Oh the Merry Days When We Were Young

A favorite Ballad.

Sung with unbounded Applause

by

Mrs. Wood,

Arranged with an Accompaniment

For the

Piano Forte.

New-York

Published by Atwill, 201 Broadway.

Entered according to Act of Congress in the Year 1840, by J.E. Atwill, in the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the Southern District of New York.
Oh! the merry days, when we were young,

Oh! the merry days, when we were young.

By the hills and forest glen, we chased the shadows—— then none could be Blythe as we in the merry days when we were young none could be Blythe as we In the merry days when we were young Past those sunny hours with all the joys that youth could bring And now in wintry bow'rs we sigh to lose our happy spring When

Love and Friendship sail'd and careless hope be...
Mute the echo now that rang so wild with childhood's glee
And tears begin to flow where only smiles were wont to be But though our path be drear in age's duller year Still shall seem sweet the dream of the merry days when we were young Still shall seem &c.
