The musical score is written for voice and piano. It begins with a key signature of one flat (B-flat) and a time signature of 2/4. The piano accompaniment starts with a p (piano) dynamic and features a steady eighth-note pattern in the right hand and a more active bass line in the left hand. The voice part enters with a series of eighth notes. The lyrics are: "O! sing to me one song of thine, One song before we part, That I may bear a way with me, Its". The score includes dynamic markings such as p and f (forte).

Turn not so tearfully away —
I cannot bear to part
With any thing but hope and joy,
In the swelling of my heart.
Look up to me with laughing eyes
We shall meet again ere long,
And then the greeting I shall have,
Will be thy gentle song.

3
So sing to me that song of joy,
That song of Summer bowers,
Murmuring, like the soft, warm breath
Of a south wind over flowers
I will kiss thee, as thou warblest on,
My token, as I part
And so will bear away thy love
And its music in my heart.
