I LOST MY SKYDIVING

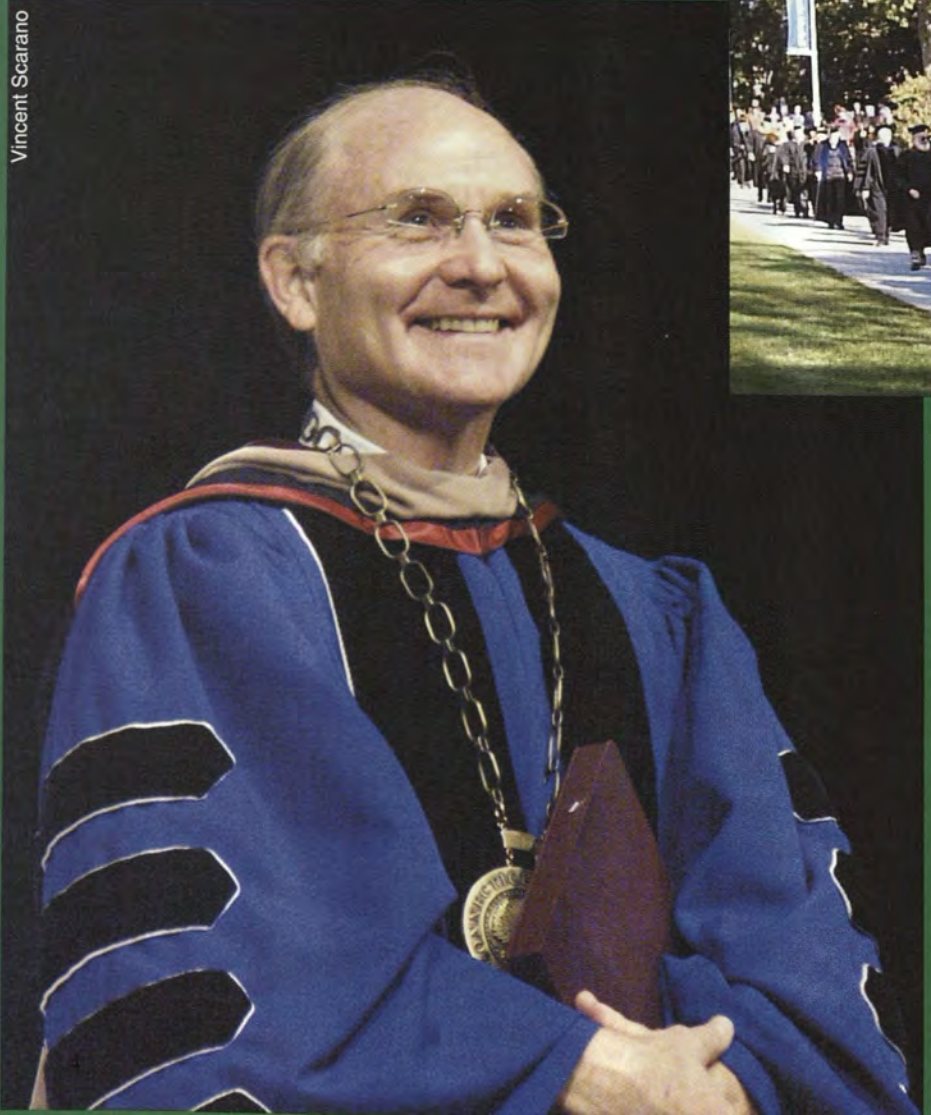
A new beginning...



Vincent Scarano

Dear Members of the Class of 2007,

I am pleased to extend my sincere congratulations to each and every one of you. Four years ago, you joined a remarkable community, a community that values academic excellence and shapes ethical, informed citizens. You are now ready to take the next step forward along a path you will create for yourself. I know your education at Connecticut College has in many ways shaped who you are today. I hope you carry the best of the college with you always.

Your class will always be special to me personally because you are the first to graduate since I joined the College last July. You are the leaders who first showed me what it means to be a Connecticut College student. I expected a high level of academic excellence after all, this is Connecticut College. I was further delighted to discover a student body that is truly engaged in the campus community through shared governance and a framework of mutual trust and respect.

I want to thank you for welcoming me into your community. I have enjoyed getting to know you as individuals and as a class. With you I participated in my first Camelympics, enjoyed my first camel cookie and attended my first dance class. Together we have discussed everything from strategic priorities for the Colleges future to who will win the next hockey game.

Your support of and participation in my inauguration was inspirational for me and for everyone who attended. Of the many high points I have experienced since joining the College, inauguration clearly demonstrated to me that Connecticut College understands involvement at all levels as an essential element to a dynamic and vibrant community.

I hope you stay involved in the College as active alumni. Come to campus often for a game, a play, a concert, a lecture, Commencement or Reunions. Follow the improvements being made in the Arboretum, in the dorms, in the classrooms. Meet with students, faculty or staff. If you cant visit the campus, reach out and connect with fellow alums, through the online community, the magazine or in other social and business venues. As you connect with each other and the campus, youll be reminded that this community is passionate about Connecticut College. And that passion is what makes us strong.

Above all, I hope you are as proud of yourselves today as Connecticut College is of you.

Sincerely,
Lee Higdon

It's something unpredictable,

I hope you had the time of your life.

House Council: Governor-JC Sunglao '09; Senator-Tristan Husby '09; SAC Rep-Solomon Choge '07; OVCS Rep-Didi Cove '09; Environmental Coordinator-Curren Mbofana '08

While Laz/War is one of the quieter houses on campus, their hearts are as big as those of even the largest residences. The outside community relishes in the fact that Laz has a kitchen, and the description of Warnshuis (pronounced Warn-shiess) as well, you know that overhang behind the health center? always gets a laugh. While Laz/War is usually an unexpected stop in ones college housing life, after a year here, residents can be proud to say Yeah, I lived in Laz/War.

LAZ/WAR RECORDS: 6th place in '06 Camelympics with Team X

"Team X (Laz/War, Abbey, E/360) If you cant take the heat, GET OUT OF OUR KITCHENS!"

But all of us have different kinds of dreams, different goals in life to pursue. It is hard to know at times which dream to pursue since so many can run through your head while growing up. It is easy to question your decision to pursue one dream instead of another. To be paralyzed at times by indecision, fearful that you have made the wrong choice and that you may be going down the wrong road.

If you have such fears, put them aside, for life is the act of becoming, you never arrive. It's the journey that counts. Isn't it amazing how much time and energy mountain climbers spend planning and executing their ascent of Mount Everest and the meager amount of time they spend once they reach the summit taking in the view. It was the act of climbing that took them to the top not a desire to get there and stay.

The question is which mountain in life should you pick to climb, which dream to pursue. I would like to share with you some important insights I have made which help me pick the mountains in life to climb.

The most important thing I have discovered is not whether the mountain is in Asia, or Europe, or under the sea.

The most important thing is that the mountain you choose to climb is high. have discovered that if you climb a mountain that is say 1,000 feet tall and fall off its summit and break your neck you are just as dead as you would be had you fallen off a mountain that is 30,000 feet tall. You're dead all the same so why did you pick a small mountain to fall off.

I have also discovered that it is just as hard to climb a 1,000-foot mountain, as it is to climb one 30,000 feet tall. People that climb tall mountains get up at the same time in the morning and go to bed at the same time in evening as those who climb little ones. They have to put up with the same amount of trials and tribulations each day. So what I learned was, it is just as easy or just as hard to climb a tall mountain as it is to climb a small mountain so why not go for it!

When you walk up on the stage today to receive your diploma, having finally reached the summit of your present dream, a dream that has taken four or more years to reach, you will only spend a few seconds here. But when you look out at your parents and friends and see how proud they are, you will realize that this four-year journey was well worth the effort.

What is also important about climbing a tall mountain instead of a small one is that it takes a longer time to climb. This gives you a lot of time to think about what you are doing along the way and it gives you more time to enjoy the journey.

If you can reach the top of a mountain in just an hour or a day, it wasn't worth your time to climb.

I have found that if I pick a distant summit in the clouds to pursue, time is on my side and I can have a lot of fascinating side trips along the way. Side trips that enrich my life but since I have that distant summit on the horizon to guide me, I find that I don't get lost along the way. I always know how to get back on the trail once my side trip has ended.

I also discovered that tall mountains frighten people off. As a result, there aren't many people climbing them. The path up to the summit is less crowded, less congested, and in fact easier to climb.

So I advise you to think big, have big dreams. Climb tall mountains.

Now it is time as camels to put our best hoof forward and use this education, this gift, to make our future. Take risks, put yourself in positions where you may not know what will happen next. Trust that your education here will allow you to make it, or at the very least learn from it.

In our lives we don't get many days like this. Please enjoy it.

Congratulations!!

Before you know it, you will be Dr. Frohman! I am so proud of what you have achieved and the person you have become. Keep to your values, continue your studies, use the knowledge you accumulate, and enjoy the new challenges and independance that are ahead.
Love, Dad
P.S. Wesleyan doesn't have insurance on you blowing up the place.

"See you and me have a better time than most can dream of, better than the best, so we can pull on through, whatever tears at us, whatever holds us down, and if nothing can be done, we'll make the best of what's around."
~ Dave Matthews Band

With each major step we've taken, one thing that has always remained constant - our friendship. As bestfriend/brother, I feel grateful for having you by my side as I'm by yours in whichever direction we take. Let us embark on the uncertainty of the future all the while knowing we'll together "make the best of what's around."

"Children"

And he said:
Your children are not your children.
They are the sons and daughters of Life's longing for itself.
They come through you but not from you,
And though they are with you, yet they belong not to you.
You may give them your love but not your thoughts.
For they have their own thougths.
You may house their bodies but not their souls,
For their souls dwell in the house of tomorrow, which you cannot visit, not even in your dreams.
You strive to be like them, but seek not to make them like you.
For life goes not backward nor tarries with yesterday.
You are the bows from which your children as living arrows are sent forth.
The archer sees the mark upon the path of the infinite, and He bends you with His might that His arrows may go swift and far.
Let your bending in the archer's hand be for gladness;
For even as he loves the arrow that flies, so He loves also the bow that is stable.

Not a day goes by that I don't think about how lucky I am to have you for my grandson. When you where little, you told me my singing wasn't the greatest. You were honest and courageous. Your warmth and kindness fill my heart. I've always been proud of you. You've grown up to be so special and I'm even prouder now. I know that whatever you do, you'll be a success. I love you so much! To quote a famous song "You are the sunshine of my life."

Congratulations, Grandma

Genesis: Your favorite group, and the beginning of something new. This is truly a new beginning for you at Wesleyan. Although your path will be filled with new, exciting changes, take comfort in the fact that some things remain constant; my love for you, my support in all that's important to you, and my pride in all you've accomplished and the man you have become. As you continue bravely along this new path, remember that I'll always be with you, loving you forever.

Love, Mom

Woof! Woof! Arf!
(Translation: We've grown up together these past 14 years and no dog is luckier than I've been having you by my side, sneaking me treats and protecting me from thunder.) I adore you!
Love,
Scrappy

We're so proud of all that you've accomplished. It's a priviledge to have you as a relative. Amazing things are in store for you. It seems like just yesterday that you were playing with Ghostbusters. (Maybe you still are! Just Kidding!) Best of luck at Wesleyan. We love you!

Good-Bye Class of '07
There are places I'll remember
All my life though some have changed
Some forever not for better
Some have gone and some remain
All these places have their moments
With lovers and friends I still can recall
Some are dead and some are living
In my life I've loved them all...
