Allegro.

This musical score is for a piano piece, likely from the 'Samson' suite. It consists of eight systems of staves, each with a treble and bass clef. The music is written in a key with one sharp (F#) and a 3/8 time signature. The notation includes various rhythmic figures, such as eighth and sixteenth notes, and rests. Dynamic markings include f (forte) and p (piano). The tempo marking Adagio. appears in the final system. The piece concludes with a double bar line and a final chord. The word trm is written above the final staff.

Grave.

The musical score for 'Dead March' is written for piano and flute. It begins with a tempo marking of 'Grave' and a dynamic of 'f'. The score is in common time (C). The first system shows the piano and flute parts. The second system has '8ves.' (octaves) and 'p' (piano) markings. The third system has '8ves.' and 'p'. The fourth system has 'Tutti.' and 'f'. The fifth system has 'Tutti.' and 'f'. The sixth system has 'Flutes.' and 'p'. The seventh system has 'ff' (fortissimo) and 'Tutti.'. The score includes various musical notations such as treble and bass clefs, time signatures, notes, rests, and dynamic markings.

* This March in C does not appear in Walsh's score, but (being still more solemn and impressive) is now substituted for the preceding March (No. 90.) in D. F. M.
