I see them on their winding way,

The Words from an unpublished Poem by the late Bishop Heber Composed by B. Hime.

Boston: Published by John Ashton & Co 197 Washington Street.

Allegretto

Again, again the pealing drum, The clashing horn, they come, they come; Thro'

I see them on their winding way, About their ranks the moonbeams play, Their rocky pass o'er wooded steep, In long and glittering files they sweep And nearer lofty deeds and daring high, Blend with the notes of victory, And waving nearer yet more nearer Their softened chorus meets the arms and banners bright Are glancing in the mellow ear, Forth forth and meet them on their way The trampling light They're lost and gone the moon is past The woods dark hoof's brook no delay With thrilling fife and pealing drum shade is o'er them cast And fainter fainter fainter still And clashing born they come, they come, they come, they come, they come, they come, they come, they come.

The march is rising o'er the hill, rising o'er the hill, come, they come, they come. I see, them &c.
