To the Connecticut College Class of 1994:

The Class of 1994 has been the Construction Class. You watched over the building of Becker House, the new Natatorium and additions to the Athletic Center and College Center. As you graduated, you watched the F.W. Olin building rise.

You saw the successful completion of the first Strategic Plan with which, together, we hit goals no one thought possible: the $7 million science center, the admission of 21 percent students of color to the freshman class this spring, the establishment of three new academic centers. We added eleven new faculty lines while you were students here, a major in African studies, and American Comparative Cultural Studies to go with our expanded international focus. You saw students added to the Cabinet and playing a larger role in budget development and planning.

You helped the college grow as you grew because you never stopped questioning the status quo.

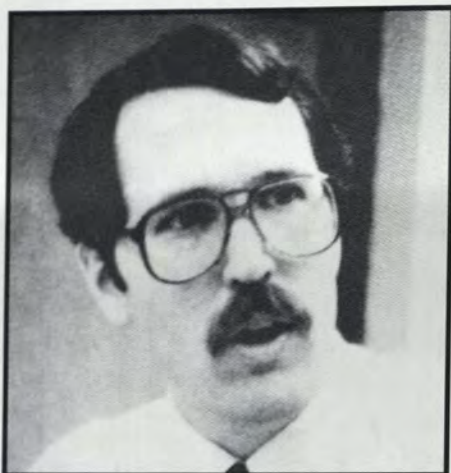

Einstein said: "The important thing is not to stop questioning. Curiosity has its own reason for existing. Never lose a holy curiosity." That quotation is the theme you chose for your Baccalaureate service because your experience here led you to agree with it. I concur.

While questioning, you also focused on doing good. Rabbi Abraham Joshua Heschel wrote: "A good person is not he who does the right thing, but he who is in the habit of doing the right thing." On this campus you developed the habit of doing the right thing and lived as members of a civil society. With our honor code and commitment to volunteerism, you constructed more than buildings.

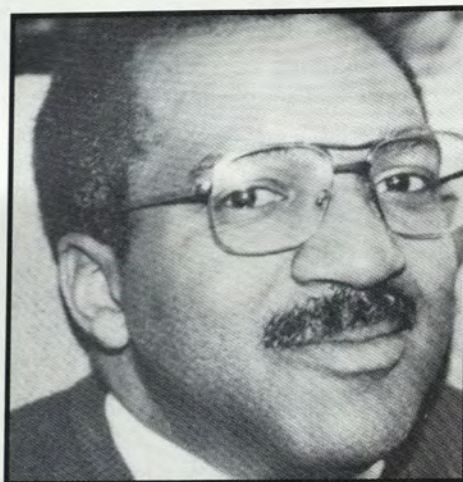

Your mission as graduates of Connecticut College is to your holy curiosity and your commitment to habits of doing the right thing in this civil society to make your world more civil -- more just, more tolerant, more joyous. Whether you enter business or the law, work in science or social policy or social service or the arts or education, you will contribute, sometimes unconsciously, the sense you developed on this hilltop of what human life can be at its richest and best.

Remember us; stay in touch. Above all, have the vision, the will, and the zest to bring the spirit of this place into the lives of all those you deal with and love.

as we were

Our Housefellows our first year at Conn. I'm sure many of us had slight crushes on these seniors, my personal favorite is not pictured. To us, well to me, the housefellows seemed so cool and mature. I felt I would never reach their age or maturity. Now here we are graduated, and still I do not feel as old, as cool or as mature as I felt they were. C'est la vie.

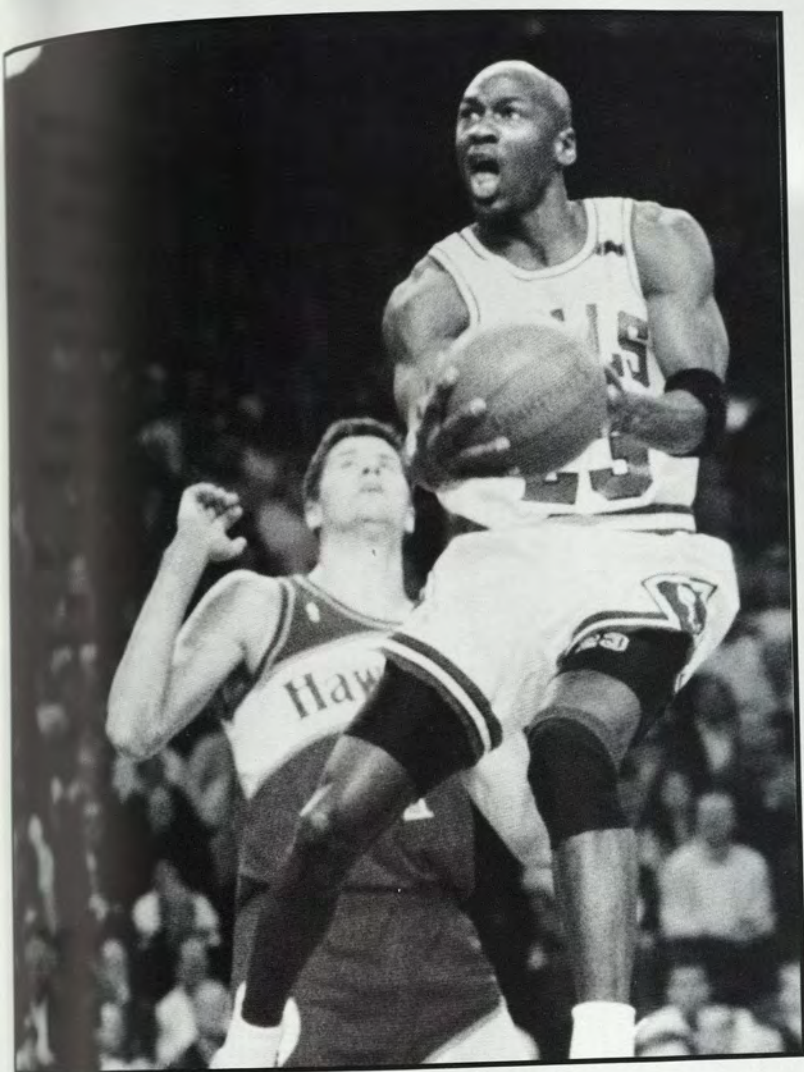

Arrested Development won the MTV Video Music Award for best rap video, "People Everyday," and the Grammy Awards for the "newcomer of the year." The hip-hop group also won some attention with a message to black Americans: spend more time and money expressing your African heritage.

It was the year of grunge rock, and a band from Seattle known as Nirvana was among the proudest purveyors of this unadorned, grinding form of rock 'n' roll

At the 10th Annual MTV Video Music Awards on September 2, 1993, at Universal City, CA, Nirvana's "In Bloom" won the trophy for best alternative video.

Michael Jordan, the world's best basketball player and one of its most famous athletes, announced his retirement.

Jordan's retirement came after he had led the Chicago Bulls to three straight National Basketball Association championships, the most recent a victory over the Phoenix Suns in the 1993 finals.

His departure, which Jordan announced at a news conference on October 6, 1993, stripped the league of its most recognizable name and robbed it of a breathtaking Acrobat who led the NBA in scoring the last seven years.

"The thrill is gone. I've done it all, There's nothing left for me to do," Jordan told a reporter the night before his formal announcement.

The show started off as an upstart, but by the time they finished handing out the prime time Emmy Awards "Seinfeld" had accepted three trophies. "Seinfeld," which features the comic misadventures of the New York comedian and his friends, was named best comedy series of 1993.

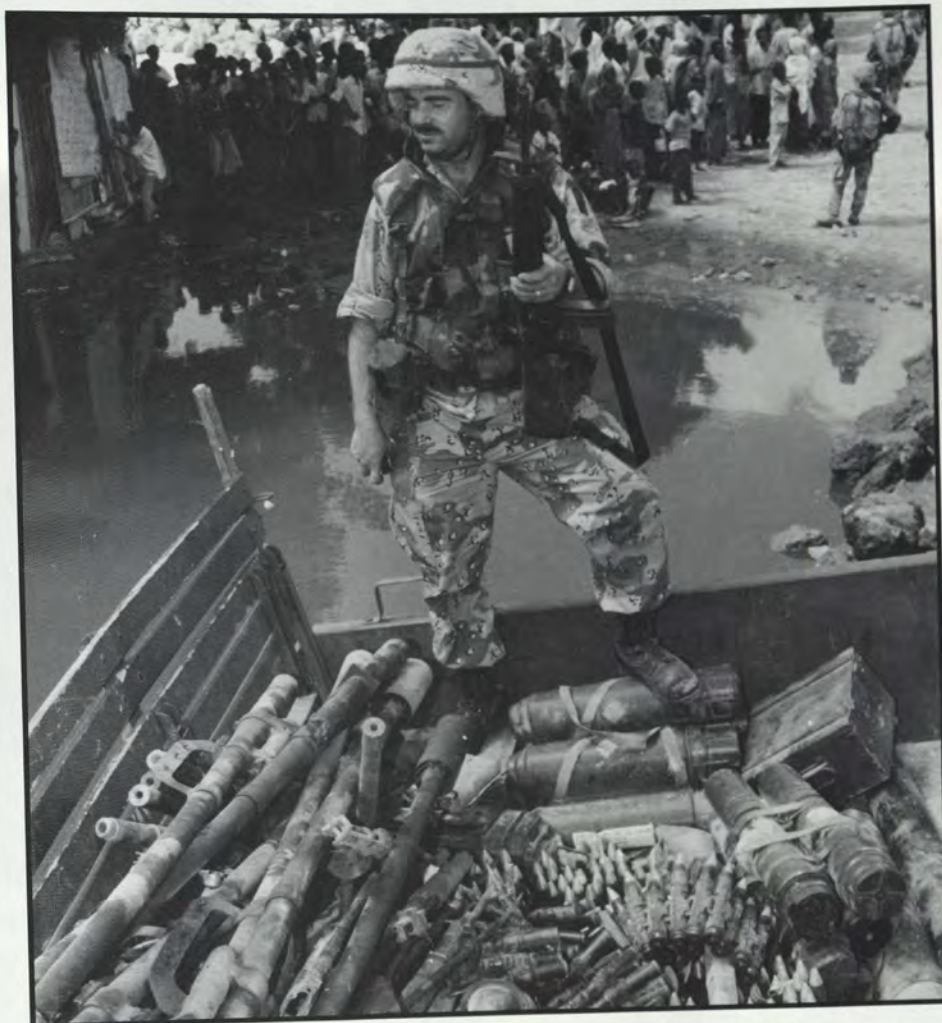

Sheik Omar Abdel-Rahman was charged on August 25, 1993 with commanding "a war of urban terrorism" in New York City. the indictment accused him of being the mastermind of a plot to blow up the World trade Center- which had been bombed on February 26- as well as numerous other targets in New York that never were hit, including the United Nations building and the Lincoln Tunnel.

Russia, one of the world's great powers, experienced political upheaval in 1993 more typical of a Third World nation. When President Boris Yeltsin disbanded the legislature September 21, many of its hard-liners barricaded themselves inside the parliament building in Moscow. Vice President Alexander Rutskoi and others tried to wrest power from Yeltsin in an attempted coup. But, following Yeltsin's orders, tanks and troops flushed out the defiant lawmakers, many of them old-line Communists opposed to Yeltsin's attempts to move the nation toward a free market economy.

The world was drawn to Somalia in 1992 by photographs of starving children. It was almost driven away the following year by photographs of fighting adults. The latter pictures, notably one of a captured American serviceman being dragged through the streets of the capital, Mogadishu, symbolized the difficulty a 33-country United Nations force had coping with a country that had descended into feudalism. The contest for power between warlord Ali Mahdi Mohamed and Mohamed Farah Aidid led to a full scale war killing over 350,000 people in fighting and exacerbated a famine. U.N. forces launched a manhunt for Aidid after he was suspected of ordering an attack on a group of Pakistani peacekeepers. It halted its ground patrol and all but essential military convoys after an October 3 battle that left 18 Americans, one Malaysian and more than 300 Somalis dead.

The civil war in what was once Yugoslavia moved through its second year at terrible human cost: as many as 200,000 people were dead or missing. The 18 month old civil war began in 1992 when Serbs rebelled over a vote by the republic's Muslims and Croats to secede from Serb dominated Yugoslavia. Croatia and Muslim dominated Bosnia-Herzegovina initially allied against the more powerful Serbs, but as the battles continued, their alliance dissolved.

Declaring that "the times are changing," Ruth Bader Ginsburg in 1993 became the second woman to sit on the United States Supreme Court. At her swearing in ceremony at the White House on August, 10, the 60 year old women's rights pioneer said that "in my lifetime, I expect there will be among federal justice nominees...as many sisters as brothers in law." Ginsburg, the 107th Supreme Court justice, has won several landmark Supreme Court cases as a lawyer for the American Civil Liberties Union Women's Rights Project in the 1970's. She was President Clinton's first nominee to the high court, and was overwhelmingly confirmed by the Senate.

On September 13, 1993 three American presidents gawked in awe, just like everyone else, at a sudden turn in peace. All eyes were on two old enemies in their new roles as peacemakers. Their handshake, the grasp of Arab Yasser Arafat of the hand of Jew Yitzhak Rabin, brought a gasp, a shout, and finally applause from several thousand people on the White House lawn. Rabin's Israel and Arafat's PLO signed a peace treaty that once seemed unimaginable.

President Clinton's point person on health care reform in 1993 was First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton. When Mrs. Clinton appeared before Congress to implore its members to work with the administration to overhaul the health care system, she got a movie star's reception.

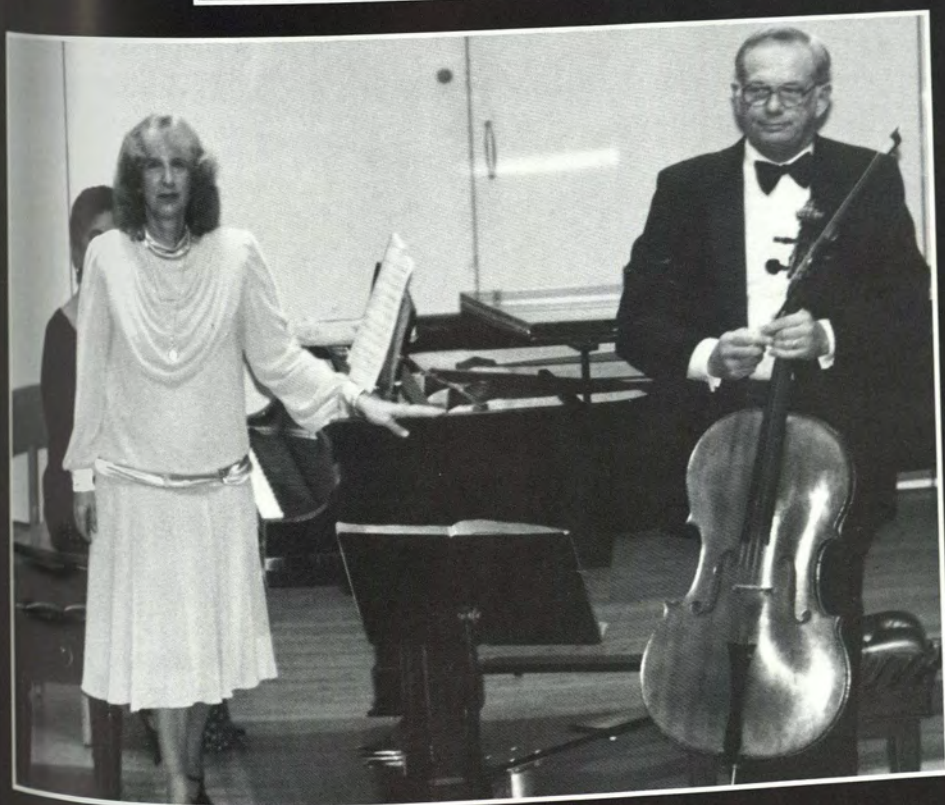

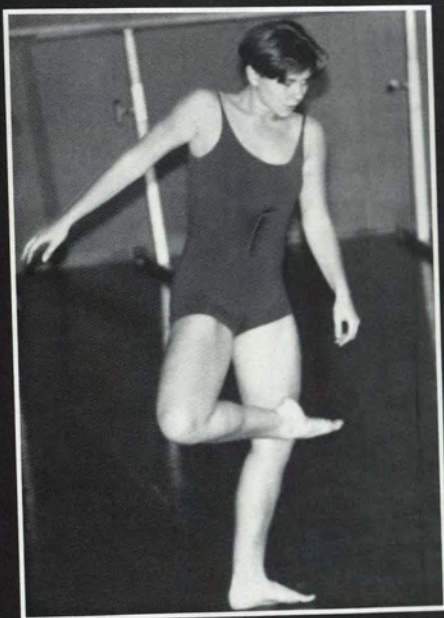

The floods that washed across the Midwest may have been the worst in American history, and they captured the concern of people across the nation. The stage for disaster was set during the winter, when unusually heavy snow fell. There were no midwinter thaws, so the snow melted rapidly as spring arrived. And then came the rains. Des Moines, for example, logged more than 32 inches by the end of July, compared with 18.7 in a normal year. The casualties ranged from the thousands left homeless to investors and consumers in every corner of the United States.

FANTASTIC WANDERINGS

This year, the Art Department brought to campus a number of young, professional artists. "Fantastic Wanderings", a tribute to the late Ronnie Bladen, was a celebration of American Abstract Expressionism. In "Dia Et Noche", Jo Yarrington transformed the small gallery into a mystical world filled with life and death imagery. The last of the exhibits, "3 Sculptors", brought to campus the contemporary works of Michael O'Rourke, Louise Dudis and Gregory Spiggle.

Pippin

Pippin is the story of the first born son of Charlemagne, Emperor of the Holy Roman Empire. In the musical, Pippin desperately searches for an extraordinary life only to find happiness in the ordinary. Pippin was performed on April 28-30 in the 1962 Room of the College Center. It was directed by Jessica Ammirati, assistant directed by Susan Cline, and musically directed by David Krieger.

Senior Art Majors Exhibition

1994

SENIOR ART MAJORS EXHIBITION 1994. My creations are not meant to have a reason for existence, they are meant to express "that" which lies within me. [Ruben O. Acoca] The function of art is to expose the many facets of humanism. student designed interdisciplinary major: [Sarah Creighton Beers] I have always thought that to find something to do is human; then to find something to do that you actually like and then strive to excel at must be divine. [Matthew Bridgeford] ...random associations or experiences unrelated to each other, many of which I have no control. [Jonathan Bucci] An alternate reality, another world, one which hopefully challenges our vision of what the world should normally look like. [Nancy Choi] ...creating color and spatial arrangements. [Kathryn Friedman] Could someone whose primary medium is so blatantly a result of technological wizardry be considered an artist? student designed interdisciplinary major: [Joe Grassia] MAY 6, 7:00-9:00PM. IN CUMMINGS ARTS CENTER. As Hannah Wiche said, "I make what I like." [Caroline Grossman] This is the point I am at in my life - Who am I? And who am I to other people? [Claudine Johnson] A clear expression, which transmits something immediate - that is what inspires me. [Kate Ledogar] Art has always been a slippery, evasive thing, difficult to catch and hold. [Robert Lentz] Freedom to create images which are only in the mind. [Elizabeth A. McMahon] ...to break down the subconscious codes that have trained us to view things in relationship to societal standards. [Ernest Montgomery Jr.] A sense of wit and irony is evident in the strange combinations of images and materials. [Laura Unkauf] I hope to create a personal narrative. [Makiko Ushiba] A work must steal the viewer's thoughts. [Liz Verney] ...an entertaining, portable piece of artwork. [Alixandra Carter Westbrook] CONNECTICUT COLLEGE, NEW LONDON CT.

The Return to College (RTC) Association is a club that primarily meets the needs of the adult student on campus. They sponsor two Orientations each year, one in the fall and one in the spring, for new incoming students, where a library and writing center tour are featured. A Student Faculty Mixer is held in the fall to allow RTCs and faculty to get to know each other better. In May, just after finals, the RTC Association hosts a Senior Luncheon where graduating RTCs are honored and new leaders for the next year are chosen.

This is a letter directed towards all members of clubs and organizations in the Connecticut College community. The yearbook staff made many attempts to include all clubs in this section. More than one letter was sent to club presidents by Shannon Haines. As the previous section demonstrates only seventeen or so responded. We want to represent all aspects of college life, but it is not possible without the support and action of community members. The yearbook goal is to create a complete picture of Connecticut College. In the future this staff hopes that more clubs and organizations will respond to the requests of the yearbook allowing a full section of clubs and organizations.

GRADUATION 1994

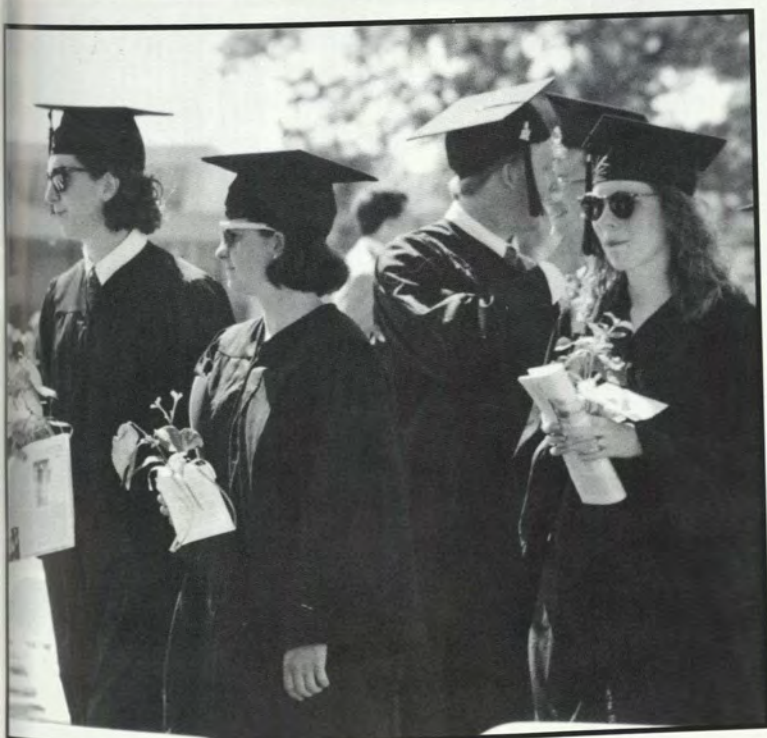

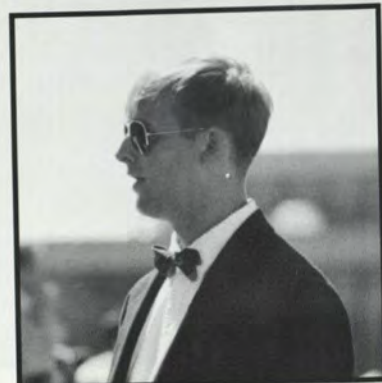

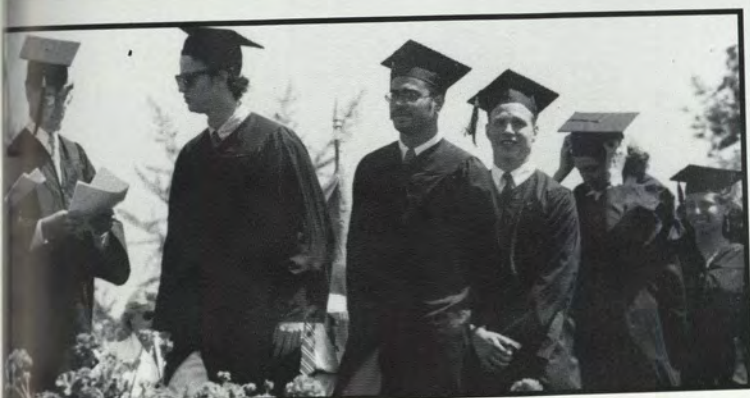

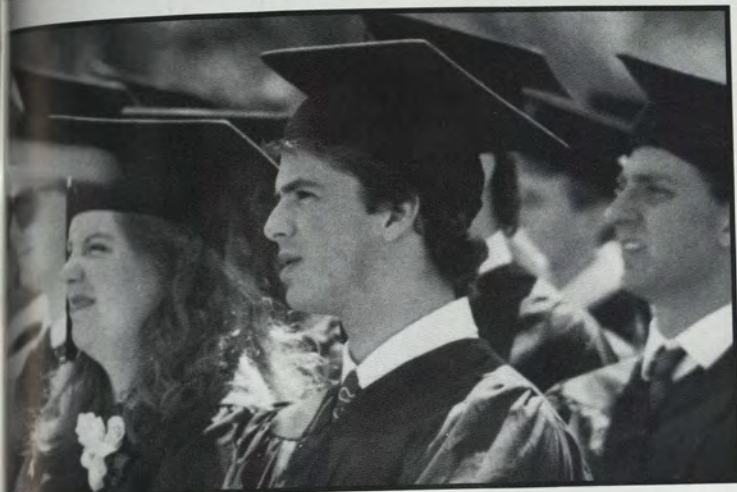

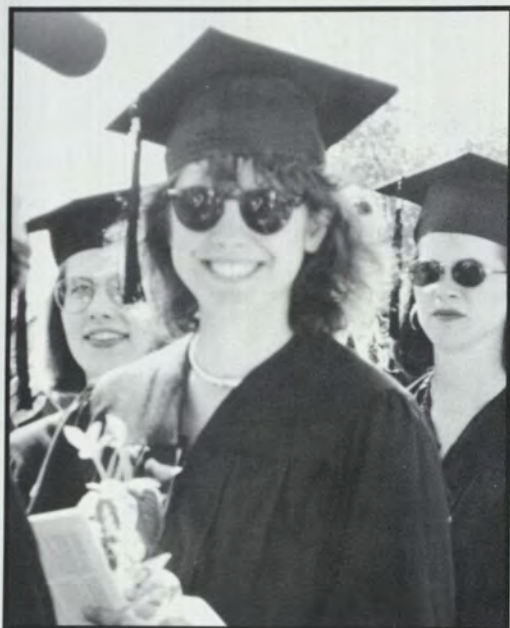

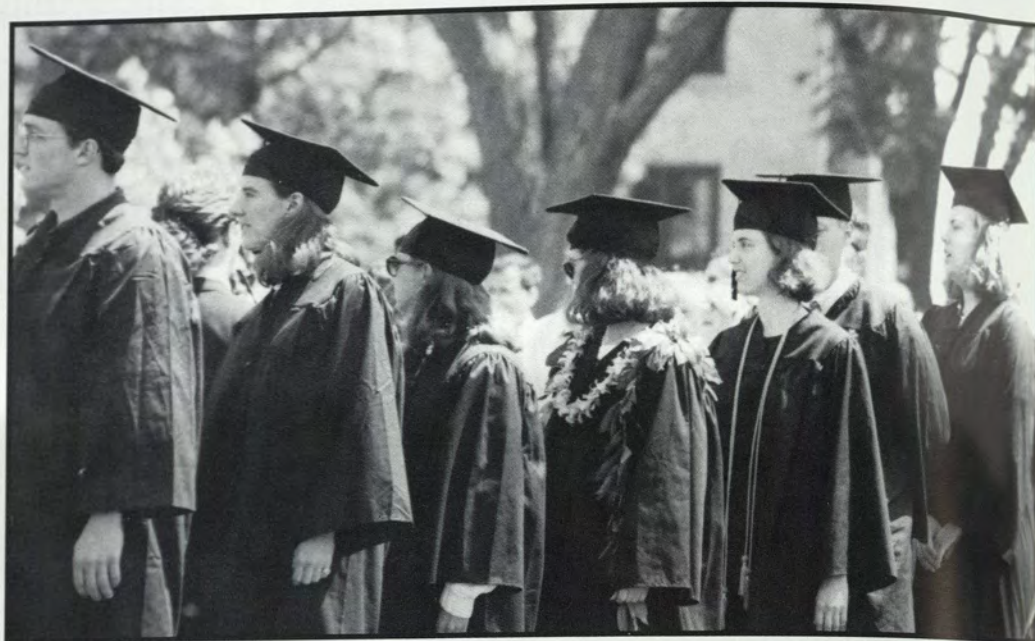

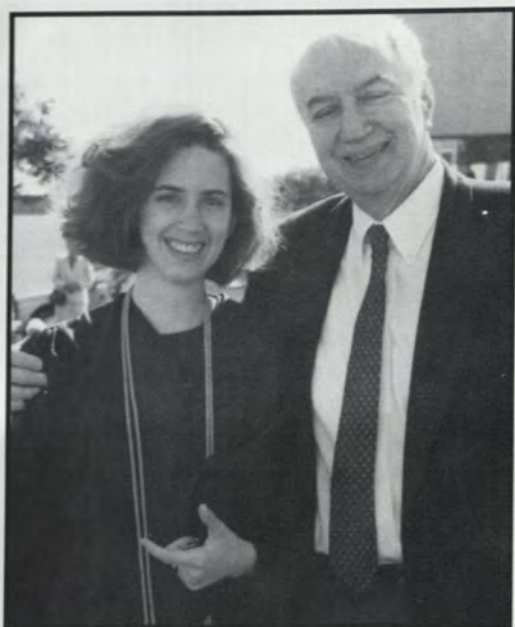

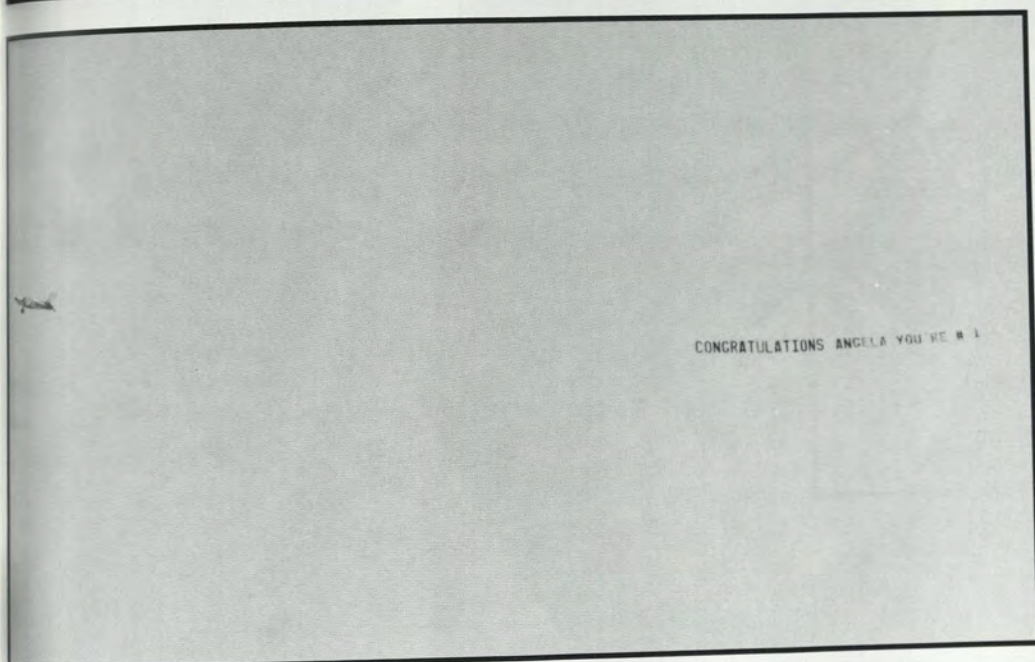

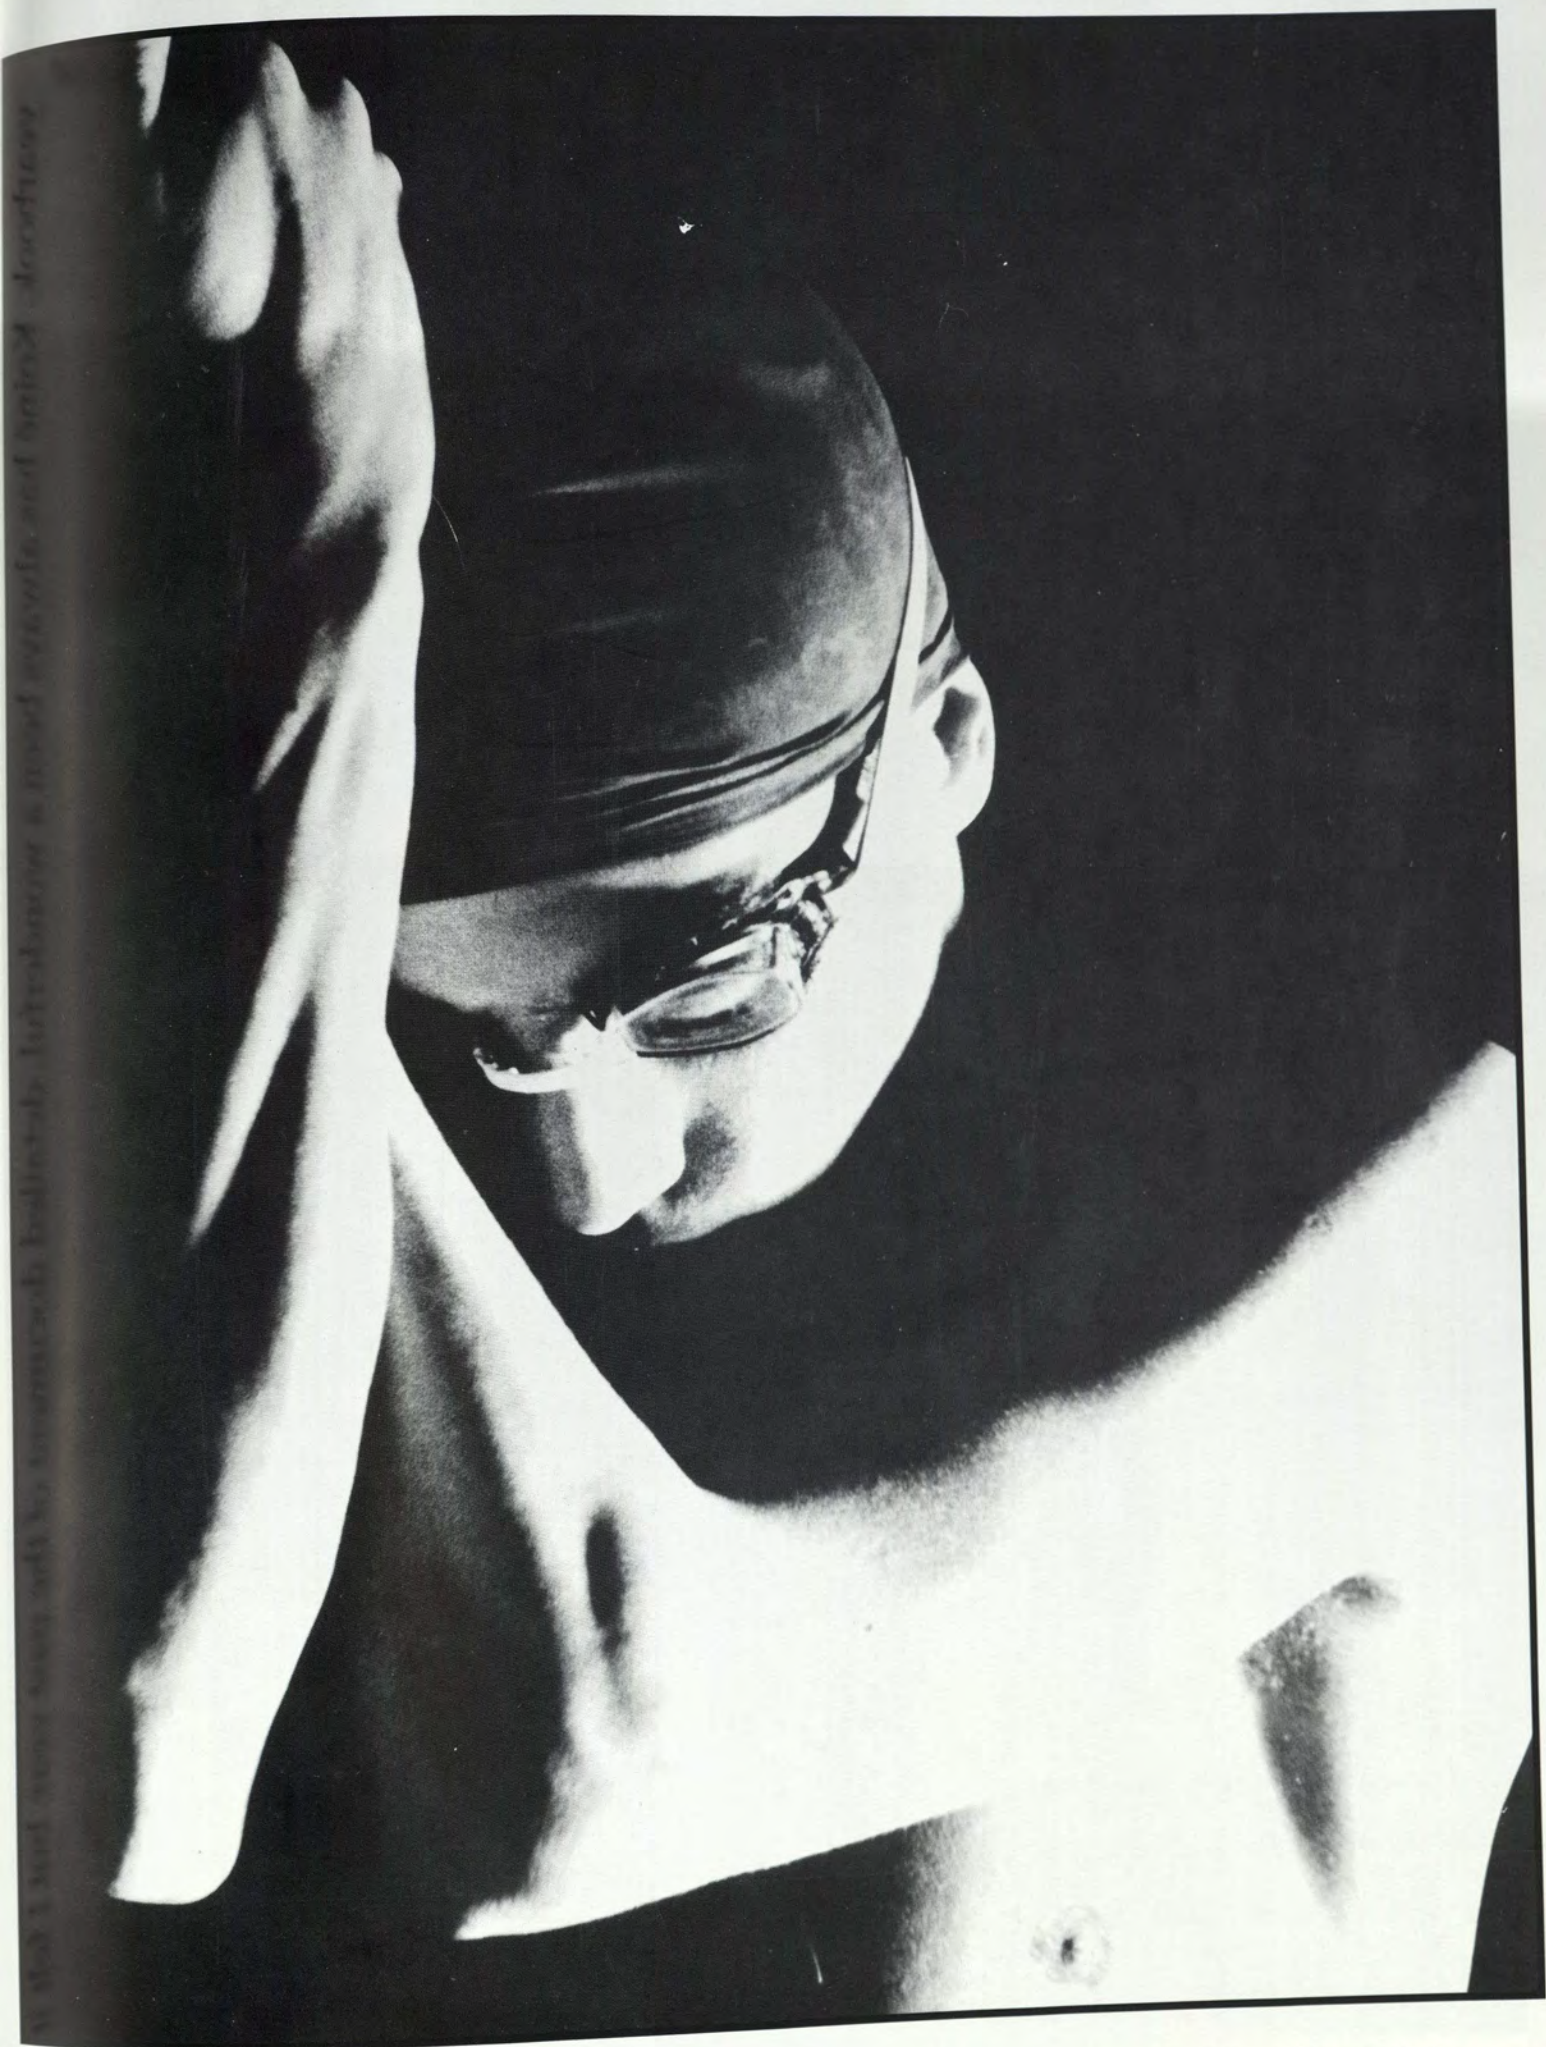

This year, as editor-in-chief, I wanted to expand the context of the yearbook. Koiné has always been a wonderful, detailed document of the past year, but I felt it could be more. There is much talent on this campus displayed in wanted to document student artists' impressions of Connecticut College. What has evolved is a many outlets, and I wanted one of these outlets to be the yearbook. I display of photography, an exposition of the written word, and a theater for illustration. Thank you to Makiko Ushiba for the design of this showing. The other artists include Melinda Caroline, poet, Ernest Montgomery,

Aftershocks

You find yourself one day singing to your daughter a song you know by heart and almost recognize.

This happens. Like the sudden waves rushing the lake's shore minutes after a boat has buzzed by and gone.

You split at her birth. Now some days you try to speak and you hear your mother and some days your second-grade teacher. Some days you hear a woman you think is you.

Bridgeford, illustrator. I am excited about this new element of the yearbook. I hope in following years it grows and becomes a standard for Koiné. Creativity, along with academic education, is necessary for our development.

It is not being able to photograph, write, or draw that is important, it is also important to appreciate these artistic endeavors. Appreciation expands our

CONGRATULATIONS KERRI!

The road continues... you have a great deal to offer and the talents to make the world a better place. Choose a path... make your mark. Most of all be happy - the best is always now.

Love,
Mom, Dad and Kathleen

Maiken,

With pride for all you've done...

With love for all you are...

We wish you all the excitement, all the challenge, all the happiness life can hold.

May the years ahead be of new discoveries, the pursuit of ideas and dreams, and the quest for success.

Success is a journey, not a destination.

You become successful the moment you start moving towards a worthwhile goal.

Accept the challenges so that you may feel the exhilaration of victory; obstacles are only things you see when you take your mind off your goal.

Aim high and if you miss, start again.

We are very proud of you, we believe in you, we are behind you and always there for you.

Onward into the future.

Congratulations!

Your Parents

The Talking Sock
by Kenny Frankel
1st grade, 1979

Once upon a time I came home from school and put on a sock. The second sock I put on started to talk. I said, "Who's talking?" The sock said, "I'm talking," I looked at it and said, "You are no different from my other sock. My other sock can't talk." "I am different. I am magic."

We were proud of you then and we're proud of you now. Let the magic live on and on. Congratulations & love to Ken Frankel, B.A., 1994! from your entire family.

For Liselotte and the class of 1994

Look back and see the learning and the laughter.

Don't look too long,

for there are many regrets.

Don't look ahead too far,

fear and uncertainty are overwhelming.

Live the moment for the laughter,

the loving and the living.

We are all scared of goodbyes,

so we'll say "take care, we love you and see you later." Congratulations, R&R

Alekos, what does it mean to be a man?

Alekos Panagoulis:

It means to have courage, to have dignity. It means to believe in humanity. It means to love without allowing love to become an anchor. It means to struggle and to win.

Beyond What

We reach for our destinies beyond what we have come to know and in the romantic hush of promises perceive each the other's life
as known mystery.
Shared. But inviolate.
No melting. No squeezing into One.
We swing our eyes around as well as side to side to see the world.

To choose, renounce, this, or that - call it a council between equals call it love.
