REUNION was, as always, a festive, sentimental affair. Alumnae who arrived before Reunion attended the second Alumnae College, made up of four lectures by faculty. An article describing this very successful event appears in this issue. On Friday evening a Faculty-Alumnae sherry and buffet supper helped to set the tone for pleasant memories. An unusual exhibit at the Lyman Allyn Museum was well attended after the supper. On view was an outstanding collection of doll furniture arranged in especially-made doll houses. The collection is a gift of Mrs. Moss Baratz of New London (mother of Frances Baratz McNeil '40 and aunt of Frances Sears Baratz '40). Curator Edgar Mayhew was host to the alumnae.

On Saturday, before class picnics, visits and tours of the changing campus began, alumnae attended the Annual Meeting of the Alumnae Association (highlights of the Meeting are recorded on page 16). Sarah Pithouse Becker '27, our charming and able president, concluded her 3-year term of office, and on July first was succeeded by Elizabeth J. Dutton '47, who brings to the office years of experience as a devoted member of the Association.

The All-Alumnae Banquet had its gay moments and its serious ones. The Class of '37, attending its 25th Reunion, presented Miss Park with $3000, the largest class gift in the history of the College. Skits were amusing, and the 3 recipients of the Agnes Berkeley Leahy Award were not only deserving but unusually photogenic.

Miss Park concluded the Banquet on a serious note in her final talk to the alumnae of Connecticut College. A short account of her talk appears herein. (Miss Park's final statement to the College appears in her "Report of the President 1946-1962," in which she explores issues fundamental to education and to the College).

LOUISE HOLBORN, Professor of Government, has been appointed advisor to the Peace Corps. In a recent conversation she said that the Peace Corps is looking for men and women of all ages. There is particular need for people to teach Spanish and French. "It is important for the alumnae to realize," she stated, "that the Peace Corps is interested in receiving applications from persons who have been out of college for some time and particularly from married couples."

DEAN NOYES commented with pleasure on the number of alumnae out several years who are returning to study or preparing to enter teaching. She remarked that it would be a help to faculty recommending these alumnae if they would send in a few facts about pertinent post-graduation activities when they request recommendations.

THE CLASS OF '62 started what they hope will become a permanent tradition. This past spring each senior contributed to Palmer Library a book in her major field. Books were chosen from a list recommended by faculty members in each department, and every book had a bookplate giving the class year and inscribed by the donor.

IF YOU CARE to refresh your tired mind, you might start on the freshmen summer reading list. Before setting foot on campus, this year's freshmen will have read: John F. Kennedy's To Turn the Tide; B. M. Zeigler's Desegregation and the Supreme Court; James Baldwin's Notes of a Native Son; R. F. Gallagher's Nuremberg, The Third Reich on Trial; H. Gollwitzer's Dying We Live; E. Crankshaw's Khrushchev's Russia; and The Hungarian Revolt, by R. Lettis and W. W. Morris. The theme of the reading centers on The Individual's Responsibility for Good and Evil in his Society. During Freshmen Week, freshmen will be addressed by F. Edward Cranz, Professor of History, and then meet 3 times in small discussion groups. They will also see 4 programs of the visual arts.

Utopias Unlimited

Alumnae College considers promised lands of past and future

By MARCIA BERNSTEIN SIEGEL '54

THE problem of providing a continuing intellectual stimulus to graduates even after they have left the fold is one faced by every American college today. Colleges, a wellspring of intellectual growth for many, are exploring new ways to prime the pump during the dry spells of post-college life.

Connecticut College is meeting this challenge with an expanding program of lectures and discussion specifically designed for alumnae. Several years ago the Alumnae Association, in response to demands from its members, asked the College to develop a program that would make coming back to college more than just a sentimental journey. With the blessings of Miss Park, a faculty-alumnae committee worked out the reunion lectures which were held for a few years prior to 1961. That year Alumnae College, expanded and rescheduled, became a separate event. In 1962 Alumnae College brought together about 50 alumnae for a full day and evening of classes before the start of reunion.

The theme was "Utopias: Dreams, Problems, Realities," and the participants considered literature, technology and modern world problems in relation to the Utopian concept. The alumnae were thoughtful, surprised, even indignant; they were stimulated. And the discussions overflowed from the Hale Laboratory lecture hall into the coffee breaks and lunch, swirled about groups gathering for supper, and bubbled up again as the "students" met at the alumnae banquet Saturday night.

"Utopia or Else," Alumnae Warned

To open the series Thursday night Assistant Professor of English Peter J. Seng spoke on the topic, "Utopia or Else." Dr. Seng traced the Utopian idea throughout history as a subject of man's thought. "Utopia," he said, "stands for the impossible, the impracticable and the hopelessly idealistic." Of all the Utopian conceptions in history, he said, the Garden of Eden was the only one fully realized, because men have always preferred to take their chances with the existing scheme of things rather than construct a new form of society. Utopian concepts from the Promised Land to the League of Nations have captured man's imagination, personified his protest, but outdistanced attainment.

However, Mr. Seng warned, modern technology has given us the means not only to revolutionize men's thought but to end it. For this reason society must find a new Utopia, a new way of dealing with its problems.

He pointed out that we must learn to see all news events as one story, not as separate stories. The rising nations of Africa and the segregation problem in the South are not two stories but one, he stated, and they in turn are related to the O. A. S. terrorism in Algeria, and to Hitler's campaign to exterminate the Jews during World War II. "We need to end our insufferable national moral rectitude, which assumes no way of life is as good as our own," Mr. Seng said.

He said the main problem of the world is economic, the problem of the Haves and the Have Nots. He said a solution to the economic problem would pave the way for easing of the three related problems of nationalism, racism and war.

In the discussion period which followed the introductory session there was concern for the emergence of the African nations, for the unrest in South America, for the future of the U. N., and for the growing complexity and interrelatedness of economics and politics. Is the student today aware enough, and idealistic enough, to begin to create the modern Utopia? There is an increase in political activity of all persuasions on campus, Mr. Seng said, and those present recalled their own student days — periods of radical agitation, and also of isolation.

Literary Forms and Science Fiction

"19th Century Idealism vs. 20th Century Realism" and "Science, Fiction and the Future" were the titles of Friday morning's sessions, led by the Dean of the College and Professor of English Gertrude E. Noyes, and Professor of Chemistry Oliver L. Brown.

Miss Noyes discussed Utopia as a literary form. She said it is associated with the novel, the essay and the literature of travel, but, because its purposes are different, it differs from each of these. Utopias have an especially close relationship to satire, the Dean said. Because they detach the mind from physical reality by creating an imaginary setting, Utopias can encourage critical judgments while proposing idealistic alternatives to the existing social structure.

In a review of the books assigned as advance reading for Alumnae College Miss Noyes said the Utopias of the late 19th century, such as Edward Bellamy's Looking Backward and Samuel Butler's Erewhon, were critical of the faults that were growing out of the Industrial Revolution, but they were hopeful that these faults could be remedied. H. G. Wells, in his Modern Utopia, represented the transition from the 19th to the 20th century. Modern Utopias are really satires in Utopian form, the Dean said. Such stories as Huxley's Brave New World and George Orwell's 1984 are really anti-Utopias in the sense that they represent a future highly-developed world, but not necessarily an ideal one. They reflect the authors' alarm at the conflicting ideologies of the modern world.

Mr. Brown noted that science fiction differs from Utopian literature in that it does not make value judgments. Science fiction, he said, does not criticize the prevailing social order, as Utopias do. Science fiction takes one aspect or trend, such as the expanding population or the growth of automation, and develops that idea until it possesses the whole society.

Most science fiction, Mr. Brown said, presupposes that the future will be characterized by a highly-organized world government which will produce general peace and justice.

Africa: Confused Child of Colonialism

In the final lecture, Professor of Government and Department Chairman Marjorie R. Dilley described "African Politics," based on her experiences as a member of the faculty at Makerere College in Uganda in 1958. Miss Dilley returned to Africa this summer under the auspices of the State Department for another year at Makerere.

She told the alumnae Americans must realize that almost no generalizations about Africa are possible because of its diversity. "We must give up our prejudices," she said. "We cannot assume that Africans are intellectually inferior. But neither can we assume the 'inverse prejudice,' that if the Europeans had not intervened in Africa, superior civilizations would have developed there in time."

Miss Dilley said Africa's problems arise from remnants of colonial rule that are difficult to undo. The dual mandate system, under which the British created native chiefs to share rule with them, has resulted in a group of Africans favored in education, wealth and influence. These chiefs are resented by other Africans, who now oppose indirect rule. Africans are collectivist minded, Miss Dilley said, but their concept of collectivism is "communitarian" rather than communistic. Their political ideas are eclectic, being drawn from American, British and French concepts as well as from communistic ones.

African politics represents a combination of two attitudes, Miss Dilley said: the desire to act independently of the former colonial rulers, and the need to depend on those same European interests for economic and cultural guidance.

As the women left the final session of Alumnae College to join their classmates in reunion festivities, there was a seriousness on the faces under the funny hats. There were new books to read, new ideas to mull over. Through discussion with their teachers and with other educated women, old problems took on a new significance. One felt the vitality of Alumnae College was not ended: that it produced a concern that was to flow out to other communities and enrich a new stream of students.

"Rosemary, that's for Remembrance"

A RESOLUTION

with an introduction by ELIZABETH J. DUTTON '47
President of the Alumnae Association

THE All-Alumnae Banquet at this year's Reunion was a farewell party in honor of Miss Park. It was no easy task for the eight reuning classes to express the thanks and affection of all the classes from 1919 to 1962, but those eight classes undertook the task and accomplished it with warmth and wit.

There was hilarity in the class skits, especially in the Class of 1937's, which reminded Miss Park that they were the ones who had first taken her in hand when she was a very young housefellow. There was affection in the honorary W.L.P. degree (Well Loved President), bestowed upon her by Sally Pithouse Becker '27, President of the Alumnae Association. There was awareness of the contributions, both tangible and intangible, which she has made to Connecticut College in the Resolution which appears below and which was read to her by Roberta Newton Blanchard '21. There was, finally, an expression of all that could not be otherwise expressed in the singing of "Our Hearts and Hands."

Miss Park's own remarks on that evening are reported in this issue. Those of us who were there to hear her felt, as I think you will feel, that by her urging us to devote our energies to the support of the private liberal arts college, she showed us the way in which we may continue to say thank you to her over the coming years.

HEREWITH, a resolution to be spread upon the minutes of the annual meeting of the executive board of the Connecticut College Alumnae Association, that honor may be tendered with affection and thanks, to its most distinguished member, honoris causa, Rosemary Park.

In twenty-seven years, roots reach deep, and very deep indeed when the years have been dynamic growth ones for the students, for this College, and for one in whose hands this growth took place.

Rosemary Park is going away, and as with a fine tree to be transplanted, the small feeder roots are clipped a year ahead so that tree and root system may learn to live apart, so she last fall clipped the deep-laid filaments of habit of life on a windy hill when she told us for growth's sake, both for this College and for herself, she would go to Barnard College in New York.

But all the roots are never clipped away and on this campus there will always be "Rosemary, that's for remembrance."

Decades from now if some man from outer space should find this resolution, he might say, "Who was this member of the Connecticut College Alumnae Association, honoris causa, so great that no words of rank, degree, or achievement appear to say why she is so honored?" For the hypothetical man from Mars, then, not for her fellow alumnae, who know her deeds and honors well, we say: Be it resolved that since September 1946 when she became President of Connecticut College, Rosemary Park, has, to quote a large New York daily newspaper, "given Connecticut College its best days, increasing its educational value by enlarging the plant and revitalizing the curriculum."

AND so this day in June 1962, we, the members of the Connecticut College Alumnae Association, place on record the unique contributions she has made to this College; first her brilliance as a scholar has set the theme of what is most important in a liberal arts college for women, fine scholarship.

Second, the building of a faculty second to none in quality by her devoted attention to this area of her job.

Third, her extra curricular gift of persuasion in the field of finance. She has convinced the American business man that it does not remove the bloom from the peach to educate the American girl. For the Connecticut College 50th Anniversary Fund, friends, business firms, and alumnae put $3,100,000 in her "little tin cup."

She achieved this goal with a direct simplicity and charm of manner, the same for the director of the Ford Foundation as for a freshman student or a returning alumna.

We commend her for her honors which have reflected glory on this College, as well as herself. She has received while with us, ten honorary degrees: Doctor of Laws, Doctor of Letters, and Doctor of Humane Letters. From Wesleyan University in 1948, Mt. Holyoke College 1955, Trinity 1952, Douglass College 1956, Wheaton College 1954, Yale University 1958, and in June 1962 she has been honored with the Doctor of Laws degree from Brown University, the University of Bridgeport, New York University, and Columbia University. In 1961, her own alma mater gave her the Radcliffe Graduate Chapter Medal for distinguished achievement.

Her contributions to education in every field have been humanitarian and brilliant. We, the members of this Association, thank her and wish her well.

Skits, a feature of the all-alumnae banquet, are a vehicle for the presentation of class gifts to the College. Some classes revived songs of their college days; others reminded the audience, in original poetry and prose, of their perpetual youth and their devotion to CC.

Miss Park Gives Final Talk to Alumnae

By MARCIA BERNSTEIN SIEGEL '54

PRESIDENT Rosemary Park sounded a sober note as she said farewell to the alumnae at the Banquet which climaxed the Reunion Weekend. Miss Park said colleges such as Connecticut have a vital role to fill in the preservation of freedom, and that they are in danger of not being able to fill that role.

Colleges are in danger, she said, because of a lack of qualified teachers and because of the nation's growing attention to scientific achievement at the expense of the liberal arts.

The president compared the college to a country. "Both institutions," she said, "give you something you can never pay back. A country gives the form of freedom and democracy, and the college must fill that form with meaning." She said that in modern times man has been increasingly concerned with how to use his freedom. She said the liberal arts college has a duty to provide its students with a sensitivity to the historical procession of the human race, with an awareness of their involvement in the present, and with a sense of the ultimate.

"Beautiful as this College may be, and filled with tender memories for you, it is not a cozy, lovely playground," Miss Park said. "It is part of the attempt of the Western World to stay free. We are not trivial, we are essential, and because we are essential, we have a claim on your loyalty."

In recalling the changes in the College during her 15-year tenure Miss Park noted the growth of the physical plant of the campus, the increased enrollment, the retirement of important members of the faculty and staff, and the change from a five-course to a four-course curriculum. A more intangible change, but an essential one, the president said, is the role of the federal and state government in financing of research and building projects.

"There is concern with the degree of federal penetration into the colleges," she said, "but we must have confidence that federal participation will not lead to control." She said federal aid must be combined with private philanthropy if the colleges are to continue to meet their responsibilities in the fields of fundamental research and education for larger numbers of students.

THE AGNES BERKELEY LEAHY AWARDS

ROBERTA NEWTON BLANCHARD, Class of 1921; who for forty-one years has served the Alumnae Association in numerous capacities; as Boston Club President and class officer, as Association President, and as Alumnae Trustee; still shares with all members her creative talent, flair for the dramatic, wit and charm, while carrying out her alumnae activities with effective ease and assurance.

EMILY WARNER, Class of 1925; as President of the Alumnae Association, Alumnae Trustee, Chairman of the Finance Committee, organizer of the Rochester Club, active club worker in New York and Cleveland, and class president; has brought to all her many offices good judgment, wise counsel and great administrative competence — qualities which continue to strengthen and benefit our Alumnae Association.

ELEANOR JONES HEILMAN, Class of 1933; having shared her perceptive knowledge of education in all phases of alumnae responsibility as Association President, Alumnae Trustee, Philadelphia Club President, and class officer, continues as an alumnae representative to aid the Admissions Office through scholarship screening, and to serve as a wise, capable and understanding club leader.

Three Retirements

THREE retirements were announced by the Board of Trustees in May: Dr. F. Dorothy Bethurum, Lucretia Allyn Professor of English and chairman of the department for 21 years, Dr. Lilian Warnshuis, College resident physician, and Sarah R. Jones, instructor in zoology.

Students for 22 years have been grateful for the privilege of having studied with Miss Bethurum, a brilliant teacher and a distinguished scholar. This fall she will be doing research abroad on the philosophical sources of Chaucer's treatment of nature and love. She has received a grant from the American Council of Learned Societies and will travel to Oxford, London, Paris, Florence and Rome. In 1963 she will become a Teaching Scholar at the College.

Dr. Warnshuis, for whom the Infirmary has been named, will continue to live in New London. Her plans include travel, relaxation and writing.

Mrs. Jones, who came to the College in 1937, will continue as a Teaching Assistant in the zoology department.

The statements below and on the following page were written by friends and colleagues of these three ladies.

"WHEN Miss Bethurum came to Connecticut College as chairman in 1940, she was faced by a challenge of unenviable proportions: it was her lot to follow in the footsteps of John Edwin Wells, a scholar of the old school, redoubtable and authoritarian, an expert and indefatigable historian of literature. She made it her task to reshape our English offerings in line with a revolution which was taking place at that time and which radically shifted the balance from the historical to the critical approach to literature. This she was able to do superbly, for, besides being a most able administrator, she is a combination of perceptive and sensitive critic and thoroughly grounded historian, as her recent brilliant critical articles on Chaucer and her definitive edition of Wulfstan respectively make very clear. Thus while the department under her direction adjusted to an era of criticism — and more than merely adjusted, too; it marched steadily forward — it did not go to the extreme of renouncing its heritage of historical scholarship.

"Alumnae who have studied under Miss Bethurum or know her otherwise will not need to be told that she is an exciting person intellectually and a delightful and charming friend. To her students she has always been a sort of goddess, but a most approachable one. And she has always been the focus of a department that has lots of fun together."

H. M. SMYER
Professor of English

DOROTHY BETHURUM

DR. LILIAN WARNSHUIS

"DR. Warnshuis' Scottish birth and education, her graduate study in Germany, her teaching and administrative work during fifteen years in India, and — after her marriage to "Dr. John" — in New York City, have given her both wide professional experience and sympathetic insight into the problems that assail body and soul. When Dr. Lilian came to Connecticut College in 1949 it was immediately apparent that, for her, the Hippocratic oath was ever in mind. The patient was paramount. No patient was a type; each was individual, and troubled. This trouble, whatever its source, must be discovered and aided. Sympathy was even more efficacious than penicillin, although the best in wonder drugs was never lacking, when they were essential. For every student Dr. Warnshuis was both confidante and counsellor; faculty, administration, employees likewise carried their worries to her as well as their bursitis and those odd symptoms which for her held no mystery. How often have we heard her reassuring: "I know just what you mean; I've had it myself. It's unpleasant, but you needn't worry." And we didn't. If Dr. Warnshuis promised that the ailment would continue to be "unpleasant," we braced ourselves with suddenly discovered courage; if she said we need not worry, then everything was under control. She KNEW! — and we knew that she would be quick to provide the best remedy for recovery.

"As she leaves the Infirmary named for her, we shall remember this warm understanding of our woes; the bracing quality of her expectation that we would face reality with dignity; the quiet flashes of humor enlivening each office visit; the equally quiet acceptance of her own illnesses and accidents; the total lack of fuss and strain. Her foresight in averting epidemics when other colleges were cancelling classes and quarantining dormitories, her calmness and sense of proportion in a crisis, her justice tempered with mercy for the malingering — these qualities will always distinguish Dr. Warnshuis for us at CC. Most of all we admire and love her for her dedicated spirit. She came to the College "not to be ministered unto but to minister," and her example has awakened many to the rich joys of selfless service. We give thanks for her years among us, and we rejoice in the thought of friendship with her in the years to come."

CATHERINE OAKES
Principal, Williams Memorial Institute

"THIS June Sarah R. Jones completed twenty-five years of loyal and devoted service to Connecticut College and the department of zoology. Born in Delaware, Mrs. Jones received her B.A. in physiology at Goucher. After her graduation, she assisted the famous Dr. Carrell with his tissue culture for two years before marrying and going to India for five years. With her husband, Edward M. Jones, she then came to Mystic, where she was active in civic affairs, organizing the first Girl Scout troops there and taking part in P.T.A. and D.A.R. affairs. She has been treasurer of the latter group ever since.

In 1937 she joined the faculty of the College working during the summers for her M.A. at Boston University with Dr. Lutz in investigation of factors producing inflammation. While her special liking has been physiology, in which she assisted Miss Botsford for many years, she has also been associated with the introductory course from the start. In this connection she has broadened her interests to include marine ecology as well as other areas of general zoology. We are glad that she will still be with us for the coming year."

A New Spirit in Clubs

By ELEANOR HINE KRANZ '34
Director of Club Relations

THERE is a fresh new spirit permeating our clubs, a renewed interest in matters intellectual. Speakers, panels and forums are becoming the order of the day, adding to the usual fare of general social activities. Fun continues to be the catalyst for alumnae groups, but when the fun is seasoned with the spice of thought, the results are greater interest and satisfaction.

It would be our guess that alumnae received their biggest boost when Alumnae Council weekend was inaugurated. The return to the scene of remembered youth, fun and study, the mental stimulus of discussions of common problems with others from geographically distant points, the garnering of fresh ideas to take home and present as a gift to those who stayed behind, and the welcome vacation from the mundane world — all of these have produced a new feeling that the alumna-alma mater relationship is a two-way street, that the College has much to offer the alumna in return for her devoted support.

Although clubs near to home base are naturally better able to call upon members of the faculty, distance need not prevent the participation of far-away clubs in intellectual programs. Local talent in the field of education may be used, or meetings may be built around the discussion of books suggested by reading lists published in the Alumnae News. Furthermore, alumnae returning to campus for reunion may attend Alumnae College, now a full-fledged and important addition to reunion events. Clubs engaged in consulting with secondary school guidance counsellors also find themselves stewing in the nation-wide ferment in education. All of these activities provide the alumna with food for thought and help to present the College to local communities in a most favorable light.

The Alumnae Association now has 37 clubs. Most of them, quite naturally, are concentrated in the East, but the Middle West and the Far West are strongly represented. These latter clubs are exceedingly important as they add to the national stature of our College. (We hope the gals in the South are reading us and will decide to take appropriate action!)

Westchester Club Forum — Richard Lovitt, Associate Professor of History (left), and Marvin Harder, Associate Professor of Government, were speakers at a Forum sponsored by the CC Club of Westchester in April. The Forum, titled "A Recent Look at American History," was attended by many alumnae in the area. Janet Kellock Dowling '52, vice president and program chairman of the club, introduced the speakers and moderated the question period.

Hear ye once again the basic reasons for forming alumnae clubs:

1. To foster good public relations
2. To establish close relationships with local secondary schools
3. To channel news of developments at the College
4. To raise funds for the College (after paying for club maintenance and for sending a representative to Alumnae Council)

As few as ten alumnae may organize an area. A club may hold as few as two meetings annually. The rewards are great in terms of fun, fellowship, intellectual stimulation and the real satisfaction that always comes from helping a good cause.

"Loyalty to CC,
Faith, friendship and love."

Annual Meeting of the Alumnae Association

By MARION WARREN RANKIN '35, Secretary

SARAH Pithouse Becker '27, President, extended a warm welcome to alumnae at the Annual Meeting of the Alumnae Association, Saturday morning, June 16, 1962 at 10:00 a.m. in Palmer Auditorium. The Class of 1937, celebrating its 25th Reunion, was asked to rise while alumnae applauded.

The Budget of the Association for 1962-1963 of $46,800 was accepted by the assembly as presented by Priscilla Pasco '39, Chairman of the Finance Committee.

Winifred Nies Northcott '38, Scholarship Chairman, proudly announced that the Alumnae Scholarship would be awarded in a novel way. Diana and Jacqueline Hall, twin daughters of Constance Smith Hall '43 and incoming Freshmen are to share the Scholarship. "Double the quantity and two for the price of one," she said.

The Reunion Chairman, Jane Griswold Holmes '33, reported 42 participants at Alumnae College and a total registration of 265. 1943 proved to be the banner class in attendance.

Eleanor Hine Kranz '34, Chairman of Club Relations, quoted the words of her predecessor, Virginia Eggleson Smith '24, to her last June: "You have the best job of all." The following excerpts show the scope of her job.

The Alumnae Association now has 37 clubs from coast to coast. This points up the national significance of the College. The Peninsula Club in the San Francisco area has just recently been granted a charter; the Akron Club has been reactivated; a new charter was granted to the Princeton, New Jersey, Club on June 14; a club is in the process of formation in Birmingham, Michigan.

Eleanor stated that one area seriously lacking in club representation is the South. She said: "If any of you come from areas such as Florida, the Carolinas, Louisiana or Texas, or any area which might be able to produce ten or more alumnae within visiting distance of each other, for goodness' sake, amalgamate. I hope all of you who haven't will join your local club, and those of you who have, will do all you can to keep your clubs lively, interesting and intellectually satisfying."

The Alumnae Fund Chairman, who is also Chairman of Class Agents, Charlotte Frisch Garlock '25, reported an exciting and challenging year. "This has been a year of transition from the 3-year Capital Funds Drive to the resumption of our Alumnae Annual Giving Program in cooperation with the College. The task of organizing 815 alumnae agents within 43 classes across the country has been a tremendous undertaking. To date, we have raised $44,000. This is by no means a final figure." She expressed her gratitude to all those who bore responsibility for this program. In concluding she stated that an evaluation would be made of the project with the hope that the experience gained this year will result in a more effective job in the future.

Janet M. Paine '27, Senior Trustee, mentioned three important happenings of the past year. First, the change in curricular requirements from five to four courses; secondly, the reestablishment of the Alumnae Annual Giving Program in cooperation with the College; and last, but certainly not least, the appointment of Dr. Charles E. Shain as President of Connecticut College. Three alumnae served on the Selection Committee: Sally Becker, Charlotte Keefe Durham '19, and Janet Paine.

The results of the 1962 elections were announced by Frances Brooks Foster '30, Chairman of the Nominating Committee:

President: Elizabeth J. Dutton '47

Secretary: Roldah Northup Cameron '51

Director from the 20's: Janet Boomer Barnard '29

Director from the 50's: Mary Ann Woodard Thompson '50

She announced that the following offices are to be filled in 1963: First Vice-President, Director from the 40's and Chairman of the Nominating Committee. She urged alumnae to send suggestions to her for next year's slate which will be considered by the Nominating Committee.

President Sally Becker then revealed her busy schedule this last year of her term of office. She has presided at five Executive Board Meetings and attended many other committee meetings, such as Reunion Chairmen, Class Agents, Finance, Trustee-Alumnae Development. She has had the pleasure of extending Association greetings at the 50th Anniversary Celebration, also of presiding at the Senior-Alumnae Dinner, Alumnae Council, Alumnae Day, and Alumnae Reunion programs.

She said that it was an honor to serve as a member of the Selection Committee for the appointment of a new President. She was happy to have been able to attend the All-College Assembly when Dr. Shain's appointment was announced and he was presented to the College community.

She spoke to the Connecticut College Clubs of Hartford, Central New Jersey and Philadelphia and attended a morning coffee in Princeton.

In expressing her appreciation of a job well done to the retiring members of the Executive Board: Marion Warren Rankin '35, Secretary; Susan Chittenden Cuninghame '27, Director from the 20's; Alice Hess Crowell '50, Director from the 50's; Charlotte Frisch Garlock '25, Alumnae Fund Chairman, she also gave a sincere thank you for the entire Board's co-operation and excellent contribution to the Association and the College. Work beyond the call of duty was performed by the office staff: Sadie Coit Benjamin '19, Controller; Amy Stiles, Secretary, and our Executive Secretary, Charlotte Crane '25, who gave her effective leadership and outstanding performance.

She affirmed her utmost confidence in the ability, integrity and willingness to accept responsibility of her successor, Elizabeth Dutton.

"These have been a very happy and rewarding three years, especially so because of the many capable alumnae who have given of their time and talents on a volunteer basis — all cooperating and working together for the best interest of this, our College."

The concluding report was made by Charlotte Beckwith Crane, Executive Secretary, who said: "Because of the efficiency of the President and the members of the Board, my report will be brief." She thanked the members of the Alumnae Office Staff for their efficient work during the year. The usual functions of the office have been carried on: keeping the records of names and addresses up to date, many services to clubs and classes, implementing the programs for special alumnae events on campus, acting as liaison between the Association and the Faculty and Administration, helping to work out the new Class Agent system, to name but a few.

As the Alumnae Association continues to grow in numbers, the volume of work in the Alumnae Office increases. It is estimated that approximately 225,000 pieces of mail, from one to forty pages, will have been processed in the Alumnae Office from July 1, 1961 to June 30, 1962.

"The reward for all this comes at Reunion time when the names and statistics we work with all year are transformed into real and wonderful people."

The Annual Meeting concluded with the motion by Jane Holmes that a rising vote of thanks be extended to Sally Becker for the outstanding job she has done as President.

The Trustees' Corner

By MARY FOULKE MORRISON
Secretary of the Board

THE Board accomplished a great deal at the May meeting, as the work of the Executive Committee had to be handled at the same time. We passed a memorial minute for F. Valentine Chappell, second chairman of the Board of Trustees (1914-20) and a member of the Board of Trustees from the beginning until ill health forced his retirement two years ago.

We accepted the resignations of some of our administrative staff: Mr. Wheeler, Superintendent of Grounds, Mr. Chapman and Mrs. Vail, who have been with us a long time (Mr. Wheeler came to the College in 1917); arranged for the building and other work to be done this summer, including waterproofing and repairs for the Auditorium and Fanning, remodelling North Cottage for faculty housing, an addition to the Nursery School and the installation of the telescope on Bill Hall — this last made possible by a gift from a Trustee.

We voted to sell part of the Williams St. land to New London for a housing project and use the proceeds for the renovation of the Quadrangle dormitories and Thames Hall, the last for the use of the English Department.

We also set up the Morton F. Plant professorship (not yet decided whether in history or fine arts) in recognition of his distinguished services to the College and of the continuing generosity of his family.

Miss Park reported that we expect 1139 resident students in 1962-63, plus 38 in Emily Abbey and Vinal (originally a co-op dormitory) and 35 day and graduate students. Total: 1212 plus special students.

Following a suggestion of Miss

Park's that the Trustees examine all aspects of co-education and women's education in general, the chairman and the president were authorized to appoint a small committee to explore the "breadth, depth and future of women's education" and report in a year's time.

We set up the Rosemary Park professorship to be assigned by the Trustees and to be awarded to a faculty member in any field of the liberal arts. First recipient: Mr. F. Edward Cranz, Professor of History.

The final business was the appointment of an interim committee, Miss Eastburn, Dean Noyes and Mrs. Morrison, for the period between Miss Park's departure on July 31 and President Shain's arrival on August 20, to handle all matters which cannot wait the arrival of Mr. Shain.

We finished just in time for the Assembly in honor of (and a surprise to) Miss Park. It was planned and handled beautifully by the students.

CLASS NOTES

Editor of Class Notes:

Mrs. Huber Clark (Marion Vibert '24)
East Main Street, Stockbridge, Mass.

1919

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. Enos B. Comstock (Juline Warner), 176 Highwood Ave., Leonia, N. J.

National honors have come to Alison Hastings Thomson, now of Melbourne Beach, Florida, for two of her poems which placed among the top ten in the 1961 national American Association of University Women writing project. "Sea Wrack" and "Panther" were among the 159 submitted by members throughout the country studied and judged by the Decatur, Illinois, branch and by professional critic Leonie Adams. Alison, co-chairman of the Creative Study Group of the local AAUW, was formerly president of the Hartford, Connecticut, Poetry Club, and poetry editor of the literary magazine, "Serendipity," edited by Ruth Avery French's husband Hollis. The story of the award appeared in the April 20 issue of the Melbourne Times.

Margaret Mitchell Goodrich writes from her home in Portland that husband Howard is with the Department of Agriculture with headquarters at Storrs. Her son Herbert's two children are Doug, a junior in high school, and Kathy, in eighth grade. Bob's two little girls are Debbie, nine, and Cindy, five.

My sister Marion (Hovey), who was here recently on vacation from the U. S. Bureau of Mines in Salt Lake City, had a pleasant surprise last winter, when Florence Sneveley Blossom, of the early CC physical education staff, visited with her. Mrs. Blossom, driving to the Coast, wrote later of her delight in the Oregon shore, the changes in San Francisco, which she had known as a child, and her pleasant surprise to find she liked L. A. better than she had thought she would. After leisurely sightseeing and visiting, she drove back to her home in Anna Maria, Florida, where she lives alone since her husband's death. She is much interested to hear about CC friends.

Retirement from the Leonia public school system this June has added many pleasant social surprises to the last days of school. I shall continue to live at the same address, and plan to be very busy catching up with some extras that have awaited a bit of leisure!

To leave the sad news to the last — Helen Gough, CC's first orthodontist, passed away in Florida soon after we had heard word of her improvement. After graduating from CC, Helen did her graduate work at Columbia, and worked for many years with her father, one of the pioneers in the field of orthodontistry, in Brooklyn. After retiring from the profession, Helen lived for a while in Pennsylvania before moving to Florida, where she made her home for the past several years.

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. Daniel Pease (Emma Wippert), 593 Farmington Avenue, Hartford 5, Conn.

Harriet Allen L'Orsa is making a prolonged visit with her brother and his wife, Martha Houston, in Charleston, S. C. One of her sons spent Christmas with her.

Leah Pick Silber reports: "I've had no desire to seek warmer climes, but am beginning to dream of a summer in my beloved Aspen (Colorado) and am convinced there is no place quite like it anywhere in the world. There are no '20 classmates living in Chicago . . . The Alumnae meeting which I always attend is the luncheon and guided tour of an outstanding exhibit at the Art Institute. . . My daughter married a St. Paul man and I have two precious grandchildren. These youngsters are a real compensation for growing old."

Last week I spent several pleasant hours with Ruth Avery French '19 in town for a visit with her father and sister, Helen Avery Bailey. When she returned to Grantham, N. H., she found that the roof of the old Community House, part of the French property, had collapsed under the heavy weight of a new snowstorm. Expert gardener Ruth is already planning her campaign for the short summer growing season.

Dorothea Marvin Detweiler, Miff Howard, and Betty Rumney Poteat were all abroad last summer at the same time. Dot writes: "My brother and his wife asked me to go with them for three months when they went to England to see their son get his Ph.D. Nephew Hank attended the University of London for three years and now came the time when the Queen Mother was going to shake his hand and present him with his degree. The exercises were in Albert Hall and very impressive. . . Det and I and our German Shepherd comprise our family. My son, Det Jr., lives at Rolling Hills 20 miles away with his family, 2 boys and a pair of twins, boy and girl. Our daughter lives at Palos Verdes Estates, about the same distance, with her family, a boy and a girl. It is so nice to have them within driving distance. . . On Thursday Hazel Woodhull Cline is coming over for lunch. I believe last summer she saw Dot Quintard Mix at Menlo Park."

Over the phone Elizabeth Williams said that she had not gone away this winter and had done nothing of especial interest lately.

From Helen Gage Carter: "I wish I could report something exciting from me. However, my days are filled with interest and never boredom. Through a friend I had news of Clarissa Ragsdale Harrison, who is now director of Grove House in Coconut Grove, Fla. Last winter while my sister and her husband were in Florida I managed their Antiques Shop in Mentor, Ohio. It's a fascinating business. I hope to spend a little time in the East this summer or fall."

Fanchon Hartman Title and her husband took off last winter for an exciting 2-month trip to South Africa. "At Trieste we boarded the Europa, stopping off at Venice, Brindisi and Aden. . . A stop at Beira, Mozambique; three more weeks asea; and we reached Durban. . . We flew back to Athens, a contrast with its antiquity. In Israel we saw changes since our last trip in 1955. . . In Vienna we heard the Vienna Choir boys, visited the Spanish Riding School and toured old palaces. Our last stop was London, where for the first time we had rainy windy weather."

Mary Brader Siegel lost her mother last November and has since moved to more compact quarters. Her son Charles has two boys and a girl and she thinks that she has done a good job of spoiling them. At this time Brader is visiting Edith Lindholm Baldwin.

The CC College Club of Hartford had its annual meeting on May 15 and about 50 of us listened to an interesting talk by Mr. Richard Birdsall, with the result that we wished that we might be able to attend his history classes.

I was privileged to be invited to a wonderful CC dinner party at the beautiful hillside home of the Baldwins to honor visiting Mary Brader Siegel. "Miff" drove down from South Hadley. Other "reunion" guests were Laura Batchelder Sharp, Jessie Williams Buck, Dora Schwartz Gross, Fanchon Hartman Title and Marj Viets Windsor.

1921

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. Ruth Bassett (Ruth McCollum), 8 Lupine Rd., Danvers, Mass.

Our president, Olive Littlehales Corbin, who attended Alumnae Council weekend and enjoyed it very much, urges us to plan now on attending reunion in '63. Her life at home goes on about as usual with visits to her daughter Susan and family in Hyattsville, Md., and to son Al wherever he is acting. She and husband Emory were just back from Princeton where Al had had a fall and winter season at the McCarter Theatre with a group out of New York. For the moment Emory's and her theatrical activities have simmered down to back stage duties, with Emory looking after the box office and Olive doing makeup and acting on the board of directors for the New Britain Repertory Theatre.

I had a pleasant phone chat with Mary Agostini Bruni, who lives in Ipswich, Mass. She and her husband had just returned from a winter trailer trip to Florida. She has seven children and eight grandchildren.

My sister, Ella Vabltich, is listed in "Who's Who of American Women." Her husband, though now retired, spent ten weeks in the Far East, including India, Hong Kong, Siam and Japan, doing consulting work for Corn Products Co.

An editorial, "A Good Word for the Young," praises our Catherine Cone Ford, retired from Valley Regional School, Essex. Cash has been teaching teenagers for 35 years, and thinks that they are just as fine, just as nice, as they ever were, with the same ambitions, the same difficulties, the same enthusiasms. She is referred to as the ideal teacher, whose concern has always been the children she was teaching. Helen Rich Baldwin still lives in Washington, D. C. Marion Adams Taylor and husband spent a Sunday with them.

CO-CORRESPONDENTS: Mrs. David H. Yale (Amy Peck), 579 Yale Ave., Meriden, Conn.

Marjorie E. Smith, 181 Irving Ave., Providence 6, R. I.

On Saturday, June 16, 1962, our fortieth reunion, 15 members of our class gathered at Augusta O'Sullivan's home for lunch and class meeting. Lucy McDannel came from New Jersey for the meeting, as also did Mollie Kenig Silversmith and Gladys Smith Packard from Hartford. Ruth Bacon Wickwire arrived for the banquet in the evening. The rest of us had rooms together in Larrabee House.

Marje Smith and Amy Peck Yale came Thursday to attend the Alumnae College, and Helen Merrill and Dorothy Wheeler Pietrallo were at class to meet us Friday morning.

Our class gift, presented following a short skit written by Gertrude Traurig at the Alumnae Banquet (submarine, eh Gert) was made up of gifts from 70% of our members.

Ruth Bacon Wickwire and Gertrude Avery Kroul came the farthest distance. Ruth and Grant drove from Indiana and Gertrude had a 23-hour bus ride. Letters were read at luncheon from Claudine Smith Hane, Mildred Duncan, Virginia Lamprey Stoddard (grandmother of seven, four girls among them), Blanche Finley (in Paris at reunion time), M. P. Taylor Beadle in England and Helen Peale Sumner in Europe.

Class officers are now: President, Helen Merrill; Vice-president, Helen Traurig;

Secretary, Augusta O'Sullivan; Treasurer, Dorothy Wheeler Pietrallo. As to some vital statistics, we (the class) have 29 children and 52 grandchildren and one great-grandchild. We have lost by death 13 members. Alica Hagar Schoffstatt's mother died in May; Marje Wells Lybolt's husband died in January, and Helen Clarke McIntosh's husband died early this year. Our sympathy goes out to them.

Elizabeth Merrill Blake's daughter Sally is in the Waves and will be stationed at the Naval Air Station in Brunswick, Maine, for 2 years. Liz's son's family was enlarged on Feb. 4 by the arrival of Philip Merrill Blake, Jr.

Our Chairman of Fund Agents is still Amy Peck Yale, and the correspondents are the same. Have a good summer.

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. Kenneth K. Kinney (Claire Calnen), Mansfield Center, Conn.

Ethel Kane Fielding and her husband Walker visited Florida this winter, spending most of the time in Venice. They flew via seaplane to Cabbage Key, a small island off Fort Myers. Julia Warner had the misfortune to break her arm this winter and had to wear a plaster cast for 9 weeks. However, well recovered, she was able to enjoy spring vacation at Hot Springs, Va. Emily Slaymaker Leith-Ross will be in England with her husband visiting his brother at reunion time. Later they plan to go to Holland, where Tony plans to do some painting. In April Claire Calnen Kinney spent some time visiting friends in the Blue Grass area of Kentucky.

The class is saddened by the death of Christine Pickett Keleher after a lengthy illness. Our deepest sympathy goes to her husband and daughter.

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. Edmund J. Bernard (Mary Auwood), Tres Palmas 9, 312 So. Orange Ave., Scottsdale, Ariz.

Marie Barker Williams shares an annual Christmas newsletter with us. Mullie's father and mother were both doctors. "Grandpa Doc," her father, Dr. Ralph H. Barker of Derry, N. H. (now known as SPACETOWN, USA), had the honor of giving America's first astronaut, Alan Shephard, his first assist into outer space when he officiated at Alan's birth. Mullie went to school with his parents. Bark, her mother, at 88 still has the same sharp wit and sense of humor and still tends her patients in Derry. About Mullie's husband, 7 sons, 8 grandsons and 6 granddaughters, the letter says: "This Christmas finds most of the family at the same old stand, with few changes since last year. . . Since Bruce left for college in September, the greatest change for Lowell and me is in having only the two of us at home. After 35 years of having children in the household it seems mighty quiet. To help liven things up a bit Barbara let us borrow Mark for a few weeks while she was practice teaching towards her M. A. degree."

1926

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. Clarence J. Goodwillie (Mildred Dorman), 490 N. Gulfview Blvd., Clearwater Beach, Fla.

Polly Warner was married to Walter S. Root in New York in early November. "Upon marriage," writes Polly, "I became an instant grandmother. This is a new and valued experience."

Grace Parker Schumpert's daughter, Carol Lee, Wisconsin '59, and Lyda Chatfield Sudduth's son, George, Williams '59, were married recently.

Peg Durkee McCarthy and Helen Hood Diefendorf played in the Women's State Senior Golf Tournament in Naples, Florida.

From Babs Brooks Bixby: "Imo Hostetler Thompson is now in Okinawa. She was enjoying a trip around the world which started a year ago. While in Hong Kong a representative of International Social Service caught up with her and prevailed upon her to interrupt the trip and go to Okinawa to straighten out the ISS office and its affairs. Larry Ferris Ayres and husband went abroad last summer, eventually met daughter Debbie, who was studying at the University of Edinburgh, and had a good family outing. Last summer our (the Bixbys) European family outing included eleven of us — children and in-laws ranging in age from 16 to 60. All returned speaking to each other!"

We send our loving sympathy to Betty Damerel Gongaware, whose husband, Dr. Hartford Gongaware, a well known surgeon of Westerly, R. I., died early this winter.

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. L. B. Gatchell (Connie Noble), 6 The Fairway, Upper Montclair, N. J.

"So—," said Esther Hunt Peacock, "after 8 years as academic instructor at Spring Grove State Hospital here in Baltimore, I resigned and started working for a friend of mine who has a Reading Clinic. The schedule follows a school year plus summer school with only two weeks off, now in the middle of August." Her son Dan and his wife and their three daughters live next door. Her daughter Ronnie lives in Connecticut, where Ronnie's husband is with U. S. Rubber at Naugatuck. They have a 2-year-old daughter and a new baby born at Easter time. Esther received a note from Cora Lutz enthusing over her fabulous trip to Greece. In September Cora starts another year of teaching at Wilson College.

We extend our sincerest sympathy to Buddy Elliott, who lost her father in May. Nubs Vernon visited Buddy in Maine the last week of July and drove her back to New York with Buddy's two cats, Nip and Tuck.

Pat, Clark, Frannie Jones Siremlau, Mary Storer Brooks and Gravy Trappan are writing round robin letters, a little bird told this correspondent, adding, "Why don't they use this column for letter paper?"

Frances Joseph had a visit from Marguerite Olmstead, who once roomed with Lois Parker Schipul and Beryl Neily in Mohegan House; she said Sally Carslake is now Dean of the Brearley School in New York.

I am the newly-elected president of the Conn. College Club of Essex County, N. J. One of the programs we're planning for the coming year is a tri-county CC Clubs affair with President Shain as guest speaker. Among the 27-ites invited are Marian Worden Bell, Gertrude Carson, Estrid Alquist Lund, Flops Surpluss Miller, Betty Tremaine Pierce, Lois Penny Stephenson and Helen Tatum Winslow.

Ham Harburger Stern and Marion White Van der Leur will represent our class as agents for the Plan for the Sixties program and will keep us in touch with all that transpires.

Dorothy Krinsky Stein and her husband are both busy with community activities. She concentrates on volunteer work in the Cerebral Palsy Clinic, Red Cross Bloodmobile, Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy and Women Strike for Peace. Her son Fred, graduating from Harvard, is accepted at Harvard School of Business but plans to take in six months reserve military service first. Steve is finishing his sophomore year at Dartmouth and Nancy is graduating from elementary school. The parents of Virginia Latham Pearce celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with her and her family in North Carolina in October. She writes: "Dr. Rosemary Park's brother was our minister in the Orient (L.I.) Congregational Church back in the mid-30's. He was a brilliant and moving speaker."

Marjorie Nicholson is having a wonderful month's holiday in Europe, mainly Scandinavia, having sailed on the United States and planning to fly home. She reported having been skiing only once during the past winter. Dickie Wornelle Patten had her neck "whip-lashed" in a boat last August plus a skating tumble in December and has been treated for damage to a couple of vertebrae ever since "to keep me going. And frankly, what 'going' I manage to do these days is practically at a crawl. Having lived at full speed for so many years, I'm terribly frustrated from morn till night, and feel about 80 years old to boot." Before she was incapacitated, Dickie taught 5-year olds in the Unitarian Church School, plus the usual committee activities. Husband Roger, who's on the mend from an illness of several years' duration, is busy with real estate, building and remodeling. Their son Charles 16 drives their 14-ton bulldozer "as though it was a go-cart." He's especially interested in electronics, plays the drum in the school band and lives for scuba diving in the summer. Midge, a 6th grader, is a terrific reader and busy in scouts. Summer vacation finds all the Pattens at their cottage on Cape Cod in July and in Maine for an August holiday.

Subby Burr Sanders and her family went to Bermuda for spring vacation and did a lot of golfing. Kay Jenks Morton and family went to Nantucket for their spring holiday and, though beautiful, it was so windy that the ferry couldn't cross for days and the bicycling proved hopeless. Kay is working enthusiastically with the Efforts for Peace program — was one of 1700 women who left Penn. Station on the longest train ever to pull out from there (she met Dot Krinsky Stein aboard) and says it was one of the most thrilling experiences of her life.

About 20 girls had a luncheon in New York City at the Hotel Adams in May. They were mostly local girls except for a group who came down from Hartford. Joyce Cotter Kern has returned to part-time work at the Association of American Soap and Glycerine Producers. Betty Davis Pierson writes that her daughter Joyce married a Dutch doctor Dec. 16 and is living in Amsterdam, Holland. Joyce met him last summer when she traveled there with the Experiment in International Living group. I ran into Alys Griswold Haman recently in Natick. She was visiting her daughter Wendy who graduates this June from Walnut Hill and will enter the program of nursing at the University of Pittsburgh in the fall. Our son Paul will go to Camp Kewadin again this summer. Daughter Linnea, "Ham" and I will be at home improving our golf.

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. Addison L. Sanford (Frances Wallis), 20 Lincoln Road, Wayland, Mass.

Rosamond Brown Hansen is teaching Student Nurses Pediatrics at the St. Joseph Hospital School of Nursing five hours a day. Her husband, Ed, is Professor of Speech and Drama at Transylvania College in Lexington, Ky., and they have three active boys.

Bernice Wheeler writes that her address has been changed to 35 West Main Street, Natick, but it is only a renaming of the highway on which she lives "in my barn which I am gradually making habitable."

Lois Beckwith Ottinger is living in Sunnyvale, Calif., where her husband is an engineer with Lockheed Space and Missiles Co. Their oldest son Gary is a midshipman on the Holloway Plan at the Univ. of New Mexico; Christopher is a Freshman at Foothill Junior College, Los Altos Hills, and Gregory is a senior in high school. Lois and Guy have just returned from a delightful vacation in Hawaii, where they saw Edith Johnson Henderson, '38. They love Lexington, their contemporary house and pool and hope to stay there for a long time.

Elizabeth Gilbert Gebhe has recently moved to Las Palmas 1155, Mexico, where Bill was made Director of Mexico and Central America for Westinghouse International Co. They have four children: Susan 18, a sophomore at Colorado College; Cindy 16, a freshman at Gulf Park

Jr. College next fall; Chip 12, about to enter seventh grade, and Patty 8, in fourth grade. They are enjoying life tremendously in Mexico although it is quite different from Chile, which they dearly loved. Norma Bloom Hauserman and husband visited them this year for a reunion. Their daughter is at the Univ. of Mexico.

Sara Bowman Sun reports her life full with PTA, clubs, Sunday School and three children: Pamela 18, a freshman at Duke University, Sara 13 in seventh grade, and Paul Jr. 5 in nursery school. Last summer was particularly special for them as Pamela was graduated from high school the Valedictorian of her class (444 students). They went to Europe on a combination business and pleasure trip and followed that with a convention at French Lick Springs. Paul is president of Wheel and Rim Sales Co., Inc.

Those 27 of us who returned for our 25th reunion talked far into the night catching up on each other. On Saturday we had our picnic at Buck Lodge beyond the amphitheater, and spent the afternoon exploring all the new buildings. At the banquet we presented $3,000 to the Rosemary Scholarship Fund as our class gift.

The new slate of officers was elected, which includes Elizabeth von Colditz Bassett as president, Norma Bloom Hauserman as first vice president, Virginia Deuel as second vice president, Marion Littlefield Hutchins as treasurer, and Dorothy Baldwin as correspondent.

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. William B. Dolan (M. C. Jenks), 755 Great Plain Ave., Needham 92, Mass.

After reading about the tremendous ovation given Dr. Shain when he was introduced to the all-college assembly on campus last March, it will interest you to know that a similar reaction was expressed by Winnie Nies Northcott only a month previously when the Shains were their dinner guests in Minneapolis. Winnie has been elected to the Board of Trustees of the Minneapolis Children's Hospital and is presently busy running for the school board again.

If you go to the Pennflora Hotel in St. Petersburg, say hello to Betty Wagner Knowlton's husband John, who is the owner-manager. Of their five children, the oldest Katria 21 is a senior at Florida State Univ.; John 19 recently enlisted in the Navy; David 17 attends Darlington Prep School in Rome, Ga.; Thomas 10 just made major Little League; and Lucinda 8 goes to 2nd grade. Wag has a string of activities to her credit including Cubs, being chairman of the Women's Division of the United Fund, a sustaining representative on the Jr. League Board, on the board of the Visiting Nurse Association, and on the Altar Guild at St. Thomas Episcopal Church. Her hobbies are fishing, gardening and bird-watching. The family takes frequent trips on their Chris-Craft named "Snuffy."

In Winter Park, Fla., Judy Waterhouse Draper's husband is now working for Coca Cola since they bought Minute Maid in 1961. Judy says she is working for the whole community as well as for her family — on the PTA Board, as president of the church women's organization, and on the board of the Orange Blossom Playhouse. Her children are Daniel Jr. 17, Nancy 14 and Marianne 10. Out in California, Julia Brewer Wood has been a board member of the Women's Republican Club for the past three years and is now a precinct captain. She has three children: Geoff 15, Eugenia 12 and Tom 9½.

Where, oh where has our class banner been stored all these years? Please someone shake out the moths. We need it for our 25th in '63. As Mary Mory Schultz has resigned as reunion chairman, you will be hearing from the new co-chairmen, Dot Bartlett and M. C.

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. Donald N. Twaddell (Bette Smith), State Hospital, Embreeville, Pa.

Louise Stevenson Andersen writes: "After 16 years residence abroad in Colombia, Chile, Cuba, Pakistan, and South Africa, we have now been settled for almost a year in Silver Spring, Md., as my husband now has a Washington assignment. Our oldest daughter, Marcia, is a freshman at Barnard (it was rather a disappointment to me that she preferred the cosmopolitan atmosphere of New York to all that was familiar to me at Connecticut), and Susan is a junior in high school, keeping busy as class secretary and in Keyette Club. I am busy too as a substitute teacher and taking courses at the U. of Maryland to meet sec. school certification requirements. Going back to school at this age, however, is very stimulating and it's fun to discover that I'm really a much better student now than I was those many years ago." Ruth Deyoe Barrett and husband Larry took their oldest, Tim 11, to Europe last summer — Scotland to Spain to Denmark and home, "then moved into a new farm home Thanksgiving — lovely red barns, surrounded by white birches and long white fence." Cathy Elias Moore "was in Florida two years, attended my conventions and sold there — now back in biz in Phila. — office this time instead of a store. Named 'Coinhunter.' Buy and sell rare coins. Hope to get to reunion."

Dorothy Boschen Holbein met Janet Fletcher Ellrodt and Dodie Wilde Crawford in NYC for lunch recently. "Betty Burford Graham said she'd join us next time." Dr. Estelle Fasolino Ingenito is very busy keeping house and doing medical research at U. of Penn. Medical School. Son 6½ attends St. Aloysius Acad. in Bryn Mawr. Donna Ed Reynolds is enjoying Rochester, "not too much CC activity as yet. Joan (Centenary '60) presented us with our first grandson, Scott Stone, last August. Ward goes to college this year. Jean in H.S. — maybe CC material." Marylou Sharpless Swift says it looks as if they'll be having a Swift reunion when Hugh gets home for a quick visit in June. "We've had a fine winter; house all torn up with reconstruction, a skiing week in Vermont, new dog, Betsy at

George School."

As Reunion Chairman, Betty Burford Graham wants to put in a plug for all to return to CC for our 21st.

The class joins in sympathy to Carol Chappell, whose father, F. Valentine Chappell, died Feb. 19. He was Honorary Trustee of the College. Carol is Alumnae Trustee. Our sympathy also to Lee Reinhardt Greenleaf on the death of her husband Jim.

Reunion was wonderful with perfect weather. 21 years has seen a lot of changes on campus and I found myself peering out of Katharine Blunt house where we were billeted and looking at the Student-Alumnae Center and the new six dorm and refectory complex next door and feeling that perhaps this was a dream after all and not the college we had attended. It was most reassuring to hear President Park speak Saturday evening at the all-class banquets and be led gently but persuasively by the hand back to the position that we as alumnae have in the college make-up. It was a powerful speech and certainly the high point of the weekend. At our class picnic in the Caroline Black gardens behind Vinal Priscilla Duxbury Wescott announced our new class officers: President, Chips Van Rees Conlon; Vice President and Reunion Chairman for our 25th, BQ Hollingshead Seelye; Corresponding Secretary, Sally Kiskadden McClelland; Treasurer, Nannie Marvin Wheelock; and Class Agent, Barbara Berman Levy. Quoting some statistics from the questionnaires: Eileen Barry Wilderotter has the most children, 9 all told; Brad Langdon Kellogg has the only set of triplets, and Ginny Choje Richmond came the farthest distance to reunion. We were very proud and thrilled to hear President Park announce the appointment of Dr. Mary N. Hall as new physician to the College starting in July. Mary has already given up her practice in Clinton and will be moving to her new house in Niantic in July. I counted 36 girls from '41 on campus during reunion and there were probably more that I missed: Jessie Ashley Scofield, Beebe Berman Levy, Betty Burford Graham, Ebie Butler Cordelli, Carol Chappell, Ginny Choje Richmond, Min Dearborn Watson, Ruth Doyle, Priscilla Duxbury Wescott, Cathy Elias Moore, Layne Ernst Wick, Doris Goldstein Levinson, Dr. Mary Hall, Mary Hoffman Pearce, BQ Hollingshead Seelye, Lu Horan, Jane Kennedy Newman, Kirky Kirkpatrick Gray, Brad Langdon Kellogg, Beth Main Chandler, Nannie Marvin Wheelock, Liz Morgan Keil, Ginny Newberry Leach, Edie Patton Cranshaw, Jan Reed Harman, Sally Rodney Cooch, Mim Rosnick Dean, Bette Smith Twaddell, Ruth Sokol Dembo, Chips Van Rees Conlon, Marge Wicoff Cooper, Jane Wray Lindsay, Lee Barry Wilderotter, Peg Munsell Palmer, Kay Keeler Irwin and Dr. Kathryn Verie.

1942

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. Paul R. Peak (Jane Worley), 2825 Otis Drive, Alameda, Calif.

Eyes stopped — bags dropped — seconds ticked — minds clicked! Then yells from the belles of '42 who returned for the 20th Refresher at our Fountain of Youth! The 39 returnees formed the second largest contingent on campus, and they unanimously agreed that their "joie de vivre" was exceeded only by their good looks. The weekend was a fireball of fun and frolic — and YOU shoulda been there! Plan now for our Silver Reunion in only five years, which promises to be full of surprises as well as being just GOOD for you.

It all started out with wonderful accommodations on the second and third floors of Larrabee (adjoining Katharine Blunt) — and with porter service to boot! Lighting wasn't the best, but some said that was to our benefit. Food was superb (remember those blueberry pancakes and sausage?) and conversation flowed so freely that some lost it completely (ask Sue Schaap Gottlieb). Friday evening's Sherry and Buffet Supper with the faculty was followed by the exquisite Doll Furniture Exhibition at the Museum. The Alumnae Meeting in the Auditorium preceded our class meeting Saturday noon.

Under a tree before Larrabee (it was HOT in New London) with our tasty box lunches in hand, we had an enthusiastic meeting of the minds over our $1300 class gift to the College. All are looking forward to a real "blast-off" in '67, by which time we plan to go into orbit with our added fuel. Betty Graham Ewen has passed the gavel to Boots Hingsburg Young and Edie Fuchs Allen has given the books to Marge Tilla Chambers. Franny Hyde Forde will continue as Vice President and Reunion Chairman (send her your ideas), and Betty Bentley Viering heads the new Nominating Committee. Jean Morse Cockerill of No. Hollywood, California, eased out Thyrza Magnus Beall of Houston, Texas, for longest-distance prize. Jean came East with two children via drop-offs in Illinois (her former home state) and in New Jersey. Within the next month she will safari West again via Yellowstone Park, having gathered together husband, children, and a new car en route. Thyrza, who seemed to spend all her time on the telephone and who can sell you land with or without oil wells, left her husband and children long enough to include stop-overs in D. C. with the Verna Pitts Brown and Ginny Kramer Leonard families, as well as with Teddy Reibstein Ginsberg in Philadelphia. After Reunion it was "on to Rochester, N. Y." to see her sister.

Mary Rita Powers of Norwich received a prize for the most interesting job — she recently had two-weeks work in beautiful Bermuda. She is a mathematician for the Navy at the Underwater Sound Laboratory in New London. Having the most children of those in attendance (and looking young as ever) were Beebe Goelitz Blossom and Betty Letsch Grunow — each claiming six offspring. Beebe, from Oak Park, Ill., had double reunion duty with her Yale husband, which sped her away too soon. Betty's flock, five of them boys, have a fortunate widespread arrangement in Old Greenwich in a gracious nine-bedroom "cottage" with tennis courts, baseball diamond, putting green, gardens, a greenhouse, and Long Island Sound at the front door. She has budding culinary artists as well. Here lies real competition for a summer camp! Prizes were miniature CC photo albums. A CC stuffed animal went to Connie Hughes McBrien of Portland, Conn., for having the youngest child — born last November. Connie did a spectacular job leading our skit-singing for Banquet on Saturday eve (a challenge to her lullaby-tuned ears). We brought down the house with Mary Anna Lemon Meyer's clever "written-under-the-dryer" lyrical arrangements for "I've Been Workin' on the Railroad" and "Old MacDonald." Lem blew in from Oyster Bay, N. Y., with her same verve and unforgettable Dean Burdick quotes. Franny Hyde Forde reported that our largest representation was from Connecticut, with New York and New Jersey following close behind. The Connecticut group included Hughes, Hyde, Small, Till, Lederer, Letsch, Bentley, Powers, C. Wilde, Weseloh. New York brought Trimble, Weld, Bardos, Frey, Fuchs, Graham, Lemon, Scarpa. From New Jersey came Franklin, J. Hall, Hingsburg, Nordquist, Spencer. The Ohio ranks were composed of Daoust, Loomis, Stumm, and Newmeyer, while Massachusetts sent us Barlow, Linehan, and Phippen. Wisconsin and Illinois were represented by Depuy and Eells, Goelitz and Perry. Joan Jacobson came from New Hampshire, Mary Patinsson '42 from Canada, Sue Schaap from Iowa, Jean Morse from California, and Thryza Magnus from the big state of Texas. Attending Alumnae College and finding it most enjoyable and stimulating were Hingsburg, Schaap, and Magnus. CC's new 430-member class of '66 has enrolled the daughters of Sue Sprague Morse and Eloise Stumm Brush and we are hopeful for two others. Daughters of Barry Beach Alter and Louisa Bridge Egbert are members of the class of '65. Plans for a '42 Directory are underway, which should mean keeping in better touch with each other. Betty Bentley Vieing of West Hartford brought our meeting to a refreshing close by extending an invitation to all to enjoy the sunshine and water at her Groton Long Point cottage. Needless to say, many carloads followed her. Lil Weseloh Maxwell, who has founded a Children's Art School in Noank, was also gracious with an invitation to all.

Harvard-Yale Boat Race added another activity for some. Caroline Wilde Schultz arrived via boat from Connecticut so she and her family could enjoy this feature. There were tours of the campus, trips to New London, Groton, the Beach, and other favorite haunts and soon it was cocktail and banquet time. '42 joined '40, '41, and '43 at Lambdin House — one of the brand new dorms in the FHA complex beyond the Alumnae Center. A roast beef dinner was served in the Upper Lounge of Crozier-Williams, class skits and gifts were presented amidst much gaiety, and President Park's last address to the Alumnae Association was stimulating and thought-provoking. After a standing ovation for her, the words to "Alma Mater" rose softly and sincerely.

Back in our weekend dorm, groups talked far into the night, and 20 years ago came back like yesterday. One regret was not having Joan Jacobson Green demonstrate the "twist" as promised. She is no longer a New Yorker, but happily transplanted with her lawyer husband and children to Manchester, N. H., and leading a most active community life. Judy Bardos Dinter is in New York City — a Consultant for a Chemical Company — and her husband is in the pre-cast concrete business. Barlow, Phippen, and Linehan reported that Flo Crockett Harkness had just arrived in Boston to swell their ranks. Loie attended with her young daughter, Dottie (a future CCer we hope!), and has been most actively engaged in Girl Scouts. She felt like some of the others on their first trip to the Bookshop — a sudden return to ask "just where IS it?" Louise Spencer Hudson drove up with Marge Till Chambers, and they planned a post-reunion visit in Saybrook with Bates Dorman as did Barlow, Hingsburg, Hall, and Nordquist. Palmy Scarpa Weigle is President of the Fairfield County Alumnae Club, which has over 200 members. This is a most active group, and Palmy is full of energy and good ideas. She has two young sons and lives in Bedford Village, N. Y., in a house designed by her architect husband. Bobbie Weld McGuire is enjoying life in a college town (Ithaca, N. Y.) and has a son entering Deerfield Academy. Both Betty Graham Ewen and Audrey Nordquist O'Neill are keeping up with the youngest generation by teaching nursery school. Orchids to them both! It was a treat to receive wired greetings from Sarah Guion Fisher, and it helped to recall all the others who were unable to be with us. Midge Gillingham Marvel sent word that if only Reunion Day had not been D-Day for their changing houses in Princeton, N. J., she would have most certainly joined the mob. So it was with many — but how about planning now for our "Big 25th" and start setting up a few more caravans such as the Ohio contingent did this year? What is more stimulating than an extra few days of hilarious travel conversation? Delays may result, however, such as their three-hour launch from Cleveland and twelve-hour departure from Connecticut — but that is part of the fun. Rilla Loomis Loving, Mary Newmeyer Hayward, and Eloise Stumm Brush journeyed from Columbus to Cleveland, where Hooker Daoust Glendinning had already collected Evie Deputy Peterson at the airport. Hooker's station wagon was bulging, but you should have seen it on return! Evie, who is head of the Upper Wisconsin Women's Republican Club, decided to remain in N. Y., and her seat was more than filled by Hooker's flower order from Litchfield, Conn. The Turnpike helped to shift the group into higher gear — as well as the realization that "things were happening at home." Rilla had a son leaving within the week for Dodgertown Camp in Florida and her own luggage to prepare for their soon-coming European sojourn with two daughters. Hooker, who attended the Alumnae Conference in March with Palmy Scarpa and Betty Graham, was faced with preparations for a sizable Graduation Party for son Tom. Mary Newmeyer, who is Columbus and Central Ohio Alumnae Club President, had hurriedly left in the midst of a boat launching and two sons departing for camp and began to worry about the "remains." Stummy, who moved to Ohio from Illinois last September, was hoping to arrive home at least a few moments before seven houseguests called and in time to finish preparations for three of her children's participation in a wedding the following week. While in Illinois, she was president of the local chapter of American Field Service and received a thrilling surprise when the first student assigned was found to be a relative of Ingegerd Anderson Yngstrom's.

Truly, reunion attendance meant organization and planning to everyone — but each would heartily say "It was worth it!" SEE YOU IN '67!

1943

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. Raymond I. Post (Betty Shank), 26 Highland Road, Westport, Conn.

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. Stafford Campbell (Margie Livingstone), Shipway Road, Darien, Conn.

Our regular correspondent, Betty Shank Post, has asked me to gather the news for this issue; her usually full and well-oiled schedule has been complicated by a recurrence of back trouble which is a result of an automobile accident during a Canadian vacation last year. True to the custom of peregrinating Shell employees, this spring has meant a move for the Posts. Betty has done double duty on household affairs while Ray was getting established in Seattle. Moving day will follow the close of the school year in Westport, Conn. Betty did find time to attend the luncheon given at the Woodway Country Club by the CC Club of Fairfield County, as did Emily Carl Davis, Helen Forer Jackson and your correspondent.

Betsy Clarendon Hatnett has seen Pete Franklin Gebrig '42 and Barbara Smith Peck '46 at a weekly badminton practice in Ridgewood, N. J. Betsy is chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the CC Club of Bergen County.

Alan and Barbara Hogale Ferrin spent a short time in San Juan, Puerto Rico, in April as a contrast to their skiing weekends this winter.

Nelson and Fliv Silvers Daly and their daughter Terry and son Nels stopped in Westport to visit the Posts en route from Sturbridge Village, Mystic Seaport and Conn. College.

After a short sojourn in New Canaan, Conn., Lou and Emily Carol Davis and their daughter Cindy 17½ are westward bound. Lou has joined Abbott Laboratories in North Chicago, and Emmie hopes to attend reunion after a flying trip to Chicago for house-hunting.

Thelma Gustafson Wyland's letter is a refreshing note for all of us who have endured the season known as "spring wind-up." She writes: "I'm back again in the Central N. J. CC Club which I helped form many years ago when we lived in this area."

Thelma enclosed a delightful letter from Sis Johnson Fisher in Scarsdale, N. Y. Sis writes: "Three years ago we bought a farm in the Berkshires, which has been both a delight and a challenge to us. We finally decided after years of serving as leaders in the community and channeling all our kids' activities into organized groups, we all needed some re-charging and time to let down. . . . In October Andy was named Executive Head of the Western edition which the Times will start publishing in Calif. in the fall of '62. This in addition to his duties as Assistant General Manager of the Times makes for a full and exacting work load, so we are happy to beat a retreat to our country place weekends in the winter and all summer long for the kids and me. . . . Children: Pete, who is 17, has gotten an early acceptance at Amherst. . . . Lynne, at 14, is turning into a very pretty young lady. . . . Randy, our youngest at 12, an endless bundle of energy, athletics and general good spirits."

No great events have changed the status of the Campbell clan. Staff and I stole two weeks in March to camp in Florida. We shall be spending the summer in Darien. . . . we're 5 minutes from the Conn Turnpike — 43'ers please take note!

Following reunion notes by Barbara Murphy Brewster.

With forty of us back, we had the largest reunion group on campus. Connie Haaren Wells came farthest—from Salt Lake City. We were also the youngest class, which was a charming feeling — except for being assigned to the fourth floor of Larrabee for our living quarters.

Connie Smith Hall, our reunion chairman, assisted by Dottie Lenz Andrus and Betsy Pease Marshall, did a great job of organizing the weekend. Incidentally, Connie's twin daughters, Diane and Jackie, will be freshmen at CC this fall. Connie showed us the colored slides which some gals brought of their families Friday night. This was such a hit that everyone must bring slides to the next reunion.

Saturday we had our picnic at Bobbie Hellmann's house at Old Kelsey Point. It was a perfect day for the beach though there weren't too many of us brave enough to stay in the water long. Our new class officers were named at the picnic: Martha Boyle Morrisson, president; Betty Ham-mink Carey, vice-president and reunion chairman; Bobbie Hellmann, class correspondent; Thelma Gustafson Wyland, nominations chairman; Mary Surgenor Baker, treasurer, graciously serving for a third term. We were very sorry Surge missed reunion.

Connie had put into a notebook all the returned questionnaires, letters and snapshots from our classmates. It was required reading, of course, and we hope to get out a reunion letter containing some gems from the collection. But the fun of seeing old friends (none of us had changed a bit, of course), bragging about husbands and children, wondering what-ever happened to dear old so-and-so — all that is hard to capture on paper. So you all should have been there. Besides, as one anonymous thinker put it, "You really must come to reunion, if only to protect yourself."

Saturday night at the banquet each class gave a brief skit and presented its reunion gift. Ruby Zagoren Silverstein, free-lance writer, and recently named Woman of Valor for community service in Torrington, Connecticut, wrote and presented a profile in verse of our class.

All of us at the banquet were very moved by Miss Park's expression of the reasons a college can claim the loyalty of its alumnae. We wished that our class gift of $543 had been larger. To come somewhere near the $3000 given by the class of '37, it was the consensus that we start now to plan for our twenty-fifth reunion by having yearly class dues. We hope that you who could not attend this year's reunion will support a bigger effort for our twenty-fifth reunion and, more especially, that you will be there.

The class extends its deepest sympathy to Frannie Adams Crane on the recent death of her husband.

CO-CORRESPONDENTS: Mrs. Neil D. Josephson (Elise Abrahams), 83 Forest St., New Britain, Conn.

Mrs. Orin C. Witter (Marion Kane), 38 Brookline Drive, West Hartford, Conn.

BORN: to Arthur and Teke Drasher Berry a son, Thomas Roberts, on Mar. 2 in Newfields, N. H. Teke says: "Needless to say, this is our BIG NEWS of the year. Am sure you can all surmise what I am currently doing with all of my 'spare time'."

Mac Cox Walker in Wellesley is still up to her neck in Junior League work. "Next year my swan song, as I hit sustaining. Still dabbling in real estate but I find my children need most of the dabbling." They took their children on their usual winter vacation in Florida and are planning to be on the Cape this summer. Mac reports a delightful evening spent with Sue Balderston Sears in New Canaan. Sue B. writes: "I finally feel at home in New Canaan and truly love this section of the country — near enough to New York and both sets of parents in Philadelphia, plus just a few hours ride to our wonderful little summer island, Jamestown. Big doings up there this summer with the Australians challenging us for the America Cup." The Searses see a lot of Passy Passavant Henderson and Sid, much of the time on the tennis courts. "Karla Yepson Copithorn, my sophomore year roommate, and I have been trying for a year to cross paths, but no luck so far. Our girls are all grown up, and it sure makes me feel my age. Sue is in 9th grade — very studious and reserved (just like her mother). She just made the varsity tennis team and is all excited. Polly is much more interested in horses than studies or boys (I think) at this stage in her young life. We finally broke down and bought her one. I could write a book on 'How Not to Buy a Horse.'"

Marty Davis is now living in Portland, Me., working as a cost accountant at Southworth Machine Company. She enjoys her work and loves Maine, partly because it's close enough to Vermont, where she can see her five nieces and nephews. From Andover, Marge Alexander Harrison reports: "Our oldest daughter, Midge, is in her first year at Northfield and her two younger sisters, Nancy and Beth, are growing up so fast that I've found time to do some part-time work (clerical) at Abbot Academy. I'm really enjoying it a great deal."

Bets Monroe Mitchell is in her second year of teaching at Hopefields school for exceptional children in East Sandwich, finding it both "stimulating and exhausting. I'm still plugging for my degree at Bridgewater. Modern Math and Physics almost finished me. See Ethel Schall Gooch every summer — her parents live right across the street. Enjoyed seeing Rusty Grosvenor English during the Christmas holidays." Rusty reports a wonderful winter of skiing, and adds a warming message that she is exhausted. Rogo writes: "The boys are going to camp — are so grown up and rather too sophisticated. Anne is a live wire, the more boys her brothers bring home the better. See Mac a lot and play tennis with Fran Stout Chick every week."

Anne Davis Heaton's son, Gordon Davis, has an appointment to Annapolis and is scheduled to enter in June. An undefeated wrestler this past winter until an injury forced him out of competition, he was considered in line for state honors. The Heaton's youngest child, Laurie Anne, enters kindergarten in the fall. "I'll have 2½ hours to myself each week day. Hoorah," says Anne. Mildred Gremley Hodgson is happy to have lived in Shrewsbury a whole year now. "Really," she writes, "four Christmases in a row with four addresses was too much moving to suit me. Am finishing a year of being a den mother for cub scouts and ready for a long vacation. Have been singing in a 40-voice interdenominational chorale this past winter and spring which has given many concerts around Worcester and other towns in Massachusetts. I'm also active in church work, especially the women's organization. The boys are big and healthy and fond of scouting and Little League." Seeley Stetson Moyer writes from her lovely home in Scottsdale, Ariz. that "most of our vacations take us to California, so when we'll get East again is a moot question."

Shirley Berlin Goldbarg is thinking of getting an appropriate uniform for her job. "My outside activities are strictly limited to chauffeuring for piano lessons, dancing, orthodontist, marketing, etc. We manage to get two weeks every winter for Nassau or Bermuda or Palm Beach. That fortifies us for a while." Shirley's doctor husband is a full-time research associate in cancer at Harvard Medical School and their children are Jeff 13 (Roxbury Latin School), Jonathan 8 and Jill 6. From Lois Hanlon Ward, "I missed very much the reunion last June. Ken had a medical convention at Hot Springs and duty called. Our family has been fine this past year except for measles and chicken pox. Still doing active board work for the LWV of West Hartford. This year I'm second vice-president. One more year to go in the Jr. League — age is telling. Our exciting news is a European trip, leaving in July on the new SS France. This is our first and we can't wait."

Ellie Abrahams Josephson reports amid allusions to term papers and final exams: "Our eldest daughter, 16-year-old Gail, has received a scholarship to fly to Israel with 60 other high school seniors to participate in a study-sightseeing seminar. The rest of us will summer in the customary New England manner — swimming, etc., when possible, with occasional trips to Tanglewood — camping for the three younger children. I have completed (nearly!) my first back-to-school year and am looking forward to continuing studying next year." Phyl Cunningham in March took a cruise to the Caribbean as far as Caracas. "Saw some breathtakingly beautiful places, some very dirty ones. Enjoyed so much the tropical sun while N. Y. was in the throes of a snowstorm, ate so much divine Italian food that I gained five pounds, and managed for the first time in my life to get a tan. It was a glorious vacation — one long to be remembered. Bumped into Dawn Aurell shortly before she moved to San Francisco and discovered that she had been living right across the street from me for many months. Dawn looked as chic as ever, and I suspect the reason for the stars in her eyes was the fact that she was planning to be married within a few weeks after our sidewalk chat. Have enjoyed being back in N. Y. and am taking in all the events I can — theatre, concerts, gourmet cooking, the gamut — all the things I missed so desperately when I was in New Hampshire."

Mrs. William E. Leavitt (Eleanor Strohm), 5206 Portsmouth Rd., Washington 16, D. C.

MARRIED: Marcia Joanna Faust to John Clifford McNees on March 3.

After two years at Fort Dix, Charlotte Kavanagh Duvally, husband and three children: Anne 12, Nick 7 and Chris 4, expect to move to Fort Knox. Helen Savacool Underhill writes from Malaya, where she and family have been for six months and where they are enjoying their first luxury post: "The political climate and the temperature climate are dramatic changes after Warsaw. The children attend British schools, which are only in session in the mornings because of the heat. I spend two or three mornings a week reading to Braille transcribers textbooks for the new blind high school and setting up a Braille library. This is a haven of civilization and political stability in the Southeast Asia area. It lacks the color of our previous post but we're enjoying the normality and leisure of it."

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. William T. Ashton (Jane Fullerton), Elm Knoll Farm, RD 4, Ballston Spa, N. Y.

BORN: to John and Mary-Nairn Hayssen Hartman a son, Matthew, on March 24. The Hartmans have three girls: Melinda 8, Lisa 6 and Pam 4. In June they are all going to Colorado Springs for two months while John teaches Spanish at Colorado College Summer School. Mary-Nairn says Jo Eggers Wilkinson and family went out to Colorado Springs during spring vacation and saw Sally Duffield McGinley. Duff and children are spending July and August in Santa Barbara.

Skip Coughlin Rudolph's daughter Cathy 12 has been invited to spend the summer touring Europe with her aunt and Cynthia 9 will go West with her uncle, visiting the Oregon Fair and points of interest along the way. Skip hopes to take son Richie to NYC and spend a couple of weeks in July at Long Island Beach, N. J. "No real news — same husband, same boy and girl," writes Judy Willner Stacey. Judy's house is a year and a half old and takes all their time both inside and out. Mary Topping Deyoe is taking a course in philosophy and doing lots of reading as well as entertaining Japanese students from Cornell. Topper and her family hope to do a lot of camping in Canada this summer in their new tent. Four Morgan horses in the barn keep Lucy Eaton Holcombe fit, trim and very busy. Lucy says they never have to leave home for excitement or entertainment. From St. Louis, Mo., Glo Frost Hecker writes that Art is manager of the Life Magazine office, and she and the girls moved from New Canaan in April. Valarie is 10, Linda 8, Leslie 5½, Susie 3 and they all enjoy their new home and being near Art's brothers and families. Glo and Art spent a month this fall driving through Europe — Italy, Switzerland, France and England — in celebration of their 10th anniversary.

Evy Isler Schwartzman's husband Gil's Nite Club in Acapulco is turning out to be quite a success, and they will be moving down in the fall. Gil's new 3-year-old "Joel Honey" just won the Goniff Handicap at Mexico City and Gil thinks the horse could do well in the states. Polly Garland Westberg's news of the moment is a remarriage in March and the acquiring through Jack of another wonderful family. "Our combined total is 7 — 5 girls and 2 boys, all between the ages of 7-12. Jack's brand new home has already had to have an addition to make room for my three youngsters but all runs smoothly." Cynthia Terry, still traveling as part of her job, recently returned from San Francisco, where she went sailing with Lygia DeFreitas Johnson and husband Bruce. Cynthia says Lygia has left for Europe on her annual business trip and hopes to do some sight-seeing, including Florence, where she hopes to visit Ellie Kempsmith Nocentini. Ditto Grimes Wise's husband Rog, as manager of Air Force Liaison, is kept flying between Washington, Colorado Springs, Dayton and Boston. He spends ten days of the month at home but they did manage to paper and repaint the interior of their house. Ditto is active in the North Shore Jr. League, den mother of 8, yearbook chairman, parish plan member for her church (which means six families to keep in touch with). Scott is 9½, Andy 7, Cindy 5½, Brooks 3. Cindy had a tonsillectomy. Brooks will be in coop. nursery school in the fall.

"I'm on the just before school closes merry-go-round," writes Lindy Vail Pierce. Chas., her husband, is rear commodore at the Yacht Club and that keeps Lindy hopping. Linda, her daughter, is a sophomore at Masters' School and Lindy is planning on taking her college shopping — saving Connecticut for dessert. They plan to do a lot of sailing this summer except for #2 daughter who is going to riding camp. Lee Minter Goode is thoroughly enjoying Waterford, Conn. Dick's assignment at the Coast Guard Academy is most interesting. He sails on the cadet European cruise as executive officer of the bark, Eagle. They will visit Scotland, Belgium and the Canary Islands. At the Alumnae Council in February, Lee saw Roz Simes Richardson, president of the Portland, Me., alumnae club. Sue Rothstein Latter has just returned from three months in Europe. Her daughters are 11, 14, 17, and quite busy with school, college boards, horse shows, etc. Barbara Smith Peck is moving to Ramsey, N. J., and eventually will go to Philadelphia.

Tom and I had a most enjoyable trip to Antigua, B. W. I., this March and are looking forward to a summer at our cottage on Lake George.

1947

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. R. Leonard Kemler (Joan Rosen), 65 Norwood Road, West Hartford, Conn.

In January, after 10 months of building, Helen Vinal Anderson and Henry moved into their new house in Hingham, Mass. "We had been planning to make our move since last Thanksgiving but as is usual, one never gets into new houses when he plans to. We like it very much but we sure have a great deal to do yet, especially outside. Right now we are in the midst of a vast mud hole. Our house is a copy of an old Cape with exposed beams in the living room and a fireplace of old brick. We're situated on a tremendous lot and we back up to the town forest. As a result, we have quite a back yard!" Vinnie was sorry to have missed reunion but she managed to get a report from Elizabeth Dutton on one of their less frequent get-togethers since Vinnie moved to the South Shore.

Mary Batt Taylor moved recently from Groton Long Point to Plant St. in New London. Mibby explained that her surprise absence from reunion was due to involvement in the launching of the polaris submarine Thomas Edison. Husband Arnett is the executive officer. When the ship is out, Mibby is busy being mother and father to Robin 10, Jimmy 9 and Kenny 6. Church work, book club and gardening are other interests.

Catherine Cole Peck writes from Baldwinville, N. Y.: "Have been in our BIG house for almost a year after longing for more room for years. It's a real joy — 5 bedrooms, huge kitchen and pantry, with pantry space to spare. Younguns are 10, 8, 6, and 4, three girls and a boy. Just housekeeping is a full time job, not to mention PTA, Sunday school teaching, Girl Scouts and Brownies. You can see what keeps me busy, but I love it."

Ann McBride Tholfsen is moving to the New York area, where husband Tryg will be teaching at Teachers' College, Columbia. "We're looking forward to the move because the job will be interesting, but how we love New Orleans! Children: Ellen 11, Barbara 8 and David 4 are all very well and busy." Ann hopes to see CC friends on a trip north this summer.

Sally Marks Wood writes: "We spent a wonderful week skiing at Stowe and kept running into old friends, but no one from CC. Stopped on our way home to ski at Mad River Glen and had lunch at Sugar Bush Valley. We'll probably be skiing that area from here on because we now have a cabin on rt. 100 in that vicinity. Our three girls, 8, 9 and 11, are all on skis too. The oldest is much better than I and it won't be long before the others pass me too. Last summer we spent two weeks in Maine, camping on the wild and deserted shores of Mooselookemeguntic Lake. We proved to ourselves we could do it and now are planning our trip to Hudson's Bay in the summer of '63. When we get back from there, I'll really have some news for you."

Joan Whalen Murphy sent some statistics: "Three girls: Sally 13, Janet 11, Lauren 9. We live right near the ocean (Beverly, Mass.) and love it. I've kept busy over the past years with hospital work, PTA and little theater work, though not simultaneously. I'm now a substitute school teacher and find it very interesting work."

Elaine DuCharme Fowler reports from Greenbelt, Md.: "Though I will probably never catch up with most of my classmates, I have finally settled down to raise a family (one daughter, Susan, 15 months and a real dear). After a career of teaching, studying and ending up as a dean of women, I met my Waterloo and married in June '59. Have been enjoying the 'settled down' feeling ever since."

Margaret Hulst Kluge in Montclair, N. J., claims the distinction of just having returned from a 6-week African hunting safari! Like the rest of us, Margie feels very relieved to be home again with the 5 children. "Main outside activities consist of puppet theater, tramping to local hospitals and retarded nursery groups. Children's ages are spread from 9 months to 14 years — so there are the main interests."

Your correspondent had a very enjoyable reunion with Louise Rubinstein Goldberg while my husband and I attended a convention in St. Louis. Weezy is the proud and busy mother of three boys and a girl. She is reputed to be a fine outfielder and the envy of every child in the neighborhood.

1948

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. Merritt W. Olson (Shirley Reese), 3716 Frazier Rd., Endwell, N. Y.

BORN to Fred and Edith Aschaffenburg Wilhelm a third daughter, Ann Elizabeth, on Mar. 4.

The Olsons are on the move again at the end of June — probably to southern California. So we have a house and 1/4 airplane for sale. I saw Barbara Kite Yeager and Joan Wilmarth Cresap with her two little girls and year-old son at an impromptu birthday party for my Curt, who was 5 in Larchmont at Easter. All are fine. We have seen the Yeagers again at a Sunday get-together in Unadilla. Their girls are now 3, 5 1/2, and 8. Barbs is busy with Brownie Scouts, and Bill finds that golf takes much of his free time. Dick and Helen Beardsley Nickelsen, with Abbie 8 and Bruce 5, drove up from Bucknell and spent a weekend in March with us. While Dick attended a geology conference at Harpur College in Binghamton, Cindy and I had time for a good talk. She has a busy year cut out for her as president of the Lewisburg, Pa., LWV.

Jane Wheeler Campbell has just moved into a new home in Newtown, Conn. Their Anne is almost a year old and into everything. Bill is General Manager of Turner Machine Company in Danbury. John and Mim Ward Fowler are enjoying country life in Littleton, Mass. John is N. E. representative of the Ohio Scale Company. Lisbeth is 9, Mark 7 and Jennifer 3. Mim is involved in church, PTA and Scholarship Trust work. Africa has piqued her interest and she is giving talks and book reviews on modern Africa.

Aid and Bebe Bates Stone are living in Louisville, Ky. Bebe enjoys her volunteer job of setting up an elementary school library. There was a wonderful reunion last summer at Betsy Richards Hopkins' in Moroe, Conn.: Betsy, Hop and three of their children; Guilford and Penny Penfield Spencer and their four; John and Irene Lemanski Mallick and five Mallicks; Lee Pope Miller and her three; plus the Stones and their three. Angie Sbona and her twin sister Connie also joined them. Twelve-year-old Susan Stone was the oldest of the 19 children and six-month-old Spencer the youngest.

After CC Harriet Tinker was an animal stuffer at Dartmouth from 1948-54 and found it a great experience. An academic year as research assistant at Mt. Holyoke wasn't all she hoped for. Tink was research worker and part-time student with Dr. Dunn at Columbia from 1955-57. She loved this and is still involved with some of Dr. Dunn's mouse research. She left only because a better job was offered at Lasell. She is in her fifth year of teaching at Lasell Jr. College near Boston and finds teaching a satisfying occupation in spite of long hours, lots of paper correcting, preparations, etc. Tink's parents are still in Connecticut, but she has her own headquarters in Norwich, Vt., where she is active in community and church. Bert Mayer Romanow and another CC grad, Mrs. Huchet, were in a first aid course Tink taught in November. She also teaches swimming to a group of handicapped children.

Enid Williford Waldron found house hunting such a problem in Salt Lake City, Utah, that she became a real estate salesman and found a house which they love and are enjoying getting just the way they want it. They expect to have the backyard landscaped this summer. Enid finds that real estate really keeps her busy, combined with TV work, Jr. League, scouts, Brownies, piano and flute lessons. She ran into Peggy Flint Nugent recently and learned that the Nugents are going to Japan for a year of work. John and Ellie Barber Malmfeldt are living on Mercer Island, Wash., looking forward to the Seattle World's Fair and hoping that CC friends will turn up for it. Their offspring are 13, 10 1/2, 6 1/2 and 5. Ellie has had a busy year as leader of Barb's 7th grade Girl Scout troop, membership chairman of the Children's Orthopedic Hospital Guild, and member of the PTA board.

Diana Upjohn Meier has been teaching kindergarten half days for the last four years in Monroe, Mich. Now that her two, Mardi 8 and Ricky 10, are in school, she has taken several extension courses and started on a master's degree. The Meiers divide their time among the children, school, Cub Scouts, Di's thrift shop and mental health work, and Fred's job as Process Engineer — too busy like everyone else, but healthy and having fun. Ed and Jane Tilley Griffin are still in Washington, D. C., after four years with the State Dept., Far East Section. Ed spent the summer on a solo trip to South East Asia and Jane spent it in D. C. doing a catalogue of the oriental collection at Anderson House Museum. Mr. Lars Anderson, who collected a lot of orientalia, was an ambassador to Japan in 1912-13 and first went to the Far East in 1888. Jane is still working on her Ph.D. in Far Eastern Art at the U. of Michigan, has an M. A. from NYU Institute of Fine Arts, and spent a year in Japan in 1955-56. Jane does art tours for a "lady's" group, the Washington Tokyo Club, composed of embassy and press wives from Japan and U. S. government and military wives, and continues to study Japanese.

Also in the Washington, D. C., area are Bud and Connie Tashof Bernton and their three sons, Ned 10, John 9 and Hal 7 1/2, and a four-legged girl collie named Katie. Bud opened his own office for the practice of internal medicine last year. After teaching for five years in a cooperative nursery school, Connie has "graduated" to teaching English to the foreign born in the adult education program of Montgomery County, which she hopes to continue on a part time basis. Marge Vosgian Feely and Herb are very happy in their home in North Jersey. Herb's company, a research lab, is now engrossed in government projects to determine the amount of fallout in the upper atmosphere, the kind, the distribution, and the rate at which it falls to earth. Herb and Marge are both active in church, where they have met many wonderful new friends. Marge will always have to use a respirator of one kind or another (courtesy of the National Foundation), but is able to do more than she had thought possible at one time. Marge typed her note with a mouthstick. One summer she did some tutoring, and when the weather is nice she goes out in the car and sometimes visits friends.

Nancy Morrow Nee is suffering through her second semester at library school at the Univ. of Calif. at Berkeley. She finds returning to "the groves of academe" after so long an absence to be an exhausting and fairly traumatic experience," but with luck should have her M.S. in August. Also in the class is Helen McGrossin Tudisco, who lives in Oakland and has two children. Helen reports that Jane Frederick is teaching school in Oakland. Polly Amrein is living in Palo Alto doing social work with blind babies, but plans to take off in June for parts unknown, possibly Asia or Africa.

1949

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. Harold K. Douthit, Jr. (Mary Stecher), 2930 Valley Lane, Sandusky, Ohio.

BORN: to Lee and Pat Manning Miller a third and fourth son, twin boys, Douglas Manning and Peter Manning, on Feb. 27.

ADOPTED: by Harry and "Choo" Cynthia Carey Taylor, a girl, Amy, aged 3 months, on March 22.

Don and Ronnie Jasch Matern have moved twice since their big move to California and are now renting a house with a pool. Don joined a group of orthopedic surgeons in Arcadia, Calif., after finishing his training at The University Hospitals of Cleveland. Ronnie says their three kids, Dannie 6, David 4 and Cathy 2, all love it and sported tans for Easter. Peggy Walzer Charren and Stan live in a Boston suburb. Stan started an electronics company four years ago. Their 6-year-old, Deborah, is in kindergarten. Since she was married, Peggy has worked on a math magazine, had her own print and frame shop in Providence, R. I., and now runs book fairs for schools and organizations. In April the Charrens spent a month in Europe. Maggie Farnsworth Kemp is still active in the NYC Conn. Club (she's president) and reports that the CC Theatre Benefit (the March 13 performance of "Take Her, She's Mine") was a big success. Liz DeCamp Wilson and Geoffrey moved after eight years to a 65-year-old house in Germantown to be near the Germantown Friends School, where the children, Fred 13, Tim 11, and Mary 8, go. Amy 4 is still at home. Geoff is with the Free Library of Philadelphia. Minnie Goldsmith Hoffheimer and Bud, who were enjoying their trip to Turkey, Greece, Switzerland, Paris and London, sent a card from Switzerland.

1950

CO-CORRESPONDENTS: Mrs. Frank L. Adanson (Susan Little), 40 Corte Toluca, Kentfield, Calif.

Mrs. Ross S. Shade (Mary Clark), 53 Beach Drive, San Rafael, Calif.

BORN: to Neal and Lyn Crane Williams a fourth child, third daughter, Mary Ruth, on May 30 '61 (The family is looking forward to seeing relatives and friends at the Seattle World's Fair. Neal is now a Coast Guard Lieutenant Commander serving as a legal officer. Laurie Anne is nearly 11, Neal 9½ and Nancy Kealoha 3½); to Tom and Joanne Borden Clancy a fourth child, third son, John, on Dec. 2 (This Navy family is enjoying a tour of sea duty out of San Francisco before Tom, now a Lt. Commander, reports to Anti-Submarine Warfare Tactical School in Norfolk this summer. Bobby 8, Barbara 6, and Jimmy 4½ keep Mom busy but do entertain the baby. Joanne would like to get in some part-time work in math, but doesn't relish the current situation since she learned that the whole department where she worked before marriage has now been replaced by machines); to Ned and Norma Ritz Phelps a third child, first daughter, Elizabeth Ritz, on Feb. 9 (Charlie 3½ and Davey 2½ are delighted to have a sister. Putting the finishing touches on a new home will prevent the Phelps from enjoying their annual ski trip to Aspen, Colo., but there's enough snow at home in Wayzata, Minn., to keep the kids happy. They see Erle and Barb Long Savage frequently as the latter family lives nearby); to Paul and Rachel Ober Burrell a third child, first daughter, Ann, on Feb. 2 (At arrival time Paul was in the midst of doctoral exams and David 7 had chicken pox. Both David and Peter 4 are delighted to have a sister. The Burrells move in July to Cincinnati, where Paul will be a French instructor at the University); to Henry and Christine Holt Kurtz a fourth child, second daughter, Tinder de Grasse, on Feb. 22 (Tinder joined Brooks 9, Christopher 7, and Christine 4, complete with black hair and two teeth. She did not set a precedent in the family, however. She was also a special birthday present for Chris, brother); to Bill and Jan Doherty McCarthy a fourth child, second son, Paul Francis, on Mar. 4 (David 4 is delighted to have an ally against Sara 9 and Carol 6. The McCarthys are a "typical suburban family," says Jan. Bill is in private practice in psychiatry in Boston. Jan belongs to a Medical Woman's Auxiliary, LWV, PTA, and the board of the Boston CC Club — for which she made hospitality arrangements for Miss Park's speech from the hospital the day after Paul was born. They all look forward to summer, as they live on the water with a private beach and sailing dinghy); to David and Barbara Blaustein Hirschhorn a fourth child, second daughter, Sarah Beth, on Mar. 14 (she and Daniel 5, Michael 3 and Deborah 2 keep Mother and Father really on the go); to Chuck and Kathy Buck Larkin a fourth child, third son, James Christopher, on Apr. 13 (Kathy reports that Jimmy is an angel and looks just like Mike 6. Lynn 2½ is very maternal. Brian 7 is very active in all the sports offered in the 50th state).

Laurel Barker has received her M.D. She is interning at Buffalo General Hospital. Ron and Joan Williams enjoy a new home in Summit, N. J., with Craig 6½, David 4½ and Carol 3. Ron is in investment banking and Joan is becoming enmeshed in the PTA world. Al Hess Crowell's baby Marian is a doll, although how she could even locate her under the tons of Girl Scout Cookies Brownie sisters Lynne and Nancy Lee had to sell remains a mystery. Billy is miffed because he's only one of a kind. Al talked to Georgia Kane Schrader, who is recording secretary for the Lansdowne AAUW Branch in addition to coping with Kurt 10½, Mark 7½ and Scott 2½. Walt is happily selling real estate. Janet Baker Tenney, Al's near neighbor, is active in the Junior League and DAR and is a director of the nursery school just started by her church. John is a first grader at Haverford Friends School and Eleanor is 2½. Chuck is busy in the insurance business. All three classmates are mainstays of the Philadelphia Conn. College Club.

Leonard and Joy Shifreen Kaufman bought a lovely, old Spanish style home in Manhattan Beach, N. Y., and are busy redecorating it. Peter is 4½ and Randy 3. Joy is taking piano lessons and enjoying them. Between those activities and the hectic ones of a doctor's wife, she finds her life a full one. Mary Lou Southard Fuller has a five-year-old son Dave. Anyone going through Hoboken, N. J., can bring us up to date on news of Richard and Gloria Grimeson Mayes.

Toledo, Ohio, residents are Joe and Beth Steane Curl. Joe is corporate furnace engineer for Owens-Corning Fiberglass Corp. His job involves a lot of traveling, but Beth fills in time by being president of the couples club at church, a director of the Woman's Association at church, circle chairman at church, taking a course in investments and finance at the University, being a den mother for 8-year-old Steve, room mother for 6-year-old Tom, and entertainer for Mary 3½. Near neighbors are James and Phyllis Riridon Wilce with Jimmy 8 and Libby 5½. Jim is with Libbey Glass Sales.

Byron and Nancy Mills Crain have moved to Grand Rapids, Mich., where Byron is branch manager for Addressograph-Multigraph. After three moves in as many years, Jennifer 13, Charles 10 and David 5 make friends easily. Nancy says the schools are excellent. She has a Cub Scout den and enjoys painting and hospital volunteer work. A delightful Abner Yokum letter from Bob and Mary Jane Redmann Whittier corrected our report that they live on a farm (even though the address says "farm"). They have a 100-year-old house, but the only crop is a half acre of lawn and the livestock is their son's turtle. Bob is a manufacturer's representative in the Northeast.

Josie Frank Zelov writes from New London "with amends to the Skipper P. R. Schratz of the tender Fulton. Randy is engineer and repair officer aboard." She had lunch with Marlis Bluman Powell and Di Roberts Gibson during Alumnae Council weekend. Babs Harvey is still with General Foods but now works directly with marketing on advertising booklets, packaging new products and recipe development. Her products are Baker's chocolate and coconut, Log Cabin syrups, Minute rice and Minute tapioca. Ralph and Roberta Trager Cohen have moved to a large brick colonial house on a very neglected 2/3 acre — still in Bethesda. Bert says there's lots of work to be done but plenty of room for Emily 9 (now in her third year of piano lessons and first of ballet), Margie 6, and Nancy 4. Marcia Dorfman Katz proves that one can be pretty energetic even in the Big City. She goes to exercise classes and has also become an avid bowler, while sedentary pursuits include the ballet and theater in New York. In the summer the Katzes move to the country, where Irwin enjoys sailing and Amy 5 and Mike 2 enjoy everything. Once a year they go to Boston for a visit with Jean Wolf Yozell, who holds down a three-day-per-week social welfare job outside and four children inside.

June will see Bob and Jane Wassung Adams settling in the nation's capital while Bob earns his M.A. in business administration at George Washington University. They have enjoyed New London, where Bob, now a Lt. Cmdr., was on the C. G. Cutter 10 days out and 20 in. Pris 10 is in Brownies and ballet school, Jennifer 6 is in kindergarten, and Mindy 2 keeps Jane at home, although she's found time to sing and give voice lessons. Mary Young Ingham's husband John formed part of the guard for the MacMillan-Kennedy Bermuda conference. While he was on duty, a warehouse full of dynamite and combustible liquids caught fire about 150 yards from their home. Aside from dramatic events of this nature, Mary does advertising and mental hospital volunteer work. She also helps with Brownies and has started collecting stamps. Peggy 9 has two hours of homework each evening, which gives Mary something else to struggle with. Sue 7 is also in school, and Bill 5 starts next fall. Albert and Nancy Lou Parliament Hawkes had a marvelous European trip. They started in Scotland, where Nan Lou sampled haggis, thence to London, where they walked for miles and saw several plays. Before going to Paris they caught Richard III at Stratford. In France they hired a car and driver and saw the chateaux, Mont St. Michel, Normandy and Rouen (where they met Fernandel). The babysitter said Grace 8, John 5 and Emily 3 were delightful, so Nan Lou is looking forward to more travel. Ralph and Isabelle Oppenheim Gould went to Florida for Christmas and froze. Bob 8 and Betsy 4 swam only once. They did, however, drive all over southern Florida and particularly enjoyed the Everglades. Isabelle's job as foreign policy section chairman for her local LWV has meant many meetings to discuss the proposed trade expansion act.

Mary Lou Southard Fuller reports that the fourth child is the easiest but does make more work, particularly when combined with school schedules: Kathy is in nursery school from 9-11:30, Dave in Kindergarten from 12-2:30, Johnny in first grade from 12:15-4:15. The Boston Theater Guild was a little richer for the attendance of Paul and Rhoda Freed Mann, and they felt the richer too. A picture of their children indicates that Andrew 1 looks like Mom and Susan 3 is a real pixie. Anne McLearn Fussell enjoyed a recent CC Club meeting, where she saw Al Hess Crowell, Janet Baker Tenney, and Georgia Kane Schrader. Anne's sister is a senior at Carleton and has high praise for Dr. Shain. Anne finds her life quite full with 2½-year-old Susan who talks non-stop and 9-month-old Sandra who is learning to walk—quite a feat for a 22-pounder. First trip West this year for Al Hess Crowell and Nancy Kearns Morris, but they missed each other by just one week. Both husbands had business combined with pleasure (skiing at Squaw Valley for the Crowells and sightseeing in San Francisco and Great Northwest for the Morrises, accompanied by oldest son, Danny 8). Both classmates paid fleeting visits to Mary Clark Shade.

Nancy Chester Cole writes from Milwaukee that her activities consist of golf, swimming, entertaining children (daughters Connie 8 and Cindy 5½), feeding and caring for assorted cats and two Great Danes, and doing volunteer work. She visited Julie Jackson Long last summer and hopes that Julie and her three girls will return the visit this year. Bob and Barbara Earnest Cunningham are located in Tenaflly, N. J., from which Bob commutes to New York as Supervisor of Opinion Research for AT&T. Barb is very active in local and state Junior Women's Club work. She has been doing free-lance writing and has prospects of publishing a children's book about their three-legged dog. As incidental time consumers she has Scott 12, Mark 10, Amy 7 and Laurie 5.

For those who wonder where members of the Class of 1950 call home, we can report that 46 stayed in Connecticut and 30 got no farther than New York, with 27 more in the other New England states. 21 of us chose the Far West and 16 the South. The Midwest claims 35, Middle Atlantic states 54, and 9 live overseas. If this doesn't add up, it's due to lack of addresses for some of our members.

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. Robert P. Katz (Claire Goldschmidt), 143 North Whitney St., Hartford, Conn.

BORN: to Walter and Vaughan Groner Spilsbury a fourth son, Hugh G., on Nov. 20 in Huntington, N. Y. (Vaughan reports that this baby is divine! His three older brothers aged 7½, 6 and 4 also think he is the greatest, so life is quite smooth for Vaughan while this lasts); to Walter and Nancy Clapp Miller a fourth child, first daughter, Kathryn Louise, on Apr. 16 in Eastchester, N. Y.; to Walter and Inez Marg Hemlock a third daughter, Dianne Marie, on Apr. 23 in Hartford, Conn.; to Bob and Claire Goldschmidt Katz a third daughter, Wendy Gabrielle, on Apr. 29 in Hartford, Conn.; to Skip and Mary Pennywit Lester a second child, first son, Luke Fleet, on May 2 in Summit, N. J.

At a very recent planning session of the new board of the greater Hartford Conn. College Alumnae Club it was found that 1951 was extremely active, for among the officers are Connie Kelly Mellen, corresponding secretary; Janet Strickland LeGrow, vice president; Claire Goldschmidt Katz, membership chairman; and Pamela Farnsworth French, adviser.

Winter newcomers to the Hartford area were M. M. Suckling Sherts and Bill and two towheads, Kathy 7 and Billy 5. Since they live less than a mile from me, we had a nice visit, with our four children playing considerably in the basement rec room while we gabbed upstairs. Though Bill's graduate training at Harvard was in business, he now is with a paper company. He came on from Scottsdale, Ariz., ahead of the family and found a lovely home. This saved M. M. much tribulation, since she had only to move in once they arrived after a fairly difficult auto trip across the country in early January. M. M. reports that Jo Pelkey Shepard looks wonderfully the same, and that her husband Chuck is inaugurating some exciting educational ideas in the new private school he heads in Scottsdale. M. M. and Bill had a delightful impromptu get-together at their home with Bill and Jan Strickland LeGrow and Sid and Livvie Brock Howe and their three lovely youngsters. M. M. has also been in touch with Diana Weeks Berry, who was scheduled to visit West Hartford but was delayed. Henry has been transferred and they will be moving from the Philadelphia area to the suburban New York City area, probably somewhere in Connecticut.

Through Marilyn Whitum, whom we met at a political fund-raising "show" in Glastonbury, I learned that Lois Banks was back in the East after several years in Pittsburgh. After graduation Lois earned a bachelor of divinity degree at the Univ. of Chicago, but she felt that work in that field was not what she had hoped, so she then worked and studied evenings until she recently obtained an M. A. in economics. She took a position as head of research for the N. Y. Federal Reserve Bank this winter, and is living in NYC. Her job entails writing publications serving all of New York State, twelve counties in New Jersey, and one in Connecticut. It is a "rat race" just to keep abreast of the research she must do for her writing.

I dropped in to see Lois Allen Saffier and her baby Robin. Lois is blessed with a relatively undemanding offspring, who lets her sleep late in the mornings, among other happy traits. She played happily and quietly in her crib while Lois was recounting her trials with the telephone company and Western Union in reaching Ann Andrews Paxton and her family vacationing on Cape Cod late last summer. They were not able to get together in person but did talk on the phone and catch up on news. Ann and Harold, a neurosurgeon practicing in Portland, Ore., have a daughter 3 and a son 2.

Jim and Pat Carnes Stuff do a good bit of moving around, since he is a construction superintendent for a firm which builds chemical plants. So far they have stayed in the South, which they enjoy. At the time Pat wrote, she was preparing to move from Florence, Ala., back to a former base of operations, Tampa, Fla.

Inez Marg Hemlock has had a busy time recently with husband Walt ill and hospitalized for an operation. He is recuperating satisfactorily at home. Enjoying late winter vacations were Henry and Joan Andrew White, who spent a week skiing in Vermont, and Dick and Sue Bergstrom Campbell basking in March sunshine in Bermuda, where they golfed daily at the Mid-Ocean Club. Bobbie Wiegand Pillote's family's cottage at Bethany Beach, Md., was lost in the March storm, though Roldab Northrup Cameron's family's place at Rehoboth Beach, located two blocks back from the ocean, was spared. Marilyn Cobbledick Johnson continues her active interest in church work and the National YMCA Youth Committee, from her new home base in E. Palestine, Ohio. In March Dr. and Mrs. Cobbledick had an opportunity to visit Lynn and Fred when college business took them to Ohio.

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. George M. Covert (Norma Neri), 49 Blueberry Lane, Avon, Conn.

BORN: to Dick and Shirley Lukens Rosseau a daughter, Ann Lukens, on Apr. 10. The Rosseaus have two other children, Ricky 8 and Susan 6½. They left Milwaukee in June for Pomona, Calif. They lived in Whittier a few years ago and were happy to move back to the area.

Sidney Brown Kincaid writes, "Still in Sao Paulo (Brazil) and enjoying our new house and lovely yard. This year we have oranges, lemons, pears and persimmons in the garden. The twins are seven and loving first grade at the American school. Carl seems to be artistic and is a tremendous help to his mother on all her projects. Both are the same size, although Carolyn is leggy as a colt." Sid's activities include church work, theater sets, portraits and landscapes in oils, and Christmas card designing. When she wrote, the Kincaids were anticipating a September leave in the U. S.

Betty Zorn Mettler included a handsome snapshot of her three daughters and son Freddie in her Christmas card and reports that Rolly's business, Mettler Associates, Business Brokers, is now a going concern. The Mettlers are getting involved in local politics but in opposite parties, which makes for lively discussion. Another picture was of Alan and Janice Weil Libman's baby Julie. Alan is with Monroe Business Machines and hopes to go west with the company. Ann Ball Rose spent a busy fall organizing a cooperative nursery that son Jeff attends daily. Ann teaches once a week. Amy is now a wild but winning 1½. A newly acquired Hillman-Minx keeps Ann mobile while Don travels, and makes possible a busy round of church activities, duplicate bridge, and Great Books course. Louise Durfee has been transferred from the staff of the corporate general counsel to Mobil Oil Co.'s office of general counsel. Durf vacationed in Europe last summer.

Joan Purtell Cassidy writes, "I taught junior high for a year before marriage. The next four years we traveled and finally moved to Pittsburgh, Pa., after Warren's release from the Marine Corps. A year later an opportunity for him with his father's insurance agency here in Lynn, Mass., brought us to our present address. . . . Our twins, Julie Abbe and J. Warren III are now 7½, good students and good athletes at the local "Y." Philip 5½ is preparing for 1st grade in September and Susan 4 is our youngest. We are enjoying permanence in our city, participating in family activities, various organizations and the political life. This past summer we got up our courage to go family camping in the White Mts. We hope to do it again."

I called Julie Hovey Slimmon at her West Hartford home and found her recovering from a bout with the flu and participation in the Jr. League follies. Sound effects for our conversation were provided by Julie's two little girls, Jamie 2½ and Ann Heywood 1½. Julie is a member of a Jr. League singing group which goes to convalescent homes three or four times a month to entertain and lead group singing. Jim's insurance agency is flourishing, and the Slimmons together enjoy paddle tennis, at which Jim is particularly adept. Julie heard recently from Helen Fricke Mathieson, who in less than a year moved from New Jersey, to Pittsburgh, to Chagrin Falls, Ohio, and produced a son Peter to keep Peggy and Andy company. Helen recently had dinner with Gert Perkins Oliva and Mary Seaman Clowney, who were very helpful in getting her settled in Ohio. Drew Mathieson is now district manager of the Elevator Div. of Westinghouse.

Bob and Mary Sessions Morier spent part of their skiing vacation with Dave and Roberta Mauro Thurrott in Franconia, N. H. The Thurrotts, whose home is in Cranston, R. I., rented a house in Franconia for the winter and spent most weekends there. Their children, David 8, Scott 7 and Robin 2½, accompanied them. The boys are already on skis. Dave is in business for himself selling commercial pumps.

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. Robert W. Newman (Jane Rosen), 1 Westwood Road, West Hartford 17, Conn.

BORN: to Paul and Ann Gordon Steele a third child, second son, Gordon, on Sept. 12; to Roger and Bonnie MacGregor Britt a fourth child, third daughter, Elizabeth Harrison, on Oct. 20; to Joseph and Frannie Toro Young a second child, first son, Damian, on Oct. 27; to Charles and Polly Hume Keck a second child, first daughter, Ann Collyer, on Dec. 7; to Walter and Judy Morse Littlefield a daughter, Barrie, on Dec. 11; to Raymond and Marion Skeerker Sader a daughter, Emily Heisman, on Jan. 12.

Hildegard Drexel Hannum reports that their daughter, Lisa Kate, who was born in July '60, is a pleasant distraction from work on her Ph.D. thesis at Univ. of Calif., where Hunter is a professor of German. Hildie is doing some translating for a literary magazine. The dual role of mother and shopkeeper keeps Susan Brown Goldsmith busy. A little over a year ago Joel opened a men's sportswear shop in Chappaqua and recently a ski shop. Freddie Hines Vaile and Chip were transferred to Chicago, where Chip is still with Marshall Field. Freddie is arranging Connecticut Alumnae contacts with high school girls and telling them about the College. She has also been the Conn. College representative to the Woman's College Board of Chicago, an organization to help girls decide to what schools to go. Karen is 6 and in 1st grade; Kippy is 4 and in mischief most of the time.

Back from Texas, Polly Hume Keck's husband Charlie is practicing orthopedic surgery in the Washington, D. C., area. Polly's "intellectual and educational" pursuits have been lost in the shuffle of new home problems and the arrival of Ann. Judy Morse Littlefield writes from West Boxford, Mass., that Bud is now a building contractor. He is building his first house practically alone to gain experience. Judy and Bud are living next door to Gordon and Susan Manley Price. Volunteer work in the Children's Hospital and for the Symphony in Pittsburgh keeps Ann Gordon Steele busy along with three children. Paul, an orthopedic surgeon, is ranked number 2 nationally in Squash Doubles, so they travel around to tournaments. Nina Davis Jackson and Bill have bought a house in Exeter, N. H., where Bill is Scholarships and Admissions officer at Phillips Exeter Academy. Their children are Bobby 7; David 5½; and Katherine, a busy 1½. Nina does volunteer work at the Exeter Hospital and sings in a mixed choral group. Other activities are home and children-centered. They spent a weekend in Vermont in February with Larry and Connie Baker Woolson, who have two boys, Leigh and Woolie.

CO-CORRESPONDENTS: Mrs. William S. Burlen (Betty Sager), 123 I Avenue, Coronado, Calif.

Mrs. Raymond E. Engle (Claire L. Wal-lach), Pennicott Road, Quaker Hill, Conn.

BORN: to John and Nancy Evans Guthrie a fourth son, Harold Glenn (named after his grandfather) on Nov. 7 (We enjoyed seeing the Guthries last August when they were in Coronado for a Catalina, Inc. convention); to Paul and Joan Feldgoise Jaffee a third son, Peter Edward, on Apr. 5; to Rowland and Jan Rowe Dugan a second child, first son, Sean Williams, on Mar. 8; to Dave and Pam Maddux Harlowe a second son, Evan Fairbanks, on Jan. 9 in Yokosuka, Japan; to Ray and Claire Wal-lach Engle a second son, Timothy Grant, on Apr. 11, which, as Claire points out, is also the Submarine Force birthday; to Kent and Ann Cross Frost a second child, first daughter, Martha, in July 1961. (Their son Robert is 4½. The Frosts are still living in Worcester, Mass.).

From Denver, Colo., Dona McIntosh wrote at Christmas time that she was enjoying her temporary leisure after living and working "much too hard" in Colorado Springs. She's had several new job offers but had not decided on anything definite.

1961 was quite an eventful year for Jack and Cindy Fenning Rehm, with the arrival of their second daughter, and Jack's being made N. Y. advertising manager of Suburbia Today. Cindy has seen several of our classmates: Judy Yankauer Astrove, Nancy Weiss Klein, Helene Kestenman Handelman, all members of the Conn. College Club of Westchester; and Lasca Huse Lilly, who with her family has moved back to NYC after a delightful life in Baton Rouge, La. In September Cindy had a gay reunion with Ann Matthews Kent, Ann Heagney Weimer, and Connie Demarest Wry at Connie's house. She saw Mary Lee Matheson Larsen in August when the Rehms were vacationing near Mary Lee's father's house in Connecticut. We are glad to hear that Mary Lee is recovering from her varied ailments suffered last year. Bob and Mary Lee often see Norma Hamady Richards and Ed, who are building a house in Washington, D. C. Last November Cindy saw John and Ann Dygert Brady, who spent some days in NY.

In February 1960 Missy Marcus Feuerstein and Bernie moved to New Rochelle from Bronxville, N. Y. They were transferred temporarily to Chicago, where Bernie was made a vice president of Fairbanks-Morse. When the company moved to New York in June '61, the Feuersteins returned to their New Rochelle home. Bernie is still a partner in the law firm of Scribner and Miller and is also with Fairbanks-Morse. Their two children are Susan 6 and Barbara 3½.

Jeanie Gehlmeyer Greist and family devote the cold winter months to winter sports. In February they combined business with pleasure in upstate New York, skiing, skating and tobogganing. Their two boys, 4½ and 2½, have become great skating enthusiasts. Jeanie's other activities include an Adult Education course, the Concert Series in Westbury, and church work. Bill and I (Betty) had a pleasant surprise visit in January from Barbara Papiolek Hayes' husband Lew, who caught us up on their activities. The Hayeses are living in Westminster, Calif., and Lew's job at American Cyanamid is Animal Health Rep. for Southern Calif. Chris, their eldest child, was born in New London in '56; Don came along in '57 in Calif.; and Holly Ann was born in Iran in '58. Lew's job with Stanford Research Institute took them to Iran in '58, and on their way they visited various European countries. After living in Teheran for a year, they returned to the U.S. via the Far East.

Connie Farley Hunt, Ridgely, and their children, Ridgely (Booner) 3, and Constance (Monnie) 1, have a town house in Hyde Park, Chicago, which Connie describes as being "famous for nuclear fission, the U. of C., and other noble endeavors." Ridgely is an editor with the Chicago Daily News. A Christmas present for Ed and Pam Kent Laak was a promotion for Ed just before the holidays. Pam continues sewing, having just completed a tailoring class, and she has also resumed her dancing.

November brought Rosario Bascon Murillo to NYC, where she enjoyed seeing Ernie Quick, Nancy Maddi Avalone, and Ann Reagan Weeks. Rosario returned home to Bolivia in time to spend Christmas with her husband Oscar and their three children. It was fun to hear from our long lost friend Nina Lane Payne. Nina and John were married in March '60 and are living in Mill Valley, Calif. They have a son, Eric, 1. Nina writes: "I'm mostly being a hausfrau, with great pleasure, and two mornings a week am teaching music and French (by means of a guitar and strange tales) at a nursery school. We live high in the hills at the end of an isolated dirt road, and it's quiet and beautiful." Joanne Williams Harlley and Dick continue to enjoy life in Syracuse, N. Y. Last fall they saw Jan Smith Post and John. On one of his business trips Dick had a chance to visit Kathy Hull Easton and Pete in their lovely ranch style house in Virginia Beach. Kathy writes that they expect to remain rooted there for this final year of Pete's shore duty.

Emilie Camp Stouffer and Dick have moved to Gainesville, Fla., where Dick is Assistant Professor of Plant Pathology at the University of Florida, plant viruses being his specialty. They have two husky sons, Tom 3½ and Scott 2. The Stouffers recently bought their first home and "find that gardening in Florida is an exciting challenge to any back yard botanist." Last summer Mar Robertson Jennings and Bob bought their first home (in the Los Angeles area), into which they moved two days before their second daughter, Anne, was born.

Barbara Garlick Carlson, Evans Flickinger, Martha Flickinger Schroeder and Ted, Connie Demarest Wry and "Scoop," and Ann Heagney Weimer (husband George was in Europe at the time) gathered for dinner before attending the N. Y. Club's Theater Benefit. There they ran into Bill and Cathy Pappas McNamara. While George was in Europe, Ann visited her parents in Massachusetts for three weeks. Since last December the Weimers have been happily settled in their colonial house.

Jan Rowe Dugan and Rowland get together for a weekly evening of bridge with Bob and Sally Ashkins Shephardson. Jan writes, "Bob is building and selling houses like crazy. Sal is busy decorating their gorgeous, brand new home." Rowland, on the other hand, has applied for doctorate study at Trinity College in Dublin, Ireland. They plan to move there in October. Bill and Cynie Linton Evans were transferred to Andrews Air Force Base in Maryland last April.

Our apologies to M'Lee Caledge Daley, who in the March '62 issue was reported to have moved to Saginaw, Mich. She corrects us by stating that she moved to Fairfield, Conn., from Seattle, Wash., almost three years ago, has lived there since, and intends to stay!

In May Devra Newberg Baum and Lester had the opportunity to view the changes and additions to the CC campus while they hunted for a summer cottage in the New London area. Devra writes that their children, Marjorie 5 and Michael 4, were born 11 months apart "and it has taken me this long to get over the shock." Devra is working hard at improving her game of golf and otherwise keeps busy with synagogue, clubs, politics, and a co-operative nursery school. Her daughter Marjorie is in nursery school with Steven Knowlton, son of Betty Snow Knowlton '51. The Baums visited recently with Micky and Mitzi Covitz Rafkin and their children, Holly 6, Billy 4 and John, a 1962 addition to the family. Jan King Evans and Ben have returned to their Washington, D. C., home after spending one year with the Embassy in Cuba. Ben is with the State Department. Their daughter Karla is in nursery school, and Louise was born in October 1960. Jan Smith Post's husband John is busy teaching and working towards his master's degree, while their two children, Stephen and Cindy, are "growing up much too quickly." Barbie Blanchard Craft and Don have been busy in the real estate world, having bought a house in Hamden, Conn., and a ski lodge in Vermont.

Weekly sewing lessons and philanthropy in the Coronado Jr. Women's Club have kept your West Coast correspondent on the go. This year promises to be a busy one for me, as Recording Secretary and Press & Publicity Chairman for the club. The next two issues we return to Claire Wallach Engle.

1955

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. Charles S. Simonds (Cassandra Goss), Argilla Road, Ipswich, Mass.

BORN: to George and Carol Kinsley Murchie a son, Douglas Robertson, on Jan. 10 in Torrington, Conn. (George was ordained and assumed charge of the French Congregational Church in Torrington on Oct. 8. The Murchies spent last summer visiting relatives and doing some sightseeing in Europe); to George and Joan Parsells Schenck a third daughter, Barbara Louise, on Dec. 19 (aside from her many and obvious chores as the mother of three little girls, Joan has found time to join in community activities in Bucyrus, Ohio. Among her interests is a state-wide organization called the Child Conservation League which studies various problems in child rearing in its local branches).

Louise Dieckman Lawson and her husband Blair recently bought and moved into an old 1740 salt box in Morris, Conn. The house, situated on eight acres, which include a lovely brook, has been completely restored, though the friepieces still have the original paneling. Blair is senior engineer in Naugatuck Chemical, a division of U. S. Rubber Co., and Louise is working for IBM as a systems representative. Dottie Beek Kinzie and Ray, who live in Oak Park, Ill., started out 1962 with an interesting three-week trip through the Caribbean. Among their favorite stopping places were Martinique and Caracas. Ray has been made assistant trust officer of the Lake View Trust and Savings Bank.

Attending a small-scale reunion in Boston given on Feb. 17 by Skip and Shirley Smith Earle were Mac and Deedee Deming Bundy, Hal and Donna Bernard Jensen, George and Gussie Heidel Gregory, Peter and Syl Doane Milne, and Avery and Cynnie Myers Young.

After five years in Los Angeles, Chuck and Adele Mushkin Siroh have returned to New York. Adele graduated from UCLA in June 1961 and completed one semester of graduate work in English.

We are on the move again too. We will be at the above address for the summer and will have a permanent one in the fall when Charlie starts business school. At the moment we are both up to our elbows in the "Lodge for Senator" campaign, a most interesting and eye-opening experience.

1956

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. William W. Baker, Jr. (Barbara Hostage), 111 Highland Ave., Cheshire, Conn.

CORRECTION: The announcement of the birth of twins (the first in the class) to John and Diana Dow Farrell gave the name of only one child. The twins, Geoffrey Vernon and Jennifer Vernon, were born on Oct. 24.

MARRIED: Ann Robertson to Charles R. Thompson on Feb. 24 (Charles is a broker at White Weld Co. in New York. Ann is continuing with her decorating business with Mary Roth Benioff under the name of Roth Robertson Interiors.

BORN: to Ronald and Joy Shechtman Mankoff a son, Jeffrey Walker, on May 19, '61 (The Mankoffs visited Joy's home in Hartford last November to show everybody what a native-born Texan looks like. Joy returned to CC and was overcome by the Rec Hall and the beautiful new dorms. What really impressed her was a P. O. box for every girl! Joy and Ronald are enjoying many of Dallas' varied offerings); to Albert and Dee Frankenstein Bono a daughter, Jennifer, on June 22, '61 (They moved into their house the May before Jennifer's arrival and are currently doing some redecorating); to Bob and Ruth Coughlan Wehrer a second daughter, Elizabeth Clare, on Aug. 5, '61 (Bob's Army Reserve Unit was activated last September and he was assigned to Ft. Jackson, S. C. When Ruth wrote, the unit was being transferred to Ft. Benning, Ga., and she expected they would be moving to Columbus, Ga. Ruth comments that a year as an "Army wife" is quite an education!); to LeRoy and Barbara Jenkinson Greenspan a daughter, Julia Beth, on Oct. 9 (Last summer the Greenspans spent two wonderful weeks in Colorado. During the first week they toured from Denver to Colorado Springs and through the Rocky Mt. National Park; the second week they stayed at a ranch and loafed, swam, hiked and fought the altitude); to Herbert and Mary Ann Hinsch Shaffer a second child, first daughter, Pamela, on Oct. 13 (Nancy Rutledge lives just three blocks from the Shaffers. Mary Ann saw Sandy Ryburn Taylor in Dayton in January and again in April); to Ted and Marilyn Dunn Mapes a second child, first son, Brian Jeffrey, on Oct. 13 (Ted and Marilyn managed to get in quite a few ski trips this past winter and have launched their long-considered project of building their own ski lodge in Waitsfield, Vt. This location enables them to ski at Stowe, Mad River and Sugarbush. Ted is still working as an electrical engineer in Hingham); to Pete and Gayle Greenlaw Ingraham a second child, first son, Norman III, on Nov. 20 (Pete has been transferred back to the home office of the Torrington Co. in Torrington, Conn., to start in sales management. They are thrilled about the move, especially Gayle, since she will not be a traveling salesman's "widow" any more. The Ingrahams have loved their 2½ years in Memphis but will be glad to get back to their Yankee friends and families); to Philip and Mary Jane Calaban Wiertel a second child, first daughter, Cathy, on Dec. 10. (The Wierels look forward to spending their summer at Fairfield Beach, a pleasant change after the cold winter); to Bob and Ami Hughes Montstream a daughter, Katharine Moxon (named after Ami's aunt), on Dec. 25 (The Montstreams now live in San Francisco and love it so much that they hope they will be there forever); to Martin and Joyce Schlacht Scher a son, David Howard, on Jan. 18 (They are living in Washington, D. C., where Martin is an attorney for the Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare; to Ted and Sally Eustis Gerkin a third son, David Bradford, on Feb. 2 (Ted was transferred from Miami to Key West in February and is now the commanding officer of the Coast Guard base in Key West); to Paul and Joyce Bagley Rheingold a son, David Bagley, on Mar. 9 (The Rheingolds live in Nahant, Mass., right on the ocean. They had a two-week vacation in Jamaica at Christmas); to Terry and Bobby Wind Fitzsimmons a fourth son, Terrence, on Mar. 15; to Jack and Cynny Korper Porter a son, John Robert, on July 6, '61 (The Porters are presently living in Rhode Island, where Jack is stationed at the Fox Point Hurricane Barrier Project in Providence). ADOPTED: by John and Jan Fleming Haynes a son, John Douglas ("Jed"), born July 13, '61.

Gale Anthony Clifford entertained Dottie Lazzaro Serieka, her two boys (Mike and Steve), and Joyce Bagley Rheingold at lunch in February. One of Dottie's activities is tutoring Spanish to high school students. Gale and Judy Rey-croft gave a shower for Camie Tyson and Anne Detarando '57 shortly after Judy returned from a trip to the Virgin Islands. Gale met Anne Mahoney Makin and Joan Gaddy Abrens in Boston in March for a little reunion. Guy, Gale's husband, just finished his season of recruiting for Raytheon Co. and they now plan to launch into home-improvement activities, painting inside and out. Janet Torpey is still working in the Personnel Dept. at ABC and likes it as much as ever. She has been working hard with the CC club of New York and worked on the annual theater party.

Katrina Seipp is now the secretary to the Assistant to the Publisher of Look and says it is a fascinating job, combining editorial, financial, charitable, art and social areas all at once. Her boss, Ed Korry, was the European editor for many years and an old UP Bureau Chief. Consequently, he has friends in all areas and Trina finds herself writing letters to all sorts of Cabinet members, artists, peers of the realm, etc. She was lucky enough to find an apartment with a terrace and has been spending the weekends trying to coax ivy to grow. Trina spent a few days in the Virgin Islands this past fall and saw Jerry Anderson, who used to be the printer for the CC News; he is now running the Virgin Island Press in St. Thomas. Trina saw Ann Hathaway Sturtevant in February at a gathering given by Jaki Rose. Jaki lives just a few blocks from Trina and works at General Dynamics. Sandy Ryburn Taylor and her family are still in Dayton; they had a rather rough year but are all well now. They recently had a wonderful vacation in Florida.

Cyvia Russian Arons, her husband Marvin, and their two sons, Mark and Jeffery, are in the process of moving to Galveston, Tex., where Marvin will complete his plastic surgery residency at the Univ. of Texas Medical Center. They are moving to a new home there and are very excited about it. Bill and Janet Heim Head are still living in Farmington, N. M., which is located on the edge of the Navajo Indian Reservation. Janet has become quite involved in state and local politics as a precinct worker and as a member of the Young Republicans Club. Farmington is rather hot in the summer, but Bill and Janet are looking forward to weekend trips to Colorado, less than an hour's drive away. Howard and Sue Schwartz Gorham moved in March from a cramped NYC apartment to a small colonial house in Scarsdale, and their little son Eric has been busy learning how to climb stairs. Richard and Carla Strassenmeyer Wilde are looking forward to a second season of summer weekends at their cottage on a lake in northeastern Connecticut. A Sailfish, the first in what they hope will be a small family fleet, is under construction in the basement.

Allison Friend Gansler and her husband moved in February from Massachusetts to Short Hills, N. J. He is Program Manager for Kearfott Co., a division of General Precision, Inc. They are both originally from the Oranges, so it is like home. Jack and Pat Legge Foran had another addition to their family in 1961, only this time it was a dog named "Folly," rather than a baby. Helen Cary Whitney and her family are in Minneapolis, where Bob has two more years to go as a radiology resident. Helen and their son Ken spent three glorious weeks in Massachusetts this past winter enjoying the mountains, snow and skiing. Helen is really stimulated by a seminar called "Frontiers of 20th Century Science," given especially for women science graduates in the Minnesota Plan for the continuing education of women. They hear top men in their fields and meet once every two weeks. Jean Pentz Leonard and her husband will be moving to Danbury, where Walter has been transferred as store manager of the Goodyear store; this will be their seventh move in 4½ years.

Harv and Irma Levine Alperin are in Terryville, N. Y., where Irma has joined an amateur community orchestra as a pianist and has already given two concerts. Harv was in Japan for a month last fall, attending a conference, visiting various universities and research labs and having a marvelous time. Sally Dawes Hauser has been busy working on the cancer drive and as one of our regional agents. Communicable diseases have kept them isolated since spring arrived. Faith Gulick was promoted to the rank of assistant professor at Colby College. Al and Joan Mikkelsen Etzel took a trip to the Virgin Islands in March. Herb and Anne Buchman Newman will be leaving California when Herb gets out of the Air Force and returning to New York, where Herb will enter private practice of pediatrics. Anne has been working part-time for the state in their adoption program. In April of '61, they spent three weeks in Japan, a most fascinating experience. Arlyn Clore Lippincott wrote just after their return from a marvelous week at Sea Island, Ga. Hod has stopped his daily commuting to New York and come back to Philadelphia to work. Their two children, Mark and Arlyn and her various community activities (hospital benefit fair, Gray Ladies and Jr. League) keep Arlyn busy.

Jim and Jo Milton Perkins and their three daughters have bought a home in Connecticut. Jim is still in the publishing business in New York but with a new firm, Holt, Rinehart and Winston. David and Jean Harris Whitney bought a "fake farmhouse" in Fairfield and have been spending all available hours redecorating it. They also have a cottage in Maine, which they rent to deserving souls from mid-May through October.

CORRESPONDENT: Mrs. Robert A. Johnson (Judy Crouch), 83 Hilltop Road, Mystic, Conn.

MARRIED: Elizabeth Kirch to John Seaton in Des Moines on Sept. 20 (Libby and John are living in NYC, where John is working for a public accounting firm on Wall St.); Nancy Crowell to Willis C. Kellogg on Nov. 18 in Milford, Conn. (Among Nancy's attendants were Kathy Mann, daughter of Chuck and Diana Witherspoon Mann, and Judy Crouch Johnson. Nancy and Bill are living in Lexington, Mass., while they commute to their respective jobs at the Mass. General Hospital and Miter Corp.); Carroll Smith to Charles E. Rosenberg on July 22, '61 (Alex Taylor Coburn was matron of honor. Charles is assistant professor at the Univ. of Wisconsin in the departments of History and History of Science. Having passed her orals, Carroll is now writing her dissertation. She was awarded a grant from the Social Science Research Council); Toni Titus to Donald Van Cleft Fray in January 1961; Doris Simons to Joel Meltzer on Nov. 26 (The Meltzers live in Riverdale, where Joel manufactures men's shirts. Doris has retired to being a full-time housewife after having worked for two years as production co-ordinator for an industrial film producer.)

BORN: to Bob and Judy Pearce Bennett a son, William, on June 27, '61 (The Bennetts are now living in Somerville, N. J., where they have bought an old house. Bob has joined American Cyanamid as a research chemist); to Bob and Elaine Manasevit Friedman a daughter, Dorian Randy, on June 27, 1961; to George and Pat Treat Howey a second daughter, Kathryn Lynn, on Aug. 9 (Kathryn's older sister Susan is now 2. George is working for the brokerage firm of Tucker, Anthony and L. L. Day in Hartford); to Jim and Bev Vahlteich Daigle a son, James Leon IV, on Sept. 15 (Bev is enjoying staying at home as housewife and mother and keeps in touch with many classmates); to David and Esther Skokan Bennett a daughter, Dana Susan, on Sept. 22 (The Bennetts have built a new home in Torrington, Conn.); to Donald and Toni Titus Fray a daughter, Karen Elizabeth, in October (The three Frays live in their new home in Levittown, N. J., and Don commutes to Camden, where he is a security administrator for RCA); to Ken and Sandy Weldon Johnson a son, Mark Frederick, on Oct. 16; to A. J. and Gretchen Stefke St. John a daughter, Lisa Ann, in February '61 (The St. Johns, during the past four years, have lived in the Bahamas, Philadelphia, the Virgin Islands, and currently Vancouver, Wash.); to John and Meg Weller Harkins a son, Andrew Borton, on May 2 (During the coming year they will be in Lugano, Switzerland, where John will teach English at the American School); to Stewart and Emily Graham Wright a daughter, Sarah Stewart, on Sept. 4 (In June, Stew will begin his internship at the New England Medical Center in Boston); to Len and Sylvia Pasternack Marx a son, Richard Henry, on July 4, '61 (After three years of teaching 4th grade, Sylvia is content with housekeeping and sailing the Marx yawl Lia Maria during the summer); to Jim and Nancy Stiles Degnan a daughter, Rachael Bradford, on Dec. 21 (Jim and Nancy have moved to Somers, Conn. Jim is with the Hartford National Bank); to Harte and Ann Henry Crow a daughter, Catherine Henry, on July 2, '61 (Harte is finishing his first year of residency at Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland. Ann reports having seen Wendy Allen Wheeler); to Richard and Helen Morrison Elkus a son, Kevin, on Apr. 17 (Quote Helen: "sister Mimi and brother Rickey are doting admirers"); to Ken and Sandra Weldon Johnson a son, Mark Frederick, on Oct. 16 (Last June Ken received his MBA from the Univ. of Chicago. He is now an accountant in Park Ridge, Ill. Free time at the Johnsons' is spent remodeling an old house. Katie Lindsay and Sandy are the only two from our class in their CC Club); to Bob and Sue Krim Greene a daughter, Leslie, on Sept. 2 (Bob is a dentist in Freeport, N. Y. Sue works part-time for IBM as a technical writer and is Chairwoman of Publicity for the CC Club of Nassau-Suffolk. She reports that Elaine Diamond Berman and husband are in Virginia, as Richard is with the Army at Ft. Lee); to Ed and Sadie Greene Burger a daughter, Heidi, on May 9 (They are living in Beaufort, S. C., where Ed is an Army Flight Surgeon); to Bob and Peggy Shaw Read a son, Kenneth, in June (The Reads are settling into their dream house in Seekonk, Mass.).

Ensign Mary James is a WAVE stationed in Washington, D. C., living in Arlington. Mary is a Communications Watch Officer under Adm. George W. Andrews, Chief of Naval Operations, and loves her work (classified). The WAVES chose Mary to represent them in the annual Cherry Blossom Festival, in which she was borne on a float and escorted by a Navy officer. Henry and Elsie Loeb Loeb and daughter Elizabeth are enjoying the marvelous southern California weather. Henry, a Navy doctor, will be stationed there for two years. Joseph and Gwyneth Harris Mooney are stateside temporarily. Joe is still stationed in Morocco. Sue McGovern Herndon, husband Roy and their two children, Roy Lee III and Kathryn Ann, are living in Los Angeles. Roy is a resident in internal medicine at UCLA Medical Center. Elaine Manasevit Friedman, Bob, and daughter, Dorian Randy, are living in Fairfield. When she has time, she works in theatrics and writes. Living near her is Sandy Horn Elstein. Vern and Marilyn Gordon Vosburgh, who live in Cheshire, Conn., have three children; Lisa 6, Greg 5 and Jeff 3. Vern is salesman in New England for Riverside-Alloy division of the H. K. Porter Co. Another Cheshire resident is Georganne Hemingway Prince, mother of two boys, who still finds time for water-skiing and reading. Mardy Wallace Glass has two children, J. D. 5 and Wendy 2. In addition to two daughters, Barbara Billings Supplee has a female Golden Retriever to care for. Judy Coughlin is teaching in Melrose, Mass., living in Boston. She occasionally sees Cedee White Smith in Ballston Lake, N. Y., and Joan Kosches Rodger, who has two children, Terri 4 and Stephen 2. Joan Sampson Schmidt and husband Dick are living in Burlington, Vt. Joan is Administrative Assistant at Univ. of Vermont's Fleming Museum and is secretary of the local LWV. The Charles Coady Browns (Jane Buxton), with their two children, Peter 3 and Coady 2, live in Brookline, Mass. Charles is training in pathology at the N. E. Deaconess Hospital, Boston. Azalea McDowell Leckzas and husband Manfred are living outside Annapolis. They have a one-year-old son. Azalea reports having seen Sally Luchars McCarthy and Jean Sangdahl, who has been teaching at a private school in Vermont. The Richard Ferraros (Ann Whittaker) and their children, Peter 2 and Laura 1, are living in Marblehead, Mass. Gerri Maher Regan has the largest family of all — 23 boys plus her own two sons. The Regans have charge of a senior dorm at Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., where Tom teaches English. Nancy Tuttle Ivers has two children, Ricky 3 and Linda 1. She has seen Libby Kirch Seaton and Joan Goodson Ruef. Norie Heston Shipley needs no outside occupation, as her three children, Virginia 5, Susan 3 and Donald 1, keep her occupied. Sandy Maxfield Shaw has retired from her job as social worker and is house hunting in the Cohasset, Mass., area.

John and Antoinette Magaraci Foster (Toni) have two boys, John 3 and Mark 2. Toni has taught third grade, has been an interior decorator for a furniture store, and is choir directress and organist at the Naval AF Base chapel in Charleston, S. C. The Fosters will be living on Yerba Buena, off the coast of San Francisco, as John is in charge of the Oceanographic Unit on Treasure Island. Caco Myers Bailon keeps busy with Carolyn 3, Paul 2, Jr. League, and class agent work. She hears from Betty Weldon Schneider, who types briefs for her husband Ron, now at law school in Minneapolis. In January, Loraine Haefner received her M.A. in physiological sciences from Hunter College. She is working for Cornell Medical College. She managed to schedule a course in Language of Music given at the Metropolitan Museum in New York. Joel and Barbara Wasserstrom Alpert, Norman 3 and Mark 20 mos., live in Boston. Joel is a teaching and research fellow in pediatrics at Children's Hospital. Cathy Rose, while working in a book shop on the U. C. campus in Berkeley, had a chance encounter with Debbie Woodward, who has completed her Master's in political science. Cathy is now working for a book company in Oakland.

Barbara Garlock Hinkley is president of the MacDuffie School for Girls Alumnae Association and does volunteer work at the Wesson Maternity Hospital!

in Springfield, Mass. Connie Stein Tuton retired from her job at Polaroid in January. She saw Betsy Beggs Carson at Nancy Stevens' wedding. Earl and Nancy Hamilton MacCormac are at Davidson College. Earl is preparing a new humanities program. Jim and Rachael Adams Lloyd and daughter Rebecca are at Colgate Univ., where Jim teaches physics. Rae has had a female lead in Chekhov's Uncle Vanya, has taught dance and learned to sew and to drive their V. W. Dottie Dederick received her M. A. in Spanish from Middlebury College last summer. In May she gave a shower for Anne Detarando, who is to marry Allan Stephan Hartman on June 16. In Wallingford for the weekend were Nancy Keith, Ray and Bernelle Curtis Millan and Bill and Flo Bianchi Ahern.

Judy Hart received her Master's degree from the Univ. of Bridgeport last summer and has been teaching in the 4th grade in West Hartford. She saw a good bit of José and Ann Chamblis LaCabra during the summer and reports that they have been in Durham, N. C., where José is working on his Ph.D. in physics. Joan Schwartz Buehler is working for Random House in the Juvenile Book Dept. and keeps in touch with Jeri Fluegelman Josephson and Pegotty Namm.

The members of the class wish to express their sympathy to president Nancy Keith on the loss of her mother and to Judy Allen on the loss of her father.

CO-CORRESPONDENTS: Mrs. Edson Beckwith (Jane Houseman), 175 West 93rd St., New York 25, N. Y.

Mrs. Richard Parke (Carol Reeves), 309 West 104th St., New York 25, N. Y.

BORN: to Bruce and Gail Nuckolls Phillips a son, Ethan Dwight, on Nov. 16; to David and Sharon O'Gorman Glass a son, Glenn Sherman, on Aug. 25; to Al and Judy Peck Krupp a son, Peter Bruce, on Aug. 31; to Dick and Sue Borkow Ulin a son, David Laurence, on Aug. 21.

In Nashua, N. H., Gail Nuckolls Phillips is busy with house and baby but still has some time to keep up her painting. Gail's husband Bruce is a lawyer. Marlene Rapp Bisceglia's family has bought a house in Ardsley, N. Y. She has taken a course in landscaping and gardening and will be helping out at the Community Nursery School to which young David will go in the fall. We learned from Marlene that Kerry and Lou Dagata Cook now have three boys: Kerry, Peter and David; that Bea Rittenberg has been combining part-time work at New York Hospital with courses at NYU; that Pat Hermes is still holding forth at the Famous Artists School in Westport, Conn.; and that Jane Gersen Gilchrist and Scott are living in Michigan until late spring when Scott gets released from the service.

Arline Hinkson Saison and Bea Rittenberg went to one of the NY Philharmonic concerts conducted by Boulanger and ran into Mr. Quimby of the CC Music Dept. and Mrs. Quimby. Doris Niemand Rendin says Jim Jr. and the new house have kept the family busy but that she and Jim managed to get in some skating and skiing this past winter. Someone else who has enjoyed winter sports is our own Massachusetts schoolmarm, Pegotty Namm. Pegotty gets to NYC occasionally for the weekend.

Arizona Vacation Dept.: David and Sharon O'Gorman Glass were there for a month to visit Sharon's family. Spring brought Carl Denney back from his 13-month tour of duty on Wake Island. He met, in addition to his daughter and his patient wife Joan Michaels Denney, a new son, Mark, who was born last Sept. 4. For the next four years the Denney family will be in New London, where Carl will teach Humanities at the CGA. Molly Fluty Roraback's Chip is 4, Andy 2 and Margaret almost a year old. The Rorabacks did some skiing this winter and saw Gerry and Sue Carvalho Efinger and John and Peggy Morris Stokes. Peter and Sue Miller Lowenstein hang out in a town house in Alexandria, Va. Peter has graduated from Georgetown Law Center, has passed his bar exam, and is working for the US Securities & Exchange Commission in Washington.

Church activities, a discussion group and volunteer work keep Judy Johnson VanderVeer busy when she isn't teaching. She and Gerry found time for nine days of skiing last February. Eddie Reddig Creighton writes from Seattle, where Rob is finishing some engineering training. Eddie worked at Boeing Aircraft until December, and now is busy with Coast Guard Wives activities, including welcoming newcomers to the Pacific Northwest. She says there are a number of CC grads in the area, but not from '58. Eddie has asked us to pass on her personal thanks to those '58ers who contributed to the 50th Anniversary Fund drive.

Bill and Sally Wilson Lovejoy vacationed in Florida in February. Bill, who will be an M.D. in June, will be interning at Columbia Presbyterian in NYC next year, so the Lovejoys will remain in Manhattan. Sue Borkow Ulin's husband Dick is winding up his medical school activities this June, as is Judy Peck Krupp's husband Al.

Joining those of the class abroad is Mary Male Savage, for Jim is stationed with the army in Germany. The whole family has settled there with papa until he is released from the service.

Your co-correspondents are fine!

CO-CORRESPONDENTS: Mrs. Nathan Oakes, Jr. (Carolyn Keefe), 100 Mather Lane, Bratenahl 8, Ohio.

Mrs. Robert Nels Thompson (Joan Peterson), 1031 Noel Drive, Menlo Park, Calif.

MARRIED: Margaret (Marg) Wellford to Owen B. Tabor on Dec. 19. (Dale Woodruff was a member of her wedding party, and Em Hodge Brasfield was able to attend the wedding. Marg is now working part time at Montaldos while she completes her M.A. in English. Owen is in his final year at Duke Medical School); Nancy Savin to Immanuel Wilhelm on Jan. 28; Anne German to William D. Dobbs in Middletown, Conn., on Jan. 27 (Margaret Henderson Whitmore, Ginger Reed and Martha [Marty] Olin were in the wedding. After two weeks in Barbados, the couple returned to New York, where Bill is associated with Real Estate Division of S. H. Kress & Co.); Kathleen Walsh to William Francis Rooney Jr. (Mimi Adams Bitzer was Kathy's matron-of-honor and her husband John was an usher. Present for the affair were Ann Burdick, Linda Brown Beard and Sandy Sidman Larsen); Gretchen Weinandy to Roger D. Clemence on Aug. 19, '61 (Roger is currently studying for his Master's in Landscape Architecture and Gretchen is a research bibliographer for the Chairman of the Anthropology Department at Univ. of Penn. Next year the Clemences will live in Ann Arbor, Mich., where Roger will teach at the School of Architecture at the Univ. of Michigan); Joan Peterson to Robert Nels Thompson on June 16; Ann Seidel to Charles Austin Craig, Jr., in West Englewood, N. J., on May 19 (Miriam Mims Matthews came from San Francisco, where she is now set up in her own apartment and in a new job, to be Ann's maid of honor. Present for the occasion were Ann German Dobbs and her husband; Sue Meyers Allman, regrettably without Tom, who was at sea; Connie Snelling, who is currently teaching history and English in a Winchester, Mass., junior high school while making plans for another trip to San Francisco and the Seattle World's Fair this summer; Marna Leerburger, who is looking forward to a fascinating six weeks in Africa, visiting Somaliland, Kenya, Nairobi, and Tanganyika with her father, who is being sent by the U. N. to investigate the use of electrical power there; Joan Buckler Claybrooke, who has completed three years at Goucher for her degree and who is now working for a social security company; and Carolyn Keefe Oakes and her husband. Ann and Chuck, who is a non-conservative banker at Chase Manhattan, honeymooned in Bermuda and are now living in New York).

BORN: to Albert and Elizabeth Marcia Corbett Perry a son, Kenneth, on Sept. 5, '60 and a daughter, Anne Elizabeth, on Dec. 6, '61 (Marcia has stopped her piano teaching for a while because of moving and the children. Her husband is completing Nuclear Power Training and will soon be part of the Nuclear Navy as a full lieutenant); to Lawrence and Olivia (Muffy) Hallowell Huntington a second son, Charles Stewart Butler, on Jan. 21 (Muffy's husband is working in the research department of an investment firm and attending night law school as well. In June they plan to go to Bermuda, where Larry is racing in the Newport-Bermuda race); to the Zabars, Roselle (Rusty) Krueger, a son, Joseph Daniel, on June 2, '61 (Rusty and her husband have a new custom-built split-level home. They have travelled extensively to Europe, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Las Vegas, California and Florida); to John and Cecily (Ceci) Hamlin Wells a son, John Robert III, on Jan. 6; to Herbert and Jan Bremer Parker a daughter, Elizabeth Ann, on Feb. 8; to Stuart and Jill Davidson Krueger a son, David Allan, on Mother's Day last May; to Ken and Dianne (Dai) Sorta O'Dwyer a son, Brendan Stephen, in September (Ken is engaged in qualifying as a reactor operator for the US Nuclear Navy, while Dai's life includes "trips — to market and back and a job of domestic relations and child care, home economics, baby interpreter, and playpen management); to Jeffrey and Emily Wade Kittross a daughter, Laura Harrison, on Feb. 4; to Wally and Diane Beckwith Sisson a daughter, Pamela, in December; to Clifford and Martha Veale von Lamberg a son, Karl, on Sept. 22; to Ed and Martha Stegmaier Speno a son, Edward Bradley, Jr., on Jan. 21; to Preston and Linda Hess Schiuitz a second son, Robert Hartwell, on Feb. 24; to Butch and Holly Wrampelmeier White a third child, first daughter, Erin, on Apr. 11; to Tom and Margot Sebring Southerland a daughter, Margaret Welsh, on Sept. 13; to Bill and Annette Casavant Elias a son, William Edward, on Apr. 17, '61 (Bill is the navigator aboard the U.S.S. Albacore in Portsmouth, N. H.); to Jack and Edmea Silveira McCarthy (foreign student from Brazil who studied with the class of '59) a son, Jack.

Ted and Elaine Anderson Thiesmeyer have been at Cornell Grad School since graduation. Both of them got their M.A.'s in English Literature and are currently working on dissertations for their Ph.D.'s, while teaching two sections each of Frosh English as well. Another couple pursuing Ph.D.'s at Cornell Grad School is John and Marilyn Sheehan Watson. John's work is in the Child Development field, while Marilyn is in Philosophy. Keeping them busy and complicating work on their dissertations somewhat is their daughter, Joanne, born in June '61.

Judy Eichelberger Gruner is happily settled in a suburb of D. C. and teaching 8th grade history and English. Her husband is working for the defense department. They are anticipating an overseas assignment in Latin America. Already in the foreign service life and loving it is Julie Solmssen Steedman. They are in Manila, where Julie is teaching 11th grade history and economics, and her husband is working for the State Department. Betsy Regan is still abroad in Germany, leading an exciting and busy life, although she intends to return this August. Edie Berkowitz Hargreaves is now living in England, having met and married an English boy. After graduation Edie studied at London School of Economics. She met her husband in Vienna and was married at home in August '60, with David Fenton as best man. Edie did social work training and is now a medical social worker in a children's hospital, while her husband is busy teaching chemistry in a boys' school. Torrey Gamage Fenton saw Edie when she was here at Christmas. Torrey is still doing social work in New London.

Her two children keep Mimi Adams Bitzer busy, as well as her Junior League work, which includes puppeteering and reading to a blind graduate student. John has finished courses for his M.B.A. at Southern California and is now working for Avery Adhesive Products as the under director of corporate planning. Mimi sees Emmy Lou Zahniser Baldrige, who is quite busy running an employment service in L.A., dealing with Technical, Executive, Professional, General Office, and Secretarial personnel. Her husband Jerry is a marketing consultant to McKinsey & Co.

In Washington, D. C. are Ann Burdick, who is an Interior Decorator, and Dorothy (Jake) Davis, who is working at the American University. Pursuing interesting jobs in New York are Judy Bassin, Marna Leeburger, and Joyce MacRae. Judy is a free-lance interior designer for J. P. Maggio Assoc., specializing in interior architecture and design for offices. Marna just celebrated two years with the Junior Red Cross and is now Senior School Consultant. Joyce is Assistant Fabric Editor of Vogue, where she consults fabric manufacturers and reports on trends in color, texture, etc., and where she works with fashion designers and auto manufacturers and advises on the latest color trends.

Carlene Newburg is teaching English to 7th graders in Belmont, Mass., after completing her Master's in teaching at Harvard in February. Leslie Crutchfield Tompkins is teaching art and English at a day school in Charlotte, N. C., while her husband is working with a law firm, having graduated from Harvard Law in '61. Faye Cauley Gage is teaching English in a high school in Evanston, where her husband works on his Ph.D. at the Univ. of Chicago. A teaching team is Fern Alexander Campbell and her husband. Fern teaches French and will be introducing German too at a Rhode Island high school, while Chris teaches math and English at Providence Country Day. Still another teacher is Carole Garcia Fricke, who taught junior high math until last October when her husband, Noel, was reactivated as a first lieutenant. They hope to be back in D. C. in the fall so that Noel can finish his final year at Georgetown Law School.

After graduation Cordella (Corky) Dahlberg spent two months in Japan with the Experiment in International Living, after which she returned to Chicago to work on the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations, which even included arranging cocktail parties for a 500 member Young Adult Group. Now Corky is back at school studying for her M.A. in anthropology at the Univ. of Chicago. Anne Warner will be ready to graduate from Cornell and the New York School of Nursing and expects then to begin working in the obstetrics department of the hospital. Carolyn (C. B.) Baker Frauenfelder is half way towards achieving her M.A. from Mills College and is determined to finish before her husband Marc gets his Ph.D. in English from the Univ. of California and they have to leave the area.

In the service life is Gail Glidden Goodell, whose husband is a first lieutenant in the Air Force. Gail works in the Registrar's office at Webb Base Hospital. Last fall Gail and Charlie took a trip to El Paso and Juarez, Mexico, and they are looking forward to a trip home to Boston this summer. Katherine (Katty) Lloyd-Rees Miller's marriage to a jet naval pilot on the USS Forrestal means a Mediterranean cruise for them in August. Meanwhile, while Ralph is on a Caribbean cruise, Katty is back at the Univ. of Virginia finishing out her teaching term in Spanish and completing her M.A.T. in Spanish, in readiness to join Ralph at Virginia Beach.

Mary Prentice, who is now living at home in Chevy Chase and working as a research assistant for a labor union in Washington, qualifies as our class "globe trotter." Last summer she took a trip to Alaska and Hawaii and this summer plans to go to Europe. In Europe she will visit with Ann-Mary (Speck) Potter and Linda Pond, both Lieutenant j.g.'s in the Navy, who now reside in London. Linnie and Speck are enjoying life in London. They keep busy exploring the city, attending the theater and fixing up their "flat," which is complete with beat.

Larry and Joella Werlin Zivin, who are living in Boston while Larry finishes Harvard Medical School, were recently visited by Fred and Dee Rebolledo Nunn. The Nunn's were on their way to their new home in Chile, where Fred is on a grant. Lucy Allen Separk is now teaching school in Bangor, Me., one of three teachers in a very small elementary school there. Shelia O'Neill is doing graduate work at Georgetown University in Latin American affairs and living at home. Mary Byrnes, who just returned to San Francisco after a month's ski sojourn in Aspen, Colo., has taken a job with Gil Bascom and Bonfigli (advertising). Mary shares an apartment with Sue Campb. Mimsy Matthews has recently moved to San Francisco and lives very near Sue and Mary.

Lynn Graves Mitchell, who lives in Los Angeles, not only teaches school and keeps house for her lawyer husband, David, but also manages to find time to give a seminar with two others on "The Influence of Modern Art on Contemporary Living." After having lived in Hawaii for two years and become addicted to muu-muus in place of bermudas, Holly Wrampelmeier White now lives in San Diego with her three children and husband Butch, who is the executive officer on a ship stationed there. Gay Hartnett is still winging her way around the country via American Airlines. Having the regular Chicago-Mexico City run, Gay finds it easy to trade flights with other stewardesses, and one is apt to find her almost anywhere in the U. S. as a result.

Joan Tillman, after two years in the foreign service in Calcutta, India, has decided to come back to the States — but not unaccompanied. With Joanie will be her German Shepherd (Debby) and her Siamese cat (Laura Magoo). Chi and Judy Pratt Czajkowski and their large dog, Boris, have all become addicted to bird watching and have taken up residence in a 200-year-old farm house in Connecticut. Chi and Judy both work at the Audubon Center, Chi as a teacher-naturalist and Judy as the secretary of the Center. Word comes from New Haven that Martie Veale von Lamberg and her husband Clifford are now living in Jerusalem, Jordan, where Clifford is taking part in an archaeological expedition. This summer Cliff plans to move on to Iran, where he will participate in another "dig," and then the Von Lambergs will return to the U. S., where Cliff is studying for his Ph.D. in anthropology.

CO-CORRESPONDENTS: Mrs. Robert A. Fenimore (Edith Chase), 206 B Avon Road, Haddonfield, N. J.

Joseph Carris on Dec. 17, '61 in New York; Joan Murray to John Alden Webster on April 13 in Geneva, Ill.; Dianne Schonland to Lt. J. G. Andrew H. Sims on Oct. 26 in New London, Conn.

BORN: to Frank and Linda Ames Porter a daughter, Amy, in November; to Bruce and Jane Kempner King a son, Robert Bruce II, on Apr. 10; to David and Joanne Daniels Soloman a daughter, Melissa, on Christmas day; to Tony and Carol Brogini Calin a son, Anthony Breke, Jr., on May 6; to Don and Margaret Hamalian Harris a son, Ramson, on Jan. 29; to Jon and Karen Hoffman Hanson a daughter in June '61; to Bill and Muriel Benheim Saunders a daughter, Lorraine Liddell, on Apr. 11; to John and Elizabeth Stratton Gallman a son, John W., on Feb. 21; to Richard and Ann Milner Willner a son, Douglas Bruce, on Oct. 3.

At a miniature reunion of Yale '59 and Conn. '60 at the home of Bart and Mary Cornelius Schmitt, we caught up with the activities of several members of our class. Judy Van Law Loucks was there with news of Sue Montgomery, who is teaching 6th grade in NYC, and Molly Blackall, who is attending Harvard in the M.A.T. program. Betsy Froment Brown is teaching junior high in New Jersey. Susan Tuweffort is returning from Hong Kong in the fall. In late January Merry Lee Corwin was in Puerto Rico participating in the first phase of her training for the Peace Corps. A fascinating letter from Betty Moss Burr was written from the island of Adak, far out on the Aleutian chain in Alaska. Betty claims to have the distinction of living farther west in the U.S. than any other member of our class. Betty is editor of the Wives' Club newspaper there, which takes her back to ConnCensus days.

Maureen Mebls is a systems service representative with IBM and on her weekly trips to NYC from New Haven she often runs into Jill Reale. Jill is as busy as ever with her job at McGraw-Hill, plus the CC Alumnae Club, the Republican Party, Lenox Alumnae activities, etc. I chatted on the phone with another New Yorker, Pat Wertheim Abrahams. Pat is also working at McGraw-Hill. Ellen Purdy Webster wrote just before she left India for the U.S. She has had a wonderfully interesting year "playing the role of mem-sahib," while John studied, served as pastor, and taught a course at Isabella Thoburn College. Ellen also did work at a village clinic.

Betsy Thompson Bartholet, who is living in Cambridge, gave us tidbits from scattered classmates. Linda Strassenmeyer returned from a year in Germany and is now working in New Haven. Anne Megrew Hackmann and Kent are now in Ann Arbor, where he is working for an M.A. in history and Ann is working and auditing courses. Jane Kempner King and Bruce have moved to Upper St. Clair, Pa., where Bruce has joined the Mellon Institute as an Independent Fellow.

Linda Ames Porter and Frank are leaving sunny California for Cambridge, where Frank will attend Harvard Law School. Tommy Saunders is spending the summer biking through Germany, Austria and Switzerland, before leaving for the Univ. of Wisconsin, where she is going to work for her M.A. Joyce Rosenfeld Schiff writes from Columbus, Ohio, that she is kept busy with her two children, Randy and Patricia, while her husband is working as a stockbroker.

1961

CORRESPONDENT: Lois Waplington, Kings Drive, Old Westbury, N. Y.

MARRIED: Judy Kearns to Lt. J. G. John J. McCabe in a full-dress military wedding on Dec. 2 (Carol Marty and Marion Hauck were bridesmaids. After a honeymoon trip to Nassau, Judy and John set up house-keeping briefly in Waterford. In January John left for four months in the Mediterranean and Judy went to stay with her family in Hartford); Anne Marie Hardin to Vince Obsitnik on Dec. 28 (They are now living in Waterford in the same house that Judy and John McCabe rented); Brendt Randolph to James S. Reyburn in February (They are living in NYC); Gloria Ferguson to Harvey Levinsohn in December 1959 (Gloria left Connecticut after her sophomore year, attended N.Y.U., received her B.A. in February 1961. She was certified to teach English in secondary school, but her teaching endeavors came to an end with the arrival of Alan Andrew, born Dec. 7. The Levinsohns are living in Jersey City, N. J.); Cornelia Manual to Daniel B. Ford, Jr., on Nov. 28, '59 (Cornelia, who left Connecticut after her sophomore year, is the mother of a daughter, Elise, born June 8, '61. Now living in Cleveland, Ohio, she keeps busy in many activities of the Jr. League); Edie Darling to Robert J. Adams in June 1960 (Edie transferred to Northwestern Univ. in 1959, staying for a year. The Adamses reside in Memphis, Tenn. Bob gave up teaching dentistry last year and has gone into a flourishing private practice. Their family extends to a six-month-old English bull dog); Lydia Coleman to J. Dwight Hutchinson (They have been living in Charleston, N. C., since October 1960. Dwight is aboard the submarine Thornback as engineering officer. They have a daughter, Susan Taylor, who arrived on Sept. 15); Julie Emerson to Richard Pew, Jr., on Mar. 31 in Portland, Me. (Joan Karlslake and Gay Crampton Wesson were in the wedding party. The Pews are living in Norfolk, Va., where Dick is stationed on the U.S.S. Tills); Jan Hall to Lt. John L. Mc-

Ewan on Feb. 3 in Webster, Mass. (Laura Cohen, Toby and Sue Troast Winiarski, and Duncan and Peggy Moyer Bennet made it through a snowstorm to attend the wedding).

BORN: to Tom and Linda McCormick Forrestal a son, Thomas Patrick III, on Feb. 12. Tom is still serving aboard the "Blenny" and they expect to be in Groton for another year.

In Hartford, Conn., Janet Dolan and Barbara Negri are working for Conn. General Life Insurance Co. They share an apartment with Lee White, who is employed by Travelers Insurance Co. Lee is very happy with her job, which is closely connected with "good ol' Economics." M. Zabrner is back at our Alma Mater working in the admissions office. Lois Waplington visited her in March when on campus for Alumnae Council.

Since January Judy (Tang) Tangerman has been in the International Division of McGraw Hill as secretary to the director of advertising and promotion of books abroad. Sally Foote Martin has been temporarily pounding a typewriter for IBM in Boston. Al was called into the service in March and spent four months at Navy OCS in Newport. New orders moved them from Boston as of June 15. Nancy Larson is now doing her field work assignment as Jr. Executive Trainee at R. H. Macy Co. as part of the on-the-job training of the Harvard-Radcliffe program in Business Administration. Roberta Siegel is doing psycho-physiological research at N.Y.U. while working for her master's degree in psychology there.

Robin Foster Spaulding had a chance to visit with Joan Karlslake and Leslie Pomeroy, when she saw them at Conn. night at the Pops in Boston in May. Paula Parker has a new job lined up for September teaching French in Wellesley High School, Wellesley, Mass. Marg Watson journeyed to Washington over her spring vacation while your correspondent spent a perfectly delightful week in Puerto Rico. Pat Fleming was graduated from the Univ. of North Carolina in 1961 and is busy doing graduate work for her Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology at Teachers College at Columbia. At the same time she works at Queens College in the sociology department. Barbara Frick Jung is enjoying Army life in Aberdeen, Md. Her husband Jim was recently called into active duty.

Beth Earle Hudacko is in Europe following her husband around various Mediterranean ports, including Monte Carlo and Barcelona. Debbie Jordan is living in Waban, Mass., and working in Boston. She is presently working at a law firm.

Mary Wofford is attending Columbia Teachers College working toward her master's degree in English and education. Living with Mary is Suzy Tucker, who is assistant to the president of an advertising firm. Suzy's play, "A Shepherd's Clock Does Not Keep Time," was produced in Germany this past fall in an army special services show. Jane Mills, a new arrival to New York (March), is living with Marcia Silverman in the Village.

(Many alumnae have been fulfilling their pledges to the 50th Anniversary Fund Drive during 1961-62. Alumnae gifts to the College from this source have amounted to $44,077.43)

IN this year of transition from a capital funds drive to an annual giving program, the Connecticut College alumna has again demonstrated her loyalty to her College. To all the 815 alumnae who have worked as fund agents, and to the 2141 who have made contributions to this new program, thereby becoming active members of the Alumnae Association, we say "Thank you." Alumnae are wonderful people.

CC ENGAGEMENT CALENDAR

The Student Development Committee is offering a Connecticut College Engagement Calendar for 1963. The price is $1.35 including the cost of mailing. These calendars make excellent Christmas gifts and are convenient daily aids, with ample room beside each date to jot down appointments and reminders. Many new pictures of the campus and various college activities make it an especially fine gift for friends and relatives who have never seen Connecticut College. Orders may be placed through Miss Alice C. Orndorff, Box 864, Connecticut College, New London, Connecticut. Please make checks payable to the Student Development Committee.

ALUMNAE DAY ON CAMPUS

Saturday, October 6, 1962

COME and see this beautiful campus while College is in session. You will meet President Shain and faculty members at lunch. You are urged to bring prospective students with you who will participate in a program sponsored by the Admissions Office. Watch your mail for a detailed program.
